First Wife Demands Broker Clear Her Name of Bigamous Marriage.

NEW YORK, May 10.—"Erase from the records your bigamous marriage in Greenwich Conn.; acknowledge me publicly as your only lawful wife, OR I will sue."

This ukase was sent yesterday through a lawyer, to Herbert Thornton Andrews, broker, by Mrs. Maud Augusta Haynes Andrews, his wife of nine years and mother of his two children, one a cripple.

POSITION NOT ENDURABLE.

Thoroughly aroused over reports that have reached her that the magnetic young broker has become re-united with his Connecticut "wife," Esther Tattall Andrews, slender, shapely young blonde, Mrs. Maud Andrews posted over to New York to see her counsel, Eugene A. Donohue, 149 Broadway.

She told Mr. Donohue:

"I refuse to allow myself to be placed any longer in the terrible position of a wife who has to climb upon her husband—of a woman who sits calmly by while the father of her children galleys about the country with a young 'chicken,' upon whom his wandering fancy has alighted. "There is but one thing to do—force Herbert Andrews to expunge from the Connecticut records the official notations of his bigamous ceremony with my rival. If he refuses to do this, I am prepared to take steps that may result in my doing it if he does not remove from my name and the name of my two little boys the stigma he has cast upon them."

Mr. Donohue advised Mrs. Andrews that the broker could be compelled to cleanse the Connecticut record of the bigamous "marriage" notations; also to properly support her and her sons—Henry, six, and John, eight—pending the determination of her present divorce proceedings in New Jersey.

TELLS PITIABLE STORY.

The first wife yesterday related a pitiable story of the broker's alleged neglect and "failure to provide" also his sudden departure from their Hudson boulevard apartment, April 14 last. She said:

"I know Mr. Andrews saw Esther recently in Pittsburgh and has been in constant touch with her for the past three weeks—thus violating the solemn pledge he made to me on April 14."

"When I appeared before the Hudson County grand jury on April 28 I refused to say anything that would injure my husband. That was on April 28. Now, I am thoroughly convinced he intends to desert."

"My duty in the premises is plain. I am going to do my duty."

Mr. Donohue refused to forecast the next step in the absorbing matrimonial drama. There were disclosures Mrs. Andrews had quivering on the tip of her tongue. But she spoke through a friend:

"Mrs. Andrews has been compelled to sell her automobile. Her husband would not give her a regular weekly allowance. He has been remiss."

Mrs. Andrews No. 1 attributes many of her marital difficulties to a sudden accession of wealth.

SEES LOW TARIFF AS U. S. CREDITS SAID

Edge Declares It Least of Two Evils, Favoring Debtor Nation.

"Visionary, temporary, artificial legislative posturings" will not meet the pressing needs of the country, Senator Edge, Republican, of New Jersey, declared today in discussing the emergency tariff bill.

Edge voted against it in the last Congress. He announced today he would vote for it in its new form because he believed it contained "enough of good" to counter-balance what was bad in it.

"We must remember that the United States no longer is a debtor nation, but is credited with a total of many billions, of almost every country on the globe," Edge said. "We must remember that not one of these countries has the gold with which to pay its debt—few even can pay their annual interest. So, for the present, they must pay us in goods and in credit, until they can begin paying in gold, and they never can pay us in gold, goods or credit if we impose prohibitive or embargo tariff against them."

Baby Shunned Because of Eczema

John M. Shonting, 601 Main St., Lancaster, Ohio, writes:

"My baby boy contracted severe case of Eczema which covered his face and head. Visitors to our home would shun my child because he looked so terrible. I procured a bottle of D. D. D. in an incredibly short time my boy was cured."

Thousands of letters from grateful users of D. D. D. prove the wonderful results in healing torturing skin disease. The very first application of the itching and burning. Why not try a bottle at once and be convinced? Your money back if the bottle does not bring relief. 50c. and $1.00. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

LET BERGDOLL GO UNIRONED FOR GAMBLING

14 SUSPENDED Two Men and Woman Latest Victims in Printing Office Probe.

Barraacks Commandant Admits He Failed to Heed Warning About Slacker.

Although he had been warned of the "dangerous character" of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll and advised to have him handcuffed if he left the prison, Col. John E. Hunt, retired, admitted today before the Congressional committee which is investigating the slacker's escape, that he allowed Bergdoll to go unshackled when he left to look for the "pot of gold."

