

HARDING PLANS ARE COMPLETE

President-Elect Has Decided on International Policy to Be Announced Later.

By JACK ROYLE. International News Service. MARION, Ohio, Dec. 20.—The international policy of the Harding administration is rapidly taking shape, it was indicated authoritatively today, but the President-elect is not ready to announce it to the people. He has made it known that he has formed in his own mind a project for meeting the international situation. He has submitted that plan to the men whom he has asked to confer with him.

PLAN IS APPROVED. Those men, of widely different views, have stated after their conferences that his proposal had their endorsement and approval, but neither he nor they have given any indication that the final terms and details of the plan have been fixed. The expressions of the leaders before whom the Harding project has been placed, indicate seemingly beyond question that it provides for an association of nations which the United States would enter unbound in advance, with an international tribunal for the settlement of disputes among nations and providing for a redefinition of the international laws.

APPROVED IN PART. Such an association, the conferees indicated, would be based somewhat upon the Hague tribunal idea, simplified, perfected and strengthened. The initiation of such an association, Senator Harding's advisers asserted today, must be taken up first through diplomatic channels, this move to be followed by a general conference of representatives of the nations involved at Washington. Men of such widely different opinions as Charles Evans Hughes, Elihu Root, Nicholas Murray Butler, William Jennings Bryan and Senators New of Indiana, Reed of Missouri, Fall of New Mexico and Wadsworth of New York have signified their approval of this plan at least in part. Many of them have expressed the belief that members of the present

GEN. SIR NEVIL MACCREADY, commander of the British forces in Ireland, who has set December 27 as the date when all arms, ammunition and explosives held by civilians in the area under martial law must be given up.

League of Nations would willingly abandon that body for membership in the proposed association. None, however, has been willing to quote a definite authority for that belief. Until foreign opinion has been sounded out in some way it is believed Senator Harding will not settle definitely the details of the plan or make formal announcement of it.

MORE CONFERENCES. Also Senator Harding expects to confer with many other leaders of American public opinion. Until he has done so, he has stated specifically, his mind will be open. Senator Wadsworth declared today that in his belief the tentative plan might be put in operation within three or four months after its initiation.

GET TOGETHER ON INAUGURAL

Committee Formally Organizes With Secretary Smith in Charge of Headquarters.

With the arrival of Jess L. Smith, secretary of the Inaugural Committee, in Washington today, the committee under the direction of Edward B. McLean got down to real work. An informal meeting of the committee was held this afternoon, at which the preliminary work was outlined to Smith.

CHAIRMAN APPOINTED. Chairman McLean today announced two new chairmen of subcommittees. Dr. Abram Simon, president of the Board of Education, was named chairman of the committee on printing, and Col. William Eric Fowler was appointed chairman of the floor committee, which will direct the inaugural ball.

McLean announced today that plans were going ahead to make the ceremonies attending the inauguration of President-elect Harding the most elaborate ever held in Washington. Everything is working smoothly, he said, and the committee this time expects to surpass previous inaugural committees in getting its work done in record time.

AVENUE CARNIVAL PLANNED. The carnival on Pennsylvania avenue in connection with the festivities, promise to be one of the main events of the inauguration. It will provide an excellent substitute for the ball with those who are unable to attend the big function, and also will be the means of making what has always been a tiresome sight-seeing spectacle on the avenue the evening of March 4 an enjoyable entertainment and an adjunct to the festivities.

Presidents of the citizens associations of the city and many of the clubs in the Government departments praise Chairman McLean for providing the carnival feature for the inauguration and many of them will hold meetings in the near future to decide what part they will take in the Mardi Gras. They say that they will hold off for a few weeks to see if McLean or his committee has any suggestions to make in regard to this feature.

GIRLS' TEAM TO AID GOOD FELLOW FUND

War Risk Basketball Club Issues Challenge for Benefit Game on Thursday.

part of your satisfaction will be derived from seeing the smiles and hearing the laughter and shouts of thanksgiving and rejoicing of the recipients of your bounty.

THIRTY MORE NEEDED. At least thirty Good Fellows are needed to take care of that many babies and small children who are under the care of the Child Welfare Society at the Wellington Diet Kitchen because the homes in which the little ones were found were unsuitable for them. The Child Welfare Society reported these cases to the Good Fellow Department because it was now up to the Good Fellow Department to make good on its boast that the Good Fellows of Washington would see to it that every child in Washington would be visited by Santa Claus next Saturday morning.

And, in the meantime, the list of needy large families continues to grow. Today the big bureau breezed and wanted to know how things looked. He was shown a long list upon which practically all the needy families had been assigned. The Good Fellow Department has a batch of mail was delivered, and lo and behold! there were pitiful appeals from half a hundred needy families. And they have all got to be answered. The Good Fellow must toe scratch and take care of every one of these families if you are a Good Fellow—and don't ever admit to yourself that you are not—it is your job to take at least one of these families under your wing.

The Good Fellow creed is so simple that it must appeal to every man and woman who gives any thought whatsoever to those less fortunate. Here is the creed:

"Neither you nor I get anything out of this except the feeling that we have saved some soul from sorrow on Christmas morning."

Nothing could be simpler, and yet, nothing could be more noble, lofty, humanitarian or satisfying.

