

BIG VOTE OUT IN MARYLAND

Unprecedented Total Expected as Early Balloting Is Heaviest in History.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2.—Lines formed early outside the booths when they opened in Baltimore this morning indicated an unprecedented vote throughout Maryland, where the hard-fought issues of the Senatorial campaign completely overshadowed the Cox-Harding contest in this State.

WELLER MEN CONFIDENT.

Supporters of O. E. Weller, Republican opponent of Senator John Walter Smith, who is up for re-election, were not alarmed over the Democratic claims today. The Weller men are confident that they will overcome the handicap of Senator Smith's vote against woman suffrage in the Senate. But no one attempts to make any accurate prediction as to how the woman voter will exercise her political prerogative, especially in view of the fact that a large number of women are "declined" voters.

15,000 WOMEN VOTE.

It is said that at least 15,000 women in Baltimore alone are in this class, which means that more than that number will cast deciding votes in the rural districts and townships.

Mr. Weller's managers are claiming Baltimore by at least 15,000 votes on the morning of the election. They believe if Weller can carry Baltimore he can carry the rest of the State by a fairly safe majority.

"Watchers" for both parties are guarding the polls and feeling is running high as a result of the election. Seldom has Maryland been so agitated over a Senatorial contest. Republican leaders are making their biggest fight in view of the fact that the election of a Republican Senator from Maryland perhaps may give the Senate to the G. O. P.

While chief interest centers in the contest between Weller and Smith, close races are being run in various of the Congressional districts. Congressman Mudd and Zihlman, Republican, will be re-elected on the face of reliable reports as will Congressman F. N. Zihlman, of the Sixth District, who is a member of the House District Committee. He will poll a heavy "dry" vote as well as a majority of the woman vote.

O. E. WELLER, Republican candidate, who is expected to defeat Senator John Walter Smith, veteran Democratic warrior, in the Maryland Senatorial contest.

MANY IN D. C. CAST MD. VOTE FOR MUDD

Roads to State Townships Crowded With Autos Bearing Women Voters.

Hundreds of Washington residents, going to the polls in the Fifth and Sixth Maryland districts today, will help re-elect Congressman Sydney E. Mudd and Congressman Fred N. Zihlman, Republican candidates for the House, by substantial majorities.

This is the opinion based on the latest reports from these districts which border the District of Columbia, where lines formed early at the polling booths this morning indicated a heavy woman vote.

As in the Maryland Senatorial contest the woman vote in these districts will be an unknown quantity until the final ballot is counted, yet well informed persons who have been studying the results of the campaign during the last few weeks believe the majority of the woman voters will be cast for Mudd and Zihlman. Word has been passed around that the records of the two candidates have passed feminine scrutiny and the Republican leaders are well organized.

WOMAN NON-PARTISAN VOTE.

While the League of Women Voters in Maryland is a non-partisan organization, it is said to favor the candidacies of the two Congressmen on their records in the House. The league, perhaps, is the most influential instrument working in behalf of the Republican candidates and indications point to the fact that a clear majority of the women in these two districts are decidedly Republican in their sympathies.

At noon today practically half of the 15,000 voters in Prince George's county had gone to the polls. The women were reported to be voting in large numbers. Reports indicate that a majority of the women are supporting Senator John Walter Smith, Democrat, who is "dry," while Congressman Mudd appears to be the favorite in the Congressional race.

TAKE AUTOS TO TOWNSHIPS.

Before the polls close at 7 o'clock this evening it is expected an unprecedented number of Washington residents will have cast their votes. Automobiles are running to and from the various townships near the District and leaders of both parties are playing for votes.

Congressman Zihlman, who is being opposed by State Senator Miah, claims he will carry Montgomery county by a thousand votes. Zihlman's majority in the five counties of his district is expected by his friends to reach 8,000.

