TO-DAY'S ELECTION.

SOME VALUABLE "POINTS" As to the Law, Ward Boundaries, etc.—The Bids Tricks of Desperate Candidates. Necessity of Care on the Part of Voters to Avoid Being Deceived.

It has been a long time since a merely local election has been regarded with the general and intense interest which centers in the vote to-day. A Mayor, City Clerk, City Sergeant, Whartermaster and members of the two branches of the City Council are to be chosen, and no war has been the fight for all these positions that people interested in the welfare of the city usually feel in a Presidential election.

Were the contest between the Republican and Democratic nominees the matter would be very simple and easily settled. But a third ticket has been placed in the field. Every voter who would prefer the election of Capt. Doyener as Mayor to that of O. W. Seabright, and the election of Thomas D. Bennett as City Clerk, will be obliged to vote for the third ticket.

FATAL EXPLOSION

The Elm Grove Oil and Gas Company has organized by electing Senator N. B. Scott, President, Dr. J. H. Storer, Vice-President, H. M. Harvey, Treasurer, and D. M. Thornburg, Secretary, will in a short time begin operations in search of oil or gas on Paters' run near Elm Grove. The company has secured leases on about 4,000 acres of land, mostly on that run, which has been inspected by experts and pronounced as promising territory for the production of the fluid as yet to be found in this part of the country.

The Secretary has under instructions from the company opened the books for the receipt of subscriptions. The par value of each share is $50, and it is the design to secure subscriptions to the amount of $300,000 before work is begun. Ten percent of the amount subscribed payable in cash. The books were only opened yesterday, but already forty-two shares have been taken, some of the most prominent men of Ohio county being among the subscribers.

The company has on its territory near the bridge in Tridelsburg district a well which has been sunk 2,000 feet. This well is sunk deeper, or a new hole begun, the contract in either case being made for a depth of 3,500 feet if found necessary to get to the oil. From the strata placed in the well at the bridge it is estimated that the Gordon sand ought to be pierced at a depth of from 2,800 to 3,000 feet.

AT THE LAUGHIN MILL.

What the Managers Say of the Heaters' "Heat Question." The management of the Laughlin Mill Works at Martin's Ferry denies the statement that it has been made to the effect that it has agreed to pay the Amalgamated Association scale of 63 cents for heating provided that two-thirds of the mills in this district agreed to do the same. The management proposes to "pay nothing above the scale," it has been paying its heaters, 35 cents, and at which scale it has had two of its three furnaces working since the strike of the Amalgamated men commenced. There was a large number of applications for positions at the furnace. Two of the furnaces were equipped with men at once, working double turn. To-day the third furnace will be equipped. No trouble has been had with the men in the other departments since the action taken and none is anticipated. The millers claim that they have a contract that binds them to work so long as their scale is paid and they are furnished with plate. Thus far the new heaters have been supplied with plate, and in every other way great satisfaction.

THE KILLED AND INJURED. John M. Nelson, who was instantly killed in a man forty-four years of age. He leaves a wife and six children, three boys and three girls. He was a member of the Post No. 9, G. A. R. and served in Company 12, First West Virginia Infantry, in the late war. Thomas Nelson was twenty-three years old. He is a son of Nathaniel Nelson, who is engineer of the Wheeling city water works. Smith Ferrer, one of the blacksmiths employed at the mill, was blown into the river, but was rescued immediately without serious injury. James Pariah, an employee of the mill, happened to be in the engine room at the time and was blown out into the hot cinder pile and seriously hurt, and little hopes are entertained of his recovery. At the time the explosion took place some eight or ten employees were engaged at work in different parts of the mill but all escaped without injury.

AT WELLSBURG YESTERDAY.

The Bolters in the Harvey Paper Mill Collapse With Most Terrible Force, Killing and Wounding Several Men and Seriously Damaging the Mill. Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a fatal explosion occurred at the Harvey paper mill, at Wellsburg, which resulted in the death of John Nelson, the Engineer, and Thomas Nelson, a nephew, who accidentally happened to be in the engine room at the time the explosion occurred.

Just what caused the explosion is something that possibly will never be known. Some people who seem to think they know, assert that the bolters in this establishment were defective, and that the accident is simply what they have anticipated. The mill need in the engine department three bolters, and after the explosion one was found some 400 feet distant, and another lodged in a straw stack adjacent to the mill, while the man-head of one of the bolters was blown against the side of a machine shop, a distance of a half square, making an indentation in the side of the building of some eight inches, tearing away in its progress the corner of Thomas Lytle's dwelling, which the readers can designate by looking at the diagram.
