TELEGRAPHIC ITEMS.

—Judge Hoar arrived in Washington, Tuesday night, and held an interview with the President.

—The Maine Senate, Tuesday, refused to pass the Constabulary act, by twelve against fourteen.

—Andrew Johnson will have an extensive reception at Baltimore to-day. He will be accompanied by the President, and the Vice-President.

—The Republican Senators held a caucus, Wednesday morning, with a view to decide on the order of business, and adjourned till the evening, (amplifying all the way along, we suppose.)

—On Friday last, as some men were cutting a road through a snow drift near Peacham corners, Vermont, they came upon the frozen bodies of Mrs. Emmons, aged 69 years, her daughter and grandchild.

—Patsy Curtin and James Haggerty, two sporting men of St. Louis, got into a row at Mike McCool's saloon, Tuesday afternoon, and drew knives, and cut each other fearfully.

—General Wm. Myers and General J. W. Baringer arrived at St. Louis Wednesday, from Omaha, and General Sheridan was expected to arrive the same day.

—The case of Eliza Callahan, a woman who was found dead at New York on Monday morning in a miserable shanty in 6th street, an inquest was held on Tuesday at Bellevue Hospital, and a verdict rendered charging Jacob Hillout, a German with whom she was living, with her murder.

—It was Duncan Walker, son of R. J. Walker who had his teeth all knocked out Tuesday, by the iron rail smashing a car on the Erie railroad. The officers that were wounded are doing well.

—Jewett mill at Sharon, Connecticut, was burned Tuesday. Loss $30,000; insured for $18,000.

—Horace Locklin, Superintendent of the Vermont Central Railroad, died at St. Albans Tuesday night.

—The Columbus (Ohio) Journal pointedly remarks that "every cord of wood given to the poor here will be so much fuel to burn the great leaders."

—A diligent reader of the Scripture has discovered that the velocipede, and the one wheeled variety, was predicted more than 2,000 years ago. See Ezekiel 1, 12-13.

—"My dear," said a rural wife to her husband, on his return from town, "what was the sweetest thing you saw in town, in the city?" "The ladies' faces, my love."

—J. J. Johns, on old English printer, still continues the publication of the official paper of the State, and is a member of the Legislature.

—The Philadelphia convict with whom the Philadelphia Convention met, and whom he mentioned so touchingly in his "Notes" is still an incorrigible thief, and is now in the penitentiary.

—An irrepressible boy of five years, who was always compelled to keep quiet in the neighborhood, was taken toward the close of a Sabbath day, and he was taken to the hospital.

—The Postmaster at New Lexington, Perry county, Ohio, is described as a man who is a great success in the sale of dry goods, boot and shoe store; is a silversmith, jeweller, painter, cabinet maker, and when times get tight he will sell his own property.

—The Convention assembled at ten o'clock this evening, and the Convention adjourned till to-morrow. It is a very evident that Mr. Wells will be nominated for Governor.

—The New Orleans Decree greatly piques the reader's curiosity by remarking, in its issue of March 4. "Perhaps one of the most disgraceful scenes ever witnessed in a deliberative assembly was observed last night, or rather this morning, in the Senate Chamber of the State of Louisiana."

—The latest fashion for gentlemen's evening dress at Paris is blue coats with light buttons, and white satin waistcoats and cravats.

—The influence of such a sentiment necessarily manifests itself in keeping the political parties in a state of confusion, and the result is to be seen every day.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Mr. Sumner presented the petition of the Republican State Council of Virginia, representing that the commanding officer in Virginia should be removed from office, and asking that they may have their due share of the State office referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Thayer called up the bill to repeal the tenure of office act. Mr. Trumbull was in favor of early action on the subject, but as there was a similar bill with an amendment pending to amend the Judiciary Committee, he therefore moved its reference to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Thayer opposed the motion, and said the subject had already been so much considered by the Senate and country that reference was wholly unnecessary.

Mr. Edmunds thought that the Senate ought not to be in haste to divest itself of one of its great constitutional powers. Its action on this bill would be of great importance not merely for the present but for the future.

Mr. Williams took the same view of the bill which had passed the previous question, and it had not yet received proper consideration.

Mr. Corbett thought the President ought to be free to discuss his subordinate officers, and he believed this bill could be acted upon to-day as any other time.

Mr. McKim favored the reference of the bill to the Judiciary Committee. The bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee.
