

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs

(Beauty Notes)
Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing a little water with some powdered salicylic acid. After about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment, be careful to get real deodorants.

THE GARDEN CAFETERIA
1510 K Street

A Place To Enjoy Your Meals

Choice Foods
Excellent Cooking
and
Refined and Distinctive Atmosphere

SPECIAL ALL THIS WEEK

Whole Soles With Whole Rubber Heels

Franklin 2350 Work Guaranteed

Neolin Half Soles With Whole Rubber Heels... $1.50

O'Sullivan Rubber Heels... 60c

Best White or Tan Oak Leather Half Soles... $1.50

ENTERPRISE
10-MINUTE SHOE REPAIR SHOP
610 E Street N. W.

DIVORCE DETAILS TOLD BY PICKFORD

Movie Star Accuses Owen Moore of Drinking and Neglecting Her.

(Continued from First Page.)

along and offered to pay his fare, but he said that he wanted to stay in New York.

Later Moore went to Los Angeles, and Mary continued to stay in New York. "We had an apartment there and he finally told me that he was tired of it and intended going back to New York. I offered to go with him but he said no and packed up his things and went."

They were separated eight weeks this time and after another reunion lived together for a short time until Mary became ill. She told it in this way:

Visited Her While Drinking.
"That fall, from unhappiness and overwork, I was taken sick and went to a hospital. He came to see me under the influence of liquor, which disturbed me that night as I was coming out of the ether. Four times he came there and made me cry, and my doctor told the nurse that he was not to be allowed to come into the room until my temperature was normal. My mother took me to a hotel when I left the hospital, and he came to see me and quarreled with me again."

From New York they went to Los Angeles, Mary going first, and lived together for three months. Then Moore accused Mary of ruining his career, she said.

"He told me that I was the cause of his failure in life and that I caused him to drink and was sorry that he ever had a wife. He said if he wanted to dine out he didn't want anybody questioning him as to where he was, and he thought I was interfering with his career."

As the months went by Mary did not appeal to her husband any more, she said, and he became abusive of her mother, calling her mother terrible names, "names I do not care to repeat."

In the latter part of 1914 Mary packed her things and left Moore at his suggestion, she said.

"He called my mother terrible names, names I do not care to repeat, and I said that he would have to apologize for that, and he said he would not, and said that I would get out of there; he didn't want me any more and said he was absolutely through with me and wanted to live a bachelor's life and that I didn't appeal to him. I packed my things and went home."

"After much persuasion he returned and we lived together in Los Angeles from January to June 1914. His conduct continually grew worse and he said constantly that it was a great extravagance to have a wife. I always paid my share of the bills and clothed myself."

Left For Good in 1917.
Back and forth from Los Angeles to New York Mary and her husband traveled many times, always on different trains, however, and according to Mary's testimony, she was generally going from one place to the other to bring her husband back to her. In 1916 Mary said she secured a position with a company for her husband and as she had to go West she asked the company to send him along. He refused to go.

"He said it was a good thing that my business called me West as he was happier without me and that I made him morbid and that I didn't try to come back to him," Mary testified.

It was in the summer of 1917 that he left her the last time. "We stayed together two weeks," she said, "he quarreled with me all the time, and one morning he said he wasn't going to stand any of this nonsense any longer. He got on the train and left."

It was a year ago that she talked to Moore, she said, and then they talked about a business deal.

In response to questions from the court, Mary said she came to Nevada for her health and had no intention of curing a divorce when she came here.

D. C. DOCTORS WARN AGAINST ACIDOSIS

Malady Prevalent With Children and Overeating of Fruit May Cause It.

(Continued from First Page.)

A malady known as acidosis, prevalent among infants and small children, has so increased in the number of cases since January 1 over the past two years as to attract the attention of the District Health authorities, it was said today.

While the malady, which is a mysterious in origin as the Spanish influenza, has not yet attained the proportions of an epidemic, Dr. William C. Fowler, District Health Officer, said precautionary measures are not ill-advised.

It was since the death of Morrison Marshall, foster son of Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, in February, and the one of the early victims, that the prevalence of the disease became noticeable to the Health Department. The death record shows a total of from eight to twelve cases since January 1, 1920. That is a larger number of deaths from the malady than the total number of the past two years.

The latest victim known, is Nancy Thurston, four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Louise and Mr. Victor Thurston, of Chatham Courts, who died March 26.

Dr. Fowler described the malady, which he stated is not a new disease, but has long been a ravage among very young children.

"Its origin is unknown. In fact very little is known about it in medical science. While some victims recover just as many die. The symptoms are an acid stomach, a feverish condition, and excessive and continued spells of vomiting."

In fact the victim can retain nothing on its stomach. Lack of nourishment, of course, naturally results in death. However, through careful medical attention and skill, children of average good constitutions may survive.

No specific cure has yet been effected. The individual opinion of the attending physician is relied upon. The malady has been diagnosed as "an intestinal disturbance. The disease seldom attacks children above eight years old."

Dr. Fowler advises that children eat the simple foods suited to their individual constitutions as a preventative, and avoid excessive indulgence in fruits. Overeating for fruits is common during the summer, it was said.

The Health Department does not view the malady as alarming, or believe that it will ever reach the proportions of the infantile paralysis epidemic. Since its appearance in January, Dr. Fowler has required a report from the Bureau of vital statistics on the number of deaths resulting.

