MARRIAGES AND FUNERAL NOTICES.

NO notice will be taken of funeral notices unless they are accompanied by the name of the deceased.

SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT. 28.

The Union County Convention meets.

The Union County Convention meets at the Court House this forenoon at 10 o'clock. We trust that all the delegates will endeavor to be on hand at the hour named in order that the business of the meeting may be dispatched in time to suit the convenience of the country members.

NEXT WEEK promises to be a lively time in the city.

The Fair will commence on Tuesday and continue throughout Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The State Medical Society also meets in the city next Wednesday.

We understand that the attendance of a large number of West Virginia physicians is expected. The meeting will be the second since the organization of the Society, and the design is to perfect a comprehensive medical association.

JOHN M. BOTS has a long letter which is published in the Colporteur Observer.

in which he soundly berates the eccentric Jack Pendleton, formerly member of Congress, for some abuse offered against him on the occasion of Pendleton being indicted by the U. S. Grand Jury for perjury in falsely registering as a voter under the acts of Congress.

The Wood county Union Convention, held recently, nominated Hon. J. B. Blair, of Parkersburg, and William Steere, of Pleasants county, for Representatives.

W. H. Hunter, for county Treasurer; and Capt. S. F. Shaw, for county Superintendent of Free Schools.

SOME drunken fellow assaulted and knocked down the "Boy Orator of Kentucky" the other night, as he was about leaving Fairmont on the train.

The ruffian used iron or brass knuckles.

SKILLING matches are still in vogue in old fashioned New England towns.

An Englishman who recently witnessed one of them says the prize was "a copy of Webster's Quarto Dictionary."

The Point Pleasant Register states that a company has struck a vein of silver in the upper part of Mason county, near Letart, and have been offered $30,000 for their lease.

COL. GEORGE R. LATHAM, late M. C. from the Second District, has arrived at Australia, and has entered on his duties as U. S. Consul at Melbourne.

A. T. STEWART, of New York, talks of moving his wholesale store to a new town establishment.

The downtown will be turned into a package house.

The funeral of the late Noah L. Wilson, well known in connection with railroad matters to several of our Wheeling people, took place at Marietta on Thursday.

FORTY THOUSAND people are reported as present at the Ohio State Fair at Dayton on Thursday.

W. DUNSMOND, of Ballington, Barbours county, is the Union nominee for Senator from the Sixth District.

Proceedings of the Senatorial Convention of the Fourth District.

In pursuance of a call for a Senatorial Convention of the Fourth District, delegates from the counties of Harrison, Tyler, and Doddridge, met at the Court House, in West Union, W. Va., on the 25th of September, 1867, and organized by electing James S. Smith, of Tyler, President, and S. P. McCormick, of Doddridge, Secretary.

The President stated that the object in calling, and the business of the Convention, is to elect a Senator.

It is well known to all the delegates present, that it was not necessary for him to enter into any lengthened remarks on the subject of the nominations of candidates for Senator in his order.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this Convention be published in the Union papers of this State.

JAMES M. SMITH, Pres't. S. P. MCCORMICK, Sec'y.

The Richmond (Va.) Enquirer and Examiner, in an article on the Ohio and Pennsylvania elections, after assuring its readers that the Republicans are trembling for the result, proceeds thus:

These fears are well founded, and they may well tremble at the prospect of a Republican victory in the North and Ohio, and the South there is nothing but hope in their fear.

TAXES BUTCHERS' SALES.—It is stated in paragraph 21, upon page 11 of series 3, No. 4, that "butchers whose sales do not exceed $1,000 annually, and butchers who sell butchers' meat exclusively by themselves, or agents traveling from place to place, are subject to a special tax of five dollars."

This is erroneous. Butchers who sell butchers' meat exclusively by themselves, or agents traveling from place to place, and not from any shop or stand, are required to pay five dollars annually, whether in cash or in kind, or by letting in place (section 80); but if his sales are made traveling from place to place, they must be "of butchers' meat, and not of other kinds of meat."

A MAN in Lee, Massachusetts, does an extensive business in raising and selling Italian bees.

He sends them by express and mail throughout the country, even as far as New Orleans. In sending them by mail he uses a small cylinder of wire cloth, about as large and as long as your finger, in each end of which he places a stopple which has large holes in it, and the hole he places pieces of sponge filled with honey. A queen bee with eight or ten other bees are then placed in the cylinder, and the stopple is put around it with several holes in it, and it is ready to be sent off by mail.

