THE BOLDEST MOVE.

An Eastern Comment on the Vote on the Free Wool Clause.

New Yons, July 17.—The Press to-day says editorially: "For the first time in seventy-five years the Congress of the United States has voted to put wool on the free list. In all the vicissitudes that day to be operated without storekeepers and gaugers. Mr. Butterworth moved to strike out the clause to which he had objected, and his motion was advocated by Mr. Bayne, of Pennsylvania, who argued that the clause meant free whisky. The committee then rose. There have been a few paragraphs of the bill passed over informally, and their consideration will be proceeded with tomorrow.

The vote on the final passage of the bill will not be taken until Saturday, when it is expected that there will be a fall attendance of members.

WILL NOT COMPROMISE.

The Burlington Wants to End the Strike but will Continue the Sults. but will Continue the Suits. Chicago, July 17.—Speaking to a re with the representatives of the Engin eers and Firemen's Brotherhoods, Gen eral Freight Agent Morton said that while the railroad people are desirous that the strike should be declared off by that the strike should be declared off by the Brotherhood, yet they have no in-tention of compromising any of the pending criminal suits, nor could they if they would. Proceedings have been begun and they must take their courses. Nothing was said or done at the con-ference to justify the belief that there will be any compromise which will re-lease anyone now under arrest. On the contrary, another man will be arrested contrary, another man will be arrested at Galesburg to-day, the last one against whom the company has strong evidence.
"All the company will do if the strike is declared of," added Mr. Morton, "is to take back all the Brotherhood men it take back all the Brotherhood men it consistently can—men who have taken no violent part in the troubles. There is probably room for 150. There will soon be another conference at which a final agreement may be reached."

GALESBURG, ILL., July 17.—United States Marshal Marsh and two deputies rought informer Bowles here this orning to test the truth of his story morning to test the truth of his story that a dynamite cartridge had been placed on the Burlington track northeast of here, and subsequently, in consequence of fear of results, had been concealed in a hedge near by. The officers and railroad officials and a number of municipal officers and citizens went to the spot that Bowles indicated, and after considerable digging, found the dynamite cartridge. It is now in the hands of the railroad officials. The

At an early hour this morning a gentleman residing at 1 Cumberland Road discovered that his daughter had surreptitionsly left his residence. Diligent inquiries revealed the fact that she and a young gentleman, said to have been an American millionaire, had taken first class tickets at Workington for Glasgow, and had munificently feed the guard to see that they were left alone. The pair, who were fashionably attired, arrived at Carlisle station at 8:20, and afterwards took seats in a first class carriage of the Carlisle station at 8:20, and afterwards took seats in a first class carriage of the Caledonian Express for Glasgow, due to leave here about 9 o'clock. In the meantime, however, the Inspector of Police arrived at Carlisle station at 8:20 and informed them that the father of the young lady had telegraphed to have them stopped. The young gentleman seemed very much agitated and loudly regretted that he was not in a free country.

regretted that he was not in a free country.

In the course of a few hours a portly gentleman arrived from Keswick. When he was brought face to face with the young couple his feelings seemed to become uncontrollable, and several times he brandished his umbrella about the young man's head in a most alarming manner. Finally, after much angry discussion of an unedifying nature, the young lady burst into tears, threw herself into her father's arms and protested self into her father's arms and protested that she loved him best and would never leave him again. The happy father re-turned homeward with his wayward

It will be remembered that after the bogus marriage and advertisement escapade young Dodge was sent by his family for a five years' tour around the world, to improve his mind and conduct.
