Republican State Convention.

A Convention of the Union Republican Party of West Virginia will be held at Charleston, W. Va., on Thursday, May 11, 1876, for the purpose of appointing ten delegates to the Union Republican National Convention which is to assemble at Cincinnati on the 14th day of June, 1876, and to nominate five Presidential Electors.

The committee is of opinion that it will be impracticable to avoid holding two Conventions, and that the purpose of this Convention are of large importance to justify calling for large county delegations, and therefore suggests that each county will send five delegates—three delegates to be appointed by the County Executive Committee, or by County Convention, as such committee may deem expedient. It is proposed to call another Convention during the summer, in which the committee hopes to meet all, without regard to political differences, or previous party affiliations, who are in favor of making such changes in our Government as will result in a more efficient and economical administration of the State affairs.

By order of the State Republican Executive Committee. JOHN W. MAXON, Chairman. CHARLESTON, W. VA., Feb. 18, 1876. (Republican papers of the State please publish.)

TALK about the longevity of public men in England and France! Here is the Virginia Legislature just re-electing as Judge of the Hustings Court of Lynchburg, for six years, James Garland, who is now 84 years old.

THE NAIL MARKET.—The nail manufacturers west of the mountains have been called to meet at Pittsburgh to-morrow, the 7th, to consult in regard to their interests. As is well known, the price of nails has not been satisfactory to manufacturers for some time past, and it is supposed that the meeting has reference to a better understanding as to quotations. From what we regard as our best information, the mills will have all they can do for the next sixty days in the way of supplying orders and there seems to be no necessity to market their product without a profit. There is a heavy trade yet to be supplied with nails and a busy time before the mills. We hope their meeting to-morrow will result in strengthening prices.

THE SCARCITY and dearth of fish is one of the melancholy exceptions to the general decline of prices. Especially that excellent breakfast fish, the mackerel, is growing dearer and smaller. The best mackerel are now $22 per barrel in the New York market, against $11, last year. The falling off in the supply is attributed by the trade to the abuse of the seine. Schools of mackerel are corralled in immense seines and then dipped up, vast numbers of fish being thus destroyed which are fit for consumption or which are fit before they can be cured. The old hook and line was a sufficiently lucrative catch with mackerel, and the subject deserves the attention of our fish authorities. With the consciousness that Lent is here, there is some consolation for the dearth of fish in the cheapness of eggs.

GRANDER NEWS.—In reply to an objection, imaginary or real, that farmer candidates for office cannot cope with professional politicians, a correspondent of the Charleston Courier says that convicts are not made from the stump, and that the people naturally sympathize with a plain man who has a plain story to tell. Speaking of farmers versus politicians, reminds us that the master granger of West Virginia, B. M. Kitchin, is an old politician. At the last annual meeting of the State Grange he thus addressed the brethren:

Then, Patrons, come to the front; let politicians who exhibit in our halls of legislation so much dozeskin and beaver cloth, to say nothing of their misdirected legislation and questionable morals, take a more humble position.

The Mountain Herald (Braxton county) says that the leading farmers of that county have ordered twelve of the "Watt & Call turning plows."

Bestor, State Centennial agent, has found a vein of coal in Randolph county thirty-eight feet thick.

A correspondent from Harrison county informs the editor of the Weston Democrat that he has catted two years old weighing from 1,200 to 1,400 pounds each, and yearlings that weigh 1,000.

There are now 440 granges in this State, with an aggregate membership of about 14,000.

The order of the Patrons of Husbandry is on the decline in the West. Unprincipled individuals holding sincere offices in the order have been "sponging," and a general discontent is the result.—Exchange.

The State Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, in session at Cleveland, Ohio last week, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, as Patrons and citizens, will hold our representatives individually responsible for all prodigal expenditures of our money; also for some clear and concise law that will equalize values throughout the State of Ohio, compelling each to bear its just burden of taxation, not excepting church or railroad property.

The Braxton county Mountaineer, Moorefield Examiner and Point Pleasant Register, report good wheat prospects.

WEST VA. GENERAL NEWS.—The personnel of Mardi Gras processions does not seem to be very well understood by the Moorefield Advertiser, as we judge by its intimation that they are made up of "an indiscriminate mixing and mingling of all classes and both sexes, from the demi monde to the respectable portion of society, for a free and easy jollification and loose social freedom."

An agent of the Point Pleasant Monument Association recently paid Wheeling a visit, and writes as follows to the Pt. Pleasant Register:

"Stopping at the McLure House, there I met His Excellency, who, with other State officials with whom I came into contact, was deeply interested in the monument and did everything that could be desired. I tried to D. H. over the Ohio River in the agent's presence, he would have marked me. If he had more time, he would have gotten 'his boss' to do so. He did all that he could, which was to sell me a steamboatman's ticket to Cincinnati."

