

"POLICE FRAME-UP," SAY RADICAL HEADS

NEW YORK, June 5.—Radicals of various shades of redness were inclined yesterday to take a rather serious view of the bomb conspiracy which startled the country yesterday.

Some of them, mostly of the extreme factions, charged that the explosions were a "police frame-up." They insisted that the so-called "May Day bombs" discovered in the New York postoffice some weeks ago were part of the same campaign to discredit radicals.

Julius Gerber, executive secretary of the New York local of the Socialist party, told a World reporter that he would not charge the police with having part in the bomb explosions, but that they might have been the work of an "agent provocateur" employed by a private organization.

"I can't believe," he said, "that anyone who believes in freedom and liberty would do such a thing. It seems to be the work of some agent provocateur in order to stimulate legislation against radical ideas."

TURKS URGE MASSACRE OF GREEKS IN THRACE

SALONIKI, June 5.—A proclamation inviting the Turks to massacre the Greeks in Thrace has been distributed at Adrianople. The text of the proclamation is published here.

General Herbert, commanding the third French army, has arrived here on a special mission. He has conferred at length with General Paraskevopoulos, the Greek commander-in-chief.

BARED ARMS AND LEGS PARIS STYLE

PARIS, June 5.—Startling new fashions in women's apparel have made their appearance at the Longchamps race course, where the Parisian smart set annually sets the styles. In addition to going bare-legged, the women are wearing extremely tight gowns cut very short at the bottom and very low at the top. The arms are exposed unless covered by a cape.

Dressmakers declare the women's dresses are to be shorter than ever this season and to be cut down further in the front and back.

Nothing is worn underneath the newest gowns but girdles and lingerie. Vivid green and Alice blue seem to be the most popular colors. Khaki has gone out of favor since the ending of the war. During the last years of the world conflict it was quite stylish among the women.

Capes are somewhat prominent. One new cloak had three capes attached, one hanging below the other, almost to the hem of the dress. Each cape was bordered with what medistes call "elephant's hair." More dashing, however, are the mantillas which are thrown carelessly over the left shoulder.

It is noted that hat brims have been banned by the milliners this season. Most of the latest hats turn up sharply over the brow. Some wonderful Paradise plumes are worn.

On the whole, however, the honors of Longchamps go to the coat and skirt, completed with a novel waistcoat that extends half way down the length of the skirt. Generally this waistcoat is a contrast of colors in white pique with black spots.

The more conservative coats have high collars with flaps under the ears.

SEEK FUNDS FOR VICTORY SHRINE

The George Washington Memorial Association will begin a strenuous campaign on June 23, to complete the fund already well started, for a national Victory Memorial Building to be erected on land provided here by Congress.

Col. E. Lester Jones, commander of George Washington Post of the American Legion of World War Veterans, has endorsed heartily the plan for a large meeting place. The plans for the memorial building call for a huge auditorium with a seating capacity of seven thousand persons.

"The structure will commemorate the deeds of the men of '76 and '17. But above all it will give Washington what it needs, a place in which big gatherings of national and international importance may take place," said Colonel Jones, in speaking of the project. "The experience we have had with George Washington Post, shows the tremendous need for a big meeting place here. Because of the large membership we found we had no adequate place to meet."

Almost one million of the fund has already been collected, and when the ten million dollar fund has been completed, a part will be set aside as a maintenance fund. The permanent fund will be administered by the board of regents of the Smithsonian Institution, the presiding officer of whom is the President of the United States. President Wilson has given an unusual approval of the plan for a National Victory Memorial Building.

LONDON, June 5.—The people of Ireland look more like the accepted cartoons of John Bull than the English, according to Prof. A. Keith, authority on ethnology. Generally speaking, he said, the heads of Irishmen were bigger than those of Englishmen.

Taking the people of the Island of Arranmore as typical of early Ireland, Prof. Keith said one man shown to him as a typical Irishman was the double of John Bull which "Punch" portrays.

