

The New York Ledger, THE GREAT FAMILY PAPER, Has now attained THE EXTRAORDINARY CIRCULATION OF OVER THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND COPIES!

UNITED CIRCULATION OF ANY TEN WEEKLY PAPERS IN NEW YORK, OR ANY TEN IN BOSTON, OR ANY TEN IN PHILADELPHIA.

THE LEDGER is devoted to Poite Literature, Original Tales, Sketches, Poetry, Wit and Humor, Domestic Stories, Thrilling Adventures, Current News, &c., &c., &c., &c.

It is beautifully illustrated every week, from original designs by the best artists. Each number contains five or six beautiful and spirited engravings. The great secret of the LEDGER'S success is, that it employs the best writers in the country, the proprietor sparing no expense, not only to secure, but to MONOPOLIZE talent of the first order.

ARE CONSTANTLY EMPLOYED ON THE LEDGER: Fanny Fern, George D. Prentice, Mrs. Sigourney, Mrs. Southworth, Alice Carey, Miss Gibson, Col. Walter P. Dunlap, Emerson Bennett, Sylvanus Cobb, Jun., Dr. S. P. Benson, William Henry Estlin, and a host of other well-known writers.

MRS. EMMA D. E. SOUTHWORTH writes hereafter will be published only in the NEW YORK LEDGER. She has withdrawn from all other papers.

FANNY FERN writes only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. SYLVANUS COBB, JUN., writes only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. EMERSON BENNETT writes only for the NEW YORK LEDGER.

THE LEDGER is published every Saturday, and mailed to subscribers at two dollars per annum; or two copies for three dollars. Address ROBERT BONNER, PUBLISHER, No. 44 Ann street, New York.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

MRS. SOUTHWORTH will hereafter write only for the NEW YORK LEDGER. See advertisement at the top of this column. Now is a good time to subscribe, as a new and powerfully-written Tale by Mrs. Southworth will shortly be commenced in the LEDGER.

A HIGH-TONED FAMILY PAPER.—It is pleasing to observe that the New York Ledger, while it devotes a large portion of its space to the publication of original novelettes, is very careful to exclude everything of an objectionable nature from its columns. Mr. Bonner aims to secure the best talent in the country. His latest acquisition is George D. Prentice, Esq., of the Louisville Journal. Mr. Prentice is engaged to edit the humorous department of the Ledger. This will not interfere with his relations with his own journal, with which he still retains his connection, as heretofore. We merely refer to this matter as an indication of the perseverance and energy of the Ledger's management in securing eminent talent for his paper.—Boston Journal.

THE OXYGENATED BITTERS has no equal as a tonic medicine, and, as it contains no alcohol, is especially adapted to the delicate constitution of females suffering from any derangement of the natural functions, weakness, or irregularity, nervous debility, &c.

BAITING MARKET. Carefully prepared to Tuesday, May 12, 1857. Flour, Howard Street . . . $6.62 @ 7.25

NEW YORK MARKET. Carefully prepared to Tuesday, May 12, 1857. Flour, State brands . . . $6.00 @ 6.80

FOREIGN SUMMARY. By the arrival of the Europa, we have the following news: ENGLAND. Speculations in endless variety were indulged in, as to the Ministerial programme for the new Parliament.

AMERICAN SKILL.—We learn that the Governments of the three colonies in Australia have commenced the construction of nearly 1,000 miles of telegraph, to be completed in nine months from this date, and have selected Mr. S. W. McGowan, formerly in the charge of the office of the New York, Albany, and Buffalo telegraph, as superintendent of the work.

THE RIVER AND RAIN AT WHEELING.—The Wheeling Mail of Wednesday says: "Since Saturday night, when the depth of water was only four feet, it has risen to six feet, and at a stand, the river has risen, at 6 P. M. yesterday, to twenty-seven feet, and seven inches of water in the channel. The weather is so much improved that the population, eager to see the great young pianist, have thronged his horses and drew his carriage through the streets."

THE NEW GRANADA CANAL COMPANY is suffering new misfortunes. Mr. D. G. Gillet, who was appointed to manage the company, has returned to the United States, and has resigned his position. The company has now no one to manage it, and is in a state of confusion.

