

DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP

DRY GOODS.

A. SIEDENBACH & BRO.

BLACK SILK

Unusually Low Prices.

This Great Sale of Black Silks will commence on Monday, Feb. 5th.

When will be offered the best Black Silks ever offered for the specified prices.

5 Pieces Black Silks at $1.00 per yard.
5 Pieces Black Silks at $1.25 per yard.
5 Pieces Black Silks at $1.50 per yard.
5 Pieces Black Silks at $1.75 per yard.
5 Pieces Black Silks at $2.00 per yard.

All of Cashmere Alexander Black Silks, are guaranteed to give satisfaction in durability of fabric and beauty of appearance. Such advantage, with moderate prices, should insure their popularity.

A. Siedenbach & Bro.

1,000

REMNANTS!

We have now on our cheap counter any quantity of remnants of Dress Goods, Muslins, Tickings, Embroideries, Laces, &c. Also Corsets, which we are selling cheap for cash.

We have still an unbroken assortment of Cloaks, Dolmans, Jackets, Ulsters and Circulars.

Now is your time to invest, as we are closing them out at, and less, than cost.

H. EMSHEIMER

ELEVENTH ST.

WE WILL

OPEN THIS DAY

200 Pieces Hamburg Edgings.
100 Pieces Hamburg Inserting.
200 Pieces Hamburg Edging.
100 Pieces Cotton Edging.

Also, Our First Installment of Muslin Underwear!

FOR LADIES, consisting of 100 Dozen Chemises.

100 Dozen Petticoats.
50 Dozen Night Dresses.
75 Dozen Muslin Skirts.

Remember, these goods are all our own make, and are all manufactured under the same management, unsurpassed in texture and finish, unequalled in price.

Ladies, give us a call and examine the above goods.

Cloak House, 1106 Main St.

P. S.—We will also close at cost any of our Ladies' or Children's Cloaks, Coats, Walking Jackets or Ulsters.

The Intelligencer.

Office Nos. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street.

New Advertisements.

Clothes Wagon—Nebitt & Bro.

To the Stockholders of Wheeling Sugar and Refining Company.

Regular Tuesday Packet for Cincinnati—Steamer Andes.

Discontinued at the Opera House.

Opera House—C. B. Bishop.

Opera House—Entertainment for the Benefit of the Poor of the City.

Our Watford Guardian, &c.—Third page.

Charley Shay's Theatre—Fourth page.

Save Your Eyes—J. G. Dillon.

500 Pairs Men's Gum Shoes reduced to 50 cents per pair.

700 Pairs Women's Gum Shoes reduced to 50 cents per pair, at HARRISON'S, 1122 Main Street.

All our immense stock of Shoes at Auction prices. Call in the forenoon for them, as we cannot give customers attention after the auction commences at 2 o'clock P. M.

BEADED CROWNS.

300 Black Beaded Crowns have just been received. Our Mr. Rice closed on the lot, and we offer them at 75 cents. They are certainly a great bargain.

A. L. RICE & CO.

THE LATEST.

Black and Colored Velvet and Satin Ribbons in new spring shades just received.

A. L. RICE & CO.

ATTENTION NAILERS!

We have just received 2,000 Broken Clock Springs.

JACOB W. GRUBB, Jeweler.

Thermometer Record.

The following shows the range of the thermometer, as observed at Schnepf's drugstore, Opera House corner.

1882	1883
7 A. M. 12.5, 3 P. M. 7.7	7 A. M. 12.5, 3 P. M. 7.7
10 A. M. 40.0, 4 P. M. 40.0	10 A. M. 40.0, 4 P. M. 40.0
SUNDAY	SUNDAY
7 A. M. 12.5, 3 P. M. 7.7	7 A. M. 12.5, 3 P. M. 7.7
10 A. M. 40.0, 4 P. M. 40.0	10 A. M. 40.0, 4 P. M. 40.0

INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 12.—J. A. M.

For Tennessee and the Ohio Valley, generally fair weather, northerly to westerly winds, slight fall in temperature, in east portions higher barometer.

For the Lower Lakes, fair weather, preceded by light snow, northwest to southwest winds, slight fall in temperature, higher barometer.

For Sale.

A well established millinery business. For particulars apply to M. V. Keller.

CITY MATTERS.

