IN BEHALF OF FAVORITES

For Collectorships—Ex-Commissioner Miller Leaves for West Virginia. His Future Plans Undetermined—More Appointments.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—John W. Mason, of West Virginia, qualified today as Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and assumed the duties of his new position. Mr. Mason was at the Internal Revenue Bureau promptly at 9 o'clock, ready to take the oath, but it was afternoon before his commission was returned from the State Department properly attested. Meanwhile Republican Congressmen, with applicants for collectorships all over the country, began to fill the office and before 12 o'clock both rooms composing the Commissioner's private offices were crowded to suffocation.

Mr. Miller, the retiring Commissioner, was home and remained till Mr. Mason was sworn in, and shortly afterward the officials and employees of the Bureau fled through the rooms and were introduced to the new Commissioner by the retiring one.

Mr. Miller left this evening for his home in West Virginia, where he will remain a week or so, and then return to Washington. He says up to the present time he has no definite arrangements for the future and is uncertain as to his location.

There were quite a number of West Virginia friends among Mr. Mason's callers today, among whom was General Dyal.

Mr. Mason said this afternoon that he will be cautious about making changes in the Internal Revenue Bureau. He found the office well organized and equipped, and so far as he has been able to ascertain, there is no immediate necessity for reforms. No changes will be made, he said, except for the benefit of the service. It may be mentioned, in this connection, that Mr. Miller made for the removal of Republicans, and most of the clerks now in the office are of that faith, and are known to have voted for Harrison and Morton.

LOS ANGELES, CAL., March 21.—A fatal fight occurred Tuesday night in a suburban sporting place between two Japanese girls who had quarreled. The girls were armed with swords and attacked each other. Each proved skillful in the use of the weapon and both were soon dripping with blood from numerous cuts. The affair would certainly have ended in the death of one, if not both, had not the clash of steel attracted a passing policeman who entered the place. Neither girl received mortal wounds, but both were slashed all over the upper part of the body.

IMITATED MISS FULLER.

A Prominent Washington Society Belle Slopes with a Senator's Son.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 21.—The hasty marriage of the daughter of Chief Justice Fuller has given a stimulus to the young people of Washington. Miss Kitty L. Thompson, a quite well known local singer, quietly traveled to Baltimore this afternoon and was married to Mr. C. Waldus L. Berry, a nephew of Senator Berry, of Arkansas, who is a clerk to the senator's committee. The ceremony was performed by a Presbyterian minister. After it was over the young couple returned to Washington and proceeded to the home of the bride's mother and informed her of what she had done.

They received the parental blessing, and in the evening formed a party at the theatre. The young lady just before leaving the house early in the day laughingly told her mother that she was going to imitate Miss Fuller, but it was taken as a joke and the parents were much surprised when they afterwards learned of the marriage.

COLLAPSE OF A GREAT SCHEME.

Henry Villard's Plan to Consolidate all the Edison Electric Companies.

New York, March 21.—The great scheme of Henry Villard, whereby all the Edison electric light companies were to be consolidated into one gigantic concern, is reported to have collapsed. A few weeks ago a company with an authorized capital of $12,000,000 was chartered by the State of New Jersey. The purpose of this corporation was to consolidate the separate organizations which have hitherto divided the business of manufacturing and selling the Edison electric light appliances. Henry S. Villard undertook to accomplish this reorganization and to obtain from his German friends several millions of new capital.

Drexel, Morgan & Co. and Winlow, Lancer & Co. have for a long time been the principal bankers of the Edison companies, and Mr. Villard's plan was to get the approval of the directors of the number of these prominent American bankers the Deutsche bank and Siemens and Holake, of Berlin, and Stern, of Frankfurt. This arrangement at one time seemed on the point of completion, but for some reason or other it is averred that Mr. Villard had been unable to bring it about in the manner desired.

An appeal is now being made by him to American capitalists to come to the rescue. Various reasons are given for the failure of the scheme, but probably the true explanation is that the recent decision in Canada annulling the Edison incandescent lamp patents there has led the advisers of the German members of the proposed syndicate to the conclusion that the Edison patents were worth the money that is being asked for them.

THE PROPOSED SALT TRUST.

The Report Receives Confirmation—The Trade at Present a Losing One.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., March 21.—The report about the formation of an international syndicate, which will absorb the salt works of the United States, including those of the Onondago salt reservation, has made a decided stir in this city. Judge George E. Constock, who is reported to be largely interested in the enterprise, said to-day: "I believe it true that there are capitalists who profess at least a desire to buy up and consolidate the leading salt interests in this country, and that some of them live in England. I do not remember that I in that purpose to raise the price of salt. The domestic salt trade of this country has to my certain knowledge been a losing one for several years."

