Short Comings of the Huntcipal

Fathers.
The delay of the City Council in acting on the assessment is, to say the least, very reprehensible. It is unbusiness like and cannot but be detrimental in its effects. Either the affairs of the city are beyond the managing ability of the present Counall or size there is such carelessness on demned or vindicated. In other words, the part of that body, as will put it the conundrum is, have we a Collector? numerous and glaring to escape condeminess like management of municipal

Beginning with the annual appropriations to the different standing commitiaw made and provided by the legislature, at the instance of Council, which require a distribution of the available funds to be made either in the month of May or June. Neither has either branch taker any steps, so far as we are informed, to find out what proceedings are necessary on the part of Council to make the appropriations legal. A resolution offered with a view of requiring all votes on appropri-ations of money to be taken by ayes and nays, and to be recorded, in order that the minutes may show that the clause requir ing a three-fiths or two-thirds majority ing a three-diths of two-thirds majority has been compiled with, has never been acted upon. The First Branch is compelled to take for granted when appropriations come up from the Second Branch that they have been acted upon in compliance with law, when it is well known that the latter body is not at all scruptlous in complying either with law or ordinance. The First Branch, too, is sort ously at fault in many respect. Members have become exceedingly careless about attending the sessions either regular or special. For the larger part of the time some of the wards are practically without representation, their members not having appeared for months at a time. In fact, there is seldom present at the sittings of the branch more than a bare quorum, and even thirds also in getting together. All this is bad in principle and bad in effect.

All this is bad in principle and bad in effect.

All the Board of Equalisation was pending, (a report absolutely necessary to be considered and acted upon, in order that the books of the Assessor might be turned over to the Collector); although it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, when the Collector; lathough it was notorious that the time was long past, and hone time the presentative of the defendence of the past of the has been complied with, has never been cares for none of these things. It seems to be a matter of indifference with the municipal fathers how much at loose ends the financial affairs of the city run, although the day of election draws near. In the matter of assessments we know of no proceedings on the part of a musicipalibody by its committees, that for cool disregard of all the principles of equity can match the altimpted role of the present Board of Equalisation as reported by itself. It seems that when the Assessor (Mr. Smith) was ready to enter upon the work of restring its life has needed material, the has paid of the work of recting its. If he has paid for the work of assessment he applied to the law office of the city for information in the matter of off-ete; that is, as to whether a man in returning the amount of his personal property (merchandiss for instance) had a right to deduct from said amount the sum or sums due or to become due for the purchase thereof. The option given by the municipal law officer the Assessor was in accordance with that theory, and upon this opinion given to the Assessor was in accordance with that theory, and upon this opinion given to the haster canne before the Board of Equalisation, but it came, and a question arose as to the right of a party to deduct from the return of his personal property the evidences of indebtedness therefor. The law officer the spirit of his dreams he put upon record an opinion the very reverse of that given to the Assessor and by which that officer was governed in making the assessment. The Board, anxious to learn to what extent this error of the Municipal that of the capital into the analyse that would otherwise be consumed.

der the second opinion of the City Molicitor, the Assessor shall be required to again so over the city and make a new assessment in accordance with that opinion, or whether the assessment as now made shall stand for the present year. Bingularly enough, however, the First Branch is divided in opinion as to whether the isemparties whose assessments have been raised by the Board of Equalitation shall be compelled to pay taxes upon the amended assessment, or whether the action of the Board shall be disapproved and the assessment restored to the original amounts. The gotion of the Board is so manifestly contrary to the spirit of justice that the only wonder is demned or vindicated. In other words, in a very unfavorable light in the esti-mation of citizens. In fact the short comings of the Fathers are rather too

It is often said that capitalists take quorum count for the considera-tion of the report of the Board Equaliza-tent this is doubtless true. But, on the tion it was found that one member, like other hand, laborers often get the best of the Arab, had quietly stole away, and the First Branch was without the legal basis for conducting business, and of course adjourned.

The Assessor's books are not in condition to be turned over to the Collector, and of course no collections can be made, and the city's funds are running down to zero.
