

The Intelligencer.

Office No. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street. The Cincinnati Enquirer is doing good service for Judge Forker by belittling his candidacy for Governor.

Tas Democracy is warned that these June frosts are very dangerous. It will do well to take its feet in.

The month of the National grab-bag opens wide every day. Presently the patriots will be able to get in with all flour.

The Intelligencer accepts the Register's kind invitation to dinner, and will endeavor to make arrangement for the expenditure of rigor.

The indications are that England is to have troublous times. Gladstone has been rebuked by Parliament and Sir Peter Lushington has arrived in London with a bottle full of wrath.

Boys, the Steubenville forger, gets four years in the penitentiary for $5,000 worth of forged—not a heavy sentence. He ought to have gone into embelzement, made a bigger haul and joined the noble army of marauders.

Our nickels and things will no longer be called by an "offensive partisan." No Superintendent of the Mint in Philadelphia is a Democratic ex-Mayor of that city, who takes the place of a man of exceptional experience, who has administered his office well and made first rate stump speeches.

The struggle in Ohio this year means business. The Democrats pretend to be able to whip the Republicans, but under this bravo lies ill-concealed alarm, and they have appealed to President Cleveland to remove "offensive partisans" so they can have some sort of a show.

BECAUSE the New York Sun, in a lucid moment, declares that Roscoe Conkling is responsible for the election of Cleveland, the Louisville Courier-Journal is moved to remark that it is under the impression that the Democrats elected Cleveland. This is not the first time the Courier-Journal has been wrong. Its guesses are bad and its assertions are frequently inaccurate.

The Ohio saloonists are not to get back the money paid under the Scott liquor law—a handsome sum of about two millions. The law has been declared unconstitutional, but the money is to remain in the treasury. "The wolf's lone howl on Onataska's shore" will be a mild murmur compared with the response the liquor men will make to this decision. And there is soon to be an election in Ohio. The decision will not help the Democracy where it has hoped for help.

The seventeen-year locusts have appeared in the White House grounds. This phenomenon should not be confounded with the twenty-four-year locusts that have been swarming in Washington since the fourth of March. The only similarity between the two is that both have come out of their holes, and the dissimilarity is that, the seventeen-year species have already been fed, and the twenty-four-year species have come out to be fed.

The extracts from General Grant's forthcoming book given yesterday, indicate that his memoirs will be very interesting and a valuable addition to the history of the war of the rebellion. Among other things he corrects an injustice done General McCook in a recent article on the Battle of Shiloh. In all his dealings he shows the generous heart of the hero, willing to repair any injury mistaken judgment inflicted. Only great men admit mistakes.

The showing of taxable property in Ohio county made in the figures from the Assessors' books printed this morning, reveals some funny facts, and some not so funny to those tax-payers who make honest returns. For instance one man in Webster district will doubtless be surprised to find that he pays half the taxes collected in that district on jewelry and plate, and nearly everybody will be astonished when he sees that there is not a finger ring nor an earring nor a silver easter in Liberty district.

Mr. Gladstone's resignation is not entirely a surprise. The Cabinet has not given satisfaction to the English people, nor has it been a harmonious body. A dissolution has been among the expected things, and Mr. Gladstone has concluded to bring it about in this way. Whether this is the part of the best statesmanship is open to question. Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues have fallen in the public esteem by permitting themselves to be overreached by Russian diplomacy, no less than by their woeful misadventure in the Sudan. The people of England resent both of these discomfitures, believing that the British name has been needlessly tarnished with humiliation and defeat. But England is not yet out of the Sudan and the Afghan affair is not yet over, and it may not be best to swap horses while crossing a stream. Mr. Gladstone has been terribly thumped by the Tories, but his resignation is not the act of a cowardly man. It is the acquiescence of a wary and chagrined old statesman in what he believes to be the popular will. Whatever may be the result, we may be certain that the dispatch which brings this announcement has already sent shivers through Europe as a shock of uneasiness.

