PLANS 5-YEAR SCHOOL POLICY

Board of Education Expected to Submit Building Program to Congress.

Recommendations for a general school building program, to begin next July and continue for about five years, at the end of which Washington's school system will be able to accommodate comfortably 70,000 students, 10,000 more than at present, are expected to be included in the report of the Board of Education to Congress.

Members of the school board and Dr. Ballou have advocated such a program many times. It is believed they will attempt to carry out their plan during the approaching year.

Requests from citizens' associations and other organizations for new school buildings and additions to the present structures have been pouring into Franklin school. If all the requests were granted, it would cost the government about $30,000,000 for additions and buildings.

The school board will take the requests under consideration this afternoon. Dr. Ballou has made a tour of the city, and will present a report on the desirability of certain locations for new buildings.

FRAT ROW UP IN D. C. SCHOOLS

Old Question of High School Cliques Confronts Dr. Ballou for Action Soon.

The high school fraternity and sorority question which caused a row in the public schools several years ago is due to come up again soon.

In violation of an order of the Board of Education, issued four years ago, secret societies have been organized in every Washington high school. Dr. Ballou admitted today he had knowledge of their existence.

"I do not intend bringing the matter before the school board until after the more important problems, now on our hands, are disposed of," Dr. Ballou said today.

The local high school sororities were struck a hard blow today when Miss Lee Ella Warren, president of the George Washington University Pan-Hellenic Association, announced that members of high school sororities are not eligible to girls' fraternities at the university.
