just say
Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it) and in extra thin plaster. The action is the same.

WORN OUT AFTER SHE COOKED A MEAL

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read the Result

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I suffered for a year with nervous troubles and irregularities before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back pained all the time and I was unfit for housework. I was worn out if I cooked a meal, and was unable to do my washing. My girl friends and my sister told me if I would take your Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills I should be relieved. After taking the first bottle I felt better, and neglected it awhile, but found I could not do my work until I was stronger. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and now I am the mother of a 19 months old boy. He is fat and healthy and I am sure I could never have carried him if it had not been for your medicine. I recommend your medicine to all women although I am young to be advising some one older."

BITTER LETTER CAUSES EVELYN TO SHED TEARS

Mother of Small-Town Girl's Husband Denounces Son as a "Rascal."

Misunderstood and maltreated at the Fifth Avenue home of a millionaire manufacturer, Evelyn Goodwin, Kentucky society girl, escaped to her hotel. That episode was narrated in yesterday's installment of Evelyn's revelations of the career of a "small town" girl in the city's bustling life. Today the Washington Times tells of her marriage to William F. Olcott, society poseur, who had made gestures of becoming her champion. How young Olcott began their married life is told by Evelyn in an exclusive interview. A letter written by Olcott's mother, warning her daughter-in-law, is presented in today's chapter.

By GENE FOWLER.

(Copyright, 1922, by New York)

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The morning after William F. Olcott heard from the lips of eighteen-year-old Evelyn Goodwin how she had fared at the champagne party given by a "Mr. Z." at his Fifth Avenue house, Olcott sent her a diamond and platinum ring. Of her infatuation with Olcott, twenty-three-year-old poseur, she said:

"Billy was wonderful the week of our engagement. The Saturday night following the get-together, and where he got it to give me Heaven only knows, he announced our engagement. Many young men and women of social prominence were present. Everybody was drinking except Billy. He never drank.

Sober Boy Charming.
"We decided to get married that very night. My fiancé seemed remarkably charming against the background of 'jazz' life in New York's younger set.

"Charlie, one of the boys, got his car and six of us drove to Greenwich. At a garage there we learned there was a new five-day license law. That put a crimp in our plans. But our spirits were high. We drove to Jersey City. There we were informed that there was a seventy-two hours' stipulation in force. Disgusted, we motored back to New York.

"The following Friday Billy, a friend I drove to Newport, Ky. There our friend had taken so much liquor that he passed out of the picture. Two clerks acted as witnesses at the marriage ceremony. Billy, meanwhile, was throwing money about lavishly.

"His spending habit was a prelude to the rapid vanishing of what remained of the $20,000 I had inherited from the estate of my mother. It had seemed so much back in my home at Pineville, Ky. I had thought it would last a lifetime in New York. But a very few quints and other luxuries had put quite a dent in my bank balance.

Roomed With Caswell.

"Billy kept encouraging me to live high, and induced me to open accounts with exclusive Fifth Avenue shops, which I did. We moved from one exclusive hotel to another. Billy leaving for two days after our arrival here to go to the Claridge, where he roomed with his pal, 'Dapper Dan' Caswell, the Cleveland 'money-hurler.' I was left at the Plaza, occupying an expensive suite.

Evelyn produced a letter written by Mrs. Lydia H. Olcott, from Patriot, Ind., where William F. Olcott, her son, had begun his career. The letter, an intensely tragic document, read in part:

"I suspect that you will be surprised to receive this letter from me, but before passing judgment I want you to know a few facts concerning my son. He is my only son, and I truthfully say I am sorry to think I gave him birth. He has broken my heart and bowed my head in humiliation. He is either insane or most awfully wicked.

"His success in life made a fool of him. He was too young, I guess. He stood high in Patriot two years ago and we were proud of him and he had a lot of friends who wished him well. Today people feel sorry for us. Our son has broken his father up and is dishonorable in many ways. He told us he was married once before.

Evelyn's reading this letter to explain that William had represented to his parents that he had been married to Edna French, of the 'Polites.' This, however, Evelyn understood, but she said that William often taunted her by saying that his charms were not offensive to Miss French when he paid her attentions. The letter continued:

"His father just worshipped him and gave him every dollar he had. Then he borrowed $700 from the bank to pay his bills. Then came another check of $400, so Mr. Olcott borrowed more to pay that. He said he would not go to the bank alone and borrow any more. So I signed my name to the note and we borrowed more money to pay our son's bills and to give him more chance to live. If he signs one more check and sends to the Patriot Bank, he can go."

Parents Impoverished.
"You are his wife and I am his mother, so I tell you the absolute truth. I am just giving him his chance. He has had thousands of dollars. I have had decent clothes to wear this summer. My husband looks like a tramp. My husband was ashamed to go to Indianapolis to see about arresting William for passing those checks. Father always has held up his name and now see what William is doing."

The letter then alleges that the son used his father's name in various communities to obtain money. The mother continued:

"I never saw anyone throw money away like he does. It is appalling. Mr. Olcott is now in debt $1,800. We have a small country drug store. Now isn't that a bright prospect for us at our age? I truly hope you can make a man out of him, but in all sincerity to you, you must not believe anything he says.

"Everyone feels sorry for us. They know how hard I tried to raise my children right, and I worked

P. O. Relaxes On Rule Barring Return Of Letters

By Universal Service.
Postmaster General Work today dispelled the popular delusion that a letter once mailed cannot be recalled by the sender.

His office announced that under the postal regulations the sender may go to his local postmaster and by offering proof that the letter is his, together with a sample of his handwriting, get it back again.

In extreme emergencies the Postoffice Department will go so far even as to telegraph orders to railway mail clerks to open sacks to recover mail desired to be withdrawn.

hard to do so. "I am as thin as a rail from worry over my son. He need not be surprised at any time to hear that I am dead. God have mercy on him!"

"I want you to care for William if you can. It is his last chance."

Evelyn said she cried as she read the letter. She told William to try to straighten up for his mother's sake, if not for hers. She added:

"But he was hopeless. He traveled with a fast set, the members of which lived by their wits." (How Evelyn was further duped and then deserted by William F. Olcott, and how she found all her money spent, and how she still clings to big city life, will form the final chapter of the series appearing in tomorrow's Washington Times.)

"BISO," BIG U. S. BUFFALO, AT ZOO IN URUGUAY

Biso is unhappy! He is to be deported, thrust from the land of his birth, torn from his wives and children, and doomed to live in exile for the rest of his days.

The Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has decreed that he must go; the forest service has arranged his transports and Biso is disconsolate. Biso is the big buffalo bull that for fifteen years has been the admiration of visitors to the Wichita national forest and game refuge in Oklahoma.

The city of Montevideo, Uruguay, has asked that its zoological garden be supplied with an American bison and a fox. Forest service men who have charge of the buffalo on the Wichita say that Biso will be an excellent representative of the typical North American species.

RAILWAY EXECUTIVES SAY SITUATION IS IMPROVING

Figures indicating that the strike of railway shippers is losing its effectiveness were published by the American Association of Railway Executives here today.

They showed that loading of revenue freight on American railroads for the week ending August 26 totaled $90,838 cars, exceeding the previous week by $4,819.

Most of the increase in loadings were noted in coal cars.