A Gay Deceiver Caught. DUNSMITH, Mich., June 9.—Charles Beveridge, of Nebraska, was arrested here last night by detectives. He is a young married man and had planned to elope with a young girl from Bellevue, Mich., but this plan was the means of his capture. It is alleged that by false pretenses and the unlawful use of his firm's name he obtained $5,000 from various sources.

In May he secured $100 from the Ottawa National Bank, deserted his wife and went to Canada. Detective Williams discovered his plan to have the Bellevue young lady join him and sent a messenger from this city stating that Minnie was sick and one of the hotels, and wished to see him. He came here at once and was arrested. At the time of his arrest only $300 was found about him.

TWO MORE MILLS SIGN THE WORKMEN'S SCALE OF WAGES.

Rejoicing at Amalgamated Headquarters, The Clinton, W. Va., Mill Accedes to the Demands of the Employees—Goesp About the Strike—The Last Break.

PITTSBURGH, June 9.—If the ironworkers threw up their hats last night when the news was circulated among them that the Volts Iron Works, at Apollo, Pa., and the Union Iron Mills, at South Cleveland, had seen in the scales to the general office, the news that reached them today was such as to not only cause them to throw the aloft hats still higher, but to fairly jump up after them. Their pleasure of yesterday was somewhat disturbed by the news that the fences at the Silgo Mills were badly down and that at Etina there was likely to be a tumble of fence at the mills of Spang, Chalfant & Co. Committees of Amalgamated men went to work repairing the broken fences. By this morning they reported to the general office that a "fence of fancifulness" had not been anywhere on an iron field than that surrounding the Silgo Mills. At Etina everything was solid to-day. Just when these reports had come in, and the crowd of ironworkers in the city were waiting for the arrival of the Silgo Mills, two very large and suspicious looking documents came up to the office and were handed over to Secretary Martin by the postman.

"That's just the size of it," replied the Secretary as he unfolded the documents on the table.

Two more firms had been added to the steadily increasing number of signers. They proved to be those from the Reeves Iron Company, of Canal Dover, Ohio, and the Standard Iron and Nail Works of Clinton, West Virginia.

THE SIGNATURE OF THE BREAK. The former employs about 400 men, and manufactures steel and iron bars. The latter employs about 500 men and manufactures both nails and iron bars. Whether the nail department scale has been signed, is not known at the general office, and should this be so, it would be a double victory for the ironworkers. The scales were deposited in the safe, and there was, for a little while, an extraordinary rise of thermometer sitting around the room.

"The men are not at all anxious to work now. They don't want to work again," said one of the committee this morning. Everything is satisfactory there, and we will have no trouble keeping it in that way."

APPEAL OF THE STRIKERS. An official connected with the Etina mills this morning was disposed to talk freely on the condition of affairs there. "We have our mills all right," he said, "and I think we will have them running very shortly. There are plenty of men there who would work if they were not afraid of serious consequences coming from it. On Sunday night a new boarding house belonging to the company was burned down. It was the impression among some of the workers that we were going to burn the house down. The company was burned; how, or by whom, we do not know. One thing I do know, and that is that on Monday, some of the Amalgamated men, in using arguments to keep men from going to work, told me that they were going to burn the house down. I expected to happen to their houses as happened to the boarding house. Quite a number of our men own their own houses, and threats of this character naturally deter them from going to work. I think the workers are interested in the fact that the house would be working."

"I don't believe a word of such talk," said Mr. Morgan, at the general office, when he heard it. "The men have been very quiet at Etina, and, indeed, throughout the district. So far as I know only the direct arguments have been used in keeping the men in line." President Weibe disclaimed any such proceedings at the Etina mills. "If you want to find out how quiet the men have been in the strike," he said, "just go up and see them. You will find that such threats have been made."

The Black Diamond Mills of Park Bros. & Co. are running without trouble of any kind. The mill is a non-union one, and the individual scales for the evening year have been signed the same as last year.

Among the manufacturers about the city there is an apparent quiet, and utter indifference to all matters concerning the strike, that he believed to concern only some very interesting news. The truth is that many little secret clubs have been held among the employers, and that they regard their indifference to the strike only as evidence that they will all the sooner come up to the mill when the scales are signed.