A three-sided contest in the Fifth district, where Capt. Thomas S. Klinger and John E. Riggle are pitted against Congressman Mudd will work in the latter's favor. Mudd is expected to carry Prince George's county by at least 500 votes according to the most conservative estimate. Klinger, a Democrat, is reported to be "100 per cent wet," which will line up the "dry" vote solidly against him.

The polls at Upper Marlboro, Hyattsville and Riverdale did a record-breaking business during the morning hours. Several hundred people who work in Washington reside in these towns and most of them voted early.

BALTIMORE VOTE BOXES FILLED IN FIRST 2 HOURS

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 2.—The first two hours of voting in Baltimore almost filled the ballot boxes. With registration doubled the heaviest vote ever cast here was well under way before 9 o'clock.

Voting in the rural sections of the State was slower, but in every district the number of tickets marked nearly doubled the normal vote. Republican leaders, claiming the big unaffiliated vote for the national ticket, were elated over the extraordinary turnout.

POLICE INVESTIGATE HEALER'S METHODS

cured of their ills through his teaching. His reply to this request was: "I cannot divulge the names and addresses of my patients without their consent. I will be unable to give you any names until I first write to those who have been helped."

Pressed for a reason why he had not found it necessary to bring with him on his trip to America any proof of his healing, he said: "I have not found it necessary."

Rawson admitted today that he sometimes failed in giving treatments to persons interested in his work. He explained this by stating that the "sub-conscious minds" of his patients are not always fitted so as to receive treatment.

HAS PRIVATE INCOME.

Rawson declared he had a private income that his wife had a private income; that he lived modestly and not luxuriously, that he was making no profits from his work and that he expected to make $0 profits.

He stated he did not believe in Hell or death. "We are living in Hell now," he said.

Rawson claims that he can tell what is happening in Heaven, and what will happen after death. He learns these mysteries, he says, through logic.

"I learn these things through logic. After reaching my conclusions I prove them by practice," the healer declared. "I always am able to convince those who pray with me that my conclusions, reached through logic, are correct."

When asked whether he gave treatment to persons too poor to pay, Rawson replied: "In England I gave many treatments without charge." "But in America I do not make a practice of it. I cannot afford to do so. I must make some charge in order to meet expenses. Daily the average amount of money I am spending is on the increase."

The healer declared he believed that 90 per cent of the trouble in the world today could be avoided if the people knew how to pray right.

WOULD TEACH PRAYER.

"The object of my visit to America is to teach the people the right way to pray," he said. "If they learn this, they can cure any disease and rid themselves of all sin."

Several statements made in the Los Angeles Times on January 10 last, and published in the Washington Times yesterday, were denied by Rawson. "I never said Jesus Christ returned to this world in 1885," he declared. "I never said that in London a hypnotic healer's place was raided by the police, and I never said I sat in London and heard a man speaking hundreds of miles away."

When questioned regarding certain companies he was connected with in England, all of which were referred to in the article in the Los Angeles Times, Mr. Rawson said: "The company which I helped to organize in England to extract gold from sea water did not go into bankruptcy. It still is in existence, and has carried out all of the work which I claimed it would."

Rawson said he only held a few shares of stock in the Magic Ride Company in England. The company failed and hundreds of persons lost large sums of money. "This company was organized by one of my assistants, against my advice," he said, "in order to help him invest $100 in it."

DENIES BANKRUPTCY BLAME.

Referring to the Elmore Copper Company, which failed in England, Rawson said: "I was managing director of that company for a fortnight. Because of a disagreement with officials, the officials refusing to carry out my policies, I left the concern. The bankruptcy occurred many years after my connections had been severed."

The Los Angeles story stated that Iceland would not deal with Rawson in a proposed project for its industrial, commercial, and moral development. Rawson says of this: "So far as Iceland refusing to have anything to do with me, I was made consulting engineer for that government."

1,900 U. S. SAILORS TO RECEIVE MEDALS

Revised List Expected to Contain Six-More Awards Than Originally Provided.

