

The Intelligencer.

Twenty years old to-day, and still in the field.

The Thurmans are still Democrats, but some of Hooley's "New" Democrats.

The Hamilton county plan works wonders. Just wait until it is applied to the Presidential ticket.

There thought he knew something about the scowry side of politics. He ought to have lived later and in Ohio.

Brooks' political conventions is an accomplishment in its way, but the convention that is rigged goes to sea without a rudder.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, being stuck-up in Richmond that would mean more. But they order these things better in Cincinnati, let us hope.

There is talk of an attack on the dividend. Hooley's "New" Democrats. This is a delusion. Hooley doesn't indicate that a trace has been patched up.

Mr. Russell isn't spreading himself over the newspapers of the continent, but he is getting ready to make a business-like league at the Speakership, just the same.

John Kelly ought to attend the Cincinnati Conservatory of Bow Politics. The most advanced theories are taught there and the New York John can't afford to be left.

One lesson of the Warren Bank delinquency is that directors should occasionally look in the safe. We have five proof safes, but the cashier-proof safe remains to reward the live wire of the future.

The Baltimore American celebrates the one hundred and tenth anniversary of its birth. It has had an eventful and honorable career. It steadily improves as a newspaper and deserves its great prosperity.

The Western cyclone is doing a frightful work. It knocks a good deal of the poetry out of life in the West. The details of the latest have are heartrending, and no one can tell where the destroying hand will fall next.

Mr. E. M. Mann ("Qui Pro") has severed his connection with the Intelligencer to become business manager of the Evening Journal. Mr. Mann is a competent newspaper man, well versed in all departments of his business.

The awful tongue of rumor hath it that the Democratic State Executive Committee of Ohio is getting together materials for a bombshell. Bombshells that are announced to arrive don't burst with great effect. A thing of that kind is hurt by an advance sent.

The long session of the Pennsylvania Legislature will make the Democratic party of that State short of votes at the next election. It is a drain on every tax-payer's pocket book, and tax-payers are human. The state should attempt also to West Virginia.

Civilian Finney stands at a safe distance when he bombards Great Britain. It is well enough to talk about Irish rebellion, but the Irish are not strong enough to rebel, and an armed rising would only add to the misery of that unhappy land. It is not easy to appreciate the good that the Fenians and the Cross are doing.

Malara has struck an Atlantic coast roamer. It is a wonder that some of the summer resorts have not been wiped out before this. Drainage is the last thing thought of. Great crowds of people are brought together in constant peril of their lives. Nobody seems to realize that certain conditions are necessary to health everywhere.

Another race problem has sprung up to plague our southern friends. The Heathen Chinee has invaded the sacred soil, is prospering, and his winning ways are playing havoc among the marriageable young women. In Georgia the Chinaman are pushing their matrimonial campaign with no more vigor than a bill already introduced to forbid such marriages is to be pushed while there are some unmarried women to wed. The Legislature may be able to do something, but it looks as though the men of Georgia will have to show themselves able to compete with the Chinaman in accomplishments or give up the fight.

General Chalmers, once one of the "big whigs," but late engaged in working by a movement to overthrow Bourbonism in Mississippi, is reported to have been placed in a "very awkward position" by one of his campaign maneuverers. General Chalmers' position has been a little awkward from the first. He has not declared himself a Republican. He has not placed himself on a very high moral ground. He is fighting on a personal grievance. If the Bourbons had continued to stand by him he would have continued to stand by them. The aid of anybody is acceptable who will help to put an end to Bourbonism and its methods, let his motive be what it may, but Chalmers has not seemed to conduct himself in a way to be most serviceable to the cause he has espoused. He is scarcely a good imitation of Mahone.

The Cincinnati Enquirer, maddened by the exposure of Mr. McLean's manipulation of the Hamilton county Democratic Convention, has back in an editorial article which is a fair specimen of a certain kind of journalism. Mr. Halstead has the level head we think he has he will pay no attention to Mr. McLean's fulmination. What the Commercial Gazette has charged has in as daily stated in Democratic newspaper and its truth is well established. Mr. McLean is the most recent acquisition to the select circle of Bosses; he is proud of his position, and he ought not to become excited when the means by which he reached there are revealed. Mr. Halstead can well afford to let Mr. McLean monopolize his kind of journalism in Cincinnati. Such assaults as his never hurt the assaulted. The public always rates them at their proper value.

STORM SWEEP COUNTRY

WRECKED BY A CYCLONE'S BLAST.

Further Details of the Destruction Wrought by the Torpedo in Blaine--Franks of the Wind.

A Woman Torn from Her Husband and Her Arms Almost Twisted off.

CHICAGO, Ill., August 23.—A Rochester Minn., special says: One-third of the buildings are in ruins. Twenty-four people are dead, but a number of these have not been identified, owing to their frightful mutilation by the storm. The storm swept through Dodge and Olmsted counties, causing great destruction to the cyclone a month ago. The damage in Rochester will reach fully $200,000. When the storm struck the Congregational Church thirty-five children had just returned from a picnic, but none were hurt. The list of the dead and wounded is the same as already reported. Helen Beck, of Ashland, Dodge county, was taken up by the storm while in the field and has not since been heard from. Olsen, wife and daughter, of Cassier, Dodge county, were killed. Great damage was done in St. Charles, Utica and in the southern part of Wabasha county.

