FROM MARSHALL COUNTY. The Union Mass Meeting at Mound The Union Mass Meeting at Hounds-ville Last Saturday.—A "Substantial and Respectable Amemblage".—The Loyalty of Old Harshall Never Changes or Fades—How the County was Represented at Charlesburg.— Four Original Secessionists in the Relegation—Governor Bareman's Speech at the Moundsville Meeting.

MOUNDSVILLE, W. VA., May 12, 168.

Our Mass Meeting of to-day, was, perhaps, the most substantial and respectable assemblage that has met here for five years. It was organized by the election of Joseph Turner, Esq., President, and Walter Evans, Socretary. No committee on resolutions was anfor five years. It was organized by the election of Joseph Turner, Esq., President, and Walter Evans, Secretary. No committee on resolutions was appointed for here in Marshall county, we deem it unnecessary at this date, to condense or expaind on resolves about our devotion to, and love of the Union. Indeed, moreover, we believe that during the war was the proper time to show our hands. The war is now among the "things that were," and, if we did not support the Union and the loyal administration flee, we think it would be somewhat farsical now, to come in for a share of the glory in the Union triumph, Yet it appears that the "conservative" party of Marshall was represented in the Charlesburg Convention, by a delegation composed of four original secessionists, none of whom was known during the war to recognize the State of West Virginia; attend a war meeting; contribute other wise than by sair or conspulsion, to the measures adopted at different times to alleviate the sufferings of our sick and wounded soldiers, or in any wise to allitime with Union men, but who on the original and the character of the delegation, from Marshall county, that in convention with others of similar records adopted the Charksburg platform. But I must return to and proceed with that scened to irresistably follow, the inspiring scentiments that now and then scened from the speaker.

The history of the rebellion was briefly rehearsed, and the status of those who a few months ago were in arms against the Government of the United against the Government of the United States and of West Trigonia was or ambed into Instead of submitting quietly and in a good spirit to their con-quested fate, as became overthrown rebels, many of those who had returned they had been and were still tree and unflinching to the Union and the State. Appeals were conting up to the executive for protection, and the Governor thought it highly probable that we should yet be compelled to organize and send a force of the State military to protect those men in border counties who are now being hunted, persecuted, and In some Instances murdered because they were "tree and faithful to the Union. And all this trouble was instanced, and In some Instances murdered because they were "tree and faithful to the Union. And all this trouble was instanced one year ago begging for the live that they had forfeited, and for the privilege of simply remaining at their leaves one year and forgiveness. The Union men, in the tree spirit of mercy and forgiveness, received them, but how terriby had misplaced confidence, the condition of affairs in the interior and on the borders of the State would ment as cruel and unrepresented, whilst they will extoll in unmeasured terms, the names of our revolutionary fathers, who enseted laws against the tories of the revolution of infinitely greater severity. The Governor here referred to the Code of Virginia of 1819, revised by Benjamin Watkins Leigh; and read from chapter 28, 6th and 7th sections of an act entitled "an act declaring who monwealth, &c.," which it may be well to reproduce here, although I notice it was published in the INTELLIGENCES several days ago. The sections are as follows:

1. WHENTAR, It is just and necessary to prevent the admission into this State of those persons, who being either climens or natives of some of some of the United State.

Distors Intelligencer:

The Copperheads had a truly representative meeting here last Saturday. It has been very truly said that this very "conservative" (?) party is composed of rebels who fought, and rebels who didn't fight; of deserters and bounty jumpers; of disappointed office-seekers; of old Whigs and old Democrats, and a variety of other odds and ends. This truth was most forcibly established here to-day. But of that party present, the old Democrats and rebels sympathiners greatly preponderated. er was about to set in again when hearing that their confederates were to visit this piace in their behalf. So following the instinct of their nature and species they ventured out from their hiding places. It would have been well for their cause if these specimens had not made their appearance; for several continuen who had recardand State are those who by their va. and State are those who by their valor-iant partriotism by the bayconet and the ballot, and a firm support of the Union in her time of peril, were successful in acrough both from that destruction with which traiters in arms and their allies —the conservatives (so-called) at home Wholesale

He said ar upon our gover counties on their parcie were violating all its conditions, and were distressing and harrassing our formi people beyond endrance in several of the more exposed endanties. Respects were sent to the Souverner, and on examination found to be too true, that Union men had been and were being murdered outright by these relarmed revels, simply because they had been and were still true and unflinching to the Union and libe State. Appeals were coming up to the exemption of the State and the rest of the rebols, they committee the protection, and the Governor hought it highly probable that we hought yet be compelled to organize met sent of the service for disloyally, &c., but the discharged as interest or the state military present thought the best eredence in the present the part of the present the present the part of the part of the part of the part of the present the part of the par
