Promising Week In Store For Playgoers

FOLLY.

F. Ray Comstock and Morris Geer announce the dazzling Dolly Sisters, the twin-twinkling stars, in the spirited musical comedy "Oh Look," at Folly's Theater next week. The producers have surrounded the Dolly Sisters with a company of fifty-one associate artists, and an ensemble of young and exceptionally comely girls.

The action of "Oh Look" takes place in the home of Sam Welch, at South Hampton, Long Island. The plot has to do with value of "ready cash," even though it be counterfeit. A young mine promoter, Stephen Baird, who is very much down and out—figuratively speaking—gains new courage, success, and the emoluments of the world's goods by the mere possession of counterfeit money. People crowd about him, when they see his wad, to invest their savings in his mine. His partner discovers gold in the mine and everybody is happy. The delightful book is by James Montgomery, and the music contributed by Harry Carroll is very tuneful and has a sentimental appeal. The beautiful lyrics are from the pen of Joseph McCarthy.

BELASCO.
At the Belasco Theater on Sunday evening next A. H. Woods will present for an engagement of one week the newest comedy by W. Somerset Maugham, the noted British playwright, entitled "Too Many Husbands." The piece is in three acts and may be described as a satiric domestic comedy with a timely motive. The production will mark the return to the American stage of Kenneth Douglas, the distinguished English comedian, whose last appearance in this country five years ago in "A Pair of Silk Stockings" was attended with extraordinary success. Associated with Mr. Douglas in the cast is a splendid company, including Estelle Winwood, Lawrence Grossmith, Fritz Williams, Marguerite St. John, Florence Edney, Beatrice Miller, Carolyn Darling, J. H. Brewer, Marion Buckler and Richard Gray.

NATIONAL.
A theatrical event of unusual interest will occur at the National Theater next week, when David Belasco presents Ina Claire in "The Gold Diggers," a new comedy by Avery Hopwood.

A cast of well-known players has been assembled to support Miss Claire, including Bruce McRae, H. Beeson-Smith, Frederick Truesdell, Horace Braham, Austen Harrison, Harold Christy, D. L. Lewis Clinton, Frank Lewis, Jobyna Howland, Beverly West, Louise Galloway, Ruth Terry, Lilyan Tashman, Luella Gray, Gladys Feldman, Katharine Walsh, Pauline Hall, Louise Burton, and others.

GARRICK.
"The Cinderella Man," a play of youth, love and laughter, from the pen of Edward Childs Carpenter, and which has been aptly described as Oliver Morosco's successor to "Peg O' My Heart," has been selected by the Garrick Players' management as the closing bill of the stock season.

"The Cinderella Man" is a tender little comedy and by many is said to be the most beautiful love story ever written. The engagement of "The Cinderella Man" will be followed by the inauguration of the regular fall and winter season at the Shubert-Garrick Theater, the opening attraction being announced as "39 East," with Henry Hull and Constance Binney.

B. F. KEITH'S.
Next week at B. F. Keith's Theater Eddie Foy and all the younger Foyes will present a new edition of their sensational hit "Stamens" in New York. The Masteringers will offer their latest musical spectacle "On the Links." Thomas Duray will present "For My Sake," a travesty on old-time "mollendrammer." The Barr Twins will bewitch with a sing and dancing novelty, "Juta Keley," a breezy and winsome chaterbox, with sing and feat. Other features will be Sabini and Goodwyn, the Shirley Sisters, Les Rodriguez, and the Kinogram.

GAYETY.
"Wait A Minute" is the title of the new principal characters will be used to exploit the talents of the cast appearing in "The Sightseers," next week. The attraction at Gayety Theater. The principal characters will be portrayed by such well-known players as Gus Fay, Johnnie Walker, Katharine Dixey, Elna Davis, Fred Nolan, Richard Clay, Emily Dyer, Gene Ford, Lillian Isabel, Marie Park, Peggy Brauns, James Holly and Ruth Rosemond, with a chorus of twenty.

LYCEUM.
"The French Frolics," the new Parisian sensation, will be the attraction at the Lyceum Theater next week. "Molly Jake" Fields takes the leading comedy role.

GREATERN PENN GARDENS.
With the greatest crowd of dancers ever attending, the Greater Penn Gardens is celebrating in honor of General Pershing, his victories and those of the men of the first division, this week. The engagement of "The Cinderella Man" will be followed by the inauguration of the regular fall and winter season at the Shubert-Garrick

HE WAS TOO BIG FOR A UNIFORM

William Russell had the idea that he might be able to borrow a captain's uniform that had seen real service, for use while enacting the earlier scenes of "This Hero Stuff," in which Russell has the part of Captain November Jones, just returned from overseas. However, "Big Bill" happens to stand six feet two in his Holoproof, and is correspondingly broad across; so when a week's search failed to discover a uniform big enough to accommodate his inches, he had to set his tailor to work. Then Bill and Director King got their heads together to see what they could do to that perfectly nice, new suit to make it look as though it had been through the mill.

"This Hero Stuff" comes to Loew's Columbia today for three days, and is a sparkling, laughable, breezy five-act set-up exercise, the junior member did his best to follow parental example. Al K. and Al K. Jr. got out in the back yard of their Brooklyn home early every morning last summer, and while the senior male star of the family is well noted by ability and set-up exercise, the junior member did his best to follow parental example.

Hall to realize his military ambition, but he has no consolation for all the hard work it is that Al K. Hall, Jr. he says, is today the best drilled four-year-old in the length and breadth of Brooklyn's Thirteenth ward.

Al K. and Al K. Jr. got out in the back yard of their Brooklyn home early every morning last summer, and while the senior male star of the family is well noted by ability and set-up exercise, the junior member did his best to follow parental example.

