

Geo. R. Taylor—Imported Dress Goods and Wraps.

GEO. R. TAYLOR, 1150 Main and 1153 Market. NOW READY For the Fall and Winter Trade!

Our Enlarged Facilities for Doing Business Enable us to Keep Much Larger Lines of

Imported Dress Goods AND WRAPS

Than ever before. Of the latter we have Ladies', Misses' and Children's in endless variety; prominent among which is the

NEW AND FASHIONABLE REEFER JACKET,

Which we Recommend and Have in Different Kinds of Material.

A descriptive advertisement being impossible we ask the ladies to call and see for themselves. We consider it no trouble to show them.

OUR DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT

is Replete with as Choicé Novelties as this Season's Importation Affords.

Expect to call attention to our Seal Skin Garments about the first of October, when they will all be ready.

HOUSEKEEPING GOODS.

Blankets, Sheetings, Table Linens, Napkins, Towels, Lace and Chenille Curtains, Draperies, &c., of the better grades in great profusion.

Would also call attention to our new and attractive stock of Evening Dress Goods, such as Silk Mulls, Laces, Mouslin de Soie, Crepe de Chines, &c., in all the new evening shades.

Trimmings to suit our Dress Goods.

GEO. R. TAYLOR.

TIPS! There is one place in the city for you to find just what you want. SUIT YOU IN STYLE and please you in all respects. AND COMFORT WHICH YOU HAVE NOT HAD WILL BE YOURS.

H. O. HOFF, 1114 MAIN STREET.

M. J. McFadden. --NEW-- FALL STYLES IN HATS!

We have now opened our complete lines of FALL SHAPES IN HATS, including all the standard styles and several special styles, to be had only of us, among which is --THE TYROL--

We Have the Styles, Goods and Prices--50c to $1 Saved on Each Hat Bought of Us!

AT $1.45, $1.70, $1.90, $2.40 and $2.90. Although this hat has introduced but a few weeks ago the demand has been so great that we can barely keep up with it. Do not fail to see it. We have also "THE HUBERT," a stylish fall shape which will please those who like hats with the rim curled more than that of the TYROL. We have

STIFF AND SOFT HATS To suit everyone, boys, youths, young and elderly men. The Largest and best line of Hats in the City. Children's Hats and Caps

--25c, 35c and 48c.--

M. J. McFADDEN, ONE PRICKED HATTER AND FURRIER, 1320 and 1322 Market, Near Fourteenth St. Wheeling, W. Va.

Hat and Caps.

FASHIONABLE HATTER, 25 Westfall and 1011 Main Streets.

Clothing, Etc. 2,000 OF WANAMAKER & BROWN'S NEW FALL SAMPLES, TO SELECT A Suit, Overcoat and Uniform from, at J. W. FERRELL'S, Arion Hall, Corner Main and Twentieth Sts.

The Intelligencer.

Office: Nos. 25 and 27 Fourteenth Street. Geo. R. Taylor, E. Hill & Co.—Four Page. Wanted—For Coat and Suits. Six Floors—D. Gutman—Four Page. Grand Fall—Dunlop's Liberty. Good Fall—R. H. List, Drought. Wanted—A Bright Boy. The New Star Clothing House—D. Gooding & Co.—First Page. For Sale—A Good Property. Oak Pole Turned into—Alexander & Co. Clinks, Wraps and Jackets—Egger, Warrick & Co. Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York—Fourth Page. Grand Opera House—Fourth Page.

Thermometer Record. The thermometer at Schnepf's drug store, Opera House corner, yesterday, registered as follows: 7 a. m. 59; 8 a. m. 60; 9 a. m. 61; 10 a. m. 62; 11 a. m. 63; 12 m. 64. Weather—Fair.

Indications. WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9.—For Western Pennsylvania, southerly winds fair weather. For West Virginia and Ohio, fair weather, slightly warmer, southerly winds.

READ Kline Brother's advertisement in another column. They mean business. Just Received, 1,000 Children's Flannel Waists, at 20 c. KLINE BROTHERS, 1140 Main Street.

NEW! NEW! NEW! We are now in receipt of a complete line of Fall and Winter Wools, consisting of Overcoats, Suitings, Pantalones and Fancy Vestings, which we warrant to make up in first-class style at reasonable prices and fit guarantee. A complete line of Gent's Furnishing Goods in stock. Seamless Merino and Fast Black Half Hose at 5c a pair. Wear our celebrated all-wool Knit Jackets. C. HESS & SONS, 1821 & 1823 Market Street.

