Office: Nos. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street. PUBLISHED BY F. W. CAMPBELL, PROPRIETOR. MONDAY MORNING, JULY 7, 1879.

Persons leaving town for the season, and Summer travelers, can have THE DAILY INTELLIGENCER sent to them, postpaid, for 15 cents per month, the address being changed as often as desired.

We are indebted to our old friend, 'Squire John Atkinson, of West Alexander, Pa., for a fine specimen of the wheat raised in that vicinity.

THE IRON TRADE.

Day is Dawning—Pig Iron Showing More Life Than for Many Weeks. The new dephosphorizing process—the New River Region.

The Pittsburgh Manufacture of last week speaks more encouragingly of the iron outlook than for weeks past. It says: "The favorable indications noted last week are even more marked than they were then, and there is cause to believe that the long-looked-for and hoped-for improvement in the iron trade generally has commenced to show itself."

The English correspondent of the Manufacturer says that the new discovery whereby phosphorus is gotten rid of in iron ores hitherto unfit for Bessemer use is staggering the English iron trade. The manufacturers over there realize that the production of iron in this country will be immensely increased by means of the new discovery.

At Buffalo, N. Y., the Hardware manufacturers are running steadily and say that they experience no slackness in trade. W. B. DeKamp & Co., of Louisville, Ky., say that the rolling mills continue very full of work and profess to believe that better prices will soon be reached.

The new Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad is bringing Lake Superior ore to Pittsburgh and supplying the trade by means of transfer barges—the same as the Tuscarawas road will do here when it reaches the river.

The Valley Virginian, published at Staunton, is slated over the new dephosphorizing process. It says: "The importance of the immense hematite ore deposits of Virginia is augmented in view of the recent discovery of the dephosphorizing process, by which the iron products are converted into steel-iron. This invention is a decided advance, and is being practically operated, not only in England but in France and Germany. It must soon play an important part in America, inasmuch as steel for railroads is becoming of general use, and soon will be of general use, and give increased value to the iron properties of Virginia, where much of the deposits of ore are of the hematite species, containing more or less of phosphorus."

In addition to the Virginia ores that will be made available by the new process, the Virginian alludes to the important part that the New River, W. Va., coke is bound to play in the iron manufacture of the future. It says: "The New River coke contains of carbon, 85.83 per cent; ash, 5.85; sulphur, 0.30; phosphorus, 0.10. It is known in this country, 87.46 of carbon, 11.30 ash, 0.80 sulphur, and 0.49 water. Durham (England) coke—the greatest coke section in the world—22.80 carbon, 6.50 ash, 0.7 sulphur, &c., &c., showing that the coke manufactured from the New River coke is superior to that even of the Durham coke, and also of the Connellsville.

The character of the coke, taken in connection with the rich iron ores of Virginia in close proximity to the cokelands, must attract attention sooner or later, as presenting the most advantageous position for the manufacture of cheap iron and steel. The attractions cannot be overstated; they are unequalled in this country, and all that is wanting is for those who know the facts as they exist. This can be done in time. The increasing demand for iron and steel products will necessarily force the minerals of the Virginians into notice, and invite investments, for it is here where pig iron can be manufactured the cheapest, and it is here, as the consequence, where business enterprise and capital will seek employment.

Old rails are reported very scarce in the Pittsburgh market. We quote from the Manufacturer as follows: "The only sale we heard of was at $23.50. We saw a telegram from a party in Philadelphia offering to deliver here at $27 a ton. This market depends upon the West and South for old rails, but the unfavorable condition of the Ohio River makes it impossible to get them here at present by that route."

Philadelphia advises report the demand for American pig as fairly active, and of the tone of the market very encouraging. In regard to old rails we have the following report: "It is pretty certain that the full 15,000 tons referred to in last week's report have been sold, but the greater portion if not all have been taken up by Eastern buyers on speculative account. What supplies there are available at the moment are in strong hands and prices seem to be tending upward. Bottom figures now are $24 here and $25 delivered to Philadelphia. About 1,000 tons have been sold for the latter delivery at $24, and subsequently 2,600 tons at $25."

This report indicates a growing scarcity of old rails and an early increased demand for pig iron.

Taken as a whole, the advices throughout the country in regard to iron are decidedly encouraging. The dead point has been passed beyond reasonable doubt.

UP THE RIVER.

The Fourth at Brown's Island—About 1,600 People Present—A Good Time.