MIRIAM PLAYS EVANGELINE

Miriam Cooper, who is seen at Moore's Rialto Theater this week in the title role of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow's immortal poem, "Evangeline," is well noted by ability and set-up exercise, the junior member did his best to follow parental example.

Miriam Cooper is a Baltimore girl. She was educated at the New York Art School, but her career as an artist was interrupted by the call of the screen. Miss Cooper's ability as an actress is well noted by the public. She is a leading woman in her prominent part in "The Birth of a Nation."

SECOND OPERA IS HEARD AT BELASCO

Planquette's opera, "The Chimes of Normandy," was sung last evening as the second offering of the week of light opera given by the Gallo Comic Opera Company at the Belasco Theater. Half comedy, half opera, this revival by the Gallo forces did not equal the Mikado in the strength of its cast.

To the male faction of the company greatest credit is due. Again Warren Proctor, as Jean Grencheux, the fisherman, carried off the honors. Mr. Proctor has a rarely beautiful tenor voice of much appealing sweetness, lyric, suave, and yet with plenty of gusto. He, with Albert Parr as Henri, Marquis de Corzeville, were the two singers who will give the most melodious score, Mr. Parr proving a commanding rover of the sea. Gaspard, the miser, gave satisfaction in his role, and the single dramatic scene in the midst of his hidden gold in the castle, while the male chorus again sang exceedingly well.

DEBUTANTE SLOUCH BLAMED FOR ILLS

Fosters Extended Chin, Curved Back and Narrow Chest, Woman Says.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—"Women's clothing and styles go from one line of ill-health to another," declared Dr. Edith Hale Swift, Boston, who is attending the international convention of women doctors here.

"Narrow skirts, such as are worn now, prevent free movement of the legs, resulting in varying degrees of curvature of the back and making women muscle-bound," she said.

"MONTY" BELL—PRODUCER

With the close of the summer stock season of the Garrick Players at hand, the final performances being scheduled for next week, mention is due to the man who has been responsible for much of the success of the organization, L. Monty Bell, Washington newspaper and theatrical producer, who, as producer, provided Washington theatergoers entertainment of exceptional value during the sixteen weeks that the company here has been in existence.

In addition to presenting, and producing the Garrick Players' plays, Mr. Bell has on two different occasions portrayed one of the principal roles in this week playing the part of the East Indian, who is responsible for the matrimonial mixup that is providing patrons with more than two hours of solid fun. And, not content with this, Mr. Bell this week

TWO-CENT PIECES URGED BY WOMEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A campaign urging the Government to release the 2-cent coin withdrawn from circulation in 1874, the new coin to bear on the obverse side a bas-relief portrait of the late President Roosevelt, has been inaugurated by the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial Association.

The new coin, it is pointed out, would be useful in the payment for war taxes on small articles, newspapers and street car fares. A letter urging the creation of the coin has been sent to Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury.

FRENCH GIRLS JAR AMERICAN MOTHER

"Tight Skirts Awful," Says Only U. S. Woman To Visit Son.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The only American mother who visited her soldier-son in France is home today.

She is Mrs. W. E. Arnold, of Arkadelphia, Ark., and her son is Lieut. E. B. Arnold, 324th Field Artillery, Eighty-seventh Division. He was detailed to further duty when his outfit sailed for home. His asked permission to send for his mother. His request was granted and in making application for her passport he discovered she was the only mother of a soldier allowed to come to her son in France.

Don't Wash Clothes Properly. "The boys over there miss home life in having to do their own washing," said Mrs. Arnold, "and they don't boil their clothes, which, of course, is conducive to disease. Then, although the food is good—and I ate with the boys—lining up with mess lines and eating most any place does not induce good table manners."

"And their beds are not as comfortable as the beds they slept in at home. A boy wants a soft bed, and he gets it just right in an American home. These are the reasons the boys are homesick."

"I am a mother of five—three of them girls. Maybe I'm prejudiced, but to be fair, I'll compare the French girls with my neighbors' daughters. I'm sure that French girls are not raised like American girls. Their moral training is not so good. They are not respected by their men folks nor treated as well as American boys treat American girls."

Girls Here Dress Better. "This makes a difference; and as for dresses! I've seen them in Paris where the fashions are supposed to come from, and I think the American girls wear better clothes. Those short, tight skirts are awful. I'm glad American girls don't dress like that. Thank goodness I never saw the bare-legged styles. That would be too much."

PRETENDED WIFE DIED BY OWN HAND

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 18.—A coroner's jury here inquiring into the death Monday of a young woman in the residence of Mrs. L. A. Adkerson here developed the fact that she was Miss Ruth Sandberg and not the wife of Dr. W. Clyde Adkerson, a lieutenant in the Medical Corps of the army, who was stationed in Camp Mills, L. I., during the war, as she had previously announced.

The inquest also developed finally that the case was a suicide. The inquest not only caused a postponement in the burial of Miss Sandberg, who was a member of a good family here, but it also resulted in the death certificate being changed from that of a married woman to single.

MARY GARDEN IN "CLOOPATRA." PARIS, Sept. 18.—Mary Garden will make her winter appearance in Paris in the role of "Cleopatra" at the Vendôme theater, the theatrical journals announced today.

"Smoke Virginia Straight"

Virginia tobacco has the real tobacco taste!

Yes—and that's why it's smoked today in three-fourths of all the cigarettes made in this country. For most men enjoy Virginia's body and flavor and prefer a cigarette that has a genuine tobacco taste.

Of course, any cigarette is improved by the addition of Virginia. But a cigarette made entirely of Virginia tobacco gives you ALL of its rare excellence of flavor.
