

PATRIOTISM SAYS 'BUILD'

UNIVERSITY BUILDS LARGE GYMNASIUM

The new gymnasium and Knights of Columbus annex in course of erection on the grounds of the Catholic University of America in this city, will embody, when completed, the most recent and practical ideas, both as regards mode of construction and distribution of the various elements of the general plan.

Forming a very important part of the very imposing group of academic buildings enclosing the university campus, and easily accessible to all parts of the group and to the public thoroughfares as well, its situation and general form were determined largely by natural conditions of the site and of the peculiar needs to be housed.

Three distinct types of service will be rendered by this building: First, the University Gymnasium, with all its appurtenances, and desirable requirements, permanent and desirable materials have been employed in erecting the structure, permitting whatever elaboration is deemed advisable to be added as the funds increase.

Among the most important features of the building is a great hall serving for indoor recreation for the entire university body, this hall 80 by 240 feet, free from columns, spanned by huge steel trusses and having a clear height in the central axis of thirty-four feet, permits the free use of all the necessary space to be devoted to gymnastics, classes in basketball, tennis, indoor baseball, tennis, handball, and the batting cage for winter baseball practice.

Freedom of circulation, ingress and egress, are secured from several approaches, and the track meets, intercollegiate competitions or other large public gatherings are relieved of the possibility of congestion.

S-Lap Running Track. An eight lap to the mile running track will encircle the great hall, spectators' tribunes and galleries are provided, and an elaborate heating and lighting system insure the comfort and use of the large hall at all times.

Below the level of the main floor, and connecting directly with it by means of wide staircases, is the ground floor containing swimming pool, showers, baths, toilets, etc., and the various smaller divisions devoted to wrestling, boxing, fencing, special exercises, and the quarters for the director of athletics, gymnasium instructors and coaches for the teams. Storerooms are provided in order that the main hall or other portion of the buildings may be freed from paraphernalia.

The swimming pool, well lighted, heated and ventilated, is standard in point of equipment and in size. The net dimensions, twenty-four feet in width by sixty feet in length, with ample depth to allow for exhibitions of fancy swimming and diving, require the installation of the most modern of apparatus for the heating and filtering of the water supply, and the nature of the materials employed in the pool and its adjacent showers, baths, toilets. Cream colored enameled brick suggest the perfect sanitary qualities to be procured. Water polo and other water sports may be cultivated and instruction in swimming

FUTURE OF WASHINGTON REAL ESTATE IS SAFE AS NATION

Gymnasium and K. C. Annex for Catholic U.

The Knights of Columbus Annex in three stories frees the main hall of many necessary services and justifies their concentration in a most convenient manner. As the social center of university life, it provides at once for such student activities as dramatics, moving pictures and college organizations such as the Athletic Council, University Council of the Knights of Columbus, literary and debating societies, etc.

A large lobby, preceded by an entrance vestibule and admitting directly to social parlors, reception rooms, library and reading rooms, features the main story, while the second story is devoted to the assembly hall with stage, dressing rooms, and moving picture screen.

Despite the unfavorable times prevailing at the beginning of work upon the building and the difficulty of obtaining building materials of the substantial character employed, the work of erection has been carried on expeditiously and everything promised to be in readiness for opening of the scholastic year in October.

ST. ELIZABETH'S TO GET $125,000 MORE

Increase of $125,000 in the appropriation to St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the insane, which would enable the institution to add to the number of its attendants and professional staff, was adopted by the Senate today, when consideration of the sundry civil bill was resumed.

This urgent need of the institution was ignored by the House in the passage of the bill, and the Senate increase makes the total increase $1,000,000.

The Senate also adopted a committee amendment providing for the maintenance of Howard University which has been left out of the bill entirely by the House. It appropriated a total of 125,337 for the various needs of the institution.

Of this amount, $74,437 is for the pay of instructors, $20,000 for the equipment of the manual training department, $10,000 for improvements and grounds, and $7,500 for equipment of the medical laboratory.

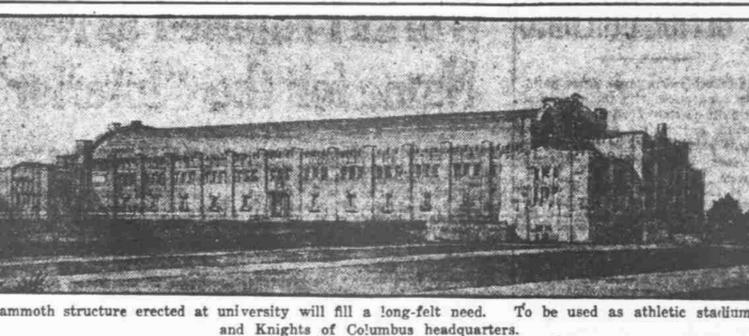

BONES IN SUIT CASE REVEAL 1915 CRIME

NEW YORK, June 28.—Police today are seeking the identity of a man who left a suitcase at the Mills Hotel in 1915.