Brief Notes on Current Events of Minor Interest.

The Crescent mill will resume to-day.

Sax's self-feeding nail machines have been shipped from Chicago to the Wheeling Iron Works.

A new machine for the manufacture of hinge nails was started Friday at the Hinge Factory.

The lockup received two new occupants last evening. One a plain drunk, the other a vagrant.

Carran Foundry is engaged in filling an order for thirty-five nail machines for the new mill at Brilliant.

The Barber Asphalt Paving Company, of Washington, D. C., was incorporated Saturday at the office of the Secretary of State.

It is an old belief that an early Easter brings an early spring. This year Easter falls on the 25th of March—an unusually early date.

Yesterday and Saturday night it was very disagreeable for those obliged to be out. The snow and rain made icy pavements and covered them with a horrible slush.

Two Benwood men had a lively fight on Market street, opposite the postoffice, Saturday evening, in the street, which was broken glass in a saloon window was broken.

A snark thief entered the residence of William Shields, on Eighteenth street, Friday evening, while the family were sleeping. He carried off a silver watch, a pair of pants and a white shirt.

The Randolph Enterprise says: "One of our adjoining counties is represented by a Delegate who has so much footloose about him that he has disgusted even the Legislature." Who is he?

This evening the Young People's Working Association connected with the First Baptist Church, will give a parlor social at 10 o'clock.

The pastor of the First Baptist Church, Dr. A. Schaefer, has a number of friends of the family from the city were present at the ceremony.

A LITTLE son of Charles Seibert's was baptized last evening at the Seibert family mansion, at Pleasant Valley, by Rev. Dr. A. Schaefer. A number of friends of the family from the city were present at the ceremony.

SABOTAGE ended the thirty days' shut down and to-day work will be resumed in the iron establishments and a pair of hunkers hunkered the city. The mills go on for a three weeks' run, which will be followed by a two weeks' shut down.

Mr. O. Swift, the gentleman who has been canvassing the city for subscribers to the "Bird's Eye View of Wheeling," has been compelled to leave the city on account of illness. He will, however, shortly return, or send some one to take his place here.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather Rev. Bishop Kahn did not deliver his first Lenten lecture at Vespers yesterday, but postponed it until next Sunday. He made a pleasant little talk for about half an hour which was listened to with pleasure by the few who were present.

An old man named Porter, from Pleasant Valley, was taken ill and robbed of a pair of gloves and several dollars in money, on North Main street, Saturday night. "Snaky" Frazier and Arch Hollinger were arrested by Officer Danahy, charged with the crime.

The engagement of the Gorman Opera Company to the Opera House to-morrow evening and Wednesday night, is the most successful of the season. The "Masochite" will be given to-morrow evening. "Patience" at the Wednesday matinee, and "The Masochite" on Wednesday evening—all popular operas well rendered.

A PUBLIC sale of the perishable personal property of the Grape Sugar and Refining Company took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at H. H. Hatter, auctioneer, conducted the sale. 220 bushels of corn was sold to the Street Car Company at 45 cents per bushel, 375 gal. of oil of black strap sugar, at 12 1/2 cents per gal., 125 gal. of molasses, and a quantity of nitric sulphate and sulphuric acids (95 carboys in all) to Isaiah Warren at 12 cents per pound.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. C. Payne, of Newport, Kentucky, is spending a few days with his brother at Bethany.

B. Walker Peterson, Esq., has returned from a business trip of two weeks spent in New York and other prominent Eastern points.

Mr. Henry Seibert, of Pleasant Valley, yesterday received intelligence of the death of his father-in-law, Mr. Kauffert, at Pittsburgh, where he resided.

Edward O. Russell, of Washington, D. C., who has a host of friends in this city, was last week admitted to the District bar, after passing a very successful examination.

The musical friends of Mrs. C. W. Eoff in the city, have initiated in a movement to tender that lady a complimentary testimonial concert at the Opera House on Monday, Feb. 19th.

This is a highly desirable opportunity.

The Philippi Republican pays Senator this compliment: All reports from Wheeling have it that the people of this district did not make a mistake when they elected him to the Senate.

He is making us a first-class Senator, one of whom we may all feel proud.

The veteran clown, Dan Rice, says the New York Clipper, after many years absence, is at the center of attraction among circus people there now, and tells good stories with the same grace as of old. Uncle Dan is there in the interest of his friends, and he is glad to hear of his whereabouts.

