

SEEK FINANCE WHIP FOR COX

Party Leaders Ask Advice of President As to Ways and Means.

Money makes the mare go in politics as in other enterprises, and now the President Wilson has announced willingness to take active part in the campaign. Democratic leaders are seeking counsel of the White House to find a suitable and effective financial whip.

Men representing practically every faction within the Democratic party have come to Washington to determine what must be done to spur admitted lagging campaign contributions to the Democratic cause.

Among those who have attended such conferences are W. J. Bryan, Henry Morgenthau, Ambassador to Mexico, Edward H. Moore, Joseph Guffey, former Ambassador to James W. Gerard, Bernard M. Baruch, William G. McAdoo, Ray T. Baker, Director of the Mint, Hal D. Flood, of Virginia, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee, and others. McAdoo saw the President personally. Each of the others, except Bryan, has seen Joseph P. Tumulty, the President's secretary. Most of them also have called on Secretary of State Colby, who is known to be close to the political confidence of the Chief Executive.

ALL CALL VISITS "SOCIAL."

All of these gentlemen refer to their visits as "purely social," but their presence, it is pointed out, is the more significant when it is remembered that Bryan represents a faction of no small proportion; that Morgenthau supervised the financing of President Wilson's campaign for reelection in 1916; that McAdoo also played no small part in raising Democratic funds in that year and effectively represents in his own person the Democrats who hoped to see him their standard-bearer this year.

Moore was Governor Cox's pre-convention manager, and may be said to represent the close Cox adherents. Guffey was a strong supporter of Attorney General Palmer for the Democratic nomination, and has done yeoman service in raising Democratic cash in previous struggles.

BARUCH A FINANCIAL PILLAR.

Baruch is understood to have agreed to raise the money for McAdoo's campaign if the latter secured the nomination, and has always been regarded as a financial pillar of the party. Gerard already is actively engaged in the effort to raise funds.

None of these gentlemen has given

69 MILLIONS IN GEM LOOT TO BE SOLD BY RUSSIANS

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Jewels valued at 69,000,000 pounds sterling (about $69,000,000 at the present rate of exchange) have been brought out of Russia for sale, it was estimated today by Scotland Yard officials.

It is declared that Russian crown jewels and other jewels are being sold in England and continental countries at the rate of 100,000 pounds sterling weekly. Two of the largest crown diamonds were broken up and sold in Switzerland along with other gems, including some belonging to the Duchess of Edinburgh, who is now in Stockholm.

Indication as to whether a definite plan has been arrived at, but expressions among those close to the White House that ample funds to finance the campaign would be forthcoming, have been confident and frequent.

It is the general belief among such men that a large number of small contributions will be depended on to finance the campaign, rather than large sums from a few contributors.

COX WOULD GIVE EVERY VET A HOME

Favors Reclaiming Arid Land and Presenting It in Lieu of Bonus.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 26.—A farm and a home for every ex-service man, instead of a cash bonus, is the plan favored by Governor Cox in re-warding the American veterans of the world war.

The Democratic Presidential candidate made this statement at Greeley, Col., in reply to a question of a former soldier as to how he stood on the question of "soldier bonus."

"I think I stand for something better than a bonus," the governor said. "I am in favor of the United States adopting the Smith-Peterson reclamation bill, and we will use it out in the country to reclaim millions and millions of acres of land. Then, I am in favor of giving each one of our fellows a farm and a home of his own."

Last night marked the wind up of the Far West invasion. Governor Cox has traveled some 8,000 miles since September 2, visiting sixteen States and speaking to more than a half million people in more than 200 cities and towns.

HAD MANY INTERESTS.

Mr. Schiff was a director of the Central Trust Company, Western Union Telegraph Company and many other corporations. He served with many committees making for civic betterment and was deeply interested in philanthropy.

Mr. Schiff was one of the leading Jews. He had always been interested in the reclamation of the betterment of the conditions of Jews everywhere. He did extensive philanthropic work, most of which was accomplished so quietly that only he and the beneficiaries had knowledge of the kindly acts.

Mr. Schiff was deeply versed in Semitic literature. He was founder of the Semitic Museum at Harvard and the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York city.

HAD HARDENING OF ARTERIES.

The cause of death were given as arterial sclerosis, aorticitis, and uraemia. It was the second attack suffered by the banker within the week. Last Thursday he moved from the country to his town house, where his condition became critical and he was confined to his bed.

Those present at the bedside of the banker were his widow, his son, Mortimer L. Schiff, and his daughter, Mrs. Felix M. Warburg.

Mr. Schiff was attended by Drs. Charles G. Taylor and Leo Kessel, both of this city.

Up to six months ago he had been regarded as in unusually sound health. During the month of August, Mr. Schiff spent most of his time in exercising in the open air at Bixblie Notch, White Mountains. On September 1 he moved to his country place on Munson road, Seabright, N. J.

AT OFFICE LAST WEEK.

While at his country home he was accustomed to pay two visits each week to his offices at 52 William street. He was last at his office on Monday, September 20.

