YANKS GIVEN $1,000 AS GERM CARRIERS

Ex-Service Men Will Be Inoculated to Get Scarlet Fever Remedy.

CHICAGO, April 15.—Twelve former service men watched the rain yesterday against the windows at McCormick Institute of Infectious Diseases. They smoked innumerable cigarettes and discussed other rainy days of Armentieres and Cantigny and the Argonne.

They glanced nervously at a door that would admit a white-aproned surgeon with a $1,000 check in one hand and a swab full of virulent scarlet fever germs in the other. All the twelve had volunteered to submit to tests of the germs. Once they had volunteered for the sake of humanity and now they were willing to volunteer again for the same reason.

Two famous pathologists had called for volunteers in order to discover a serum to prevent the ravages of scarlet fever. For each man selected, the physicians agreed to pay $1,000. Three of the twelve were chosen yesterday and germs placed in their throats. If they show no signs of the fever in a week others will undergo the same test.
