The Water Works Committee. The Committee on Water Works had a very busy week, meeting at the city building. The regular monthly bills were ordered paid. Kimberly and Butterfield had some words in the hauling of the thirty inch pipe, and all the members present took a hand in the matter of the ten inch main ordered by Council for Main street from the city to the Top Mill. The action in ordering this pipe was called in question at all out of the way. At the first meeting of Council after the North Wheeling resolution was introduced by the Chairman to the Second Branch of the Water Works Committee ordering the Board of Water Commissioners to purchase at once to advertise for proposals to furnish a ten inch main for the City of Wheeling in order to guard against any further famine when there should be a fire, as was the case in the case of the main between the City and the Belmont mill, which was a four-inch main, and only being a four-inch main, it was adopted and went to the First Branch, where it was stated that the Board would not be required to purchase any business, and as there was a pressing need for the resolution should instruct the committee to take this action, and it was so agreed. There was a long and interesting discussion in the Second Branch, but it was adjourned. Last night two bids were received from Philadelphia parties, and a letter from the Belmont mill, and a letter from the Belmont mill, and a letter from the Belmont mill.

AN INTERESTING CASE. A Convicted Murderer Granted a New Trial. "State vs. W. Seymour Douglas, Grant county; writ of error allowed."

The above item appeared in the report of the Supreme Court proceedings of Saturday last. Douglas is now serving a life sentence in the Penitentiary at Moundsville for the murder of a young mail carrier named Hizer, who was killed in Grant county, near Morefield, Hardy county. The murder of young Hizer was one of the most atrocious, cold-blooded and fully premeditated ever committed in the country. The particulars as far as our reporter has been able to gather from the records are as follows: One of the merchants of Petersburg informed Douglas, and probably others, one day in the summer of 1877, that a young man named Hizer, who was a considerable sum of money in the mail to Morefield. The young man started on his trip that day at the usual time, but failing to reach Morefield, he was sent up from that place asking why the mail had not been sent. The news of young Hizer's failure to reach Morefield spread rapidly in Grant county, and a strong party of Douglas among them, started out on the morning of the following day. Upon arriving at a point in the road between the two towns, Douglas, a gloomy, unfrequented spot, he held in by high mountain peaks, covered with a thick growth of pine trees, and was found by the merchant who had informed Douglas, and probably others, one day in the summer of 1877, that a young man named Hizer, who was a considerable sum of money in the mail to Morefield.

Twenty years ago, we passed singly in the Children's Home was opened for the reception of such orphaned and destitute ones as had no keeper. In looking over the past, and the difficulties of the father and the trials and difficulties of the mother, we are reminded of the fact that our situation is now very different from what it so often has been, in a way that is not to be regretted. The Emma Graham will pass down on an early hour this morning for Cincinnati. The Joseph A. Stone passed up with empties, and the Ironsides, of Gray's Iron Line, will be in the city before the end of the week. The new Traveler will not travel under the old name, but will be decorated with the title of "Twilight."

The river is falling at this point, the gauge indicating only a depth of 7 feet. There was no Stentenberg packet yesterday, the Abner O'Neal having gone to Pittsburgh on the 10 o'clock repairs. The Little Anna sailed evening presented with one of the best of her kind, the Richardson, one of the numerous admirers of this little packet.

The telegram had an immense trip both ways yesterday. It was the only daily, outgoing mail, and Martin's Ferry packets, that touched the river. Changes of stewards on the different boats have been made as follows: Robert Doty, of the Amies, has gone on the Schenck, and the Schenck has gone on the former boat. The Pittsburg will be in the city on Monday and leave Sunday for St. Louis. This is one of the best boats of the Coulson line. Terms can be had of Capt. Coulson, at the St. Louis.

The Clipper was released from the bottom of the river Tuesday and will be shortly placed on the dry dock. The damages are very serious, but she may be able to do some work yet. The U. S. beacon light, Lily, left Pittsburgh yesterday, having had new chimneys put on and a full supply of fuel and oil. After returning the Lily will make a trip up the river to the mouth of the Kanawha, and will be in the city on Monday.

The W. W. Chancellor, en route from Charleston to Pittsburgh, passed up yesterday morning. This fast sailing steamer will be in the city on Monday morning, and will be in the city on Monday morning. When the Journal arrived from Parkersburg yesterday morning it was found that her crew had been in a place yet. Accordingly she was taken to the dock, and the boiler makers were at once put to work and it is thought the steamer will be ready for business tomorrow morning.

Our Daily Bread. Heavy and cold weather has been a vast influence through the digestive organs upon the measure of health we enjoy. How important to our present happiness and future well-being the blessing of good health and a sound constitution is, we are reminded of when we have lost them, and when it is too late to repair the damage. And yet, so many of our people, thousands of persons in our own city daily neglect their own health, but their lives, and the health of others, by using articles of food, and in the preparation of their food, the purity and wholesomeness of which is not guaranteed. Perhaps a few cents may have been saved, or it may have been more convenient to retain the articles used, and the home-keeper may lose his appetite, and his health may be ruined. The weather, the lack of outdoor air, or some other cause, is often the cause of indigestion, and the unwholesome, poisonous system of adulterated food goes on. Next to the heat, which should be made of good, sound wheat, and not ground too fine, the raising of baking powder, which furnishes the leavening of the greater part of our bread, and of the two we prefer baking powder, and always use the Royal, as we therefore retain the original properties of the wheat, and the leavening is not adulterated. The action of the Royal Baking Powder upon the dough is simply to swell it and form little bubbles of gas, which pass off during the process of baking. The Royal is made from pure grape acid, and is the action of this acid upon highly carbonic acid gas, which is generated, and the gas is allowed to rise, and the ingredients are so pure and so perfectly fitted, tested and adapted to each other, that the action is uniform, and the bread is not adulterated. The whole time of baking, and no residue of poisonous ingredients remains to underlie the bread, no heavy biscuits, no sour bread, and no adulterated food goes on. The article prepared with the Royal Baking Powder will be found sweet and wholesome.

IN our community, who are destined, unless restrained to become a future case and tax. In concluding this the twelfth annual report of the Board of Directors, I desire to express my gratitude to my co-workers in the Board of Directors and Lady Managers, for their uniform kindness and courtesy during these years of toil and struggle.

With regret I leave this work, and you my true and cherished friends, but rejoice to see such good and prosperous conditions. When you next meet, I will always be interested in the "Children's Home of the City of Wheeling," will ever pray for its success, and in its continued prosperity. Returning to my trust laid upon me twelve years ago, I am Yours gratefully, E. H. BUNN, President of Directors.
