OFFICE: No. 15 Quincy Street. SATURDAY, SEPT. 14, 1872.

National Union Republican Ticket. FOR PRESIDENT, ULYSSES S. GRANT.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, HENRY WILSON, of Massachusetts.

FOR PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, WM. H. STEVENSON, of Wood; THOMAS B. SWANN, of Kanawha.

DISTRICTS. 1st—CHARLES F. SCOTT, of Ritchie. 2d—THOMAS H. CANTAKON, of Mineral. 3d—HOMER H. FISKE, of Kanawha.

"Gen. Grant never has been defeated, and he never will be."—HONORABLE GREENEY.

"While asserting the right of every Republican to his untrammelled choice of a candidate for President until a nomination is made, I venture to suggest that momentous truth is 1872 than in 1868."—HONORABLE GREENEY, Speech on 25th January, 1871.

A MISAPREHENSION of the composer and oversight by the proof-reader gave the Braxton county Bar's tribute of respect yesterday to Judge "IWIN." It should have been Judge "IVINS."

The Mountsville Reporter says the editor of that paper "has made the raise of a new 'plug' and, and has gone to Cameron to-day, (Friday) to take a 'spurge.'" Be careful, brother IANNE, not to get a brack in it.

With what grim humor Mr. Greeley's paper refers to the Congressional election in Maine:

"All the Grant nominees for Congress appear to be re-elected; Speaker Blaine coming tolerably near his old majority, and Chandler's son-in-law squeezing through over Pike."

Blaine's majority two years ago was 2,320, and now is set down at 3,500; and Hale's "squeeze through" over the Tribune's special friend is a majority nearly or quite double that received by him at the last election.

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.—A correspondent of the Cabell Press says Lincoln county has the most remarkable case of longevity in the State. SILAS COOPER, a citizen of that county, was born in Greenbrier county March 9, 1766, making him 106 years old last March. His wife died on the 8th of March last at the age of 110. Mr. COOPER was at the polls on the 28th of August, and voted the straight Democratic ticket. It is not to be inferred that voting that ticket is favorable to longevity. Mr. COOPER did it, we suppose, from the force of a very old habit acquired when "Democratic" meant Democratic.

We observe that sundry papers claiming to be Democratic are apologizing for their support of Camden. If their opposition to Jacob had amounted to much, there had been little to admire in this eleven-hour toadyism. We recall the words of Bill Arp:

"I'll never say a pardon, For what I was I am; I won't be reconciled, And I do not care a damn."—Charleson Courier.

The status of the Courier and its editor are pretty well expressed, profanely and otherwise, in this coarse rhyme. They are as thoroughly and hopelessly played out as the unconstructed rebel, and like him have nothing to fall back on but a dogged obstinacy which lacks the grace to make it fortunate. Many a fellow has swung from the gallows in the same spirit.

A CAUCUS of the "faithful few," recently friends of the late lamented Mr. CAMDEN and present executors of the now lamented Constitution, was held in this city Thursday night, for the purpose of "harmonizing," preliminary to the coming city election. "Harmonizing," as understood by the caucus, meant to grant an amnesty to the JACOB Democrats and allow them to come back into the ranks of the aforsaid faithful, who muster to the music of the Register, and vote for their ticket. Propositions to harmonize were made to leading Jacobins, but they had "come away without their glasses." In other words they could not see it, and sent word that they did not train in that "crowd."

This manifestation of an incorrigible and rebellious spirit creates consternation at the headquarters of the "trouly lolly;" and it is thought King Lewis the First will shortly issue a proclamation warning the malcontents to lay down their arms and surrender at discretion within a given period, or suffer dire consequences.

THE CANAAS.—We have gone far enough to judge pretty fairly as to the temper of the people in regard to the issues between GRANT AND GREENEY. North Carolina, Vermont and Maine have spoken. There is no reason to think that the citizens of these States differ materially in intelligence or purposes from the people of the country at large. The question has been presented in all its bearings, whether it is best to continue the present Administration in power, or give the control of the destinies of the country to HONORABLE GREENEY.