Nailers Anxious to Get Back. PITTSBURGH, June 9.—It is stated tonight on reliable authority that the nailworkers who left the Amalgamated Association recently and organized the United Nailers of America, have hired of the new union, and are anxious to become members of the same. The organization, the Amalgamated Association, however, will not take them into the fold again unless they disband and come in through the regular channels. The nailers are dissatisfied with the scale proposed by the hand of the manufacturer. It is understood that the latter promised to sign the scale if they succeeded from the Amalgamated Association, but only three firms lived up to the agreement.

A FORGER SENTENCED.

To Four Years Imprisonment in the Penitentiary—Steubenville News and Gossp. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 9.—This afternoon Charles A. Boyd, the forger, growing tired of his jail life, entered a plea of guilty on one of the forged notes and asked to be sentenced. The prisoner presented a sickly look, and his appearance indicated great mental suffering. When asked if he had anything to say, he replied: "I have nothing to say, except I am guilty." While his Honor was speaking the prisoner was visibly affected, but was much surprised when he was sentenced to the penitentiary at hard labor for four years. The other indictments were notified. He will be taken to the penitentiary to-morrow. His total forgeries were $8,000.

Last night the parlors of the Steubenville Seminary were thronged with a brilliant assemblage of the leading citizens of the city, and the scene was a magnificent one of dress and social enjoyment. It was the senior reception, and Dr. Wightman and wife can be congratulated on its success. This afternoon was the Art Reception, and many beautiful specimens attested to the skill of the pupils, and to the credit of their instructor. To-night the annual concert was given. To-morrow morning the commencement exercises take place. There are ten graduates.

This evening Laura, daughter of Superintendent of Water Works Hunt, was united in marriage to Joseph Robinson, real estate agent of Wichita, Kansas. The couple left at 10 o'clock for the West.

To-morrow morning, at 5 o'clock, Dr. James Sigdigs, of Tidoune, Pa., will be united in marriage to Jennie, daughter of Joseph Hall. They will leave at once for their future home.

PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION.

Annual Session at Grafton—Wheeling Next Place of Meeting. Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

GRAFTON, W. VA., June 9.—The West Virginia State Pharmaceutical Association met at 2 o'clock to-day in the Court House in this city. President Shrevebury delivered the annual address. At its conclusion J. H. Holt, Esq., of the Sentinel, was introduced and welcomed the association to Grafton in a spirited speech, which was heartily applauded.

A large number of applications for membership were acted upon. The regular routine business of the association was transacted. The following gentlemen were elected as officers of the association for the ensuing year: President, A. Grant, of Grafton. First Vice President, A. N. Williams, of Parkersburg. Second Vice President, C. S. McWhorter, of Buckhannon. Secretary and Treasurer, Chas. McKenney, of Wheeling.

Assistant Secretary, Chas. R. Goetze, of Wheeling. Wheeling was selected as the next place of meeting. An evening session was held, after which a banquet was served at the hotel.

Ohio River Railroad Meeting.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE RAILROADS. Representatives of the stockholders of the Ohio River railroad met in this city to-day. The various officers submitted their reports, showing the road to be in an excellent condition. The old officers were re-elected.

British consols have fallen since the closing of the market this afternoon. VIEWED FROM AN IRISH STANDPOINT. The Freeman's Journal of Dublin, to-day commenting on the budget says: "The defeat is due to the action of the Parliaments in refusing to uphold a cabinet in which they received nothing but broken promises, and from which Ireland could expect nothing but injustice, as was foreseen in their reports, which was promised upon Ireland the injurious provisions of the Crimes Act. The result of the vote last night will cause Earl Spencer and his lieutenants in the Castle to quit Ireland, leaving behind them the memory of a misadministration which was prominently noted for cold-blooded brutality and rigid, calculating injustice. Earl Spencer may receive a Dukedom for his misrule of Ireland, but it will be well for the Queen and Mr. Gladstone to bear in mind that the Lord Lieutenant's hand that destroyed the greatest Government England has had during the last century. If it had not been for Earl Spencer's misstatements in regard to the condition of Ireland, which was promised in the Cabinet, Mr. Gladstone would have sought the friendship of Mr. Parnell and his followers, instead of provoking their hostility by such arbitrary measures as the proposed repeal of the Coercion Bill."