IF you cannot see and need spectacles you should call on us and have your eyes tested without charge. We have the finest instruments and more experience than any other optician in the State, and guarantee satisfaction or money refunded. JACOB W. GRIFFIN, Jeweler and Optician, Cor. Twelfth and Market Streets.

LOCAL EVENTS. Matters of Minor Moment in and about the City.

A POWER of attorney from the Owl's Head Oil Company to Charles H. Taney was yesterday filed with Clerk Hook.

The Denwood mill factory has been off this week on account of a shortage of logs, caused by the strike of the coopers at Dunley's shop.

JOSEPH McCULLOCH, aged twenty-two, of Campbell court, Pa., and Annie Ackerman, aged twenty-one, of Wheeling, were yesterday licensed to wed.

W. M. DENSLAF was yesterday appointed administrator of the estate of John H. Howard, deceased, and gave bond in the sum of $500, with W. J. W. Cowden as surety.

GEORGE GORDON has begun a suit against the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling Railroad Company for $2,000 for injuries sustained in a collision at Finishing, in 1889.

An old fellow, well filled with liquor, was annoying people in the neighborhood of Twenty-second and Market streets yesterday evening, and was hauled to the lockup in the patrol wagon by Officer Grigg.

WILLIAM McLAGHLEN has bought out Mr. Nate Fell's interest in the Base Ball Association, and is now sole manager. He will play several Association clubs and clubs from the two Leagues before the season is over.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Caldwell will be sorry to hear that he is lying seriously ill at the State Hospital at Weston. Members of his family were summoned there yesterday by a telegram saying that the worst was to be feared.

JOSEPH SWENNEY was arrested on a warrant last night by Officer Donly for being disorderly in Carter's saloon about four weeks ago. A man named Coleman was locked up by Willie for hitting Robert Muldoon in Mason's saloon last night.

ROBERT IRVINE, accused of cutting George Muldoon recently, and who has been in jail ever since, appeared in the Circuit Court again yesterday morning, and was released on his own recognizance in the sum of $200 for his appearance in the next term of court.

Mrs. MISTREY was fined $1 and costs for profane swearing, and was committed to the jail for one year in the sum of $50. Theresa Speigler was the complaining witness. Both families live on Forrester street, above Wood.

The work of laying rails on the Marietta Ferry extension will be commenced in a day or two, and the contractors expect to have the track laid to Rainey's creek works above Martin's Ferry by the first of November, the time the road will be open to Steubenville.

Is the police court yesterday the eight boys arrested for annoying Swartz, the rag-picker, on German day, were dismissed much to the relief of all who could not identify one of them. Zack Durrall was fined $5 and costs for loitering in Myrtle Lynn's woodshed. Turner Monroe, the McClure horse colored boy, was dismissed.

The Burglars Taken Home. Yesterday Officer Russell of Elm Grove, who captured the four Clayville burglars on Wednesday, took them out to Washington, Pa., to be held for trial. The fellows gave a sort of names, and one said he was from Belvoir. There were some cards in their traps bearing the names of Willie C. Orr, C. F. Henry, Robinson Hunter, Elmer Dewey and Mrs. Etta Clark. A former telling card was also among the other things, and one piece of advice was "Don't play with edged tools." This was good advice, but they went and stole razors.

That Pike Street Fence. There was another lively scene on Pike street yesterday. Employees of the Public Works tore down Mark Church's fence, and he rebuilt it. The first two times the fence was demolished the posts were pulled out. After it was rebuilt, the city employees again tore it down, this time saving and chopping off the posts at the ground. Church declares it shall be rebuilt and remain, and the Board declares it must not be. There is likely to be a run out of it before the dispute is settled.

A Bad Run Out. Last night J. W. Williams of Huntington, aged twenty-four, arrived in this city, searching for his father, whom he had not seen for thirteen years. He found him at No. 4002 Jacob street, and was introduced by Officer Slinkemyer. The meeting between father and son was affecting, and a fourteen year old sister who had never known her brother, hardly knew what to make of him.

A Bad Run Out. Yesterday morning Dr. J. H. Pipes's horse, while hitched to a buggy and standing near Thirty-third street, on East, ran away, and leaped the buggy up against a farm wagon with sufficient force to smash the buggy to pieces, and break an axle of the wagon. Dr. Pipes was not in the buggy when the horse started, and the animal was not injured.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

The largest line of Cloaks at bargain prices to-day at STONE & THOMAS.

3,000 more of those 35c Knee Pants, actual value 50c, at M. HEYMAN'S, 1100 Main street.

VERY PECULIAR PROCEEDING.

An Italian held for Larceny after Yarn Attempts at Settlement.