TROOP 16 ON THE JOB. Troop Sixteen of the Boy Scouts of America took a large family under its wing today, and every other troop of Boy Scouts can do likewise. Come on, you scouts! don't let Troop Sixteen get away with anything.

The spirit of the Good Fellow was exemplified today when a young man came in and asked that the biggest family on the list be assigned to him. The largest family consisted of a widow and ten children. It was suggested that the family might be a trifle large for him, whereupon he replied that he had saved up considerable money to buy a merry Christmas with and he did not know any better investment he could make than providing Christmas cheer and comfort for this large family.

Groups of Good Fellows are still needed to take care of the remaining large families. Today is the day to enroll. Sign the form in today's paper, or telephone Main 5260 or call personally at the Good Fellow Department. There are only five more days before Christmas, and if a single, solitary child experiences the tragedy of the empty stocking, or any old folk are made to feel that no one cares for them, then the whole Good Fellow movement will have proven a failure. Secure success for the movement and a happy Christmas for yourself by taking a family under your wing today.

IT'S A MATTER OF RED BLOOD CELLS

Pepto-Mangan Makes Rich, Red Blood Builds Up People Who Lack Vitality

If your body is sound and your blood is rich and red, your thoughts will be quick and strong, and you will be quick and strong.

Let your blood get weak, and your food won't nourish you nor your sleep refresh you.

Too much hard work, an illness, or a mental strain can thin down your blood, and Pepto-Mangan is needed to bring it back to healthy, normal condition.

Knowing this, doctors for years have recommended Gude's Pepto-Mangan because of its blood-building and tonic properties.

Pepto-Mangan is such a simple and harmless tonic, yet such a prompt builder of red blood, that its reputation has spread all over the country. Today every druggist sells it and thousands of men and women use it as a restorative whenever they or their children seem to feel below par.

Pepto-Mangan agrees with the most delicate stomach, and is obtainable in either liquid or tablet form.

Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package when you buy Pepto-Mangan. Ask the druggist for "Gude's." If "Gude's" is not on the package, it is not Pepto-Mangan.

ELOPING PASTOR SEEKS OLD PULPIT

Weeps in Church When Confession of Misdeeds Is Read To Flock.

(Continued from First Page.) He wept like a leaf and clutched the little pastor as if to get from it some support, physical as well as moral.

MENTIONED IN PRAYER. But it was during the prayer that the man who, when he returned to Passaic, said God sent him back to beg forgiveness, apparently suffered most.

This is a broad translation of a part of the prayer: "I thank the Lord that Dominie Densel is back with us again. He is in the midst of the congregation and I hope he may be cheered by the words to be spoken."

FAMILY UNDER CENSOR. "Last Monday night Mr. Densel appeared in person before the consistory. He made a full confession, begged for forgiveness and then filed an application to be reinstated as a member of the church. Mr. Densel, Elizabeth Densel, Richard Densel and Cornelius Densel, Jr., who are now under censor, will be given a hearing before the consistory tomorrow night. They are under censor because at the time the consistory was seeking information about Mr. Densel and Miss

3 INDIAN FIGHTERS DIE AT D. C. HOME

Expire of Dakota Campaign Expires at Soldiers' Hospital Within Three Days.

Three veterans of the Indian campaign, one of whom was wounded at the Battle of Crazy Woman's Fork, Dakota Territory, have died in Soldiers' Home Hospital since last Friday. Two of the veterans died yesterday. Funeral services for two participants in the drive against the Indians will be held Wednesday.

Winfield Seaman died Friday after a short illness. He was seventy-three years old. He enlisted in March, 1864, in Company B, Twenty-seventh Infantry. He took part in a number of engagements with the Indians, and was severely injured at the battle of Crazy Woman's Fork. He was discharged on account of disability in April, 1868. He came to the Soldiers' Home in 1888. He will be buried Wednesday with full military honors.

Thomas W. Elliott, sixty-six years old, enlisted in October, 1872. He served in the artillery throughout the Indian war. He was a native of Derry, Ireland. He has relatives living in Wilmington, Del. He, too, will be buried Wednesday.

Linton Howell, fifty-five years old, died yesterday in the Soldiers' Home Hospital. He served throughout the Indian campaign and in Cuba and in the Philippines. Arrangements for his funeral have not yet been completed.

FACE BATTERY OF CAMERAS. After a long wait he came out of the church with his wife and the children and started for home. He did not succeed in dodging a camera battery, however, and suffered an apparent shock when he realized he had been made the center of a group photograph.

Elder Reyngoudt declined to make a statement, and walked away when asked what the former pastor had confessed. The Densels also fled from interviewers. The former choir girl and her parents remained in seclusion.

John Rose, the head of the consistory and presiding elder, said that it is nonsense to intimate that Mr. Densel may be taken back by the consistory.

"That would be impossible. The consistory has expelled him and if he ever is ordained again, it will have to be after he has proven worthy as a member and has passed an examination of the classis, the governing body of our church in this country."

France Gets Radio Station. The high-powered radio station constructed by the Navy Department at Croix d'Hins, near Bordeaux, France, has been formerly turned over to the French government. Construction of the station began shortly after the entrance of the United States into the war, when the danger of enemy submarines destroying the cables between this country and Europe made an auxiliary service of communication necessary.
