Last Day Saturday—Our February Surprise Sale of Misses' Smart Spring Footwear

At the Record Low Price Choice $4.95 Per Pair

One more chance to buy your season's supply of high boots and low shoes at a startlingly low price. The only reason we can do it is because several makers wanted to dispose of their spring samples and overlets from filling orders before starting work on their summer lines, and came to us because of the large business we do with them regularly to take them off their hands.

High Boots, Most Exclusive Effects, For Dress, Street or Walking

In all good leathers and fabrics—black, white, brown, gray, tan, field mouse and Russia.

Smart Low Shoes for Spring and Easter Wear

pumps, oxfords, butterfly pumps, crystal pumps and Bryn Mawr pumps. Conservative and extreme models in wanted leathers and fabrics.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Benefit Ball to Be Brilliant Event. Mrs. Gregory Entertains.

MRS. WOODROW WILSON heads the list of patronesses for the ball to be given tonight at the Willard for the benefit of the Episcopal Home for Children, an appealing charity which she has long been interested. One of her first acts on arriving in Washington was to send a note to the committee for the ball expressing her pleasure at being asked to be patroness and her interest in the success of the entertainment, and regretting that the press of work attendant upon the closing days of Congress would prevent the President and herself from attending.

Mrs. David Meade Lea, president of the board of managers, will receive guests of honor by some of the officers of the board, but as several members of the board are in mourning the line will be short. Major William Eric Fowler will make the presentation.

The ball gives promise of being one of the prettiest and most brilliant of the season and a number of diners have been arranged to precede it.

Mrs. Delos A. Blodgett, who is traveling in Cuba, has generously donated two boxes of the work of the boys from Walter Reed Hospital, who will come as honor guests. Miss Florence L. Brown will act as hostess in these boxes. Others taking boxes are Mrs. George, wife of the minister from the Netherlands; Mrs. George Bakshmetoff, wife of the former imperial Russian ambassador; Mrs. Mackay Joseph E. Throp, Mrs. Charles Boughton Wood, Mrs. Dennis A. Upson, Mrs. Francis Berger Moran, General and Mrs. Fredrick V. Calkins, Mrs. C. Calhoun, Mrs. Benjamin H. Warner, Mrs. George Meata, Mrs. Walter Scheelkopf Palmer, Mrs. Charles Quincy Tirrell, Mrs. George Porter West, Mrs. James J. Moriarty, and Major William E. Fowler.

Charles J. Bell is treasurer of the ball committee and vice chairman of the board of managers, of which the bishop of Washington is the head. Commander C. T. Jewell is chairman of the floor committee, and Mrs. William Bell Watkins is at the head of a committee of young girls who are doing much toward making the ball a success. Captain and Mrs. Watkins are among those who will give dinners before the dance.

Mrs. Gregory Hostess. Mrs. Thomas Watt Gregory was hostess today at one of a series of luncheons she has been giving. Her guests were Mrs. Charles A. Culbertson and her sister, Mrs. M. H. Schieler, Mrs. F. J. Moran, Miss Mary Temple, Mrs. Loren Johnson, Miss Agnes Hart Wilson, Mrs. Carter, Miss Amaryllis Gillett, Mrs. Bee, Mrs. Edmund Pendleton, and Miss Harrie Fumade.

Today being the last Friday before Lent, several of the women of the Diplomatic Club, who will not receive again this year, Mrs. Mathieu, wife of the ambassador of Chile, will also receive today for the last time this season.

Viscountess Ishii, wife of the Japanese ambassador, will receive from 4 to 6:30 o'clock.

Chief Justice Constantine J. Smyth of the District Supreme Court, gave a dinner last evening in honor of the retiring Attorney General, Mr. Gregory.