"The Health Department is not alarmed about it. It is neither contagious or reportable by physicians. Indeed very little is known about either its cause or spread."

CHARGE D. C. BAKERY USED UNCLEAN FLOUR

Alleging that a bakery in the District used unclean flour in the making of bread upon one occasion, the District Health Department is planning to ask for the issuance of a warrant against the proprietor of the establishment.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EASTER VACATION BEGINS TODAY

Today marks the beginning of the ten day Easter vacation for students in the public schools of the District. After today's session no classes will be held until Monday, April 12. Parochial schools closed yesterday.

ASSEMBLY OUSTS 5 N. Y. SOCIALISTS

Deposed Members Say They Will Be Candidates for Re-election.

(Continued from First Page.)

The assembly did not vote directly on the majority report which had declared the Socialist party as a party to a traitorous organization and which would have prohibited the placing of Socialist candidates on the ballots next November.

The ousted Socialists announced day or tomorrow, according to Speaker Sweet.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

Two avenues of action are open to them. They can either appeal to the courts for redress and reinstatement, admittedly almost a hopeless task, or they will have to wait for the regular election in November to lay their cases before the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

that they would immediately become candidates again in their respective districts. They expressed little doubt that their constituencies would return them to the assembly, as the voters did Victor Berger to Congress in the Fifth Wisconsin district, as a measure of protest.

Two avenues of action are open to them. They can either appeal to the courts for redress and reinstatement, admittedly almost a hopeless task, or they will have to wait for the regular election in November to lay their cases before the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

The assembly purposely forestalled the possibility of special elections to fill the vacancies by delaying the vote past March 31 (yesterday) on which date Governor Smith could legally call special elections. Legal experts were agreed that little action could be had from the courts, as the right of the legislature to be the sole judge of its members has been firmly established. Final decision in the matter will be left to the voters.

the Socialist counsel, Morris Hillquit, of New York, who is at Saranac Lake, and Seymour Steadman, of Chicago, who is now in Chicago.

Assembly Sen of Oratory.
Seldom has the capitol witnessed such oratorical sights and flights of rhetoric as began yesterday, went through the long hours of the night, and continued far into the new day. Certainly not since the famous night of the Sulger impeachment, and some members conceded that even that historical session was outdone.

Everyone from Speaker Sweet himself down to the youngest first year man making his maiden effort had their full say. There was no interference from the chair. The deep, steady boom of the old timer mingled with the tremulous, high-pitched waves of the yearling.

The debate ran the gamut from humor to seriousness and at times became farcical. Solemn warnings that the impending action was a "verme against representative government" and "a blow at the very root of liberty" were mixed promiscuously with cries of "shut up," "attaboy," "sit down," and similar admissions of an impolite nature.

Good-natured sense of humor saved the situation from reaching the stage of physical violence. Once "Marty" McCue, Tammany member from New York, and a former pugilist, reminded Representative Amos, Republican, of New York, that:

"I am not thin-skinned, and I warn the gentleman that neither am I light-fisted."

McCue Given Ovation.
No one challenged the statement and McCue continued his attack on Socialists and socialism generally. He wound up in a burst of eloquence by declaring:

"I would feel that I were traitorous to the American dead in France if I did not vote for the expulsion of these ven men who tried so diligently to frustrate their efforts and nullify their sacrifices."

McCue received a tremendous ovation, friends and foe alike rose to their feet and gave him uproarious applause which lasted for several minutes.

112 Millions used last year to KILL COLDS

HILL'S CASCARA QUININE BROMIDE

Standard cold remedy for 20 years - in tablet form - safe, sure, no opiates - breaks up a cold in 24 hours - relieves grip in 3 days. Money back if it fails. The genuine box has a red top with Mr. Hill's picture.

At All Drug Stores

Every Home Can Have One of These Pianos or Players Great Anniversary Celebration Sale

IT IS THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME. This elegant list of Slightly Shopworn, Used and Slightly Used Pianos and Player-Pianos offers you the greatest Saving Opportunity. Come and SEE the high qualities - tis true that the Low Prices sound almost too good to be true, but your OWN EYES and your OWN JUDGMENT will tell you more than many pages of advertising. Remember the Knabe Warerooms, Inc., reputation and COME QUICK.

READ THE LIST OF BARGAINS

NEW ENGLAND UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$139	BILLINGS UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$171
KINGSBURY UPRIGHT, oak, used.....	$169	BERKLEY UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....	$98
HAINES BROTHERS' mahogany, used.....	$398	ESTEY UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$192
GABLER UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$172	KIMBALL UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....	$249
WHELOCK UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$175	GABLER UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$236
BRIGGS' UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$124	MARSHALL & WENDELL UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$96
STORY & CAMP UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$168	FISCHER UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$119
SWICK UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$159	HARDMAN UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$298
HAINES BROTHERS UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$139	GABLER UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$198
GABLER UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$146	HINZE UPRIGHT, oak, used.....	$272
MARSHALL & WENDELL UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....	$298	CAMERON UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....	$280
OPERA UPRIGHT, ebony, used.....	$181	BRYANT UPRIGHT, oak, used.....	$283
BRIMSMEAD UPRIGHT, walnut, used.....	$98	SCHUMAN UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....	$268
BYRNE UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....	$298	STIEFF UPRIGHT, oak, used.....	$198
WHITTIER UPRIGHT, mahogany, used.....			