THE PRESIDENT'S CHARGES AGAINST MR. STANTON.—A dispatch to the New York World says:

"Congress convenes in a little more than a week, and long before that time the President will have the charge and reasons for suspending Secretary Stanton from the War Department before him on the occasion of the Grand Jury for perjury in falsely registering as a voter under the acts of Congress. It will be remembered that Mr. Bots was foreman of the Jury which found the indictment against Pendleton. Mr. B. also incidentally allude in the act to the fact that Pendleton was indicted in allowing Pendleton to go at large on his own recognizances to appear for trial hereafter.

TESTIMONY in court is a very curious thing, sometimes, and can be made to appear very differently according to the aspect in which it is viewed.

In a Newark police court, recently, a woman made complaint against her husband for an assault and battery, and exhibited a bunch of hair which she said had been pulled from her head. The husband, however, testified that his wife had been keeping this same bunch of hair for years, and had frequently exhibited it to him before to prove similar charges. The court dismissed the case.

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN, answering an Illinois application to deliver a temperance lecture, says he never drank a glass of liquor in his life.

He also crows over Gough and Beecher because they charge for lecturing, and says he will lecture for nothing. As Mr. Train did not have to earn the money he spends, perhaps the crow is a piece of individual bunkum.

CHICAGO is a lovely spot. The Rev. Dr. Hatfield says that besides "blue beer" and "superior scoundrels" this garden of weeds contains twenty-two hundred licensed rum shops, and spends about sixteen million dollars yearly in drowning care and sorrow.

No wonder the papers are full of horrible crimes.

VALLANDIGHAM and his brethren argue that Robert E. Lee is one of the purest patriots that ever existed.

How could he be anything else they argue, when he is a relation to George Washington?

"PENELOPE PICKLE" alludes to Boston girls as follows in the Chicago Tribune: "The ambition of every young Boston girl is to live in a brown stone front, with two 'how' windows and a brass knocker, before she dies."

Having accomplished that, and attended a course of medical lectures, she is ready to depart in peace, for after that is all her vanity."

FIDELIARIES AS BANKRUPTS.—No debt created by a bankrupt while acting in any fiduciary character can be discharged under the bankrupt law, but such debt may be proved with other assets, and the dividend will be credited on account.

The Kentucky girl, who has been asleep for eighteen years, is to be exhibited at the County Fair, along with the big pumpkin and the calf with two heads.

The New York Gazette gives a sickening account of the universal pestilence of the kitchen, and of the restaurants in that city of gold, glitter and dirt. Would it not be a good rule for patrons of such places to demand a clean and healthy kitchen, and to be let by and by in the light search away the rats and roaches?

PRESIDENT JOHNSON and the Democratic Party.

The N. Y. World is reasoning with the National Intelligencer, to show that President Johnson does not belong to the Democratic party; and that he is neither responsible for it, nor for it. The Democratic editor supposes the doors are open; but that he is at present, or has been during the last two years, within the Democratic organization, neither he, nor anybody for him, we are told, can truthfully pretend. We quote as follows: "It is idle to speculate on 'what might have been' except for the purpose of illustrating the wisdom of the President in placing in a clear light the expectations naturally formed of a Democratic President. Suppose, then, that we had elected General McClellan. Suppose, further, that he had retained every member of Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet; that he had retained the cabinet of his predecessors; or standing even among his backers and advisers; that he had appointed only Republicans or Unionists to the vacant places; that he had tried to form a new party, and had supported it; and that he had instituted a Convention at Philadelphia for that purpose, suppose, we say, that we had elected General McClellan, and had had in the very tracks Mr. Johnson has done, does anybody think the Democratic party would not have been re-elected? Would it not have been consistent with his maintaining any further relations with the Democratic party? Had General McClellan been elected and given up the same treatment we have received from Mr. Johnson, would he not have been elected by the Democratic indignation, no stint or measure to Democratic denunciations. Why, then, have we treated Mr. Johnson with the same respect and honor as we have treated Mr. Johnson? Just because we had no claim upon him for any kind of favor or support, and because we had no objection to his reconstruction being of grace and not of debt, we acknowledged them with the same disinterested magnanimity with which they were given."

CONCERNING COSTUME.—An English journal is very caustic on the ladies' costume of our period. It says: "That it is in evening costume that our women have reached the minimum of dress and the maximum of brass. We remember a venerable old lady whose ideas of decorum were such that she had her speech all above the foot was ankle, and all below the chin was chest; but now the female bosom is less the subject of a riddle, and more the subject of a riddle, and charms that were once reserved are now made the common property of every looker on. A costume which has been described as consisting of a smock, a waistband, and a frill, seems to exceed the bounds of honest liberality, and resembles more the attire of a peasant than of a Rabelais. 'Nothing before and nothing behind, with sleeves of the same.'"