THE QUINCE OLD MAN.

A Sketch of Premier Gladstone—Over Fifty Years in Parliament. Mr. Gladstone is in the seventy-sixth year of his age. He entered the House of Commons in 1833, and has spent every session for fifty-three years. He has been a parliamentary leader for half a century, standing in the front rank since 1845, when he was colonial secretary in the ministry of Sir Robert Peel. He became premier in 1868, was subsequently overthrown by Disraeli, and again rose to the first place on the retirement of his great rival on April 23, 1885. With the exception of a year he held the office of Premier longer than any other Minister. His first term as Premier was four years and six days. William Pitt, appointed Premier December 27, 1783, held office for 17 years and 80 days. From Lord Russell's time, in 1846, down to Gladstone's, covering a period of thirty-nine years, old men have generally been at the head of the English Ministry. Lord Melbourne liked to be regarded as a sort of father to Queen Victoria when he was Prime Minister, and Earl Grey was 71 when he left office, and he survived till he was 81. Brougham, the greatest and versatile Lord Chancellor, was sent to stir up the drowsy Peers till he was nearly 90.

The men who go down with Mr. Gladstone are some of England's most illustrious names. The members of the Cabinet are: The First Lord of the Treasury, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone. Chancellor of the Exchequer, Rt. Hon. Hugh E. Childers. Lord High Chancellor, Lord Selborne. Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Earl Spencer. Lord President of the Council and Lord Privy Seal, Lord Cairns. Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Earl Granville. Secretary of State for the Colonies, Earl Derby. Secretary of State for War, Marquis of Hartington. Secretary of State for the Indian Department, Earl of Kimberley. First Lord of the Admiralty, Earl of Northbrook. President of the Board of Trade, Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain. Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster and Minister of Agriculture, Rt. Hon. E. Dugdale. President of the Local Government Board, Charles Dilke.

When the present Parliament took its seat it was constituted thus: Liberals, 357; Conservatives, 235; Irish Home Rulers, 97; Radicals, 6. The Liberals had 263 members from London, 10 from Ireland and 5 from Scotland. The Conservatives, 203, from England, 84 from Ireland and 2 from Scotland. The Speaker is Mr. Hon. Arthur W. Peel, son of Sir Robert Peel; Vice Speaker and Chairman

DETHRONED PREMIER.

GLADSTONE'S MINISTRY RESIGNS. And Parliament Adjourned Until Friday. The Queen Not Yet Formed From the Matter—The Conservatives Willing to Accept Office—A Probable Cabinet.

LONDON, June 9.—The Cabinet Council was convened at noon and was in session until 1:15 o'clock. It is understood that the situation was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided that in view of the defeat last night, on the budget, it would be inconsistent for the members of the Cabinet to remain longer in office, and it was resolved their resignations be tendered to the Queen at once.

Great surprise is expressed at the defeat of the Government. It was expected that an effort would be made last night to prevent the proposed increase of the duties upon beer and spirits, but there was no idea that the opposition would overrun the Cabinet. It seems to be regarded as extremely doubtful whether the ministers could resign, and leave unfinished so many important matters relating to both home and foreign affairs. Nothing more untoward than the present crisis has ever occurred apparently. Men of all parties are of the opinion that the Government will resign, and that it is, until after the general election.

THE CONSERVATIVES WILLING TO ACCEPT OFFICE—A Forecast of the New Ministry. LONDON, June 9.—It is reported that the conservative leaders at a conference this evening decided to accept office. Following is a forecast of a portion of the new cabinet: Marquis of Salisbury—Prime Minister and Secretary of State for Foreign Department. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer and leader in the House of Commons. Sir Stafford Northcote (who will go to the House of Lords) Lord President of the Council. Lord Randolph Churchill, Secretary of State for India. Colonel Frederick A. Stanley, Secretary of State for War.

