"Sailor" Calls Battleship Destroyer; Arrested As Camp Meade Deserter

BAETIMORE, Aug. 4.—Had Peter Smith, twenty years old, known that the United States ship Pennsylvania was a battleship and not a destroyer he wouldn't have occupied a cell at Eastern police station last night. Smith arrived in navy uniform, was walking through Patterson Park when he came across two sailors from the United States Fishing Bureau's steamer Albatross. Smith's reference to the Pennsylvania as a destroyer convinced the sailors that he was an impostor and they ordered his arrest. At the police station he is being held for the Camp Meade authorities, who suspect him of being a deserter from the Twelfth Infantry.

FERRIS CLAIMS LEAD OF 40,000 OVER GORE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 4.—Based on incomplete returns, headquarters of Congressman Scott Ferris today claimed a majority of approximately 40,000 over Thomas F. Gore, in the fight for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Gore managers refused, however, to make any concessions, declaring county precincts would wipe out the Ferris majority.

GOV. ALLEN AND SENATOR CURTIS RENOMINATED

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 4.—Indications based on incomplete returns today were that Gov. Henry J. Allen and Senator Charles F. Curtis were renominated for their respective offices by Kansas Republicans in Tuesday's primaries.

The vote cast was the smallest in years, due to the harvesting season.

H. C. L. NO BARRIER.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 4.—"The high cost of living" (or is it "loving?") does not seem to worry Kansas young people who want to get married. The first six months of 1920 brought more marriages than any six months since the State began to record marriage licenses issued. More babies also were born during the first six months of this year.

SEE SUFFRAGE FOES UNITING

Champions of Cause Here Say Tennessee Fight is Inspired.

By DAVID M. CHURCH, International News Service.

Powerful anti-suffrage interests have combined in a bitter fight to prevent final ratification of the suffrage amendment by the Tennessee legislature, according to reports received by suffrage leaders here today.

"It is very apparent that some powerful outside interest is at work in Tennessee, fighting to prevent ratification of the suffrage amendment," said Miss Jessie Haver, of the National League of Women Voters.

"The great opposition to suffrage in Tennessee is coming from outside of the State," Miss Haver continued. "I wonder if Senator Dillingham, who may have prevented ratification in Vermont; or Senator Brandegee, who may have prevented ratification in Connecticut; or Senator Wadsworth of New York, who has always been a bitter enemy of suffrage, have any knowledge of how this great opposition is being developed in Tennessee?"

NOT PARTY FIGHT.

"It is very apparent that the hidden opposition to suffrage in Tennessee is bigger than party. It doesn't appear like a party movement, and we would like to know who is responsible."

While extremely careful in their statements, suffrage leaders here give the impression that they believe opposition to ratification in Tennessee is being directed by leaders who have always opposed suffrage and now fear their opposition may prove a boom-rang in the fall elections if the women secure the vote. It is pointed out that Senator Wadsworth, Senator Brandegee and other consistent opponents of suffrage are facing stiff fights for re-election, and if the women are granted the vote re-election of suffrage opponents is decidedly questionable.

"ANTIS" HAVE BIG FUND.

Reports received here indicate that the anti-suffrage fight in Tennessee is well organized and is being carried on in a systematic manner. It is also reported that the campaign has shown no indications of a lack of funds.

Still determined to fight until the very end, the National Women's Party here refuses to admit that the Tennessee situation is unfavorable, although the atmosphere about headquarters, as reports come in, is one of gloom. Additional workers are being sent into Tennessee, and one of the bitterest legislative fights in American history promises when the Tennessee legislature meets on August 9.

MRS. HELEN DE BOWER, divorced over ten years ago, claims her ex-husband has prospered and should increase her alimony 1,600 per cent. The court has her petition under advisement.

Mrs. Helen De Bower Says Ex-Husband, Now Rich, Should Pay More.

ASKS RAISE IN HER ALIMONY

Mrs. Helen De Bower Says Ex-Husband, Now Rich, Should Pay More.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—"Before this case is over there are going to be interesting developments in it and somebody is going to get into trouble," declared Herbert R. Limburg, counsel to Herbert F. DeBower, just after he had appeared before a Supreme Court justice to ask the dismissal of a motion of Mrs. Helen De Bower, who divorced his client, to set aside an alimony agreement made a decade ago.