COMMANDANT OF BARRACKS.

Colonel Hunt was the commandant of the disciplinary barracks where Bergdoll was confined. It had been testified before that prisoners were escorted only by guards armed with clubs. Colonel Hunt said "he saw no reason to change this method." The guard, at the time, he explained, was made up of "development battalion men, who were generally slow par."

Bergdoll, he said, was one of three prisoners who escaped, out of a total of 4,000 confined at various times at the prison at Fort Jay.

WARNED BY STAFF CHIEF.

The warning that Bergdoll was a dangerous character was contained in a letter from the Chief of Staff of the Eastern Department. He wrote Colonel Hunt that "the dangerous character of the prisoner is known from the Philadelphia police who have had long experience with him."

"From their experience with him," the Chief of Staff advised, "it is thought that this prisoner never should be permitted to leave to one guard and accompanied by another."

Colonel Hunt told the committee today that he felt this letter to be "an encroachment upon his own authority and that he desired to take it up with the Department Commander."

When Bergdoll left the disciplinary barracks he was accompanied by two guards, but was not handcuffed or otherwise restricted.

GUARDED BY TWO MEN.

"No prisoner ever left my institution more securely guarded," the witness declared, "he was guarded by two non-commissioned officers in whom I had absolute confidence."

"The plan seemed reasonable to me," he said, referring to the expense of complying with their request. "Certainly I had not the slightest suspicion that the prisoner would escape."

Hunt said he regarded Ansell's letter as sufficient assurance that there was no plot, and Gibboney, he said, "told me I needn't worry, the prisoner would be returned." Hunt stated he would have sent the same guard, regardless of how he was short of non-commissioned officers. He did not take up with Edward S. Bailey, one of Bergdoll's counsel, the question of guard, he said, "but something was said about an officer, as it has been suggested in a letter from Adjutant General Harris."

CONFIDENTIAL EXPEDITION.

The expedition "was to be confidential," Hunt said, explaining that he was "anxious that no more notoriety be given his institution."

RAIL EXPENSES MUST BE CUT LABOR CRISIS FACES BRITAIN

—CUMMINS. People Face Grave Situation If Conditions Remain Perma- nent, Senator Says.

By H. K. REYNOLDS.
International News Service.

"The expenses of the railroads must be reduced if they are to be successfully operated," Senator Cummins, of Iowa, chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, warned today when his committee opened an exhaustive investigation of the railroad situation.

"PEOPLE FACE GRAVE SITUATION. If present railroad conditions are to be permanent, the people of the nation 'face a very grave situation,' Senator Cummins said.

"We must try to ascertain whether the conditions created by railroads as operating revenue last year were wisely, economically, and effectively expended," Senator Cummins told the railroad officials who were present in testimony today.

"We have about reached our limit, and the expenses of the railroads must be reduced if they are to be successfully operated."

Senator Cummins announced the intention of his committee to be of assistance in clearing the situation and asked for co-operation from the railroad executives.

"RAILS NOT RESPONSIBLE. "Rail rates are not responsible for business depression," declared Julius Krutchnitt, chairman of the board of the Southern Pacific, first witness for the railroad executives.

"There is no doubt that there is a general deflation and fall in prices from the heights to which they had been driven by war conditions that has caused a stagnation of business throughout the world."

"The strongest reason to believe that the very great reduction in traffic has been due to almost entirely to general business conditions, world-wide in their effects, and that would have come if there had been no advance in freight rates."

"The Government, having strangled the railroads into something like bankruptcy, at last removed its hands and permitted a sudden increase in rates which has had a disastrous effect and started at least twelve years ago," said Krutchnitt.

"The percentage of freight charges to the average value of commodities shipped in the early part of 1921 is the tenth of one per cent, less than it was in 1914," the writer said.

"The labor bill of the carriers in 1918, which was before the Adamson law took effect stood at $1,485,742,239 increase upon increase in labor cost has occurred in the meantime. The increase labor cost in 1920 over 1919 was $77,814,852."

"The transportation crisis through which the United States is passing is not a condition peculiar to the railroads of the country, but is a situation of 'world-wide incidents arising from perfectly understandable causes in the them having their origin in the world war,'" Dr. DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, told the committee.

