each guest. They buy all provisions, and they send a cook of good capacity to live the house which they undertaked to see that all is going on properly, they either look see that all is going on properly. They are not in a remarkable state of preservations for the Wheeling Gusette, dated respectively April 11th, 1829, and April 28th, June 23d and December 1st, 1832. They are not in a remarkable state of preservations of the white house which they undertaked to the property will be used to be casionally in the shape of books two and three hundred years old. Still, they are legible, and their reading matter is more less interesting in a local point of view. The number for April 1b, 1829, contains a report from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad engineers who had been sent to England to examine into the railroad engineers who had been sent to England to examine into the use of locomotives on some of the local roads there, and decide upon the practicability of introducing them for general use especially on up grades—on the B. & O. then in the third year of its existance, and built as far as Ellicott's mills, fifteen miles out of Baltimore; One of these three engineers was Jonstlian Knight, of Washngton county, Pa, who figured for so long a time afterwards in the service of the company, and who was finally elected a member of congress in the early days of the Republican party from Washington county. The saving by the use of locomotives, as compared with horses, was estimatedat 30 per cent. It is really interesting reading the primative report they made to the then little B. & O. company.

In this same number of the Gazette we find the returns from an election held in Ohio county for Congress. Ohio county then included Marshall county in whole or then included Marshall county in Wheel-ing and Grave Creek. The whole number of votes cast in Wheeling was 447 and at Grave Creek 185. Of these votes Phillip Doddridge received 467 and some man, by the name of Johnson 145. There were five Grave Creek 165. Of these Votes mannedy the name of Johnson 145. There were five candidates for the Legislature, viz. Fitz-hugh, (no first names are given,) Parrion, Webb, Curtis and Shepherd. Fitzhugh polled 519 votes; Parriott, 305; Webb, 205; Curtis, 146, and Shepherp 51.

The editor of the Graztle notes that at the same election a ballot was taken for a candidate to the celebrated Virginis Convention of 129-30, atterwards memorable in the history of the State, and of which Chief Justice Marshall, ex-President Madison, John Randolph, Paillip Doddridge, and Alexander Campbell were memberathe candidates voted for at this ballot were M. W. Chapline, Samuel Sprigg, and Archibald McLean, and they received Trespectively 232, and 167 and 145 votes.

The proceedings of a meeting held at Mrs. Gooding's in regard to selecting, a delegate to said convention are published in the Gazette. John Snodgrass was chairman and Z. Jacob Secretary. Isaac Lefffer explained the object of the meeting, and the assembly resolved to support. Samuel Sprigg, of Ohio county, and Phillip Deddridge, of Brooke, as delegates. The editor speaks disparagingly of the meeting; any that only 25 persons were present, 12 of whom were from Wheeling, and the or speaks displacingly. The says that only 25 persons were present, 12 of whom were from Wheeling, and the balance from the upper part of the county. He favored Col. Chapline as against Mr. Spring for the convention. The Colonel has a pronunciamento in the Gartte extending the convention.

has a pronunciamento in the Gentle explanatory, of his position as a candidate. He announces that "a crisis has arrived," and that "the shapes of the State government, originating in the defects of the constitution, have become intolerable." He declares in isvor of a white basis of representation, and for the extension of the rights of saffrage. Those were the good old days when the voting was done by fresholders. He was also in favor of abolishing the county courts, and sapeaks of them as "an excresence of the colonial system." He denounced the then existing system of taxation, which he said "is a poll tax the most odious and unjust," and favored "a contribution to be raised from the people in proportion to injust," and favored a continuous to unjust," and favored "a contribution to no raised from the people in proportion to their property."

The extension of the suffrage was then as much of a question in Virginia—especially west of the mountains—as it has been since in England. We notice a call for a meeting of non-freeholders "to assemble at the Fiats of Grave Creek on the 18th of the month" to influence the selection of candidates to the convention favorable to the extension of suffrage.

The discovery of petroleum oil in Cumberland county, Ky., by parties horing for salt, is announced. "The oil rushed up twelve or fourteen feet above the surface of the earth, and it was believed that about 75 gallons per minute were discharged." Strange as it may seem, the people did not know, at that day, how to utilize this discovery, and it was not until thirty years atterwards that they learned the value of petroleum for illuminating purposes. During all that time they continued the use of tallow dips.

From the Gazete of April 11, 1829, we pass, as they do in novels, over a period of three years, or to the Gazete of April 23, 1832. The first item we meet is an announcement that the mail now arrives here in two days from Ballimore and two nouncement that the mail now arrives here in two days from Ballimore and two days from Cincinnati. This was considered wonderful. The next item is the proceedings "at a meeting of the young men of Wheeling friendly to the election of Henry Clay and John Seargent, as President and Vice President of the Uni-ted States." Among these young men resident and vice Freshort of the Christoff States." Among these young mem were Alexander Wilson, Geo. W. Wilson, John L. Newby, William McConnell, William Lambdin, Jr., T. P. Robinson and William McGaughy. These were nelected to attend a national meeting at Washington City on the first Monday of May.

William highaging. These were essenced to attend a national meeting at Washington City on the first Monday of May.

Among the marriage notices was that of the late W. W. Shriver, Eq., to Miss Caroline Zune, "damphter of Nosh Zane, Eq." They were married by the Rev. Z. H. Coston, as also was "Mr. Berjamin Kelley, merchant, of the firm of Gorham & Kelley, wheeling, to Miss Mary M. King, eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. B. King, of the Wheeling House." Among the death notices was that of Hiram Hedges, Esq., of West Liberty, who had been "an honest and faithful magistrate" of the county.

A public dinner was given to Col. John Parriott, on the 18th, at Mr. Jones' hatel, by the clitzens of Elizabethtown (Moundaville) and vicinity, as a testimony of respect and esteem to him as one of their representatives in the House of Delegates of Virginia. At "two o'clock the company partook of a dinner prepared by Mr. Jones in his usual style of taste, liberality and elegance." After dinner there were toasts and speeches, and Col. Parriott spread himself at considerable length. He, was called up by Dr. W. Baldwin, who proposed the following toast: "Our guest, Col. John Parriott, the confidence reposed in him in 1825 has not been diminished in 1832." The Col. was doing his beet in those days to take the county seat away from Wheeling to Moundaville, but he alluded to it very gingerly in his speech.

We shall deler further aliusion to the contents of these old papers until another time.

The Scarcity of Good Cooks.

Good cooks are possibly to be had at about twice the salary of a curate, proabout twice the salary of a curate, pro-vided they be allowed to levy commis-sions on everything edible that enters a house. Everybody, however, cannot pay these terms, and as a rule lamilies have to put up with exceedingly bad cooks. In France there are many professors of the art of cooking, who undertake to feed a family for a fixed sum per diem, with a stipulated addition for