Two Steamers, the Bachelor and O'Neal, ran between Steubenville and Brown's Island on the Fourth from 7 o'clock in the morning until half past 8 at night. The people were under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias. The island is especially adapted to the purpose of picnicking. One of the finest groves in the county is on it, the shade furnished by the branches of spreading trees being ample. A good well which was sunk by the Knights last year for the purpose of furnishing abundance of cool and wholesome water, while the scenery round about is grand and picturesque. A large dining platform was erected at one of the shaded spots, capable of accommodating twenty sets, and the excellent music furnished by Aldrich's string band gave ample opportunity to those so desiring to indulge in the invigorating pleasures of the dance. The number of people who were gathered together on the island were about 1,600, and while it was not so large as some anticipated it was, nevertheless, the largest ever found with the respectability. Whole families were there with their baskets of good things to eat, and merry groups were seated around eating underneath the shade of the trees. No rowdiness of any kind was to be seen, the management being announced previously that nothing of the kind would be allowed, and those persons inclined to indulge in their evil propensities knew they meant what they said and stood away.

THE ELK RIVER COUNTRY.

A Fishing Party that Included Two Gentlemen from Wheeling—The Croppers Two Swiss Colonies—Sensational News.

According to the Randolph county Enterprise a fishing party set out from Beverly the other day for Elk River that included Messrs. Dana L. Hubbard and Rev. Stalnaker, of Wheeling, Col. Hutton, of Huttonville, and a number of other gentlemen. They had a rather rough experience of it between the roads and the gnats, and only caught for one day, but in that time they took some fine fish.

There are now two Swiss colonies in this State—one at Bellevue, Upshur county, consisting of eighty families, and one at Alpine, of twenty families. They are mostly engaged in raising stock, and all are prospering finely. They are a hardy and industrious race, cleanly and frugal in their habits, and possessed of considerable native intelligence. They will make good citizens.

Twenty additional families arrived a week or two ago, and more are expected. It is very likely that West Virginia will get quite a Swiss population.

The Randolph Enterprise gives Senator Henry the following account of the Vice Presidency: "Hon. H. G. Davis is prominently spoken of in connection with the Vice Presidency. True he is not an Ohio man, but he is in close proximity to the 'promise land,' West Virginia ought to be able to catch the sound of his name, and to get an occasional whiff of the incense. And besides this, Ohio is under obligations to West Virginia. In the National Democratic Convention of 1876, West Virginia cast the vote for Ohio's electors, and Ohio's electors voted for him after Tilden had enough votes to elect, and this is worthy of reward. Even the most ungrateful republic could not refuse to lend a helping hand under such circumstances. Hon. Henry G. Davis may be Vice President."

The Enterprise does not seem to take much stock in the Register's interviews. It remarks that they "took place in the imagination of the author."

The Valley Virginian says that the Tygart's Valley and Cheat rivers is good and there is a large acreage of it. The meadows also are looking well.

The Enterprise names Wheeling as the place for holding the next Democratic State Convention. It says: "It may be rather premature, but while our contemporaries are arranging 'salutes,' we propose to make a suggestion as to the place of holding the next Democratic State Convention. It was held in Charleston the last time, and as a consequence it naturally follows that this section of the State has some claim to its location next time, and we name Wheeling as the most suitable place, it being about the only town in this section of the State that can furnish accommodations for a State Convention."

TYLER COUNTY.

Railroad Wreck—Increase in the Sheep Herd—The Journal of the County Running at 10 Per Cent Interest.

The Star advocates the building of a rail road from Middlebourne to New Martinsville. It says that it would traverse "Virgin forests yet unravished by the woodman's ax."

Below we give the number of sheep in Tyler county for the years 1877-'78-'79, with their assessed value:

Table with 4 columns: Year, No. of Sheep, Value, % Increase. Data for 1878 and 1879.

The above figures do not include those under one year of age.

Rev. Bickford Hornbrook, of Massachusetts, is visiting his brother, W. A. Loe, of Wheeling. Mr. Phillips and family, of Spencertown, are residing at the Western Hotel.

Tyler county, according to its official financial statement in the Star, owes $2,140, and the debt has been due for three years, and bears interest at 10 per cent, but neither debt or interest has been paid. It is necessary to pay the good county like Tyler, owing only $2,140, should be obliged to pay ten per cent interest. Perhaps the fact that she pays neither principal nor interest is the reason that the latter is nominally so high. It is the only county in the State who sold his beef so high to a customer from whom he said he never expected to get anything.

