WHEELING, JULY 17, 1889.

A SALT TRUST in the United States, a Salt Trust in Great Britain, is Protection "the parent of Trusts?"

The New York Herald says "the politician with a pull" is the obscure element in our civilization. The Herald is no fool.

The Garbage and the Sun exchange knowing nods these days. Says the Garbage to the Sun, "Keep it up, old man. I'll get 'em."

It is not to be denied by some of his fellow Anarchists as an aristocrat. Won't this good the Vanderbilts to give all they have to feed the poor?

JOHN L. SULLIVAN, filled with pride and whisky, is an inspiring spectacle. If Kilrain could have changed his name to John Barleycorn how easily he would have won the Big Fellow!

A RICHMOND stenographer has written 37,764 words on a postal card. If the South had remained out of the Union it would have cost about four dollars to send that cartload of language from Richmond to Danville.

ENGLISHMEN continue to seek investments in the United States, where the odious and onerous "tariff-tax" eats up everything but the grasshoppers and potato bugs. Englishmen cannot be the wise men our Free Traders thought they were.

MR. BLAINE says it isn't so, everybody in the State Department says it isn't so, his fellow members in the Cabinet join in the positive denial, and the President says there is not a word of truth in the report that Mr. Blaine has resigned. Still the Democratic newspapers insist that Mr. Blaine has chopped off his head. Why not turn for relief to the ever blooming snake story?

The Governor of Mississippi may or may not get his hands on the slugs and those who stood near them. He should have no trouble in bringing up to the rack the railroad officials. Those men are already in the meshes of the law of the State. They cannot plead ignorance, for at the request of the managers of the affair they ran excursion trains to the scene of the fight. If the Governor is in earnest he will make the railroad men sorry.

Good for the Iron Trade.
At Bechtelsville, near Reading, Pennsylvania, a successful experiment has been made with Edison's latest invention, a magnetic iron separator. By this process, it is said, the iron is separated from the ore, leaving only the metal to be handled and shipped.

Furnacemen regard the experiment with great interest. If the process proves a commercial success it will make available large deposits of ore nearer at hand than those of Lake Superior, and so largely reduce the demand for and price of the ore of that region.

It would be hard to overestimate the importance of an invention of this character. It would be a great boon to the iron trade and to consumers.

Prohibition in Kansas.
There is in Kansas a strong sentiment in favor of submitting to the people the question of prohibition. Of course this sentiment is to be found mostly in the cities and large towns, where also most of the liquor selling is to be found. Those who desire a chance to vote on the question have little prospect of getting it.

The Legislature is afraid of the prohibition sentiment, and it is a reasonable certainty that, notwithstanding the open violation of the law in the cities, prohibition would carry again, and that by a large majority.

The failure of the law in the cities makes no impression on the rural prohibitionist. He believes in prohibition and doesn't intend that the State shall abandon that policy, enforcement or no enforcement.

Trainer Muldoon's Estimate of Brute Sullivan.

Muldoon should know Sullivan pretty well, for he has lived with him, or rather Sullivan has lived with Muldoon, which amounts to the same thing. The late trainer says of the fighter, that "he is as thorough-paced a loafer as ever I had anything to do with," and it is to be supposed that Mr. Muldoon's opportunities for observation on this line have been ample. Muldoon adds—if anything remains to be added—that Sullivan "is a man of the lowest tastes," has no brains, is a brute, and "all these stories about his great love for his parents and his generosity are the merest bosh." It is well for those who are making a hero of Sullivan to know what sort of a creature their hero is.

Liquor Licenses in Pittsburgh.

Judge White, who endeavored to interpret the Brooks liquor license law as he and others supposed the Legislature intended it should be interpreted, has written a letter to his associates of the License Court. Judge White, in view of the decision of the Supreme Court in the matter of the appeal of the whole-salers, leaves to his associates the issuing of further licenses, but he leaves some very sensible comments at the same time.

The Supreme Court left the License Court no option but to issue license to such whole-salers as are citizens of the United States, of good moral character and of temperate habits. Judge White declares that if he had known that these were the only qualifications, no regard being had to any other considerations, he "certainly would have granted more retail licenses."