The new ministers will attempt no measures calculated to give the Liberals a chance to win a victory. They will resist the budget in accordance with the wishes of the House and when the estimates are passed will dissolve Parliament. The Parliaments count on the lapsing of the coercion measure.

The ministerial circle takes the defeat with equanimity. It is supposed that the Cabinet in view of the tendency to disruption and internal discord was willing to take advantage of a chance to resign. The crisis postpones indefinitely a settlement with Russia. The Conservatives will adopt Earl Granville's frontier convention, but will insist upon stringent guarantees against further Russian advance.

RESIGNATIONS ANNOUNCED.

At last Mr. Gladstone arose in defence to the greeting. He said the Cabinet on assembling to-day thought they were under obligations to submit a dutiful communication to the Queen. [Cheers.] It would be premature on his part to enter into particulars concerning the nature of that communication just now. He would say, however, that, as on former occasions, a few days must elapse before the result of that communication could be arrived at so far as the Queen is concerned. During the interval, Mr. Gladstone would be glad to see the House follow its usual custom in refraining from the transaction of its ordinary business, and he would move that the House, on rising, do adjourn until Friday.

THE INCREASED TAX.

On Beer and Wine Abandoned—Further Gossp About a New Ministry. LONDON, June 9.—The government has notified the different offices of the Internal Revenue department throughout the United Kingdom that the additional duties on spirits and beer have been abandoned. Although Mr. Gladstone's statement in the House of Commons this afternoon did not contain any direct announcement of resignation by the cabinet terms he employed were those invariably used on similar occasions, and were taken to indicate that the resignations had been decided on and tendered to the Queen.

The Conservatives are divided on the question of the expediency of assuming power. The majority favor trying the experiment. It is expected by the Tories, that the Marquis of Salisbury will be ready Friday to accept an invitation by the Queen to form a provisional government.

It is rumored that Gladstone intends to entirely abandon political life. Lord Randolph Churchill was asked this afternoon if the conservatives would form a government. He answered: "Most certainly." The lobby gossip mention the Marquis of Salisbury for Prime Minister, Sir Stafford Northcote for Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Lord Randolph Churchill for Secretary of State for India. The gossip also say that Sir Michael Hicks-Beach will have a prominent place in the new Cabinet.

CHOLERA IN SPAIN.

MADRID, June 9.—The Guardia Civil have evacuated their barracks owing to the breaking out of cholera. Of four cases in the barracks three proved fatal. The men are now encamped in a village on the outskirts of the city. Measures are being taken to thoroughly fumigate and disinfect the barracks, and the Government when cholera has made its appearance. There were seven fresh cases of cholera in Valencia yesterday. All persons arriving in Valencia by sea are subject to a rigorous observation, and all persons who have been in the sickly zone are required to properly attest certificate of good health.

A Monk Struck to Death.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 8.—A special says: Getsemean, Ky., is excited over the death and alleged cruel treatment of Father Emmanuel, one of the oldest monks of the monastery by the Abbot, Father Benedict. Father Emmanuel was the first to be ordered to leave the country from France to establish a monastery, and besides being a director and next in authority to the abbot was 78 years old last week. He escaped from the monastery and sought protection in a Protestant inn, but was driven out by the Abbot. He had been constantly imprisoned, so that he felt that he would die if he did not get away. He refused to return to the monastery, but the Abbot sent a party to take him back by force. He died in a few days and was buried in the Potters field, and not in the Monks burying ground. Father Emmanuel was held in a fit of ungodly mind by some, though by others he was considered perfectly sane.

WILL NOT BELIEVE THE SPECTACLES.

COLUMBUS, O., June 9.—The Supreme Court this morning decided that the assessment paid under the Scott liquor law, before declared to be unconstitutional, could not be returned to the absentees. Judges Okay and Follett dissent. The amount involved is about $2,000,000.

SCHOOL DAYS OVER.