Mr. Schiff died peacefully and seemingly without a trace of struggle. It was formally announced.

That he left an estate that will prove "considerably large" was admitted today when the existence of a will was acknowledged.

DEATH CLAIMS JACOB SCHIFF

Noted Financier and Philanthropist Passes Away in New York Home.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Jacob H. Schiff, American financier and philanthropist, died here last evening at 6:30 o'clock at his home, 965 Fifth avenue.

He was in his seventy-third year. He was born at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, in 1847, and came to the United States in 1868 and settled in New York. At the time of his death he was a member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., noted New York banking firm.

Mr. Schiff had been in failing health, but members of his family and his associates did not realize his condition was as serious as it was.

FAMILY AT BEDSIDE.

Members of the family were at the bedside when the end came. His son, Mortimer L. Schiff, only recently returned from abroad.

Mr. Schiff's initial venture in the banking business in the United States was as a bank clerk. Within a few years he had risen to the position of a junior partnership in the firm of Budge, Schiff & Co. In 1878 he ended his connection with that firm and became a junior member of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. In the same year he married Miss Theresa Loeb, daughter of Solomon Loeb, senior partner of the firm. When Loeb retired in 1885, Mr. Schiff was made head of the firm, which position he occupied since that year. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had been identified with some of the largest financial operations America has known.

JACOB H. SCHIFF, financier, philanthropist and head of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who died in his New York home yesterday, from hardening of the arteries. His estate is expected to total many millions. His family, including his son, Mortimer L. Schiff, just back from Europe, was at the bedside.

LEGION READY FOR CONCLAVE

Parade to Feature Convention of World War Veterans in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 24.—The second annual convention of the American Legion, which opens here tomorrow, will bring together delegates from 9,650 local posts situated in forty-nine States and the District of Columbia, all United States possessions and a dozen foreign countries, representing a total membership of close to 2,000,000 veterans of the World War. The convention will adjourn Wednesday, September 30.

The delegates are expected to number about 3,000, and it is believed not less than 25,000 unofficial visitors will attend, to refight the war and hobnob with old buddies. One of the features of the gathering will be a parade of ex-service men, that promises to have 20,000 men in line. Many will be in uniform.

POLITICS BIG ISSUE.

Since the delegates will represent sections of the widely separated geographically and economically and since practically every shade of thought, save the violently radical, is existent in the legion, it is impossible to predict the result of the deliberations of the delegates. However, several questions of policy are certain to come up for decision.

The extent to which the legion as an organization will be permitted to take part in public affairs of a political nature undoubtedly will be decided. At present the United States Government charter under which the legion by special act of Congress is incorporated defines the organization as "non-partisan" and "non-political." This definition is repeated in the national constitution of the legion. By common agreement among leaders the strictest interpretation of the charter and the constitution has been observed in the year past. It has become manifest, however, that there is a feeling on the part of the membership that if the legion is to wield the influence it set out to wield in the service of a broader extent in public affairs, the sentiment seems to be that this can be accomplished by a more liberal official interpretation of the charter and the constitution which would place the same strict inhibition on partisan activity that now obtains.

DISCUSS BONUS MEASURE.

The convention undoubtedly will consider measures to further the passage of legislation favorable to the disabled and to all persons who served in public affairs of the time they devoted to serving their country. From the action of the various State conventions it seems certain that the national convention will pass a resolution favoring the Fordney bill, the bonus measure written and sponsored by the legion, that provides four varieties of compensation for ex-service men and women. The bill passed the house and will come before the Senate in December.

It is believed the delegates will express approval of the efforts of legion national officers in the past year that resulted in the passage of the Sweet and Watson bills and other measures helping the disabled. The question of further beneficial legislation will be discussed. Improvement of the War Risk Bureau, Public Health Service and Federal Board for Vocational Training will be urged.

It is certain that the convention will adopt a statement of policy to guide posts and individuals in their conduct toward labor organizations and industrial disputes. In all probability the legion's hands-off policy will be reaffirmed and steps taken to enforce that policy on all units of the organization. A system to provide means of disciplining members and posts that run counter to the expressed policy of the majority of legion members will be discussed and probably adopted. The national constitution fails to provide any means of putting restraint on members who embarrass the legion by unauthorized statements or acts. This fact, according to National Commander Franklin D'Oiler, has caused the entire organization to suffer from adverse criticism directed against the activities of one small post.

REMEMBER SLACKERS.

Draft dodgers and slackers generally will be reminded that a Nemezis follows them when the convention resolutions committee reports on the legion attitude toward the unpatriotic. The delegates are expected to pass resolutions calling on the War Department and the Department of Justice for rigorous prosecution of those who evaded their military duty. Means of curbing the activities of violent radical organizations; treatment of alien slackers; the immigration question in general and the Japanese question in particular; Americanism; better schools; universal military training; women in the legion and its auxiliaries; rules for eligibility to the organization and prosecution of those who fraudulently wear legion insignia are among the questions that are sure to come up.

HOLD BIG PARADE.

