TARIFF TOPICS.

Interviews With Members of the Tariff Commission Showing Their Views. ROME, GA., June 24.—Mr. J. W. H. Underwood, a member of the Tariff Commission, expressed himself with regard to the scope and meaning of the commission as follows: "I am in favor of raising a revenue to defray the expense of the government and to pay the public debt in a reasonable time by duties on imports. This involves the overthrow of the internal revenue system by imposing low duty on the luxuries on the free list of articles which we neither produce nor manufacture. Generally, my views on the tariff question are to be found in the Whig platform of 1841, in Polk's letter to Kane in 1845, and in Polk's inaugural address in 1845. The present tariff was adopted when the national debt was large and the country needed a great income; it now needs revision and reform. I am opposed to the general system of internal revenue, as its operation fosters monopolies and breaks down small institutions. In short I favor a tariff rather than a present system of internal revenue."

TARIFF TOPICS.

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Mr. Robert P. Porter says: "My position on the tariff question is rather that of an investigator and statistician rather than one who has preconceived views to carry out. My recommendations will be wholly influenced by the facts and figures in the coming inquiry, and my single aim will be to propose such legislation as in my opinion will be most beneficial to the entire country."

TARIFF TOPICS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 24.—Mr. Alexander R. Boteler in his views on the tariff commission, says: "I beg to refer to the tariff commission, as fully expressing my own ideas of the scope of its inquiries, whereby proper data may be obtained to inform Congress to establish a judicious tariff, which, while yielding sufficient revenue for the expenses of the Government, shall at the same time discriminate in favor of all American interests. So too, with labor and capital, neither of which can be used and properly employed without the other; the tariff will be able to have joint commissions, fully representing both interests, to determine questions in dispute among them, so as to prevent the alleged necessity for strikes for increasing wages on one side or combinations to advance prices on the other."

TARIFF TOPICS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 24.—Mr. J. A. Garland expressed his views on the tariff question as follows: "Having been recently confirmed, I do not feel competent to properly give my views of the proper scope of labor of the Tariff Commission."

TARIFF TOPICS.

BOSTON, Mass., June 24.—Mr. John L. Hayes, chairman of the Tariff Commission, refuses to be interviewed by the press, but proper until he receives an appointment formally from the Government and instructions.

TARIFF TOPICS.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Mr. W. H. McMahon told a reporter who called upon him that he did not care to express his views on the tariff question, but that he was giving an excuse for his unwillingness to talk to him as he had just received notification of his official appointment.

AN EXTRAORDINARY SCENE AT FRANKFORT. Kentucky, June 24.—A special to the Courier-Journal from Frankfort, says: "At Brother Barnes' meeting last night there was an episode, in which a colored brother and the highest judicial officer of the State gave a public exhibition of the fraternal relations existing between the white and colored races in Kentucky. While the Evangelists stood with outstretched hands asking, 'Who will trust the Lord?' Judge Thomas F. Hargis, of the Court of Appeals, was moved to confession and took his seat on the front row of chairs. Shortly after there passed down the aisle a penitent blacker than the midnight sky, who, in the presence of the court, exposed and disclosed a certificate of ordination issued by a Baptist church in Burleson, Texas, and which had been used by him as a pastor of a church in Billerica, Mass. He claimed that Brother Barnes had ordained him, and exhibited credentials, a certificate of ordination given by the church, and signed by the Rev. B. S. Short and six others; and by using these credentials he got himself installed as a pastor of a church in Fairfeld, Mo., in 1874, having been ordained by the church, and his credentials were forged, and he was dismissed from the church. He next united with the Episcopal church in Burlington, Iowa, and applied for holy orders on the same credentials, but an autograph letter was received from Rev. B. S. Short, reciting that O'Neill was not ordained at all; that his papers were a forgery. The Council traced him from Burleson, Texas, to Iowa, where he was exposed and dismissed. He then went three hundred miles away, where he was hired as a Baptist preacher, and next he went to Billerica, Mass. He appeared as the Rev. B. W. Neill, to officiate at the funeral of a young man, and his name was Paddock silenced him. In view of these facts the elders have called a special session. Mr. Neill dropped his 'O' in Massachusetts, and his final 'N' on his way to Brooklyn."

CHURCH IDENTITY. COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 24.—Last Saturday night four of the twelve Trustees of Trinity German Lutheran Evangelical Church got out an injunction against the pastor, Rev. Philip Herbat, on account of alleged heterodox doctrines, and locked the door and gates against him; but eight other Trustees got Professor Loy and held services. The case has been in hearing all week on the question of dissolving this injunction, and efforts were made to secure this, as congregation were to vote to-morrow as to whether Herbat should be retained or not, and he and his friends wanted to be allowed to present a petition to the court. Falling in this, they got a counter injunction before Judge Bingham to-night against four Trustees of the Loy party, so that now no one can hold services at the church to-morrow, and the question before the court is indefinitely postponed, but will be continued this week in the Court. Sheriff Hiedemiller has the key to the sanctuary, and both sides are quarreling on the outside.

British War Vessels Guarding the Suez Canal. Refreshment Dispensaries in the Streets of Arrah, Ireland—Guarding the London "Times" Office.

NEWS BY THE CABLE.

LONDON, June 24.—The Chester, another tank vessel, has been ordered to the Mediterranean. The Admiralty now deem it desirable to guard the Suez Canal by a number of small, swift gun-boats, instead of two guard-ships, as originally intended. During a debate in the Commons last night, Healy made a violent attack on John Bright, describing him as a political renegade. Special police are guarding the premises of the London Times, owing to the receipt of a threatening letter purporting to come from the Fenian Association. Various rumors are published that the authorities have arranged for the embarkation of troops at Gibraltar and Malta for the protection of the Suez canal as a case of necessity. Sir William Harcourt, Home Secretary, has placed on paper in the Commons new clauses of the Repression Bill, one providing that no combination under the Trades Union Act shall be an offense under the law, and the other that nothing under the Act shall render any political or social Association for such objects and acting by such means as under the Act and otherwise are not unlawful.

ALEXANDRIA, June 24.—It is reported that Egyptian troops are engaged in the construction of earthworks along the coast between Ramleh and Aboukir. Tunis, June 24.—The events occurring in Egypt are awakening agitation among the Arabs in Tunis and Tripoli. Alexandria, June 24.—Several hundred men marched through the city to-day in military order, singing rebel songs and execrating the Queen. They were afterward drilled. Dublin, June 25.—Disgraced assassins finally shot Thos. Magoghey, a constabulary sergeant, sitting in the kitchen of the wife of a wealthy farmer, at Kilkerton, County of Meath.

FORGED CREDENTIALS. Church People Excited Over the Queer Actions of Their Pastor. NEW YORK, June 24.—There is much excitement in the First Presbyterian Church at South Fourth and Sixth streets, Brooklyn, over the discovery that the pastor of the church, the Rev. D. Moffat Neil, has been serving them under an assumed name, his name being O'Neill, and that he has been dismissed from churches in various parts of the country. He made himself popular in Brooklyn, and was increasing the congregation of the church. The members were about to give him a compensation for each Sunday's work, but they heard that he had been in trouble in other churches, and investigated. They collected evidence which showed that the pastor's true name was Thos. M. O'Neill, and that he had been dismissed from a church in New York in 1874, having been a constabulary sergeant, and a Baptist preacher, and next he went to Billerica, Mass. He appeared as the Rev. B. W. Neill, to officiate at the funeral of a young man, and his name was Paddock silenced him. In view of these facts the elders have called a special session. Mr. Neil dropped his 'O' in Massachusetts, and his final 'N' on his way to Brooklyn.