Bernard Bach was before Justice Davis yesterday charged by Mrs. Catherine Donley, of Twentieth street, with profane swearing and assault and battery. Bach pleaded guilty to the charge of profane swearing, and was fined $1 and costs. He was dismissed on the other charge.

Yesterday morning Ross Fluens, an Italian employed by Paige, Carey & Co., on the Main street bridge work, complained before Justice Davis that Frank Pattie, another Italian employe, and Stewart & Co. on the Baltimore and Ohio bridge work, had stolen a shirt and a pair of trousers from the boarding house on Main street just below the bridge.

Constable Love and LaRue were sent after the man, and soon returned with him and his father-in-law and brother-in-law, the foreman of the work, an Italian who speaks very good English, and is a right intelligent man.

Fluens and three friends, one of them a stumpy fellow with a black moustache and another with a black beard, were finally learned that Fluens and Pattie had until a few weeks ago occupied the same room. Fluens left the house and did not take with him a pair of corduroy trousers which he had on, and a ripped piece in the crotch. After Fluens had been away for some time, Pattie, needing a pair of trousers, put on one and went down to work.

He made an effort to conceal them, and wore them out among his fellow workmen. The interpreter also explained that there was a grudge on the part of the prosecutor on account of past differences with regard to working.

There was no formal trial, but the justice feeling satisfied that there was no intention on the part of Pattie to steal the trousers, which he had on, and which no one would appraise at more than seventy-five cents, attempted a reconciliation. He proposed that Pattie give Fluens $3 for the trousers.

Fluens refused to accept the offer, and was opposed to this from principle, but his friends preferred to do it, rather than see him go to jail, and agreed to it. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

Justice Davis argued with him that if he did not settle he would get nothing, but Fluens still held out for $10. The justice then tried to induce them to settle at $3 for the trousers and pay him $1 50 costs, but the interpreter refused to entertain the proposition, and asked that Pattie be bound over to the court to appear at the next session to be tried on the charge of larceny.

WILSON—LEAKARD.

A Pleasant Quiet Wedding on the Island Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon at half past three o'clock Mr. William A. Wilson and Mrs. Ida B. Leakard were married at St. Luke's church, on the island, the rector, Rev. Jacob Brittingham, officiating. The pretty church interior was rendered still more charming by tasteful floral decorations, and it was comfortably filled with the friends of the parties. The ceremony was simple, but impressive, and the altar passed off in all respects most pleasingly.

Mr. James Howells, of Bridgeport, Mr. Reuben Phillips, of Pittsburg, A. K. Wilson, of Pittsburg, a brother of the groom, and Mr. H. C. Franzheim, of this city, acted as ushers, and when the bride and groom were seated, they gathered these gentlemen attended them to the altar.

The bride wore a neat blue traveling suit, charmingly becoming. Miss Annie Sage, organist, played appropriate music while the assemblage waited for the ceremony, and rendered the Lohengrin wedding march softly. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilson held an informal reception in the church, and congratulations and well wishes were showered upon them. They were driven to the city by the train, starting amid the traditional rain of rice and took the 4:20 train for the East, for a tour of about two weeks. On their return they will reside at 41 Zane street, with Mr. Wilson's mother, Mrs. Berger.

The presents received were unusually numerous and beautiful. Mr. Wilson is a native of Canada. He came to this country in 1870, and the responsible position of G. D. Dun & Co. Commercial Agency. He has won the esteem of the business community. Both he and his wife are very regular in Wheeling society, and they enter upon their married life under the most auspicious skies.

Among the guests at the wedding yesterday were Mr. A. B. Wigley, Mrs. E. Thistle, Mrs. Lydia Wright and Mr. John Davis, of Pittsburgh, Misses Ella and Kate Phillips, of Allegheny, and Mrs. H. H. Howell, of Chicago, a sister of Mr. Wilson's.

The Arion's First Ball. The Arion Society last night opened the season brilliantly with a concert and hop at the club house on the South Side. There was a good attendance, and the time passed merrily to the strains of the Organ. The concert was given by the Arion, and it opens auspiciously.

The Mummerchor Singing Society will celebrate its thirty-fifth anniversary by giving a ball Wednesday evening, October 15.

The Daughters of Liberty will give a ball in Westwood's hall, on the South Side, this evening. Mayer's band will furnish the music.

"Our Coterie" was entertained last night at progressive euchre by Miss Mary McDonald at her home on Fifteenth street. It was a very enjoyable occasion.

Prof. John Mullen gave his second reception of the season to his present and former pupils at Mannerchor hall last evening. Professor Klimyer made the toast.

Cards have been received in this city announcing the marriage on October 9, in the First Presbyterian church at Charleston, of Mr. John L. Thornhill, well known here, and Miss Claude D. M. Edson.