A Kansas, Minn., special says: The cyclone passed about six miles east of this place, doing great damage to persons, buildings and crops. Christian Oleson's wife was killed and his oldest daughter had a leg broken; Ole Anderson's wife badly hurt; his brook live; his mother-in-law killed; his brick house unroofed and all other buildings wrecked.

Dodge County, Minn., August 23.—Crops in the path of the cyclone, two miles south of here, were all destroyed and heavy damage done to buildings. A man named H. Elbrecht and his wife were working in a field when they saw the cyclone coming and fled. When it struck them he was knocked senseless and his wife was blown to a considerable distance. She was found this morning in a horribly mangled condition, one arm being twisted off and the other nearly severed. A number of other persons were severely injured.

CHICAGO, August 23.—A Chicago gentleman just in from Rochester, Minn., says the entire north part of the place from the Chicago & Northwestern tracks is a confused mass of debris, scarcely a house being left standing. A few are moved from their foundations as if shaken by an earthquake. The frightened survivors were at work all night rescuing the injured and recovering the property. Before midnight twenty-three corpses had been recovered, most of them horribly mutilated. It was thought at least twenty bodies remained in the ruins. A portion of the city swept by the cyclone composed about two-thirds of the extent of the city. The houses were blown down in places where the wind was blowing in violence as it progressed, destroyed several farm houses in its course. A lowering, dim colored funnel cloud was seen approaching the town and a heavy rain fell. The scene around the devastated districts and the place where the dead lay is indescribable.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., August 23.—The cyclone was widely searching for its children, while little homeless waifs were found where the tempest had orphaned. One child was the only survivor of a family of seven. Passengers on this train were not aware that a frightful cyclone had passed their heads and articles of wearing apparel lodged against the barbed wire fences, which indicated something of a blow. Wheat and other straw which was blown from stacks was twisted about rails in large quantities, and presented a singular appearance to the coming party. The freight train crossed the track shortly before the train arrived at Rochester a freight train was wrecked at a trestle in the western approach of the place. The wind twisted the switch bar from its place, blowing it over the tracks. The freight train dived the danger when close at hand and jumped, dashing his life. The fireman was carried over the embankment and killed. His body was not recovered until this morning. The path of the storm through Rochester was a fearful one. The train was broken in two portions, and the upper half, an immense mass, was carried across the road.

WINONA, MINN., August 23.—The cyclone struck here at seven o'clock last night. The depot was unroofed and badly wrecked. The engine house was a total wreck. A covered bridge near town was completely smashed. Hollin's elevator was a total wreck, and the streets are filled with trees and fragments of buildings. Five cars and an engine were derailed at Zumbrota Junction. Fireman Wm. Higgins jumped from the cars and was blown under the wreck.

A HARMLESS MENACE.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 23.—Some weeks ago a local paper devoted several columns to a report of an attempt on the part of Irish patriots to force a party into the residence of the British Minister in the middle of the night. It was stated that the aid of a boat was arranged and kept in the dock for the purpose. The attempt was frustrated by the police, who were alerted by the story as extremely absurd, and stated that a "crazy man" in search of food, had created a disturbance and had been arrested. This explanation was unsatisfactory to military and municipal guards, dark posts, etc. Nothing was heard of the matter until to-day, when the "Fenian" was brought from the workhouse and committed to the asylum. He is a man of about 40 years of age, and is said to have been a member of the Fenian Brotherhood in New York. He was arrested at the residence of the British Minister in the middle of the night, and was taken to the workhouse. He is now in the asylum, and is being treated for insanity.

THE PIVOTAL STATE.

"ROCKIE, HERE'S WHERE WE DIE."

John McLean Being Coaxed Over the Sides of the House of Representatives by the Democratic Executive Committee in a Chummy Frame of Mind.

CINCINNATI, August 23.—"Johnny" McLean, of the Enquirer, at last goes into a corner and shows that the charges made against him about setting up the Hamilton county convention are true. The Commercial Gazette has hammered him so hard and fast that the following editorial appears in today's Enquirer:

"The ticket nominated at the Highland House on Saturday last, for Governor, President and members of the Executive Committee, is no more than a Democratic Convention. It is only a Republican who are working themselves into a perspiration over Saturday's performance. It is only such malcontents as are willing to be taken in by the Commercial, who are fretted to the extent of tearing their hair and grinding their teeth. That despicable old trickster who has an inferior ticket would be prepared to accuse us as he is to betraying and robbing his own party of money wherever he can get it to pay him for creating distrust, and working to defeat those who have the best right to expect his active support." He writes as he reads the names on an honest ticket; honestly nominated.

TOO LONG BY HALF.

The Enquirer has given the egotistic rail four days in which to work himself out of the scrape he awkwardly waddled into; but he seems to misunderstand his own situation. He cannot recover from the sense of once having been a bully. He treasures the tradition of once having scared people, and hugs the delusion that he is still a terror among men and a public figure. He has no other hope but to keep a constant vigil over his own reputation, and to be ready to strike at any man who has the audacity to suggest that he is anything but a bully.

THE OPERATORS ARE SLOWLY SETTLING BACK INTO THEIR OLD POSITIONS, AND IN A WEEK OR TWO THE SUPERSTITION IN THIS CITY WILL HAVE BEEN ENTIRELY ABSORBED, EITHER HERE OR ELSEWHERE.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.