Indorsement of the transportation act of 1920—the Each-Cummins law—will feature of the testimony of the railroad executives, their association having expressed the belief that it is "the most constructive measure dealing with the transportation situation which has been enacted into law in the past five years."

They will contend that the transportation act has not broken down, that the present difficulties of the railroads are not due to the transportation act, and that the law itself provides effective means for dealing with them in so far as may be done by national legislation, the difficulties in which the railroads now find themselves.

The railroad executives plan to explain to the Senate committee the reasons for extraordinary expenditures during the past year, and it is their announced intention to show that the greater part of the increased expenses of 1920 were due to causes over which they had no control.

Thick 'Jit' Beats Thin Dime in Greco-Roman Bootblack Struggle

"Eet's a bum-a trick," yelled Mike Binaldi, former Italian shoe-shining king of New York city, when he opened his new shoe-shining parlor this morning at 721 Fourteenth street northwest. Incidentally, he received the shock of his life and visions of a small fortune went "blooie."

For, staring him in the face were two large signs, five feet high, announcing in big red letters that shoe-shiners were being given a first-class shine free time since the war shoe shines for "Ladies and Gents" could be obtained for one thick nickel, but—

The signs announcing this bit of welcome news to Washingtonians were not in front of "Mike's" place, but still charging a dime. "Eet's a bum-a trick," said Mike this morning when he saw the two large signs announcing a 100 per cent reduction in the price of shoe-shines by his competitors. "The people of Washington won't fall for it, and would rather pay 10 cents in my nice new place."

CHINA PLAYS U. S. MINISTER

Harding Believed Duped in Se- lection of Schurman; Jap- anese Plot Scented.

By FLOYD HOGGRIFF.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 10.—A bitter fight is to be made by American friends of China to prevent, if possible, the confirmation of President Harding's nomination of Jacob Gould Schurman, former president of Cornell University, as minister to China.

NOMINATION UNEXPECTED.

"The nomination of Schurman, because of his pro-Japanese speeches and stand, came as a bombshell to all true friends of China today," said Guy Lee Walker, financier and authority on Chinese and Eastern questions and a confidant of the Chinese government.

"President Harding, I feel sure, has been duped. "You will remember that Charles K. Hughes, Secretary of State, formerly was a professor of economy at Cornell University. He long has been a friend of Dr. Schurman. Dr. Alfred See, the present Chinese minister to Washington, also attended Cornell.

"Chinese officials and friends charge that Dr. See has made no report of the pro-Japanese attitude of Dr. Schurman to his Peking government. However, a storm is brewing."

Walker furnished a copy of a letter that George B. Lockwood, Republican editor and former State committee man from Indiana, sent President Harding May 7, reading in part:

APPOINTMENT SEEMS CALAMITY.

"If this information (charges of pro-Japanese sentiments of Dr. Schurman) is correct, and it comes to me from strong friends of China, his appointment would, in my opinion, be a calamity, in view of the fact that America is the one friend that China has in the present Chinese government."

Walker named several Republican Senators who would challenge Dr. Schurman's appointment.

"Chinese students in America are bombarding Dr. See, their minister at Washington, asking that he protest to Peking against acceptance of Dr. Schurman as minister of the firm source, who had written an authoritative book from personal investigation about China.

IS PERSONA NON GRATA.

Walker said he had advised members of the Peking government by cable as follows:

"Refuse to accept Schurman. Member of notorious Vanderbilt party. Pro-Japanese."

Walker explained that Schurman was a member of the Frank A. Vanderbilt party which went to Japan last spring, staying there fourteen days and receiving royal entertainment at the hands of the Japanese.

"Dr. Schurman," said Walker, "is, next to Mr. Vanderbilt, the most prominent member of that party. He made a pilgrimage to Japan, and back, just a year ago, at the expense of the Japanese government, and which returned to inform the United States minister of the firm source, who had written an authoritative report about China, Manchuria, Mongolia and Siberia."

Walker quoted excerpts from Dr. Schurman's speeches to show that he was "committed already to a policy of permitting Japanese domination and sovereignty in Manchuria, Mongolia, Shantung, and Siberia, and therefore was in no position properly to represent American rights, let alone become a 'friendly minister to China.'"