The suitcase contained the skeleton of a man about 40 years of age. The bones were wrapped in cotton, on which quicklime had been poured. No marks of identification were on the suit case, and the hotel had no record of its owner, who checked it there four years ago.

ENGLAND TO KEEP WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

LONDON, June 28.—Women workers who "carried on" in the machine shops during the war will work at the semi-skilled jobs, principally in certain new industries which British capital is already preparing to exploit on a considerable scale. They will help manufacture articles England formerly imported from Germany, other continental countries or America.

They will work here on equal footing with men and with full control of organized labor. In response to appeals of 200,000 munitionettes threatened with being ruled out of the work shops by "restoration of the pre-war labor status," the Amalgamated Society of Engineers has decided to sanction employment of women at "repetition" work on this basis, J. T. Brownlie, president of the A. S. E., says.

Fix Women's Status. A series of conferences between the A. S. E. and their employers began May 6 to draw up a post-war labor agreement, including a stipulation definitely fixing women's status in the trade.

The importance of this may be gauged from the fact that the A. S. E. dominates the mechanical trades, where the bulk of war substitution of women took place. Brownlie declared that: "Munition plants are already undergoing remodeling preparatory to manufacturing products England either did not make at all before the war or only to a very limited extent. Other plants are to be expanded or reconstructed for the same purpose."

Will Absorb Female Help. Brownlie believed that this industrial expansion, together with the natural reassignment of many war workers into so-called women's trades—would absorb a large part of the present surplus of female help.

Barriers against women will remain, however, in the skilled occupations of the trade, Brownlie said. All women who have been replacing skilled artisans during the war will have to leave and seek employment in the semi-skilled lines.

Brownlie said that "for the purpose of promoting confidence between the employers and men" the A. S. E. will insist that the employers go through the formality of recognizing the war rights and privileges in toto (including the old limitations upon women labor). This, he said, would demonstrate the employers' "good faith."

LIQUOR SUSPECTS FIRE ON POLICEMEN

Policemen Maury and Brown, of the Fourth precinct, detailed on Broad Branch road to apprehend whiskey runners, narrowly escaped death early this morning when they were fired on by occupants of an automobile as it sped over the District line. The policemen returned the fire but their bullets went wild.

She Marries 8 Yanks So Now Petite Yvonne Pines Alone in a Cell

NEW YORK, June 28.—One doughboy husband was not enough for a petite Parisienne named Yvonne. She married eight of them, returning men of the Thirty-ninth Division said when they arrived here from Marseilles on the Italian liner Regina Italia.

Private Elbert Brown, of Atlanta, Ga., a member of the 155th Infantry, who was one of the arrivals, said he was walking along a Paris boulevard with two others of his regiment when a fourth approached with an attractive, brown-eyed French girl on his arm and introduced her to them as his wife. One of the three glared at the soldier with the girl and declared Yvonne was his wife.

"I married her six months ago and she 'beat it' on me," he stormed.

An argument ensued, during which Yvonne started to tiptoe away, but the youths grabbed her and she was arrested for bigamy. Subsequently six other soldiers asserted she had married them.

Brown said Yvonne in each instance had secured what money the doughboy had and disappeared.

ALEXANDRIA NEWS

High Cost of Tonsorial "Fixings" Cause Local Men to Do Own Shaving. ALEXANDRIA, Va., June 28.—The high cost of shaves in Alexandria has resulted in a brisk demand for razors, dealers report, and many men who formerly were shaved at more or less regular intervals are now learning to do the trick at home and thus save 20 cents for each operation.

It has also been reported in the last few days that several well-known citizens have been determined to do away with the hair cut rather than pay 40 cents, which is the prevailing price here now, and if they stick to this determination and others follow, men with long hair will be a more common sight on the streets of Alexandria than women with bobbed tresses.

Fire of determined origin caused about $1,000 damage at the acid plant of the Alexandria Fertilizer and Chemical Company, a two-story frame building located on the north river front, about 2 a. m. The firemen succeeded in preventing the flames from reaching the main building, which is about fifty feet from the acid plant.

Efforts to raise $1,200 for the Children's Home of Virginia, which is Alexandria's quota of a State fund of $50,000 and the American-French War Exposition, with maximum capital of $250,000. Following agreement on the measure, Congressman Zihlman of Maryland, wrote to Albert C. Towers, chairman of the Public Service Commission of Maryland, asking that the commission take early action in the matter of revision of telephone rates.