"If the court," says Judge White, "had no discretion as to whole-salers and bottlers, the discretion as to retailers amounts to nothing. It results only in increasing the number of quart and jug establishments, without restricting the traffic or diminishing the evils of intemperance."

It is clear that in Judge White's opinion the Supreme Court has cut the heart out of the Brooks law, and it is quite as clear that he is right.

Since affairs have taken this turn it is hoped by the liquor dealers to secure about 240 retail licenses in addition to the ninety-three granted at the regular sitting of the License Court. If the Pennsylvania Legislature means business, it will have to amend the Brooks law and put some rivets in it.

All for Love.

The Earl of Fife, who is to marry the daughter of the Prince of Wales, is described as very Scotch, very rich, well built, fond of athletic sports, a gentleman, a man of brains, a good landlord and much more that is good. The bride-elect is said to be a sweet, practical young woman. Better than all, the affair is vouched for as a love match pure and simple.

The parents are pleased, the British people are pleased, but some of the good mothers of the upper crust who have marriageable daughters don't like this thing of royalty running away with the good catches of the realm.

Royal marriages for love are so rare that the INTELLIGENCER cheerfully gives the space to tell about this one. For this purpose a little space goes a long way in a life time.

MASON COUNTY NEWS.

Crop Prospects—The New Railroad Progress—A Monster Soldiers' Reunion Proposed.

Correspondence of the Intelligencer.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 15.—Very seldom have the crop prospects been fairer in this section than at the present time. While the heavy rains have benefited somewhat with putting up the wheat, still most farmers will be able to gather their crop in good condition. Corn is doing well, notwithstanding the delay in working it in its early stage on account of the wet season. It will be a large yield, while all kinds of vegetables are abundant. Small fruits and berries are plentiful, but apples will not make more than a half crop. Last year was our apple year, however, when we had a surplus.

The good prices received for wool this season are leading many of our farmers to look again with favor upon sheep-raising as a profitable industry. However, the shipment of nearly 1,000 lambs to eastern markets from this station in two days does not indicate much progress in the direction of increasing their flocks very rapidly.

Work on the Monongahela Valley railroad between this place and Clarksburg is progressing rapidly. Some twenty-five or more of the contractors and those connected with the engineering corps are making their headquarters at Fairmont. Arrangements are being made for building about five hundred cottages at Fairmont, five above and five below Fairmont, on the West Fork river. Contracts have been let for nearly two million brick and the necessary castings for oven building, and it is expected that two hundred and fifty ovens will be completed this year. This of itself is a big item for a new community, employing as it does hundreds of workmen.

Correspondence is going on relative to a Soldiers' Reunion to be held at Mount Airy, Pa., sometime in August. The plan suggested is to go as far as Harper's Ferry, including all of Western Maryland, and west to Wheeling, all Grand Army Posts in the region named to be invited. We have no doubt that such a gathering for one or two days would be largely attended.

Misses Callie W. Curtis and Annie L. Young and Mrs. Weid, all teachers from West Liberty, were in town today in connection with the State Association at Morgantown. President Lander and Prof. White were also here on route home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Siviler, of Pittsburgh, who have been at the home of Gov. Pierpont, Mrs. Siviler's father, for some days, are now at Mount Airy, Pa., for the benefit of their little daughter, Frances, who is seriously ill.

Ayer's Hair Vigor has long held the first place as a hair-dressing in the estimation of the public. Ladies find that this preparation gives a beautiful gloss to the hair, and gentlemen use it to prevent baldness and cure humors in the scalp.

How the Grand Golden Drawing Occurred.
Everyone wants to hear the result of the Grand Extraordinary Golden (the 29th Monthly) Drawing, which took place at New Orleans, La., on the Louisiana State Lottery on Tuesday, June 18th, 1889. Here is a record of some of the Fortune's vagaries, and any further information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, Orleans, La.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one remedy, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running ear, or, if the inflammation is not so severe, you have a feeling of fullness in the ear, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; unless cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, (caused by catarrh,) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. D. F. J. CUNNINGHAM & CO., Toledo, O.
