GOVERNOR BACK AT STATE HOUSE MUM ON ARREST

Oklahoma Executive Charged With Taking $25,000 Bribe Not Surprised.

By International News Service. OKMULGEE, Okla., March 23.—Governor J. B. A. Robertson was back in Oklahoma City today, after his trip to Okmulgee, where he submitted to arrest on a charge of having accepted a bribe.

The governor said he had no statement to make in regard to his arrest, other than that he had turned his case over to his attorneys and would abide by their advice. He added that the finding of the indictment against him was not a surprise.

Eight men signed the bond for $5,000 on which the governor was released.

Governor Robertson is charged along with Fred G. Dennis, former State bank commissioner, with having accepted a bribe of $25,000 to permit operation of the Guaranty State Bank when it was in an insolvent condition.

Dennis, who was also indicted, has not been located.

Sheriff Sowers expected to serve additional warrants today on persons named in the indictments handed down by the grand jury.

CHINA HAS NOT REPLIED TO JAPANESE REQUEST

TOKYO, March 23.—China has not yet replied to Japan's note of last week requesting a conference at Peking or Tientsin on the details of the return of Shantung.

There are indications that a hitch has occurred, although the foreign office reports "progress."

FLYING BOAT BREAKS KEY WEST-HAVANA RECORD

HAVANA, March 23.—The air record between Key West and Havana was broken yesterday when the passenger-carrying flying boat Ponce de Leon made the ninety-odd miles from Key West in fifty-five minutes. One hour later the Balboa, sister ship, equalled the record.

Chartered by E. R. Thomas, millionaire American sportsman, the Ponce de Leon, in charge of Captain Cobb, was caught in a favorable high wind, which at times sent the flying boat along at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

22 BARRELS OF WATER BROUGHT MAN $14,700

NEW YORK, March 23.—Water has been causing Emil Wentz, twenty-nine years old, a lot of trouble. He was acquitted yesterday of selling 28 barrels of it to a former policeman, who thought he was buying whiskey, but today James Ell, of Paterson, N. J., told a story of a neat little container filled with whiskey and placed in a barrel in such a way that any prospective purchaser would get a good taste of real whiskey and buy water. Ell asserted Emil worked that stunt on him and that he caused Emil's arrest on a charge of selling twenty-two barrels of pure water for real liquor at a price of $14,700.

RELEASE URGED FOR MOTHER OF 'CONVICT' BABY

Case of Woman Under Sentence for Murder Divides Nebraska Sentiment.

Can a baby's fingers pick a penitentiary lock to release a convict mother?

Should maternity condone crime? All Nebraska is agitated by the case of 'The Baby versus The State.' Three weeks-old Betty June De Hart is the daughter of a woman who was temporarily freed from jail to give her birth in normal surroundings.

But Nebraska does not permit the incarceration of a child. And since Mrs. Rolla De Hart is under a ten-year sentence for murder, it looks as if it will be necessary to separate the two.

Must the State tear this baby from her mother's breast?

Should Mrs. De Hart's maternity condone her crime?

Murder in this instance had little glamor about it. The crime was not a romantic one of passion. Cheap over-the-counter medicine, the Ponce de Leon, in charge of Captain Cobb, was caught in a favorable high wind, which at times sent the flying boat along at a speed of 100 miles an hour.

They wanted the team and wagon, so they took the owner's life. De Hart got a life sentence; his wife, ten years.

RELATIVES IN PRISON

The baby's uncle, William De Hart, is serving time for theft, and another relative is also in jail.

Poor Betty June is woefully lacking in "background," about which we hear so much these days.

Jail sentences, while they do not always serve as sufficient punishment, are supposed to act as a deterrent to crime and thus benefit society.

But will society be benefited by this woman's imprisonment and her separation from her child?

Or will the State, by imprisoning Mrs. De Hart in this case, merely take revenge for murder? Would revenge be more important to the State than to set the woman free under parole?

But these questions to a woman interested in legislation and the problems of her sex, Mrs. Olive Stott Gabriel.

"Love for children, of course," Mrs. Gabriel said, "is one of the most beneficial influences in a woman's life. A woman who otherwise might not care to do right.

"Yet I believe that everyone should be punished for crime.

The woman who commits murder is guilty of murder and should be punished the same as a man.

"I do not believe that society would derive any benefit by letting the woman out of jail on parole. She might reform and she might not.

"If she had killed her betrayer or one who cruelly deserted her, it would be entirely different. But she murdered a man outside her intimate life, who had done her no harm."

PEARL ODELL'S CASE

In New York there was a somewhat curious case on account of having as its feature a baby born in jail, proved of engrossing interest to the public.

Pearl Odell and her husband killed a man who had betrayed Mrs. Odell. They fled to the woods and hid in a remote spot, tortured and killed him. A baby was born to Mrs. Odell in jail and in accordance with the law remained with her, to the delight of her fellow-prisoners, who enjoyed the enlightening presence of a child.

New York has since provided against such a contingency. No child hereafter will be allowed to remain in jail with a convict mother.

The senate of New York has just passed a bill especially applying to baby Gloria Odell which will release her to be placed in the care of relatives in Rochester, N. Y.

"This baby is more than a year old, I believe, and jail is surely not the place for her," Mrs. Gabriel continued.

