

HURLEY GOES TO FLORIDA FOR REST

Suffering from overwork, Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Shipping Board, left last night for a vacation in Florida. He has only recently returned from Europe, where he went in connection with Shipping Board business.

Higher Wages Soon, Asserts Secretary Wilson At National Press Club

The business man of today should not destroy or curtail his organization; labor will be paid even higher wages in the future than it is paid today; and the idealist who endeavors to inculcate American labor with Bolshevism will be sadly fooled, according to Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson, who spoke at the Press Club last night, surrounded by laboring men in overall, upon a platform strewn with rivets and shipbuilding tools.

It was shipbuilding night. Colin E. Livingstone, president of the Virginia Shipbuilding Company, and an associate member of the Press Club, brought from Alexandria a full crew of prize riveters and ship workers, in charge of Robert Bruce Wallace, manager of the big plant.

In view of the audience, the crew of workmen heated rivets with acetylene torches and drove them home through floor plate number eighty-four of ship number seven. In response to an invitation from the boss riveter, Conrad Syme, corporation counsel for the District, drove in two rivets, and retired perspiring freely, as did also Raymond Stevens, vice chairman of the Shipping Board, who spoke in place of Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the Shipping Board, absent because of illness.

direct drive against Bolshevism in the latter part of his talk. He analyzed the labor situation very clearly, declaring that there are now about 800,000 unemployed men in the United States.

This, he said, is not alarming, except that the number is increasing. On the other hand, the Secretary of Labor predicted that after the present period of reconstruction there would be a shortage of labor because of the enormous new amount of shipbuilding going on and the enormous new American industries.

"Business men," he said, "are loth to go into new enterprises because they fear they will be entering into business at the top notch of labor and material costs. My own judgment is there will be little or no reduction in labor, and that after we are through with this period of reconstruction we will have a period of activity in industry that will create a greater labor demand than ever."

He warned employers to maintain their organizations during this period, in order to have the men when the boom starts.

He then branched into his drive against Bolshevism, declaring that he does not believe there will be an industrial or social revolution in America.

STUDIES AMERICAN RAIL SYSTEM

BARON SHIMPEI GOTO, Japan's greatest railroad genius, often referred to as the "second Harriman," a member of the Nipponese diplomatic corps advisory council and former foreign minister, who arrived recently at San Francisco on a proposed tour of the United States. It is understood that his chief reason for visiting America is to study our railroad system with a view to making railway extensions in Japan, Siberia, and China.

here," he said, "and it is unthinkable that Americans would undertake to do as the Russians have done. Yet there is an attempt to bring that sort of thing to these shores. I have no sympathy with the man who tries to bring 'isms' here by force. The use of force to overthrow an autocracy may be right enough, but the man who attempts, by force, to overthrow a democracy is a traitor to the mass of people." He spoke of I. W. W. and Bolshevism as one and the same, and said those who believe they can inculcate these destructive principles in the minds of American workmen would be fooled.

The men from the Virginia Shipbuilding Company plant, who showed the club the actual work of riveting were Frank Seney, John Allen, J. J. Landvik, James De Bevoise, Fred Irwin Foster, H. B. Andrews, general superintendent; Frank Brown, superintendent; Charles Temple, chief electrician, and S. A. Johnson.

MIDDLE WEST WANTS LEAGUE PLAN CHANGED

Strong opposition to certain features of the proposed league of nations covenant is felt by the people of the middle West, according to Senator Kenyon of Iowa. He says the people are for a League of Nations, but they want changes in the plan as originally presented.

Senator Kenyon is one of the Progressive Republicans of the Senate, and he has been in the middle West, speaking and talking with everybody he could find in an effort to sound sentiment.

Senator Lenroot, who has returned from a tour of Wisconsin, says the people of his State are strong for a league of nations, but against the kind of a league now proposed. He estimates the sentiment as five to one for a league, but three to one against such a league as provided for in the original covenant.

CAPTAIN HELD AS SLAYER

NEW YORK, April 1.—Murder on the high seas is charged to Capt. Adolph Pederson and his son, Adolph Pederson, Jr., in an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury here. According to the indictment, the captain and his son threw overboard one of the crew, Axel Hansen, on a voyage from Victoria, British Columbia, to Cape Town in April, 1918.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—mercy, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside-bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions, instead of the multitudes of "nerve-wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible, sour fermentations and poisons, sore putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation.

U. S. SURGEONS DO BRITISH ARMY'S ORTHOPEDIC WORK

NEW YORK, April 1.—Practically all the orthopedic work of the British army in Scotland is being done by American army surgeons, according to Major W. F. Pineo, of Newark, N. J., who returned from the Aquitania Major Pineo was stationed in Scotland for fourteen months.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS ARE WANTED AS MISSIONARIES

BOSTON, Mass., April 1.—Discharged soldiers are wanted as missionaries by the Methodist Episcopal Church, according to a statement issued by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes. The men are wanted for work in India, Africa, and Japan.

"Those soldiers who went to France and those who were ready to go have lost their fear of going half around the world," says the bishop. "We want 5,000 men to fill that number of vacant churches in this country in our communion. We've found the best men for the ministry are the men who have seen service of some kind in the army."

PORT TO READ AT G. W. U. George Washington University students and faculty members tomorrow will be treated to readings from the works of Langston K. Mitchell, poet and playwright, by the poet himself. The readings will take place at the regular chapel exercises, to be held at 12:15 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Arts and Sciences Building, 2023 G street northwest.