Elaborate ceremonies will mark the presentation and distribution of distinguished service medals to more than 1,900 men of the navy and marine corps, which were delayed by the Senate investigation of the Sims-Daniels controversy, last winter.

The decorations have been mailed to commanding officers of ships and stations for distribution, either on Armistice Day, November 11, or Armistice Sunday, November 14. The medals were forwarded in sealed packages and will be presented with appropriate ceremonies. The revised list of those to receive the medals will not be made public until after presentations, it was stated at the Navy Department today.

It is understood that nineteen will receive the Congressional Medal of Honor on the revised list, as thirteen were provided on the original list. The revised list, as finally approved, contains the names of more than 450 officers and men who will receive the Distinguished Service Medal, and about 1,500 who will receive the Navy Cross.

The controversy over the decorations was started last winter by Admiral Sims' declining to accept the Distinguished Service Medal for which he had been recommended, charging injustices in the manner of awarding honors. Following a congressional investigation, Secretary Daniels sent the list back to the Knight Board for review, and the awards are based on the board's final report.

PUT 2.75 BEER ACT UP TO MASS. VOTERS

Ballots Carry Referendum on State Legislative Measure Voted by Coolidge.

BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Massachusetts voters today were taking a referendum on the question of approving the manufacture and sale of 2 3/4 per cent beer, wine and cider.

An act stating that such beverages are not intoxicating liquor, which passed the last legislature, was vetoed by Governor Coolidge and failed of passage in the Senate over the veto.

As a matter of fact, if the light wine and beer measure is approved at the polls by a majority of voters, it will still have no effect as a law, since it would be inconsistent with the Volstead act.

DEBS FROM PRISON APPEALS TO VOTERS

Calls on Electorate to Throw Out Political Tyrants and Support Socialists.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—From his cell in Federal prison here Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for President, issued his last appeal today to the voters of the nation.

"Let every man and woman," his statement said, "strike at the heart of the working class. Sweep out the old regime. Dethrone the political tyrants that hold the masses in brutal bondage. Elect each and every Socialist candidate."

"The dawn is breaking. Great history is being made. The future belongs to you. The battle is between capital and labor. The line has been clearly drawn and the issue clearly stated."

LIQUOR CHEERED BY LATE REPORTS

postmasterhips are no longer appointive but come under civil service. The Senator also has received a letter from a stranger who modestly offers his services as Secretary of State, although he confesses he is entirely inexperienced in foreign affairs.

But all this is amusing to the Republican candidate, who naturally can give none of this correspondence any attention until after his election has become a fact.

10 TO 1 ON HARDING AS BETTING CLOSES

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The betting on the national campaign in Wall Street closed with Senator Harding a 10-to-1 favorite, with practically no money offered on the short end according to the betting commissioners who make the quotations.

Skepticism was expressed among Democrats as to the value of these quotations, but as the betting commissions get 5 per cent for handling bets, it is to their interest to quote odds that will invite betting activity.

At the close of business W. L. Darnell Co., 44 Broad street, were offering $50,000 to $5,000 that Harding would be elected President, and even money that Harding would have over 325 votes in the Electoral College, with no takers on either.

Even money was to be had today that Harding would carry New York State by 250,000, and 9 to 5 was offered that he would carry Greater New York.

U. S. COURT UPHOLDS JAPANESE LAND LAW IN CALIF.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2.—Judge Robert S. Bean, in United States District Court yesterday, refused to declare unconstitutional the California land law known as the Webb act, which prohibits Japanese from holding land in the State except under certain provisions.

In an action brought by Robert H. Strachan, of New York, it was sought to have the law declared unconstitutional on the grounds that it was in conflict with treaty arrangements of the United States.

"I would not undertake to declare an act of the State legislature as unconstitutional unless it was clearly shown to be so," Judge Bean said, holding that in this case it had not been clearly shown unconstitutional.
