Attorneys for Mrs. Stillman Plan to Put Banker Through Severe Grilling.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Nine women besides Mrs. Florence Lawler Leeds will be named as co-respondents by Mrs. James A. Stillman this week.

Best information today was that John F. Brennan, of Yonkers, newly created field marshal of Mrs. Stillman's legal forces, would file an amended answer, including the nine names next Saturday, with Supreme Court Justice Morschanser in Poughkeepsie.

BERNAN A FIGHTER

"Helen," "Edna," "Lucy" and other rather common first names have been mentioned as those of whom Mrs. Stillman is about to call co-respondents. It even has been freely rumored that a prominent society man is about to see his wife for divorce, naming Stillman as co-respondent.

Indications were plain that Mr. Brennan plans to put a great deal more drive in Mrs. Stillman's case. He is known as a fighter among lawyers. He has just seen James Brown Potter, father of Mrs. Stillman, and Mr. Potter made it clear that he was back of his daughter to the limit.

Detectives for months have been tracing Stillman's off-hour movements. It was stated yesterday on the highest authority that Mr. Stillman will be cross-examined only concerning his alleged acquaintance with these other women.

NO QUESTIONS OF MRS. LEEDS.

Mrs. Stillman's lawyers and John E. Mack, guardian ad litem for baby Guy, do not plan to ask any questions about Mrs. Leeds.

All of the allegations of Mrs. Stillman.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

9,000,000 Now Pay Income Tax To Uncle Sam

By International News Service.

The number of those filing tax returns with the Federal Government last year jumped to 9,000,000, as compared with 600,000 ten years ago. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon stated in a letter to Vice President Coolidge today requesting immediate Congressional authorization for an increase in internal revenue districts from 64 to 74.

Mellon explained that the volume of Federal tax business has become so large that the present Federal tax machinery is insufficient to cope with it. Reorganization of the Federal tax system on an extended scale, and the addition of ten internal revenue collectors to the present sixty-four is imperative, Mellon added, if the internal revenue commissioner is to successfully cope with the increasing problems of the national tax situation.

Each one of them will cross-examine Mr. Stillman on the evidence that he and his assistants have collected.

It is the expectation now that Mr. Stillman—instead of being through with active participation in the hearings, as generally has been thought—will be a most important figure.

And in this connection it is known that when the hearings are resumed before Referee Daniel J. Gleason, in Poughkeepsie tomorrow, to continue through Wednesday and Thursday, that Mr. Stillman is going to fire his best guns.

Mrs. Irene Kelly, wife of Bernard Kelly, former superintendent of the Pleasantville estate of the Stillmans, is expected to be a most sensational witness against Mrs. Stillman and baby Guy.

She has been mentioned before in newspaper stories, but only casually. As a matter of fact, she is one of the biggest guns that Mr. Stillman has and he intends to use her immediately.

HAYS PUTS BAN ON P. O. SPY SYSTEM, HAPGOOD ASSERTS

Orders Seen As Great Step in Bringing Reform From War Methods.

By NORMAN HAPGOOD.

The Postmaster General is putting through those policies with which he has already delighted the country. He is taking the axe to the use of the post-office as a sort of detective office. Orders have gone out to postmasters that no information is to be given out by them about individuals using the mails.

Thus another despotic method, born of the war and swept to its grave. Every despotism in the world has made a specialty of opening private correspondence. During the war even countries with the traditions of liberty were driven to it. But the war is over, even if the Knox resolution has not been passed.

Nothing strikes more savagely at the feeling of freedom in a country than the knowledge that the Government machine has torn up the safeguards to individual liberty that have grown up through the centuries. Freedom from invasion without warrant, whether in the home or in such a universal necessity as the mail service, is among the most important of these safeguards.

HIS ACTS PRAISED.

When Will H. Hays boldly restored the second-class mailing privileges to certain publications from which these necessary privileges had been taken away, the complete public approval of his act showed that the people are at heart becoming weary of despotic government. That act has been praised by all branches of public opinion, whether liberal or safely conservative, and even the extreme reactionaries have not raised their voices.

What the public learned to call Palmerism and Bureauism did no end of injury to the last administration. There have as yet been no steps taken to change the policy of the Department of Justice, and it is not yet possible to find out whether there exists any real intention of acting in a normal peace spirit on the cases before that department.

There exists, however, an interesting difference between the cases of oppression by the former Department of Justice and the cases of oppression by the former Postoffice Department.

NO POSTAL SAFEGUARDS.

Oppression by the postoffice is more ominous because it is carried out by the postoffice alone. There are no safeguards. There is not even the vestige of protecting by legal form.

In the case of the men, on the other hand, who are in jail because they did not agree with Mr. Gompers, the safeguards at least legal forms, however much they were abused. It is true that some of the leading legal authorities in the country have signed charges that the Department of Justice proceeded illegally. Nevertheless, in the majority of cases of legal lynching of opinion, there were trials and convictions carried on according to legal forms.

It is true, no doubt, that the department, the prosecuting attorneys, the judges and the juries all were animated more by war spirit than by any interest in fact and freedom, but where there was a trial, however bitter in spirit, we have a situation entirely different from that brought about by the secret and irresponsible Postoffice Department.

Mr. Hays has not only swept away the last vestiges of despotism in his department, but he has also abolished the use of the mails in connection with the attitude toward the employes in the department itself.

Labor was discontented and cowed and reluctant when he went in. It is enthusiastic today. The chief is extremely popular with the force. The representatives of the unions, instead of being excluded, are welcomed into conference.

MAS HUMANE SPIRIT.

When, however, it is carried on, not as encouragement, but in a sincere and humane spirit, it is of genuine value. If a woman clerk is ill it is rather disgraceful that there should be no better place to take her than the lavatory.