A number of citizens of Taylor county, have enjoyed the county authorities from confirming the recent compromise with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company on account of back taxes. The matter was long in dispute and litigation, until an agreement at $20,000 was reached.

The Kingwood Journal says: "We will venture to say that A. L. Wade, of Monongalia, is the best county superintendent in the State."

The druggists of Harrison county carry on the liquor traffic to such an illegal extent that the grand jury, at its recent session, recommended the licensing responsible persons to sell, as usual, under bond, to the general public.

A. T. Laidly and A. Q. Miller, of Charleston, have dissolved partnership in the drug business.

The Charleston Gas company publish a notice that "to all their customers who have paid or will pay up their accounts by the 1st of April next, a discount of 25 per cent from all bills will be made, provided they are paid at the office of the company during the first five business days of each month, thus reducing the cost of gas to $3 per thousand feet."

The Courier hopes that this reduction will induce people to leave off oil and take to gas.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.—J. B. Hicks announces himself as a candidate for Sheriff in the Cameron Free Press.

Dr. John B. McCullough, having attended lectures at Cincinnati, has located at Rosby's Rock.

The Spring term of the Hopedale Normal School begins on the 4th of April.

Over at New Philadelphia, O., some one coughed in church the other night, whereupon the preacher said, "Now can't you all cough?" And they did, and so effectually that he soon found it advisable to close the services.

The first Methodist meeting house in Ohio was built on Short Creek, Jefferson county, in 1803. It was erected by voluntary labor, and only one dollar in money was spent on it. It was twenty-five feet long, of hewed logs, with a pulpit floor and seats made by splitting small trees in two pieces.

The Cameron Free Press contains a rather unique sort of card from Dr. S. B. Stidger, who informs the public that he had thought of seeking an "easier field in which to labor," having "arrived at an age in which it was necessary to do so," and to that end had thought of moving to Keyser City. But he has "now finally decided to remain," and "in order that his patrons and himself may mutually have the advantages of the latest books, remedies and surgical appliances," he will require a settlement of his books twice a year. "In the future, office and obstetric practice will be cash."

WEST VIRGINIA POLITICAL NEWS.—Senator Caperton is the only member of the West Virginia delegation who voted for the Centennial bill.

According to the Charleston Courier, an effort may be made at Parkersburg, on Thursday, at the meeting of the Democratic State Committee, to change the Convention from Charleston to some other point. No wonder, after the remarks of the Courier on the location at the time it was made.

The Monroe county Register (Republican) of the 4th says: "Twelve months from this day the next President will be inaugurated. His name begins with a G." Not much it don't, if G stands for Grant. The Register hadn't heard the news when writing that sentence. Carry the news to Tom Swan, brother, and tell us what he has now to say.

A correspondent of the Charleston Courier says that "Jacob is dead, Camden is dead, and Greeley is dead," but the Democratic party still lives.

U. S. Senator Henry G. Davis, has written a letter to say that he is in favor of the repeal of the "Sherman Resumption Act" of last year. He believes that resumption should come about by "the growth and development of the business interests of the country rather than through forced legislation."

The Carlist war in Spain closed with the flight of Don Carlos to Paris and the dispersion of all his forces, most of the troops returning to their homes, others following their chief into France, where they are anxious to swap their horses and accoutrements for a meal of victuals. King Alfonso has closed the war, escaped the misfortune of capturing his rival cousin, and now returns to Madrid in triumph, accompanied, very likely, by his mother, who had better make her entrance under the protection of victory. There is already some question as to the return of peace. The king will probably claim a new lease of absolutism as the reward of merit, and the Madrid journals already put in a word for "us, the people," who have done so much for your majesty, and who demand in turn a more liberal and constitutional regime. The chief importance of the close of the war for the United States is that it releases a large army which will now be shipped, without delay, to Cuba, and used in the suppression of the rebellion in that island. If any effort at all commensurate with the force at hand is made, the Cuban insurrection will be over in six months.

The estimable wife of Prof. S. D. Gross died at the family residence on Walnut street, Philadelphia, the past week. In this bereavement her distinguished husband will find sympathizers in all sections of our country.

Three innocent Men. Three innocent looking men were waiting at the Central depot the other evening for a Western train to go out. They were meek and lowly in general appearance, and as they walked around they became known to each other, and finding that they had a whole hour to spare, one of them proposed to go across the street and get some lemonade. While en route, a second moved to make it larger beer. When they got over, the third intimated that whisky would suit him; and they all took whisky straight. They broke the ice, and they decided to play a little game of cut-throat-euchre. After playing a game or two, it was decided to increase the interest by putting up a little money. "I can spare that much," said the first, as he threw down a counterfeit five dollar note. "I'll see that and say nothing about the premium," said the second, as he took out a bill from a broken Canadian bank. "I'll put this Jurgensen down as security," gravely added the third, as he pulled out the gold-washed case of a watch which he had bought for a tobacco-box. A peaceful smile stole over each face as the strangers scrutinized each other. They went and got more beverage, and returned to the depot wondering how it was that human nature was so unreliable.