AT THE WEST LIBERTY NORMAL. The Annual Commencement Yesterday at the State Normal School—A Festive Day and Interesting Exercises Attract a Large Crowd—The Graduates.

West Liberty was in holiday garb all day yesterday, for with herit was the occasion of the year. It was commencement day at the State Normal school. Four promising young people were to be added to the lengthening list of graduates. A fairer day never dawned on an expectant community, and the neat little village on the hill top never appeared to better advantage. It was indeed "a day in June," of rare beauty, wooing from town and farm the friends of education. In the crisp air of the early morning they arrived by every approach, many being scarcely behind the rising sun that came to chase away the white frost of the night. West Liberty was well prepared to receive the guests to whose comfort nothing was wanting. The baccalaureate sermon had been preached on Sunday evening by Rev. J. D. Walkinshaw, of Wellsburg, before a large assemblage. Now the ceremonies so well begun were to be continued and concluded to whose comfort nothing was wanting. The marshals of the day were: T. L. Harvey, John McKinley, Leonard Moore, Arthur Biggs, Anna North, Tillie Renard, Joseph Wayt, R. A. Riggs, L. R. Dixon, Mansel Corvis, Alie Lazarus.

When the Opera House band began the march to the school building the people formed an informal procession which enveloped Main street with bright faces and gay colors. Louis Gaus, who had laid aside his favorite piccolo for the moment, struck up the march with a very impressive playing of the bass drum, for which skillful performance it is expected that the institution will make him a Doctor of Music. The chapel was filled to overflowing. The aisles were crowded with persons standing, the doors were blocked and many were forced to take their chance looking through the windows. The audience was not only large; it was attentive and appreciative. In appearance it resembled the brilliant of the company which it represented.

GRADUATES AND POST GRADUATES.

In the chapel the Opera House musicians laid aside their brass and transferred themselves into an orchestra. As a band and as an orchestra they formed an enjoyable feature of the occasion, furnishing excellent music and plenty of it, for which Professor Voss and his men were greatly complimented. The exercises were presided over by Rev. Mr. Graham, Mr. J. B. Shannon, of Short Creek, graduate, delivered the address of welcome. Then followed the six orators, Miss Clara L. Lazarus, of Wellsburg, who presided over the exercises; Miss Lizzie Fegter, of Wheeling, graduate, "Our 10-days and Yesterdays are Books in the Walls of Time"; Mr. H. G. Lazarus, of West Liberty, graduate, "Our Native Land"; Miss Jessie L. Hill, post graduate, "The Liberty Bell"; Dear to all the True that Bind our Countrymen Together"; Mr. C. M. Liggett, of Pennsylvania, "Facts Are Stubborn Things"; Miss Addie Gardner, of West Liberty, graduate, "Let There Be Light"; Rev. Mr. B. B. Bissett, Hart, was Moderator of the exercises. The exercises were treated well and the orations delivered with good effect. State Superintendent Morgan presented the diplomas in an address of excellent advice, dwelling on the duty of the graduates. The principal, Mr. J. A. Cox, reviewed the school year in a manner thorough and concise, and gave his parting thoughts to the graduates. His address was so full of the fact that so many of the graduates, who had not been pleased with his administration of the school, this called for the Principal a severe castigation which he received from the graduates. There has been a room fixed in the old town house on the creek for a sort of home mission. Rev. T. H. Taylor held services there some time ago, and Rev. E. Henderson Monday.

Rev. S. H. Wallace was in town yesterday with his family and household effects, on his way from Berea, where he has his new charge, the Presbyterian church at Sharpville.

Rows of shade trees have been planted along both streets around the home of the Catholic Sisters. Neither the Catholic nor any other church in town has a single tree to shade it.

There are being discussed quietly several plans for a number of Bellaire people to buy a farm within say twenty miles of town, and build cottages for summer residences after some common plan. It has taken no definite shape as yet.

Martin Danberry and Miss Mattie Ruff took a walk yesterday morning, and Martin returned yesterday evening reporting that they had been married. For some reason her father, Jacob Ruff, refused to believe this, though he does not know where his daughter is now.