Clark To Go South. The Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark will leave Washington on the evening of March 4 and will go to New Orleans to visit their son-in-law and daughter. Mr. and Mrs. James M. Thomson, their son, Lieut. Col. Bennett Clark, is with the Twenty-fifth division, national guard, U. S. A., which has been ordered home from France, and is expected to arrive in this country about April 1.

The Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Carter Glass entertained a small company at dinner last evening, taking their guests later to the play.

Mrs. Elkins Gives Dinner. Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins was hostess at dinner last evening, entertaining a brilliant company in honor of the Cardinal of the Infaribon. Some years ago Mrs. Elkins established the custom of giving a dinner for the Cardinal each year, and it is always one of the most notable functions of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tuckerman will give a dinner tonight in compliment to the military attaches of the Spanish embassy, Gen. Nicholas Urcullu y Cerejo, and Mme. de Urcullu, who are leaving this country shortly.

Mrs. Grinnell Hostess. Mrs. William Morton Grinnell was hostess at a supper party last evening for the members of the company which took part in the clever and successful amateur theatricals given at Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Gaff's for the British-American War Relief Fund on Wednesday afternoon and evening last night. Hostess, Miss Elizabeth Grinnell, was a member of the cast.

Congressman and Mrs. Finis J. Garrett entertained at luncheon yesterday in the Speaker's room at the Capitol, their guests being asked to meet Francis Burton Harrison, governor general of the Philippines, who will be in this country on leave until June 1. The Speaker and Mrs. Champ Clark were among the guests, and the company also included the Philippine Delegates in Congress.

New Officers To Appear. The last of the infaribon, Friday afternoon receptions at the Congressional Club for this season will be given today, and will be a particularly interesting event, as the recently elected officers of the club will appear in their new roles for the first time. At 4 o'clock a violin and piano recital will be given by Mr. and Mrs. David Mann of New York, and an informal tea will follow.

Mrs. Charles B. Ward, who succeeded Mrs. Horace Mann Turner as president of the club, will receive the guests, and she has asked a number of the club members to assist her. The other officers are Mrs. Medill McCormick, first vice president; Mrs. Georgeus Daniels, second vice president; Mrs. James F. Byrnes, third vice president; Mrs. Finis J. Garrett, fourth vice president; Mrs. Edward J. King, fifth vice president; Miss Alice Page, recording secretary; Mrs. Warren Gard, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. C. Frank Reavis, treasurer.

Mrs. George Meata, of Pittsburgh, who is spending some weeks in Washington, gave a luncheon today at the Shoreham, taking her guests afterward to the bridge party given at Wardman Park Inn for the benefit of the Washington Diet Kitchen. Mrs. Meata has a box tonight for the ball for the Episcopal Home for Children.

The officers of the Eleventh cavalry, U. S. A., at Fort Myer, will give an exhibition drill tonight at 8 o'clock, followed by a hop in the bandroom. It has been many months since society enjoyed one of the wonderful cavalry drills such as were given each week until the United States entered the war.

Mrs. James Lockett, wife of the commanding officer at Fort Myer, assisted by Mrs. Tompkins and Mrs. W. E. P. French, will receive the guests. General March, chief of staff, will be a guest in the box of Colonel and Mrs. Lockett, and several boxes will be used for foreign officers. The Riding and Hunt Club has a general meeting tonight, and will be decorated with flags, rifles and sabers, and the trophies won by the Eleventh cavalry, which has carried off more cups than any regiment of the U. S. A. Many parties from the city will go over for the drill and dance.

Honored by Italian King. Maj. Gen. Emilio Gugliemotti has been awarded the high honor of being named honorary aide de camp general to his majesty, the King of Italy, for the exceptionally good services rendered as military attaché to the royal Italian embassy.

