POLISH PREMIER TO QUIT, SAY ADVICES

Korfanty's Influence Given as Cause for Threatened Overthrow of Government.

LONDON, May 14.—The foreign affairs committee of the Polish parliament has voted lack of confidence in the present government and Premier Sapieha is about to resign, according to a dispatch from Warsaw today.

In some quarters this report was interpreted as an indication that the influence of Adalbert Korfanty, the Polish nationalist leader, has proved sufficiently strong to wield the club of a threatened overthrow over the heads of the present ministers.

In other circles, however, it was suggested that it would be a shrewd and logical move on the part of the Polish government at this juncture—in view of yesterday's "curtain lesson" to Poland by Lloyd-George—to step aside, thus causing a ministerial crisis with consequent delay of action to stay the hand of the belligerent Korfanty, and presenting to the allies an entire new slate of ministers, with whom the whole matter would have to be gone all over again.

JEWELS TO PAY OFF WAR DEBT

Erzberger, Germany's Political Boss, Prepared to Seize Citizens' Wealth.

By FRANK E. MASON.
 (Copyright, 1921, by International News Service.)

BERLIN, May 14.—Germany will confiscate the gold, diamonds, and pearls of her citizens to pay the indemnity to the allies, if Dr. Matthias Erzberger has his way.

Erzberger, who returned to his full former power as Germany's political boss when his lieutenant, Dr. Wirth, became chancellor a few days ago, confided this plan to the International News Service today.

GERMANS HATE ERZBERGER.
 The former vice chancellor and finance minister is bitterly hated in wide classes because he, more than any other individual, was responsible for Germany's signing the Versailles treaty, and furthermore because he is the author of an exhaustive confiscatory tax system. He remained in the background during the past year, content to "pull the wires."

The correspondent asked him what he had to say to the press comment from all quarters, especially to such assertions as "Wirth, Erzberger's straw man, jumps when Erzberger pulls the wires," and "Wirth is Erzberger's other self."

Erzberger smiled as he replied: "Herr Wirth has long been my friend, and I can say he has been my political pupil."

All Europe is looking toward Erzberger instead of Wirth to learn the policy of the new German government. Next week he is to make a series of speeches in South Germany which will be comparable to the American Presidential campaign speeches. It is reported Wirth will offer his patron a cabinet post, probably the reconstruction portfolio, but Erzberger, it is believed, will refuse to accept it.

Asked to outline the new government's program, Dr. Erzberger said to the correspondent:

AIM OF NEW REGIME.
 "The new government has a trifold aim:

"We will prove our good intentions to the entire world by the most rapid disarmament possible and by the completion of the trials of alleged war criminals. The excuse that the allies did not supply sufficient evidence against them is ridiculous. If that is so, then the defendants should have been acquitted, but it is due the defendants, the entente, and ourselves to get speedy decisions.

"Instead of more notes on this subject we will have action.

"The reparations questions depend upon two factors: Our good will and our ability to pay.

"By the payment of the first billion gold marks we can get breathing spell until November 1. This billion will be raised. To that end we must sacrifice a large part of the people's personal fortunes. We still have foreign securities which can be called in and confiscated by the government against repayment in marks. We still have silver, pearls, and diamonds in our possession. These belong to the government. The real iron time is just beginning. Confiscation of these values will raise two billions. When we have the necessary surplus we will be secure against an enemy invasion at least another year."

MRS. P. D. ARMOUR, III, of Chicago, decided it was too lonely for one little girl to be a kindergarten class all by herself, so she invited several little folks to join the class of her daughter, Gwendolin. Miss Bernice Watson, a regular kindergarten teacher, was engaged, and the Armour nursery was turned into a classroom. School convenes promptly at 9 o'clock and continues for two hours. The photograph shows the class at the blackboard. The pupils are, from left to right: Mervyn Baum, Gwendolin Armour, Dorothy Dickenson, Buty Stillwell and Logan Monroe.

HEBREW CHURCHES TO MEET THIS WEEK

Three-Day Convention in Buffalo Called by Union of Congregations.

BUFFALO, May 14.—What promises to be the largest convention of representative Jewish men and women ever held in this country will convene here May 23-26 in a three-day session for the twenty-seventh annual convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The union, composed of some 226 constituent progressive congregations, meets every second year, the last council being held in Boston, 1919, at which the problems affecting the religious welfare of the Jewish people of the country, and reform congregations in particular, are considered and ways and means devised to solve them.

In conjunction with the union, the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods also meets. This organization is a federation of 254 subsidiary units, whose primary purpose is to uphold by personal effort the administration of the synagogue and by personal support the activities and realize the purpose of the synagogue.

The Union of American Hebrew Congregations was called into being nearly fifty years ago under the inspiring leadership of the late Dr. Isaac M. Wise, as a means of founding the Hebrew Union College, a theological seminary for the training of young men for the Jewish ministry.

With a roster of 218 graduates, now the leading rabbi of the country, the activities of the union have been gradually expanded, and include at present a department of synagogue and school extension, with many ramifications covering many enterprises of a religious nature, from the publication of religious text books, organizing congregations and religious schools, conducting of services in institutions, summer resorts, universities and colleges, to the publication of periodicals expressive of the aims and outlook of American Judaism.

GAMBLING WOMEN
 RAPPED BY MINGES

Angelist Also Denounces Practice of Kissing Dogs in Sizzling Sermon.

"It's no use making a big howl and arresting a few boys shooting craps in the back alley until you stop the godless bunch of society women on the boulevard from gambling for silk hose and cut-glass cream pitchers. A pig is a pig, whether in the barnyard or in the parlor," was the charge hurled by Evangelist William J. Minges from the platform of the Park View Christian Church, where he and his company are conducting a well-attended series of revival services.

"Shame on the church member who runs to movie shows on prayer-meeting night," said Dr. Minges, "he'll be so full of this kind that their feet will be sticking out of the windows."

"Shame on the woman kissing the cold nose of a brindle pup. I feel sorry for the dog, and wonder if the woman can say: 'For this cause I was born.'"

"Some say there is no hell," said the preacher, "but they do not explain how these dirty rascals will be exorcised along the road to heaven. Any preacher who says there is no hell is as big a fool as a dog barking at the moon."

Sunday afternoon there will be a mass meeting for the public at the church, when Dr. Minges has chosen for his subject the title, "Home."
