

Tremendous sale of TEXOLEUM felt base floor coverings

$17.50 Texoleum
9x12 rugs at $9.95

Aside from a slight misprint, which few will find and none will mind, these rugs are guaranteed as fully as if you paid the regular price.

Texoleum is one of the most durable felt-base floor coverings made. Unlike many other goods of this character, Texoleum is not made of paper. Texoleum is made of linen, rubber by-products and is pattern surfaced by four heavy coats of paint. All this means wear service.

Texoleum rugs lay perfectly flat on the floor, without tacking, cement or other artificial help.

And a Texoleum rug will not kick or curl up at the edges; will not shrink or stretch; let the weather be wet or dry, hot or cold, TEXOLEUM is always the same.

Texoleum is waterproof. It will not mildew or rot. Its hard surface can not absorb dust or moisture; hence Texoleum never requires sweeping, just an occasional going over with a damp rag.

Society by JEAN ELIOT

By the end of October the gathering of the diplomatic class should be complete and the changes in the personnel of the corps which are in order will then be accomplished. The French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand, now at their home in France, are due here the latter part of October and the Belgian Ambassador and Baroness de Carter, who are also abroad, are expected about October 15. No definite date has been set for the return of Signor Rolando Ricci, ambassador of Italy, but he, too, is expected some time next month and it is possible that his wife, who did not accompany him to Washington when he took up his duties here, will come with him this time.

Dr. Thomas A. LeBreton, ambassador of Argentina, got back from Europe, where he spent the summer, some weeks ago, but Mme. LeBreton and her niece, Miss Manuela Llovera, are still in Paris. They will probably return in October or early in November. Dr. LeBreton went to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for the week end, but is due back today or tomorrow. The British ambassador is already here and Lady Geddes will return from Dark Harbor the last of this month.

Mme. de Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador, will rejoin her husband here the first week in October. She is now the guest of her aunts, the Misses Foster, in Hartford, Conn., after having visited her sister, Mrs. Chandler Anderson, at York Harbor for the greater part of the summer.

VISCOUNT D'ALTE, the Minister of Portugal, will return to his apartment at Wardman Park Hotel tomorrow. The Minister of Norway and Mrs. Bryn and their family will also come home tomorrow from Skyland, W. Va., where they passed the summer. The Swiss Minister and Mme. Peter are already here after an extended tour of the West. They visited the Swiss colonies in Denver, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, and San Francisco, and were given a royal welcome in each place.

The Serbian Minister and Mme. Grouitch are now on their way to this country from Europe and are expected here the latter part of this week. Presumably, however, they will stay but a short time, as the Minister is to be transferred to London. Princess Bibesco, wife of the Minister of Roumania, is in London with her family and won't come home for several weeks. The Minister, meanwhile, is passing a good deal of time in New York. Miss Ramona Lefevre, sister of the charge d'affaires of Panama, is on her way back and is due in Norfolk this week. Mr. Lefevre has gone to Norfolk to meet her.

Mme. Timont, wife of Mr. Raoul Timont, attaché of the Belgian embassy, has joined Mr. Timont at their home, 1844 Wyoming avenue. Mme. Timont spent the summer at Edgartown, Mass.

DR. BEDRICH STEPANEK, the minister of Czechoslovakia, will have as guests this week Senator V. Klossac, former minister of national defense, and the Czechoslovakia delegation for the Sokol, held in Chicago in August. The guests will spend a good deal of time in visiting points of interest under the guidance of members of the legation staff. Senator Klossac was here under the Austrian regime.

MISS VIRGINIA-LEIGH MORRIS, of Norfolk, whose engagement to Sylvan King, of Washington, has been announced. Miss Morris is a talented artist and has won favor with discriminating critics for her small sculptured figures.

The secretary of the legation of Denmark, Peter Christian Schou, has been appointed Danish consul general at Montreal, Canada, and with Mme. Schou will leave in a few weeks to assume his new duties.

White House Guests Leave.

Mr. and Mrs. George Van Fleet, of Marion, who have been guests for ten days of the President and Mrs. Harding, returned with them yesterday from their cruise aboard the Mayflower and left later in the afternoon for Ohio.

The Attorney General, Mr. Daugherty, and Jess Smith, of Ohio, who returned to town yesterday after a cruise on the Mayflower as the guests of President and Mrs. Harding, motored to Baltimore in the afternoon to see Mrs. Daugherty, who is a patient at Johns Hopkins Hospital.

James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, reached Washington this morning after having spent the week-end in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Davis, who had tentatively planned to accompany her husband back to Washington, has postponed her return for the present.

Miss Harlan Returns.

Miss Laura Harlan, Mrs. Harding's social secretary, has returned to Washington from Murray Bay, Canada, where she has been spending her summers for many years, and has resumed her duties at the White House.

Justice Day To Return

Justice William R. Day will return to Washington this week from his home in Canton, Ohio, where he has been since leaving his summer home on Lake Michigan.

Senator William E. Borah has gone to Atlantic City to join Mrs. Borah, and (Continued on Page Nineteen.)
