Fresh From Paris

THAT no debutante or her older sister, cousins or aunts can ever have too many country club or sports clothes is the present belief of the French couturiers. And so they are devoting much talent to the designing of unusual effects along this line. A delightful little costume, shown at the left, consists of a straight, fairly wide skirt of tomato red duvetyne and overblouse jacket of white velvet banded and striped with the gray duvetyne. This combination of velvet and duvetyne is a most happy one and will be a great favorite with those debutantes of the winter who spend much time at the smart country clubs.

ANOTHER sports costume of unusual chic is developed in tan bure, the popular rough surfaced serge which Chanel uses so successfully. The feature par excellence of this second model is the short slashed cape of the fabric, which makes so youthful a finish to the costume. The straight little tunic of the chemise dress and its slip-on blouse are banded with brown cire ribbon matching that on the cape.

ELIZABETH MARSHALL TO MARRY JOSEPH E. PAGE

The announcement made yesterday in Philadelphia of the engagement of Miss Elizabeth Marshall, daughter of Rear Admiral William A. Marshall, U. S. N., retired, to Joseph F. Page, of Philadelphia, is of much interest to Washington.

Miss Marshall, who now lives in Boston, was prominent in Washington social circles when she made her home here several years ago before her father's retirement.

Mr. Page, who is a widower, was a well-known member of the Pennsylvania bar for many years after his graduation from Yale in 1877; and he only recently retired to live on his country estate near Philadelphia.

The wedding will take place some time this fall and Mr. Page and his bride will make a wedding tour of Europe and the Far East.