DILEMMA OF NEBRASKA

"In the first place jail is not the proper environment for a prospective mother. If we are to believe scientists, certainly a woman who expects to have a child should be placed elsewhere, at least temporarily, for the baby's sake.

"But in the case of Mrs. De Hart I would not recommend a parole.

"It is a great mistake to try to argue that a woman is not responsible for her acts. She has always been held, morally, more responsible than a man. Now we want man equally blamed in a woman's transgression. If we have equal laws, we must take equal blame.

"Women must be self-determining human beings and should be taught that they must take full responsibility for all their acts."

Meanwhile Nebraska is worrying about the mother and her mite now in the State Orthopaedic Hospital in Omaha. Mrs. De Hart is being kept there so she may care for her baby.

If Mrs. De Hart goes back to jail Betty June will be ten years old when her mother is free. This woman will be sufficiently punished if she must miss the joys of caring for her child through those brief days of babyhood.

But what would be best for Baby Betty?

Parole and pardon for Mrs. De Hart, who without funds would have to try to support herself and baby?

To put the baby in a foundling home, to have her adopted, or to keep Betty in school till her mother comes out of jail?

That's what Nebraska must decide.

TRIAL MARRIAGE BRIDE IS SORRY, BUT WILL STICK

"Thought I Loved Him," She Sobs, but Annulment Is Refused.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 23.—"You have married in haste—now you must repent at leisure!"

That was what Judge Joseph Sabath, of Chicago, told Mrs. Harriet Doty Sullivan, seventeen, who asked him to annul her recent marriage to her nineteen-year-old husband.

The pretty girl-wife posted. The daughter of a well-to-do family, prominent socially and commercially, it was a new experience to be refused what she wanted.

When she and Sullivan were denied a marriage license by the Chicago county clerk the youthful wooer was disheartened. He had but a short time before come from Buenos Aires, Argentina, and American marital laws were something new.

Harriett, however, "knew the ropes." As long as they had decided to get married she was not going to give up just because the county clerk had refused official consent.

So They Went Off.

"Let's elope to Crown Point," she suggested. So off to the Gretna Green, of the Hoosier State they went, and returned man and wife.

"I thought I loved him," stammered Harriet, now Mrs. Sullivan, when she appeared tearfully before Judge Sabath and requested an annulment. "B—but I guess I—I didn't."

But youthful beauty thus moved to disconsolate emotion failed to steer the ordinarily tender-hearted jurist from the stern part of oblivious justice.

"You should have given your affection a better test than nursing a hater-skelter into marriage," he declared. "Marriage isn't something to do and off promiscuously as your fur wrap. It is the most serious step in life."

The law does not recognize a period of probation at the start of married life. You can't take your husband on approval like a piece of furniture. Returnable if dissatisfied."

ROMANCE IN SILK MILL ENDS IN DEATH OF TWO

PATERSON, N. J., March 23.—Miss Elsie Smith, nineteen, and Alphonse Beyer, twenty-two, were found yesterday in the drying room of the Mapel Silk Company's plant. The girl died shortly afterward in a hospital. Beyer, who is married and the father of two children is alleged to have shot her and then himself.

The door to the drying room was locked and other employees, hearing moans, forced an entrance, and found the bodies. No one recalled having heard the shots.

A revolver was found near Beyer's right hand, police said. The girl died without making a statement and Beyer died later without recovering consciousness.

"When you took him as your lawfully wedded husband, you took him for life. If you had given one moment's thought to that serious aspect of marriage when you were married you would not be here now."

Harriet previously had told the story of her disillusionment when she accompanied her boy mate to New York. She said:

"When our funds were gone, he admitted he had no money and no job. I thought all along that he had both and was well able to support me.

"Then when I told him to go to work he refused. I got sick and had to go to the hospital with appendicitis. My husband had no money, so my father had to come to New York and pay the hospital and doctor bills.

"Now my husband is getting ready to sail for Buenos Aires and I simply don't want to go along."

GRAFT IN FEES CHARGED OVER AIRMEN CLAIMS

Georgia Congressman Says Lawyers Seek Million From Ex-Cadets.

By International News Service. Charging that "unscrupulous methods" are being used by attorneys to obtain illegally more than $1,000,000 in fees from hundreds of ex-army air service cadets, Congressman Larsen (Dem.) of Georgia today asked the House to enact legislation to put a stop to the practice.

Larsen specifically charged a Washington lawyer with claiming, in letters to former cadets, that he can obtain for them their share of claims pending against the War Department, amounting to between $2,000,000 to $5,000,000. The lawyer, according to Larsen, sought to exact a fee amounting to one-third the recovery in violation of the law, which provides that not more than a $3 fee can be charged.

"For one," Larsen said, "I believe we have made enough millionaires from one war. The ex-service man has been subjected to enough hardships. With him the war is not over yet, for 700,000 of his ranks walk the streets and beg for work. I do not know if this lawyer remained at home during the war and profited. If he did he has a profiteer's enough and should not be permitted to continue."

"If he is an ex-service man he should not be permitted to make a fortune out of his comrades in arms."

Larsen declared the ex-air cadets who have valid claims against the Government for pay and flying increases can collect them without an attorney.

"No member of Congress is unwilling to aid them and I believe they can and will be glad to make the collection without any expense to these deserving men," he said.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dizziness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.