INFANT MORTALITY.—Le Bulletin Francais has called attention to a plan which has in view a diminution of the extraordinary death rate among infants. It is stated that among 100 individuals in France there are reckoned only 2.54 births, while in Russia there are 4.77. Other countries offer intermediate proportions. Thus 100 marriages in Prussia give 400 infants; in France only 300. The annual excess of births over deaths calculated for a million inhabitants is in Norway and Prussia about 14,000; in Russia and Sweden, about 12,000; in Spain and Portugal, 8,500, and in France, only 2,400. It appears from such statistics that the population of France would double in 170 years, while 42 years would suffice for Prussia, 52 for England, and 68 for Russia. Worse than this, however, is the fact, as stated by M. Broghard, that 100,000 nurslings annually die in France from starvation and misery. It appears that their mothers and wet-nurses at home die during the first year in the proportion of 8 or 10 in 100; those who are placed away from home, under hospital care and municipal direction, give a mortality of 30 to 36 in 100, and those who are entrusted to nurses in the provinces show the enormous mortality of from 50 to 70 in 100. With the design of developing maternal nursing, therefore, and of caring for the nursing when it has to be removed from the family, there has been instituted at Paris under efficient auspices the Protective Society of Infancy.

BRENTLINGER'S SARSAPARILLA AND Dandelion Extract! FOR THE CURE OF Scrofula, Cutaneous Eruptions, Erysipelas, Pimples on the Face, Itchings, Sores, Chancres, Sore Eyes, Tetter, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Pains of the Joints, Dyspepsia, and all forms of Diseases arising from an Impure State of the Blood. TESTIMONIALS. MEMPHIS, TENN., October 26. Doctor Brentlinger, Wheeling, Va.: My DEAR FRIEND—I am now using your Sarsaparilla and Dandelion Extract, and I feel that I can give you a testimonial. I have been afflicted for nearly two years with Scrofula and Dyspepsia. I feel much better now than I did when I first began to use your Sarsaparilla and Dandelion Extract. I can make you a guarantee that if you use your Sarsaparilla and Dandelion Extract for one year you will get rid of your Scrofula and Dyspepsia. I have given up all getting well again. Added to this, I suffered with Scrofula very much. Since last September one side of my neck was one entire sore. The use of one bottle has much improved me; my stomach is apparently relieved; my neck has improved beyond my most sanguine expectations. I feel much encouraged, and think by the use of one or two bottles more I shall be relieved entirely. You will please send me two bottles. I want to give it a fair trial. Send by one of the boats. Truly yours, D. C. GRAGHART. N. B.—I am a brother to G. A. Gracart, of Trinidad, La. J. W. HORNBER. T. H. Logan, Esq. PARKERSBURG, April 16, 1850. DEAR SIR—I wrote to you some time since for a bottle of Brentlinger's Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla, and must say that it has acted upon me like a charm. I have been afflicted for nearly two years with Dyspepsia, two-thirds of the time vomited from one to three times a day. I had given up the idea of ever getting well, and indeed my friends had given up all hopes of my ever getting well again. Added to this, I suffered with Scrofula very much. Since last September one side of my neck was one entire sore. The use of one bottle has much improved me; my stomach is apparently relieved; my neck has improved beyond my most sanguine expectations. I feel much encouraged, and think by the use of one or two bottles more I shall be relieved entirely. You will please send me two bottles. I want to give it a fair trial. Send by one of the boats. Truly yours, J. W. HORNBER. T. H. Logan, Esq. PARKERSBURG, April 16, 1850. DEAR SIR—I wrote to you some time since for a bottle of Brentlinger's Fluid Extract of Sarsaparilla, and must say that it has acted upon me like a charm. I have been afflicted for nearly two years with Dyspepsia, two-thirds of the time vomited from one to three times a day. I had given up the idea of ever getting well, and indeed my friends had given up all hopes of my ever getting well again. Added to this, I suffered with Scrofula very much. Since last September one side of my neck was one entire sore. The use of one bottle has much improved me; my stomach is apparently relieved; my neck has improved beyond my most sanguine expectations. I feel much encouraged, and think by the use of one or two bottles more I shall be relieved entirely. You will please send me two bottles. I want to give it a fair trial. Send by one of the boats.