A DESPERADO'S DESPERATION.

Arrested for Attempted Murder, He Tried to Kill a Witness Against Him.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., March 21.—Jim Coley, a desperado widely known in Moore county, went to the residence of Mack Brown late Monday night and called for Brown with whom he had a quarrel of long standing. Brown, certain of being shot should he appear at the door, refused to come out and Coley, after waiting a few minutes, threw several dynamite cartridges on the roof, from which they rolled to the ground, exploding with such violence as to severely demolish the house and severely injure Brown. Coley was arrested yesterday, but swore he would kill any one who would testify against him. He was taken before a magistrate and drew a pistol on the first witness called. Before he could fire, however, the sheriff shot him in the head without inflicting a serious wound. He was found guilty, gave straw bail and has fled to North Carolina. HER PITIFUL STORY.

Mrs. Lebknecher, who Poisoned her Three Children, IS DECLARED "NOT GUILTY."

Dramatic Scene in Court—A Tale of Desperation—Killed her Children to Save them from Starvation—A Pathetic Case.

New York, March 21.—The jury in the murder trial of Mrs. Wilhelmina Lebknecher, charged with the poisoning of her three little children exactly a year ago to-day, found a verdict of not guilty at 6 o'clock to-night. The defense was insanity. She told her story to the court yesterday with surprising power and excellent choice of words. Apologizing first for speaking "only German-English," she said:

"I was born on May 26, 1852, in Worms. On October 20, 1871, I was married, and on November 28, 1877, I was again married to Mr. Lebknecher, my second husband, and went to live with him at 324 Ninth avenue. He was a saloon-keeper. My husband drank and I had to attend to all the business. When one of my children was 10 years old he fell and hurt himself.

"Judge, all my troubles began with the sickness of that child. An operation was performed and when I had paid the doctor I could not pay the rent. The sheriff put us out on the street. My husband and I separated, but made up and lived together until March, 1883. Then one of the children was sick nearly two months, and I had more trouble with my husband. Then I went to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and gave the children up and got out a warrant against my husband for desertion. Then I was sent to the Charity Hospital on Blackwell's Island. After I got out of the hospital I went to a lodging house at 111 West Street, and did house washing. When about to be confined I went to Guttenberg. My son Charley was then on Randall's Island. Tony was with Mr. Gerry's society, and the baby was with me. In July, 1884, I got work after starting along.

"My husband died and I wanted to get my children back. I heard they were going to send Tony out West. I told the detective of the society in 1888 that I was sick, and that I would get crazy if they should send him away. Two weeks before the blizzard I got Tony back. "One night I took the children to the Twenty-first street police station and asked for lodgings. The police sergeant told me to get out, because, he said, I had the smallpox. It was my face. I went down to the foot of East Twenty-third street, and sat on the pier thinking whether I should jump into the river. I was crazy with pain and despair, and I thought that I did not know what to do. I had no money and the landlord had threatened to turn me out for not paying rent.

WEARIED WITH THE STRUGGLE.

"One day I felt like dying. On March 21 I worked all day and I couldn't eat supper. I gave supper to the children, and all the time I was crying. I was desperate. I had thought while coming home that I was going to be confined in the street car. I went and sat down on the corner of the bed and thought, 'My God! what will become of me? What will become of the children if I die?' Little Christophe—he was the one that got well—came to me and said: 'Don't cry, mamma, don't cry; the Saviour will help you. Then I thought, 'The Saviour is in heaven, and we would all be better off in heaven.' My head ached so that I went into the yard and let the cold water from the hydrant run on it for a long time. After that I don't remember much.

"Mr. Maedons—"You don't remember that you sent for poison?" The prisoner—"No, I remember nothing. I suppose I did all these things they say I did. I said so myself to Police Sergeant Albrecht at the time, and suppose I told the truth. I'm sure I was crazy."

Dr. Allen McLane Hamilton, Dr. Emmet C. Dent, Dr. Frank H. Ingram, Dr. Matthew D. Field and Dr. A. Douglas Mansard testified at the time, and Mrs. Lebknecher was irresponsible when she killed her children.

The Tascote Chestnut.

OHIO, CALA., March 21.—Officers are here from Sacramento with a private detective from San Francisco. They have made several secret excursions from here to the large vineyards of Senator Stanford at Vina. A week ago a stranger applied for work there which was given him. It was rumored among the men that the stranger was Tascote, the murderer of Ulysses S. Grant. The description of the stranger and that of Tascote tallied in every particular. One of the men at the vineyard informed the supposed Tascote that officers were looking for him and he disappeared yesterday, and is presumed to be hiding in the mountains.