Before he took office everybody knew that Will Hays was a brilliant executive and politician. Little more was known about him. He is showing that he understands fundamentals. He is making many changes that are merely those of a good administrator, but the changes that put his department right with the public instinct for freedom and right with labor are in a class that calls for a different kind of praise.

More detailed considerations are not neglected. Welfare work, so called, is sometimes distrusted or suspected by the unions; when it is carried on by employers who oppose the unions on their fundamental claims.

A. F. L. PRESIDENT IS DENOUNCED AT MEETING OF IRISH

Padraic H. Pearse Council, F. O. I. F., Passes Resolution Condemning Leader.

Thomas P. O'Dea, a member of Local 132, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, one of the organizations which has been the backbone of the present administration in the American Federation of Labor, at a meeting of the Padraic H. Pearse branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, last night condemned Samuel Gompers, president of the federation.

Gompers should be removed from the good of the labor movement in this country, Mr. O'Dea said, because he does not represent the aspirations of the organization and has blocked those independent men who oppose him or doubted the infallibility of his judgment.

Gompers is facing a hard fight to be re-elected president of the federation at its convention in Denver this month, O'Dea said. His benches are now working harder than they ever have before to keep their chief in office—and incidentally themselves. If Gompers is elected, he said, the action will do much to disintegrate the labor movement in this country because his election does not represent the majority will, but only his ability to defeat the majority by reason of his position and advantage as president of the federation.

TIMES IS PRAISED.

O'Dea praised the action of the Washington Times editorials in giving publicity to the stand of Gompers on the Irish question, and said that the Times' action in the past, when it was started by an organization of laboring men, to the present time, had always upheld the ideals of labor for freedom of men whether they were working for labor or for the cause of the Federation.

"The labor men of this country should be proud of their work in starting such a paper as The Times," he said, and the same high ideals that inspired the men who started the paper still exist under the direction of William Randolph Hearst, who has always demonstrated his high regard for laboring men and has been their champion for years.

O'DEA INTRODUCED RESOLUTION, which was passed unanimously, asking the American Federation of Labor to consider the Irish question. Such a resolution was passed by the last convention of the A. F. L., but was disregarded by Mr. Gompers. The resolution follows:

Whereas, the convention of the American Federation of Labor held at Atlantic City, N. J., in 1919 declared in no uncertain terms, without a dissenting voice, for the recognition of the Irish Republic; and

Whereas, the American Federation of Labor will again meet in Denver, Col., during the month of June, 1921; and

Whereas, the Padraic H. Pearse branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom is anxious that the American Federation of Labor recognize its position on self-determination for Ireland at the Denver convention; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, further, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the president of the convention, with a request that he refer the same to the resolutions committee for consideration and action, and that it report said resolution to the convention for its approval.

GOMPERS IS PLAYED.

F. Edward Mitchell, president of the branch, also flayed the president of the American Federation of Labor for his attitude on the Irish question. He said that Gompers was using his influence to oppose a nation that was striving for the very things for which this country fought.

The Rev. James A. Geary, professor of Gaelic at Catholic University, spoke against any alliance with Great Britain and said that the Friends of Irish Freedom was organized with this as one of its objects. Father Geary gave a history of the Friends of Irish Freedom and said that its growth in this country was responsible for the great reception to President deValera in this country, for a great part of the relief collection, and for the sale of the greater part of the bond issue for the Irish cause.

BOMBING PLANE TO ATTACK WARSHIPS IN MIMIC BATTLE

Giant Caproni Will Leave Bolling Field Today for Hampton, Va., Maneuvers.

The third of the three giant bombing planes which last week flew from Texas to Washington will leave Bolling Field today for Langley Field, Hampton, Va., to take part in bombing of condemned battleships early in July.

This big plane, delayed for two days by a forced landing at Lexington, Ky., is the other of the Handley Page type, and is carrying a crew of three men. It arrived in Washington Saturday afternoon.

The other two ships, one of the Caproni, and the other of the Handley Page type, left Washington Saturday for Langley Field, where they will begin experimental bombing work today.

All three of the big planes are equipped with radio sets and ordinarily maintain constant communication with landing fields while en route. This radio equipment is expected to prove especially valuable in the bombing work which is to be done under a prominent part in the aviation program of the nation for the next few weeks.

The three bombing planes left Kelley Field, Tex., about three weeks ago, stopping at all the army field stations. No attempt was made to establish any speed records. The forced landing at Lexington, for minor repairs, was the only mishap of the long flight.

RAIL 'INQUEST' OFF UNTIL NEXT WEEK; SOLUTION ELUSIVE

Public Cries Unanswered—Magistrates Fight for Big Loan and Against Rate Cuts.

By H. K. REYNOLDS.

International News Service.

The American public's constant and momentous question, "What's to be done with the railroads?" will remain unanswered until June 14, as far as the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee is concerned, but attempts to find a solution to the national problem are expected to continue in other directions.

Consideration is being given the plan presented by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Lines, who declares railroads would be aided materially if the Government would consent to the funding of the $750,000,000 due for capital expenditures made for the carriers during the period of Federal control.

Under the existing statute, the roads are compelled to discharge this obligation in a comparatively short period, being forced to use funds which otherwise would be utilized for current expenses.

The United States Railroad Labor Board at Chicago continues to wrestle with the puzzle from the standpoint of the workers.

Little or no hope for general rate decreases has been voiced by the railroad managers, despite insistent demands of shippers, and reports that business has fallen off.

President Harding has taken a hand in the freight rate controversy, and agricultural and manufacturing interests expect early and favorable adjustment of tariffs.