Mr. Zihlman calls attention to the high toll rates now in effect, particularly in western Maryland "where firms doing a business requiring telephone service, over one or more counties, have been subjected to an increase of from 500 to 1,000 per cent."

ROBBED OF $5,000 WHILE ON SPREE

BALTIMORE, June 28.—With more than $5,000, which he intended to buy a house and lot, Martin Hess, of Newport News, Va., arrived in town last Thursday afternoon. At 11 o'clock Thursday night, Hess was intoxicated and the $5,000 was gone.

Hess was arrested by Patrolman Glick of Eastern district late Thursday night sitting on a box in the street. Yesterday he was given a hearing at the Eastern police station on the charge of being drunk and dismissed. It was then that he told the police he had been robbed. According to his story he met several "friends" when he reached this city and proceeded to visit a number of saloons. Then, he was taken to a house where several women joined the party, and where a quantity of liquor was produced. Hess drank deeply, it is alleged, and the next day he knew he was short of the station minus his $5,000. The police are looking for the women and his other acquaintances.

NEGRO SAILORS IN RIOT OVER WOMEN

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 28.—About forty colored bluejackets of the navy, the majority of them in training to become mess attendants, and more than twice the number of colored men of Annapolis, were the participants in a riot here which threatened for a time to develop into a serious affair.

A number of the combatants were armed with revolvers, and there was considerable shooting and throwing of bricks and other missiles. As a result two of the sailors were shot, though not seriously hurt, and several windows were broken and other minor damage done to store property.

The trouble which, it is said, developed from the persistence of the jackies in molesting a number of colored women, started in Acton lane, a short thoroughfare leading from West street. The Annapolis negroes apparently were lying in wait for the sailors, owing to the large number that congregated in the vicinity. The sailors, it is said, were the aggressors in the matter. Soon realizing that they were outnumbered by the city negroes, the mess boys were compelled to retreat.

KING ALFONSO FOILS PLOT FOR HIS ASSASSINATION

King Alfonso of Spain nipped in the bud an anarchist plot to assassinate him during the procession accompanying the opening of the cortex on Tuesday, the State Department learned today.

Having been "tipped off" that such a plan was on foot, a sudden change in the ceremonies was made. Instead of the king addressing the members of parliament from the chamber of deputies, where this ceremony is always held, he made the opening speech in the senate house, which is next door to the palace.

The anarchist plan is said to have been to attack the King while he was en route from the palace to the chamber of deputies.

APARTMENT THIEF RAIDS 8TH PRECINCT

An apartment house thief, using a "jimmy," entered five apartments in the Eighth precinct yesterday. The first apartment entered was that of Julia A. Conners, 1440 R street northwest, where a gold watch and $15 in bills was stolen. The adjoining apartment, occupied by J. L. Kennedy, was ransacked, but nothing was stolen.

The suite of Lieut. H. A. White, 1931 Seventeenth street northwest, also was entered and a collar device and a breast pin was stolen, while from the apartment of Mrs. John Frazier, a game house, a watch, two bracelets and a chain were taken. Upon making an attempt to force a door of an apartment at 1416 R street, a young man was frightened away by a woman.

Robert Woods, of 702 Florida avenue northwest, told the police of the Eighth precinct yesterday his home had been entered and $60 in bills and a box of cigars stolen.

BRITISH WAR HEADS TO RECLAIM LAND

LONDON, June 28.—How to make discharged and disabled—or partially so—soldiers and sailors independent of public or private charity is one of the questions that is at present occupying the attention of many people in England.

Thomas H. Mawson, the well-known architect and town planner, who was perhaps the first man to see the vital necessity of arranging for the future of the disabled soldier, and whose book on this subject attracted general and thoughtful attention, has sketched out a plan for giving the discharged men a permanent and comfortable home with a certainty of material profits.

At the same time, while the disabled or partially disabled men are to benefit by this, the project is also open to men, who, having done their "bit," are looking for a settled home life.

The proposition is to place these men on reclaimed land around the English coast. There are many places where the tide flows in twice a day over good, rich land.

This land is to be reclaimed and given to the discharged soldiers for cultivation. The British board of agriculture has already arranged to survey these sections and build sea walls to protect the land.

One place has already been started at Meathrop, a little village near Liverpool. A corporate body known as the Settlers' Land Reclamation Corporation, has been formed and this society has arranged for the instruction of the settlers in the art of afforestation and afforestation, expert instructors having been engaged for this purpose.

All products of the land will be sold through the society and the settlements themselves will be run on a profit-sharing basis, the organization taking nothing from the proceeds and the soldiers dividing the money according to pre-arrangement.