The reply is emphatic and unmistakable. The Republican majorities are increased. The popular vote is more strongly in favor of the Administration. The current is running strongly in favor of the re-election of Gen. GRANT, and the undertow, always an important and often a vital element in the problem, is no less powerfully tending in his favor. Without expending words, it is clear that the country is not ready to reward treason by giving the power into the hands of a man who admits that if elected he will be guided by the men and the spirits of the South—the South of 1861.

Onz of the best political notes of the day occurred at Fairhaven the other Sunday. On returning home from church, little Freddy, who is about five years old, said to his father: "Our minister is a Republican, ain't he, pa?" "I hope so, my son, but why do you think he is?" "Because when he was praying this morning he said, 'Grant, our Heavenly Father.' If he had been a Democrat he would have said, 'Greely, our Heavenly Father.'"

Statenmanship.

(From a Speech of Attorney General Williams, at Wheeling, Sept. 13.)

It is quite common for the condition party to say that Grant knows nothing about civil affairs, but Greeley, if a great statesman is necessarily made of a professional politician and an intricate office seeker. Year after year his name has been associated with vacant offices in New York, and twice, I believe, he has been elected. Once he was Representative in Congress, and for some reason left, very much ridiculed by his associates. He was also a member of a Constitutional Convention, and became things which go there to suit him, abandoned his seat like a petulant schoolboy, and returned home.

You are familiar with his advocacy of secession; the beginning of the war; then his "Frischmann" mode of his persecution; then with his ridiculous negotiations for peace, and with other shifting and vacillating views which he urged during that eventful struggle. Are these to be taken as the evidence of statesmanship? I think only affirm what we know of the man's country, when I say that Mr. Greeley is an irascible, whimsical, capricious and egotistical man, sadly devoid of that strength of will, inflexibility of purpose, and firmness of character which are necessary to make a successful Chief Magistrate.

Some sensitive reformer might say that it would not be in good taste. History, however, has placed his name before the reach of party venom or personal malice. You know what services he has rendered to the country. Considerable effort is now made to depreciate his services upon the ground that his success is not due to his ability, but to his good luck. Let those who are pleased with this assertion make it. Call his victories at Donelson, and Shiloh, and Vicksburg, and his final triumph at Appomattox, luck if you please, but the nation now desires and needs. More safety will be found to the country in that sort of luck than in all the oligies or lams that Professor Greeley can bring to the administration of public affairs.

When Grant's enemies call good luck, I can give good reasons. Sumner, a great rhetorician, Schurz is a brilliant word for word, and Greeley writes well for newspapers; but Grant has more good hard sense than all three of them put together. Clear, strong, practical common sense, without show, or parade, or noise, is what carried him through the war, and is what carried him to the Presidency. Let the cry of the opposition be what it may, Grant and good luck will do for the Republicans in this campaign.

A Woman's Counsel to Women. "Shilley Darr" gives some useful hints to women in these paragraphs:

Does a woman deserve respect who calls the work of her sex drudgery? There are women who always speak of it by that name, but they are usually inferior and under-bred, women who write about "musses" and "messes" for print, prigs or gyps of the feminine flender, tiresome in party, content to place their hands in a greasy, disadvisable way, all the time feeling that they waste, to use their formula, "abilities which might be much better employed." They dust rooms, and mend clothes, and bake cake, and call this housewifery, and say the noblest calling of women is to be a housewife. They pretend, but work genuine and comprehend, washing of dishes and kettles, scouring of tinware, and blacking stoves, paring of potatoes and putting on of coal, in short, the whole horrid round, indispensable to bright music and good fare. Many a man has been called on to do these things, but every woman, princess or peasant, ought to know how they should be done, and have dexterity and practice enough to do them. This is woman's province, which all good women should learn, just as men of rank learn the science of war, till they know how much sand is to be charged of gunpowder and how much labor goes to equipping earthworks. Many people are saying this over in different ways—George Eliot and George Sand indirectly, in their romances and heroines; never, by any possibility, afraid of the meanest labor; Mrs. Craik, Frederica Bremer, and Mrs. Stowe, more explicitly.