Although consideration of policy and other business will take most of the three days of the convention, time will be taken out for novel entertainment features that will be typical of the spirit of the men who wore the uniform. On the afternoon of the first day the parade will be held. A grand military band, including the 1st and 2nd Red Cross girls will hand out chocolate and cookies and cigarettes.

All the fifty-four Living World War Medal of Honor men, the greatest heroes of the American army and marine corps, have been invited to attend the convention as guests of the city of Cleveland.

Many posts and State delegations plan novel stunts. Philadelphia delegates, 1,000 strong, will come to Cleveland in box cars labeled "forty homes 5 chevaux." A Detroit post will send 1,000 members on a lake steamer, which will be their home during the three days of the convention. The Montana delegates plan several surprises, designed to startle the natives of the East and Middle West.

The convention program calls for reports from national officers and committees the first day. Temporary committees will bring their resolutions to the floor of the convention the second day and officers will be elected the third day. There will be a hot fight for the office of national commander. Half a dozen names are being mentioned, but no man has a definite lead.

REDS MODIFY PEACE TERMS

Abandon Many of Former Demands on Poland, and Outlook is Promising.

The Russian Government has submitted an entirely new and far more moderate set of Peace terms to Poland, it was announced by the State Department today. It entirely abandoned its demand that 200,000 Polish workmen be armed to offset 50,000 militia which Poland was permitted to have. The outlook for peace, it was stated, is particularly bright.

The following points were submitted by the Polish delegates:

"The delegation of the territories formerly taken from Poland by the former Russian empire should be based on the following principles:

WHAT POLAND DEMANDS.

"Equitable consideration of the vital interests of both parties;

"Application of the democratic principles to the solution of the questions of nationalities in these territories;

"Mutual guarantees against future attacks.

"Inhabitants of both countries may choose their own citizenship.

"No war indemnities.

"Exchange of war prisoners.

"Mixed commissions for exchange of civilian prisoners.

"Immediate negotiations and conclusion of a peace treaty.

"Peace treaty to be followed by commercial and economic conventions."

WHAT REDS OFFER.

The terms as submitted by the Soviet government were:

"Application of principle self-determination to all the territories that are in dispute.

"Recognition by Poland as well as Russia of the independence of

McGraw Happiest When Pasting Friends on Jaw, Says Actor, 'Who Knows'

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—I put out my right hand to shake hands, McGraw countered with his left to my jaw. I have since learned that this is one of McGraw's most favored forms of indoor sport.

Such was the rejoinder issued today by Wilton Lackaye, actor, to the sweeping denial by John J. McGraw, of the Glanis of Mr. Lackaye's original bill of complaint of what had happened in the McGraw apartment when he (Lackaye) was hit. Lackaye declared that McGraw's denial was not a denial, but a tissue of misstatements.

"Fiebiacite in Eastern Galicia by the entire population to determine the form of government.

"The Soviet government renounces such of the Minsk conference demands as were found impossible of discussion by Poland.

"As a result of armistice and preliminary peace the Soviet government will recognize the boundary much more to the east than the supreme council line of December 3, 1919. Eastern Galicia remaining to the west of this boundary line.

U. S. STARTS TO BUILD WORLD'S BIGGEST SHIPS

An event unprecedented in shipbuilding occurred yesterday when the keels of three great American battle cruisers were laid. One, the Saratoga, is being built by the New York Shipbuilding Corporation at Camden, Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark laid the keel of the Constitution, and Admiral Charles F. Hughes that of the United States, which are being built side by side at the Philadelphia navy yard.

These are the largest and fastest battle cruisers in the world. They were originally authorized as a part of the three-year building program in 1916, but their construction was suspended during the war.

What is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains—Says Public Ought to Know What They Are Talking—Practical Advice on What to Do to Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles

The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over four million people annually and that so many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and blood builder in weak, nervous, rundown conditions has led to an investigation of its merits by designated physicians and others whose reports should be of great importance to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and Westchester County Hospital, who says: "When one patient after another begins asking my opinion of Nuxated Iron, I resolved to go thoroughly into the subject and find out for myself whether or not it possessed the real value claimed by its manufacturers and attested to by so many prominent people. This is exactly what I believe every honest, conscientious physician should do before prescribing or sending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless we practitioners ought to be the first to know of it and if it is efficacious we are in duty bound to recommend for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formula so impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It excels anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease.

taken it myself, with excellent results. There are thousands of delicate, nervous, run-down folk who need just such a preparation as this but do not know what to take. Therefore I have urgently suggested the widespread publication of the merits of this formula so that the public may know what they are taking. This complete formula is the result of the most exhaustive and scientific investigation of iron peptonate of a specific standard and gives results which are known to be the most costly tonic ingredients known. To the credit of the manufacturers it may be said that they use the most expensive form of iron peptonate, whereas by employing other makes they could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost and by using metallic iron they could have reduced the cost to less than one-twelfth, but by thus cheapening the product they would undoubtedly have impaired its therapeutic efficacy. In my opinion a careful examination of this formula by a physician or pharmacist should convince him that Nuxated Iron is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It excels anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease.