The reason for asking for land near large centers is that it has been discovered that soldiers who have been used to mingling with their fellows in camps and barracks, are not willing to go to places where they may be shut off from companionship, except at some expense of time and money to reach more crowded districts.

CONGRESS CRIPPLES UTILITIES BOARD

Because Congress cut down the appropriation and number of employees, the Public Utilities Commission of the District faces a serious situation during the coming year.

It is possible that the commission will not be able to carry on as extensive work as it has been doing. Ben Allen, executive secretary of the Commission, said today that in event a big problem faces the commission during the coming year, the commission would be greatly handicapped and hardly able to handle it.

Probably the greatest trouble will come in the loss of $10,000, which money would have been used for general expenses. An appropriation of $20,000 was cut down to $10,000 in the present District appropriation bill. This appropriation is used largely by employes experts to study traffic problems in the District.

Congress also reduced the salary of the engineer from $3,600 to $3,000. Mr. Allen states he does not think he can get a competent engineer who will work for this amount.

KISS OVER CORPSE OF SLAIN HUSBAND

WASHINGTON, N. J., June 28.—Confessing that at their last meeting they stood near the body of her husband and kissed, Mrs. Anna Zoldi, charged with the murder of her husband, implicated Joe Vardo, and both are locked up in the Warren county jail at Belvidere.

Mrs. Zoldi told Prosecutor William A. Stryker, as she held her baby, that it was her intention to kill her husband several nights before, but they were deterred because of a boarder in the house. Vardo, she confessed, had come from Pennsylvania, and the killing so they would be unhindered in their love. She admitted giving a pistol to Vardo in the presence of her ten-year-old daughter, Helen.

MONEY LACK MAKES D. C. ASK CREDIT

Unless the District bill is passed and becomes a law by next Tuesday, the District Commissioners will ask credit from business houses of Washington.

Alonso Tweedale, District auditor, said today he would issue orders for maintenance supplies "subject to appropriation."

Failure of Congress to pass the District bill has put the District in a precarious position. For the past two months the District has been getting its supplies on credit and it was hoped the District could start the new fiscal year on a cash basis.

Only the maintenance supplies will be bought next week, Mr. Tweedale says, and other necessary things will have to wait until the bill is passed.

The Commissioners anticipate no difficulty in securing credit from Washington's business houses.

According to William Towers, deputy auditor, the District owes over $250,000 to various business houses in Washington.

"All of this money is in the deficiency bill and we have hopes of its passage by the 'frat,'" Mr. Towers said. "The District is very anxious to pay its debts and is waiting impatiently for the appropriation."

U. S. EMPLOYEES' HEAD RETURNS FROM MEETING

Luther C. Steward, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, returned today from New Orleans where he attended the annual meeting and festival of Local No. 22 of the federation. Mr. Steward was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered him, and he was presented with a handsome gavel.

In addressing the meeting Thursday night, Mr. Steward declared that the strongest bulwark against Bolshevism was organized labor.

WISDOM SAYS 'BUILD NOW'

BRITISH WAR HEADS PLAN PEACE WORK

LONDON, June 28.—With the signing of peace, Great Britain's war cabinet is expected to develop into a somewhat larger reconstruction cabinet. The war cabinet comprised five men, plus the prime minister. Now Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transport, has been added.

It is expected that with a return to conditions of peace, the reconstruction cabinet will be augmented by inclusion of the foreign colonial, Indian, and war secretariats, the first lord of the admiralty, and the minister responsible for trade and commerce, and perhaps the minister of labor.

As at present constituted, the prime minister's cabinet comprises some forty men, including the chief ministers, secretaries, and presidents of government departments. It is too unwieldy to act quickly as a whole body on any matter. Hence the tendency toward creation of an inner cabinet.

Commenting upon the possibility of such cabinet procedure, the Evening Standard says some change may be expected as regards the Colonial Secretaryship, the trend being for separation of the crown colonies from the ministry of administration, a statesman being appointed for the latter only. Imperial preference in trade and commerce for the dominions would make the latter post important.

"The lord privy seal and the lord president of the council," says the Standard, "might well be reserved for distinguished men who, freed of details of administration, are statesmen in the highest sense of the word. In the British cabinet there should always be room for men like Mr. Balfour or Lord Curzon, who have minds not so exclusively bent on the present that they are mindless of the lessons of the past or indifferent to the dangers of the future."

"The probabilities are that there will be a return to a large extent, to the collective cabinet responsibility of pre-war days, though never, let us hope, self-governing cabinets so unwieldy that the charge that it was a debating society was not unfounded."