Col. Dan. Johnson, of Tyler county, confessed himself an opponent for Congress. This has been an open and avowed secret for several years past. He also says that no hard money man need apply for the nomination next year. That all depends on Col. Foster carries Ohio by good iron money, it means that Tyler man, Ewing & Co. have been discarded, and that Tilden and hard money will come to the front again as the Democratic representatives. In that case it will look well for Col. Dan. to be going round the State with iron money, which will support a National candidate on a hard money platform. We acknowledge that the Democracy can do bare faced things of that sort, and it is therefore possible that West Virginia might repeat in 1880 her performance of 1876.

NORTHWEST WEST VIRGINIA.

Senator Hereford—The White Sulphur Springs—The Crops—Plenty of Mast.

Senator Hereford has returned to his home at Union, Monroe county, from which point he will now commence to lay the ropes looking to his re-election at the next session of the West Virginia Legislature. He will find that a bigger job than he did the last time, as the Republicans are not likely to smile upon him again. He is an unmitigated partisan, and has not compromised himself to their favor for re-election.

There are already between two and three hundred guests at the Greentree, White Sulphur Springs, and others are rapidly arriving. The managers count on a big season.

The Monroe Register says that harvesting is in full blast and the wheat crop is turning out far better than was anticipated a month ago. A fair crop of both oats and grass will be realized. The prospects for an average crop of corn are encouraging.

The white oak and chestnut in this region is to be unusually heavy in most portions. Persons who have observed the mast for some time say they never saw a finer prospect for the future. As there has been no hog cholera for a year or two, there is now plenty of hogs to fatten on the mast, and pork promises to be cheap in this section the coming fall. Mountain Herald.

OAKLAND.

Opening of Daily's Hotel—Arrivals from Wheeling—Crop News.

Daily's new hotel—the Glades—was opened for visitors last Monday. Oakland now boasts of two comfortable hotels, the Oakland and Glades. The former is the B. & O. Company's hotel, and is a sort of a tender to the one at Deer Park, with which it connects by a graded road—a beautiful drive—six miles long. Among the late arrivals at the Oakland were Benj. Davenport, H. Hess, and Robert Simpson, of Wheeling.

The crops are short this year in the Glade county, especially hay. The other day a ten acre wheat field belonging to W. W. Ashby, near Oakland, was destroyed by fire.

Grasshoppers have made their appearance in vast numbers in the Flatwoods settlement, on the farms of Henry Feigh and others. They have eaten the leaves of the buckwheat and are now working on the timothy.

Even when the Glades were settled by white people, nearly one hundred years ago, they have had their summer visitors. It was found long ago that there was a good one for young children and old people to come to in the hot months, and hither they have come for health and pleasure every summer. The nights are cool with heavy dews. The water is mostly of the iron character and cold and sweet. Pools of standing water will not stagnate. All streams, small or large, go trickling among the pebbles or dashing over the rocks.

Gooder the Indian led to return no more, the State of Maryland constructed a wagon road, west from Fort Cumberland to the Virginia line, along which road were started wagons. First Cresapstown, then soon Warwick; Westport, at the mouth of George's Creek, that with better success. After crossing the "Backbone" mountains, quite a number of houses for entertaining strangers sprung up along that road. Through the Glades, notable among them the old Calumnes House, the Armstrong House, which stood near where that road crossed the Little Young, and within a fourth of a mile of the depot at Oakland, and just opposite the Washington Spring, noted as the camping ground of the "father of this country" on his travels between Mount Vernon and the scene of his labors on the Ohio river.

The throng of visitors to the mountains is not by any means tremendous thus far, partly perhaps because people can get cheaper accommodations elsewhere.

One Word Covers the Advice Which should be given to nervous, slender and debilitated persons—Invigorate! Sedatives, opiates, aperients, are comparatively useless. The system must be built up with a genuine tonic in order to the recovery of vigor and tranquillity by the nerves. A course, systematically pursued, of the leading invigorant, Hoster's Stomach Bitters, should be resorted to by those who suffer from weak nerves and general debility. The stomach, always more or less dyspeptic in cases of nervousness and loss of vitality, is toned and regulated by this medicine until the organ acts with a peculiar alacrity to that of a steady-going piece of mechanism. Complete digestion and assimilation are, through the influence of the Bitters, followed by a gain in vigor and flesh, and the disappearance of biliousness and irregularity of the bowels, where such exist, as they usually do. Appetite and sleep are then regained.