Counselor Limburg declined to elaborate on his statement at this time.

The agreement in dispute between husband and wife is alleged to have been entered into between them at the trial of her action for a divorce in the Illinois court and to have been incorporated in the decree awarded her.

Limburg ridiculed the idea that a portion of a decree of an Illinois court could be set aside by a tribunal of another State. If Mrs. DeBower sincerely wishes to have the agreement set aside and is speaking in good faith when she charges that it was obtained from her at a time when she was in no condition to enter into such an agreement, Limburg declared she must begin an action to that end in the State of Illinois.

In her complaint Mrs. DeBower charges that when her husband represented at the time the agreement was made his income was $12,000 a year and that he possessed assets of $75,000, he grossly misrepresented his financial condition. She asserts he at that time had an income of $100,000 and assets of at least $500,000. The agreement gave her $25,000 in cash and securities and alimony of $1,800 a year.

Alleging that her husband now has an income of more than $150,000 a year and that he allows his second wife at least $65,000 a year, Mrs. DeBower No. 1 is asking that her allowance be now increased to $2,600 a month, or 1,600 per cent.

Daniel W. Blumenthal, who appeared for Mrs. DeBower, argued that the part of the Illinois court's decree relating to alimony is subject to review in the courts of this State.

The court announced that the papers in the matter would be carefully perused before a decision is rendered, but intimated a belief that it lacks jurisdiction.

FLORIDA BOY SCOUT TEAM BEATS WORLD

Sets New Trek-Cart Record in Contest with Welsh Opponents at London "Jamboree."

LONDON, Aug. 4.—A team of American Boy Scouts from Miami, Fla., at the international Boy Scout "jamboree" yesterday established what is believed to be a world's record in trek-cart competition.

Eight of the American youths competing against a similar Welsh team covered 500 yards over obstacles with a two-wheeled trek-cart loaded with eight sandbags weighing 400 pounds in 2 minutes 53.35 seconds. The team had to unload their carts, get them over a wall, reload them and run through a pool of water. The Welsh boys took more than 4 minutes to accomplish the task.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 4.—An investigation was started yesterday by the coroner's office of the death of Lieut. Omer Locklear, Lieut. ## SLEEPS 5 NIGHTS IN PARK WITH BABY

Young Unwed Mother Goes in Rags to Dress Child in Comfortable Clothes.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—Nellie Kelly, twenty-four, clad in tattered clothes and sleeping in a park to save money to buy dainty garments for her five-week-old child, was arrested for vagrancy yesterday. Holding the well-dressed infant to her breast in Washington Heights Court, she told Magistrate Raphael Tobias that her relatives would not accept her, and "that she couldn't stand to see the little one wear rags," so she sacrificed her own personal appearance for the child's sake.

For five nights the young unmarried mother and her child slept in a small park at 136th street and Amsterdam avenue. Neighbors reported the case to William Moore of the Children's Society. Although she earned enough as a domestic to clothe and feed herself she said:

"The baby was so beautiful that I wanted it to have beautiful things. It was easy for me to go without food and a bed when I could use the money to buy clothing for the baby."

During her recital of sacrifice she had undergone through her sense of mother love, Nellie Kelly would allow no one in the court room to touch the infant. She seemed to fear it would be taken from her. Magistrate Tobias committed her to St. Mary's Home.

When asked how she had protected the child from the rain in the park, the mother displayed a rubber blanket which she had bought to cover the infant at night. She also had warm comforters and a pillow, all for the child. For herself she bought little.

Nellie Kelly said she had read with a married sister and the latter's husband until a few days before the child was born. She added she had been ordered from the house when her brother-in-law, heard of her approaching motherhood.

On her discharge from the hospital where the child was born she obtained employment as a domestic. Her health was too impaired to permit full-time work, but she said she could have had many comforts that she denied herself that the "baby could look like other children that had good clothes."