"The average Arranmore head was much larger than the average London head," said Prof. Keith. "Now, as 5,000 years ago, the Arranmore Islander had to fight nature for a living. I wonder how many Londoners would manage to squeeze a living out of his soil."

"It might be thought that a highly civilized life would produce big brains but that is not so, as proved by those Irish fisher-farmers."

Incidentally, it may be remarked that the average Englishman does not look like the cartoons of John Bull, the average Englishman being wirily built and sometimes so skinny he could go right into the sidewalk as the "living skeleton" without doing a fast. It is the shipping magnates and industrial barons, past the age of fifty, who look like cartoons of John Bull, says the professor.

BLUEBEARD USED HYPNOTIC EYES

PARIS, June 5.—Annette Fauchet has told police authorities of the manner in which Landru, the Parisian Bluebeard, hypnotized her. The Fauchet girl is believed to have escaped the fate of perhaps twenty missing women with whom Landru had been intimate, because of her aunt's infatuation for Landru.

"He made me sit in a chair," the girl says, "and uncoiled my hair. He went down on his knees, took my hands, fixed me with his eyes, and said, 'Annette, I am your master; you belong to me.'"

"I suddenly felt queer, I saw a diabolical glint in his eyes and must have become unconscious, because I remember nothing more. I don't want to see him again—he terrifies me; he must be the devil."

HIGH COSTS COMPEL SALE OF BIG ESTATE

LONDON, June 5.—The high cost of aristocracy has compelled Lord Swansea to advertise for sale his beautiful ancestral home, Singleton Abbey, at Swansea, Wales. The upkeep of the estate amounts to $50,000 annually, and Lord Swansea says he cannot afford it.

Peter Clark McFarlane, war correspondent and story writer, has become a full-fledged mining operator. He entered the ranks at Divisio City recently and is now numbered with countless others who are braving the "double dry" southern Nevada desert in search of greater fortune.

McFarlane arrived in the Nevada camp with the idea in mind of describing a brand-new camp in the making. He quickly caught the fever and remained to become a miner in his own right.

The McFarlane Divide Mining Company has been organized with other writers and mining men. It owns the Lexington group of four claims, located in the Ben Hur property.

SENATORS PAY VISIT TO U-BOAT OFF 7TH STREET

Senators of the Naval Affairs Committee, inspected the submarine yesterday. They were conducted by Commander Percival Foote, U. S. N. Invitations to inspect the war craft have been extended to all members of Congress.

RARE ROMAN PLATE FOUND IN ENGLAND

LONDON, June 5.—A remarkable discovery of Roman silver vessels has been made on the estate of Arthur J. Balfour, British foreign secretary, at Whittingham, twenty miles east of Edinburgh, according to a copyrighted dispatch to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The fragments are hacked and broken, but covered with designs classical in style and exquisite in technique. The silver is Christian in design, presumably ancient church plate lost from some monastery.

COMPROMISE FOR HAGAR-WATTS SUIT

NEW YORK, June 5.—According to a compromise reached by the executors of the estate of the late Edward M. Hagar and George W. Watts, Durham, N. C., the latter is to get $27,500 of his $50,000 claim. Watts alleged that he had met Hagar through Benjamin Duke and had invested $50,000 in one of his promoting schemes. The plan fell through, and Hagar promised to invest the $50,000 Watts had advanced in the underwriting of the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation, it was claimed.

However, Watts did not get his money back. In court the executor stated that Hagar left an estate amounting only $48,000. She said she would try to settle for $27,500.

Thrift Stamps are enterprising. When they have grown to sixteen in number, a few cents metamorphoses them in a big blue butterfly of a War Savings Stamp.

"STAGE SET FOR HELL." ATLANTIC CITY, June 5.—"The modern stage is set for hell," the Rev. William Burgess told the National Social Service Work Conference. "No hug-step or wriggling contortistry is top vile for the stage."