THE FATHER OF HIS COUNTRY.

A Characteristic Letter from George Washington.

Mrs. Lucy Woods, of Stanton, Va., a lady who is now in the city visiting her friend, Mrs. John H. Hubbard, has in possession a letter addressed to her father, George Washington, written to the citizens of Shepherdstown and vicinity in response to a formal address tendered by them to the President on the occasion of his retirement to private life. To the kindness of Mrs. Woods the INTELLIGENCER is indebted for the opportunity to publish the letter, which will be read with interest.

To the Inhabitants of Shepherdstown and vicinity.

Gentlemen:—With great sensibility I receive your polite and affectionate address of the 6th instant.

That beneficent Providence which hitherto has preserved us in peace and prosperity, I trust, will withdraw its protection from this our parting endeavor to merit a continuance of its favor.

Equally persuaded that I thus do an injustice to your kind wishes, I will not refuse to walk in private life. The good sense of my countrymen will always discern and can never be at a loss to choose a fit character to administer the executive functions of these United States.

If it has been my good fortune through the course of my civil and military employment to have gained the approbation of my countrymen, my wishes will be gratified, and I shall have found the reward I ever had in view.

For the favorable sentiments you have expressed for me, and for your kind wishes, I sincerely thank you, and I reciprocate with great cordiality my vows for your welfare.

United States, 12th Oct. 1790. G. WASHINGTON.

The Benevolent Entertainment.

Next Thursday evening is the time set for the Union Benevolent Society's entertainment at the Opera House. Tickets will be on sale to-morrow morning at Wilson & Bateman's music store. Last Saturday afternoon a party was given in the Opera House, which was nearly perfect in every particular. This affair aside from its being for a charitable purpose will be a novelty, and containing a good deal of the best talent, cannot but prove the grand success it deserves to be. The opera "The Magic Pen" and the "Greenaway Girl" will be participated in by about fifty children. Some of the time will be spent in their training, and the result will be one of the most charming entertainments ever given to a Wheeling audience by its children. Another feature of the evening will be the "Dickens Carnival" gotten up, and the characters sustained by the lovers of this novel.

Damage by High Water.

Yesterday a bank on the northeast section of the Island, which had been washed and undermined by the high water, gave way, and the engine house of Lehnert & Renke's ice house, in that vicinity, with the boiler, engine and hoisting machinery were thrown into the water, and the machinery was recovered as soon as the water receded to its normal stage, but it was seriously damaged by its protracted soaking. The engine house, a small wooden structure, is a total loss.

For Table Goods.

Heavy stomachs, bilious conditions, "Wells' Apple Pile" and bilious, cathartic, 10 and 20.

TEMPERANCE TALK.

PROHIBITION THE LEADING TOPIC

Of Public and Social Importance—Two Ministers on the Action of the Senate—Senator Smith's Comments on the Vote of Some of his Colleagues—Outside Comments.

The usual weekly meeting of the Ohio County Temperance Executive Committee was held at Charlie Shay's Theatre yesterday afternoon. The principal speaker was Senator Fontaine Smith, of Marion county, whose remarks, or a portion of them, were the subject of considerable comment last evening about the hotels and other resorts of members of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by prayer, Rev. Richard Grogan made an address of about forty minutes, which was well received by the large audience. Senator Smith then opened the meeting and spoke briefly. He glanced at the history of temperance movements, and referring to the defeat of the prohibition amendment in the Senate, he said that when the Legislature convened it was the belief of friends of prohibition that there were eighteen Senators who would vote to submit the amendment. But Wheeling was a year ago, and the Legislature was not the same. It was not every legislator who could withstand the blandishments to which they were subjected. Consequently when the vote was taken he felt that he had been deceived.

These remarks were either purposely or intentionally misconstrued by some of his hearers, and were circulated last evening in a shape in which they seemed to reflect upon certain Senators. In conversation with a reporter last night, however, Senator Smith disclaimed any intention to insinuate anything in the kind, and said that he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature, and he was not a member of the Legislature.

The audience was usual in size, and the Parker Hall choir furnished music with the assistance of some volunteers.

Mashal G. W. Atkinson presided, and Rev. D. J. E. Smith, of Smith's church, by