The principal interest that is left in the prohibition copy convention, called to meet here June 15, is to see whether enough strength will be apparent to defeat candidates on the Republican or Democratic tickets. It will proceed by two days the Republican convention.

A Medical Staff Found.

LOUISVILLE, June 9.—While bathing in the creek just back of Blackbarren's Sanatorium, two miles from this city, three boys discovered the mutilated body of a woman jammed into a barrel half sunken in the creek. An arm and a leg were missing. The body was nude and there is nothing to give a clue as to the identity. A Coroner's jury returned a verdict that the remains were those of a woman who had apparently been dead six months and who had been dissected by medical students.

PAPER MILL BURNED.

CLEVELAND, June 9.—One of the buildings of the Canton Paper Company, at Canton, O., burned this morning. Loss $30,000. Insured for $25,500 in about twenty companies. The mill will be rebuilt.

Henry C. Urner, who succeeds Lot Wright as United States Marshal for the Southern District of Ohio, is a lawyer by profession and a resident of Cincinnati. He was formerly President of the Chamber of Commerce and is at present President of the National Marine Insurance Company. Frederick H. Marsh, who succeeds A. M. Jones, as Marshal for the Northern District of Illinois, is a resident of Oregon, Illinois, and at present holds the office of Sheriff of Clark County. He has a good record as a Union soldier. He served on the State Democratic Committee in the Hayes-Tilden campaign, and was twice elected to the State Legislature. Isiah Hess, the new Collector of Internal Revenue for the Fourteenth district of New York, is a well known lawyer of Albany, and is understood to have been selected by the President without solicitation on the part of himself or friends. Addison Cole, appointed Surveyor of Customs for the port of Albany, N. Y., is an old resident and a prominent Democrat of that city. He is at present engaged in business as an insurance agent. His appointment was made at the request of Secretary Manning.

A Bitter Contest Ended.

CHICAGO, June 9.—The appointment of Frederick H. Marsh as the United States Marshal for the Northern District of Illinois, announced in the dispatches from Washington to-day, ends the bitterest contest yet made for the possession of the local office. A certain element of the local Democracy early entered the field on behalf of Wm. J. McGarvey, former Chief of Police of Chicago. He was urged by the Cook county Democratic club, and was also supposed to be the candidate of the city administration. A portion of the local press, however, savagely opposed him. Marsh is not a resident of the city, but is highly recommended by Charles Kerr, prominent in local politics and ex-Sheriff of Cook county. The present incumbent is A. M. Jones.

RIVER NEWS.

The Andes got away about 5 o'clock with a fair trip. The additional coal shipments from Pittsburgh, the early coal rise this month will tell the story of bushels sent out to about 10,000,000.

Mrs. Al Slaven, wife of the chief clerk of the Emma Graham, accompanied by her friend, Mrs. Steel, of Parkersburg, are making the round trip on the Emma Graham.

The only accidents reported to the coal fleet are as follows: Joe Gordon sank a boat at Merriman and the Lud. Keefe is reported as having lost a fuel boat at Deadman. The river commenced rising again at this point last evening. The stage of waters in the channel at dusk was 11 feet 2 inches. Business was dull on the levee during the greater part of the day.

The W. N. Chancellor is due up this morning, enroute from Charleston to Pittsburgh. She will pass down on her return trip Friday morning at 4 o'clock. The Chancellor is a first class packet and will probably be accompanied by a large number of reports from above last evening were as follows: Pittsburgh, 8 feet 5 inches and rising; Lock No. 4, 6 feet 8 inches and stationary; Greensboro, 11 feet 1 inch and stationary; Parkers, 9 feet 4 inches and falling; Oil City, 4 feet 4 inches and falling; Brownsville, 5 feet and on a stand.

Steamboatmen are renewing their complaints about the condition of the wharf at this point. Their complaint is a just one, for, for it is in a horrible condition. It is not kept clean and the holes and ruts in places are large enough to wreck a stone wagon. When the wharfrage they have to pay is taken into consideration, it does seem as though the wharf ought to have some attention paid to it by the authorities.