Miss Whitridge Weds. The marriage of Miss Dorothy Whitridge, daughter of Dr. Roland Barker Whitridge, and Morris T. Raymond, of Albany, N. Y., was solemnized yesterday at noon in the Bethlehem Chapel, Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul, with Canon William L. DeVries, cousin of the bride, officiating. Owing to the recent death of the bride's mother the wedding was quite simple and only relatives and intimate friends were present.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Raymond left for a wedding trip and eventually they will make their home in Albany. Mr. Raymond, who holds a commission as lieutenant in the naval reserve, has been placed on the inactive list. He is the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Andrew Van Vranken Raymond.

The little chapel was charmingly decorated for the wedding with palms, pink roses and lilacs. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely gown of ivory satin and a tulle veil banded with lovely silk rose point lace. Her ornaments were a beautiful old-fashioned necklace of seed pearls, an heirloom, and a diamond brooch, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried white sweet peas and white lilies.

Miss Elsie Hirst, of Philadelphia, who was maid of honor, was gowned in gray georgette crepe over rose-colored silk. Her own gray georgette hat trimmed with silver and rose. Her bouquet of pink sweet peas was tied with old blue and silver ribbons. Arthur Raymond, of Albany, a cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride's going away costume is a smart suit of purple velvet, with a waistcoat of white corded silk, and with the she will wear a becoming toque of purple straw trimmed with purple velvet cherries.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Whitridge, of Baltimore; Mrs. Frank Frick, of Detroit; Lawson Riggs, of Baltimore; Miss Miriam Raymond, of Buffalo, sister of the bridegroom; his cousins, Mrs. Thompson and Miss Miller, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Raymond, wife of the best man. Miss Alice Riggs, of Washington, was among those present at the ceremony.

The bride was to have made her debut in Washington this winter, but mourning in the family prevented her taking part in society.

Mrs. Tiller to Give Tea. Mrs. Theodore Tiller will be hostess for the regular Friday afternoon tea to be given by the League of American Penwomen this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Tiller, who is one of the most active workers in the League, will be assisted by Miss E. C. Atwood, Mrs. Blanche Beaton, Mrs. Rachel Tongate Beck, Miss B. B. Barklay, Mrs. Mary St. Clair Blackburn, Mrs. K. S. Brooks, Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, Mrs. E. B. Barrow, and Mrs. Gilmer Breniser. Before tea is served there will be an address on the League of Nations, and a musical program will be given.

Miss Taggart to Receive. Miss Etta Louise Taggart will give a reception this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Edward E. Gibson, wife of Lieutenant Commander Gibson, U. S. N., and Mrs. Sankey Bacon, wife of Lieutenant Commander E. N. who have both recently come to Washington to make their homes. Miss Taggart will be assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Hugh T. Taggart, Miss Isabel Taggart, Miss Frances Stynson, Miss Gladys Pugh, Miss Thelma Bain, Miss Olive Gelfer, Miss Mildred Handy, Miss Gold Krautz, Miss Frances Park, Miss Florence Patterson, Miss Gladys Rawlins, Miss Maud Greenwood, and Miss Artemesia Newman. Those serving in the dining room will be Mrs. Richard Taggart, Miss Greenwood, and Mrs. Helen Ellis.

Interesting Christening. An interesting christening ceremony took place on Sunday in the Sagrada Familia Church in Mexico City when the son of the Marquis and Marchioness de Masuel was baptized. The young count was given the name of Alejandro Guillaume Edmond Ralph Roland de Urcullu. His godparents were the Marquis and Marchioness de Masuel.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop Ferrant assisted by Monsignor Alvarez. Rear Admiral Ralph Earle, U. S. N., through a proxy, acted as godfather. The historic baptismal robes worn by the infant, although somewhat faded by age, were of especial interest, having been given to a Prince de Masuel for a similar occasion by King Robert of France. The marchioness wore a gown of white satin and old Venetian lace. The Marquis de Masuel, doctor of science and a consulting engineer of international reputation, resides at the Hotel Raleigh. For the past two years he has been a lieutenant in the United States navy, is now an associate member of the special board on naval ordnance, and has charge of the designing and work of ordnance outposts.
