Trimmed Maline and Hair Hats

The hair hats are almost as transparent as the malines, some quite lace-like in effect. Most of these are in black, trimmed with feathery burnt ostrich, or narrow ribbon, some with a touch of jet.

In the maline are both navy and black, and many of these have burnt ostrich feathers, coin spots, or small flat velvet flowers caught between the upper and lower layers of maline, of which the brim is made.

Some of these hats are trimmed in small bright flowers, but the larger number are trimmed in self-color.

Any of these models will be what you want to wear with your Easter suit. Make selection tomorrow. At $10.00 and $12.50.

Ye Olde Tyme Chintz-Prints A Yard 35c

Dainty, demure little all-over designs—little sprays or springs, or single flowers arranged in the old-fashioned diagonal rows and other patterns that make you think of prim little gardens wherein walk prim little lassies as sweet as the flowers themselves.

Though these designs are charming for frocks for any woman or girl, they seem especially appropriate for the youthful, little girl from four to fourteen, whose frocks are simply, sensibly and quaintly designed.

There are blues and grays, pinks and many colored combinations—so sweet and refreshingly old-fashioned you cannot pass them by without stopping to exclaim over them. And think of the price, too! Only 35c a yard.