It Won't Work. The Wheeling Register, in its frantic efforts to save something from the general wreck that has overtaken the Democratic ship in West Virginia, attempts to figure out Col. Wilson's majority in Congress, and its formidable array of figures puts Wilson's majority in West Virginia at 223. Figures are not supposed to lie, but sometimes the man who manipulates them will prevaricate a trifle when it is for his interest to do so, and in this case Baker has shown an undue concern for the Bourbon interests in West Virginia—so much so that his mathematics are seriously at fault. We copied the Wirt county returns the next day after they had been certified by the Board of Supervisors, and they show the vote on Congressmen by townships:

Table with 2 columns: Township, Votes. Includes entries like Spring Creek, 13; 31; Burning Springs, 13; 11; Reed, 9; 19; Tucker, 6; 43; Clay, 17; 46.

These figures give Davis 228 majority in Wirt, which result is according to the official record. This elects Davis beyond the peradventure of a doubt, and makes the next Republican candidate for Congress. When we consider the interests of Greeley Democracy and the Baker-Walker clique it is not to be wondered at that it cannot be helped.—State Journal.

That Lexington speech of Col. Breckenridge was full of suggestive points. For instance: "Our part of this bargain is to give the Liberal Republicans our votes in order to enable them to succeed in their undertaking. Their part of the bargain is to restore to power the now disfranchised sons of the South, to drive out of the temples these vandals and thieves, and to restore you, Democrats, to their position. I don't care a penny for Horace Greeley or what he has said. He represents the dawn of a new era to us, an era that will restore us to power."

This suspicion of Mr. Greeley's inclination to pay the rebels for their slaves in case of his election, seems to be gaining ground. The Saratoga says that a gentleman in Saratoga has received a letter from his brother in Louisiana urging him to go to Greeley on the ground that if he is elected he (the southerner) will get paid for the slaves he lost by the war. One or two other instances of the same kind have come to the knowledge of that paper.

The heaviest iron in the regular campaign of the Government is the regular Republicans are called ungrateful. When did monarchical or aristocratic institutions give such evidence of natural gratitude?

How the Camden People Feel About the Constitution Now.

(From the Cabell Press.)

Election day has passed and gone and the parties for and against the Constitution have changed with the rapidity of the phantasmagoria. The ardent friends of Camden, by thousands, as soon as the inexorable returns determined his defeat, wished the Constitution to fall with him, to have another tug at Jacob in October. Gentlemen who had nice districts moulded for them in manipulating the Constitution, and who lauded that voluminous document as the embodiment of human wisdom, have changed their opinion of an instrument under whose eyes their successful competitors will find shelter for 4, 6 or 8 years. And what a delusion the dear people have had! defeated gentlemen doubt their capacity for self-government, the winning smile has vanished, the outstretched hand has withered, the summons to take the state and pray daily have returned again, and only the unsuccessful candidate, in a fat office for a long time, is for the Constitution with great enthusiasm.

Rev. Mr. Brown, of Cincinnati, who has brought into notoriety some weeks since by shooting a boy who was hanging, his apples, died recently at the residence of his daughter near Cincinnati. He was very old and infirm, and the anxiety and excitement connected with the event were the causes to hurry him to his grave. He left property to the amount of half a million of dollars.

In a private letter received yesterday from Belmont county, Ohio, a friend states that the Democrats will not support Horace Greeley, and that the most of them will vote a straight-out ticket. This doesn't sound very encouraging to those who have invested in Greeley stock.—Washington Advocate.