LIBERIA FAIR.—The Legislature of Liberia, at its last session, passed an act providing for a national fair, to be held in Monrovia, in December next. The fair is to be held for ten days, and is to be a grand and magnificent affair.

THE HUDSON BAY COMPANY.—A Committee of the English and American Governments had under consideration the subject of the disposition of the vast land possessions of the Hudson Bay Company in North America.

AN EDITOR'S SURPRISE.—Mr. Samuel Williams, a native of Andover, Massachusetts, was pardoned on the State prison of Massachusetts on Friday. He had been an inmate of the institution longer than any other person ever incarcerated within its walls. He was sentenced in December, 1840, for a period of three years, and had occupied one cell for twelve years. His crime was incest and adultery.

CONVICT PAROLE.—A man named Moses Goodhue, a native of Andover, Massachusetts, was pardoned on the State prison of Massachusetts on Friday. He had been an inmate of the institution longer than any other person ever incarcerated within its walls. He was sentenced in December, 1840, for a period of three years, and had occupied one cell for twelve years. His crime was incest and adultery.

BRADSTREET'S.—The Chicago Tribune, of May 1, reports that large transactions in breadstuffs are making in that city. The day previous, an order for the purchase of 200,000 bushels of corn was received from a Boston dealer, while, on the other hand, heavy purchases of flour and wheat are being made in St. Louis and the Northwestern markets.

WANTED. AGENTS to sell Steel Plate Engravings, including the monthly illustrated, entitled "The Life of George Washington." An active person, with a small capital, can make $500 per month. For particulars, address D. H. MULFORD, No. 167 Broadway, New York.

INTERVIEW OF THE BRITISH MINISTER WITH THE PRESIDENT.—The Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia American writes: "Lord Napier had a formal interview with the President on Wednesday, which lasted nearly two hours. In reference to the Dallas-Clerendon treaty, he heard Lord Clarendon's despatch to him on the subject. That despatch sets forth the exclusive ground for rejecting the treaty by the British Government, the non-confirmation of the convention between Honduras and Great Britain. All the other amendments made by the Senate, except that qualifying article in regard to Honduras, which occupied the chief part of the conversation by the British Cabinet. There is, therefore, no misunderstanding as to the alleged or real point of difficulty.

NAVY CONTRACTS.—The heavy contracts for clothing for the United States Navy have just been awarded by the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing to the firm of Messrs. D. M. & C. of Boston, and one in New York. The cost of the articles to the Government is about $400,000. The contracts for navy provisions, given out by the Bureau of Provisions and Clothing, are for the year 1857, and are for the sum of $800,000. Speaking of the clothing contracts, the Star says: "The prices at which these important contracts were awarded among the manufacturers of New England to prove that he can sell under the new tariff at much less rates than heretofore."

REBELLION ON STATEN ISLAND.—The war between the Quarantine Commissioners and the system of Princess Bay and Saquin's Island, now for some months past, has been a source of great annoyance to the Government. The rebellion was first discovered on the morning of the 10th inst., when the Quarantine Commissioners, near Saquin's Point, were fired by incendiaries, at midnight. The buildings were completely destroyed. The buildings were occupied at the time by nine persons, who had a most miraculous escape.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE "RAILWAY KING" IN PARLIAMENT.—George Hudson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt. Douglas Jackson, who was elected Member of Parliament for Sunderland, setting the ball in motion, for, according to law, Mr. P. is not liable to arrest for debt.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including Mr. Everett's mission to London, in 1845, we have had five Northern envoys to England. Col. Pickens, South Carolina, was tendered the post subsequently assumed by Mr. Buchanan, and now, Mr. Dallas, but declined it. Mr. Dallas occupies a peculiar position, as he has been presumed he will, if he has not done so already, tender his resignation to the President. In South Carolina, and several other Southern States, are spoken of in this connection with this mission. Should it be vacated, it is presumed the South will be permitted to try its hand in conducting the important interests of the London office.

THE SOUTH NEGOTIATING.—The "States" newspaper suggests that the South should have a chance at negotiation with England. It says: "Since and including