New Buildings on South Jacob Street.
It is stated that Mr. W. S. McCollough, the South Side druggist, will build four business houses on his vacant lot above the South Side Bank. One will probably contain a produce store, while a jewelry store may occupy another.

The Power Still Uncertain.

Notwithstanding an assertion to the contrary in another paper yesterday morning, the new engine at the electrical power house does not seem to have remedied matters much. Between the hours of 1 and 4 in the afternoon yesterday, the power was off five times for short periods.

A Well Heeled Colored Man.

Robert Cary, colored, was arrested yesterday on a peace warrant sworn out by William Michay, also colored. In default of a $50 bond, Squire Davis sent him to jail, pending a hearing set for this evening at 7 o'clock. When searched at the jail a home-made billy and several dynamite cartridges were found on Cary's person.

The Banks to Close Saturday.

Saturday, Memorial Day, is a national holiday, and the Banks of the city will in accordance with their usual custom close on that day. Persons having paper due on that day or other business to transact will have to attend to it on Friday. The postoffice will observe the usual holiday hours on Saturday. It is probable that the suspension of general business will not be as general as is usually is, the day being Saturday, too good a business-day to be sacrificed to patriotism.

The Mannerchor will give their annual picnic and sommernachfest at the Park next Saturday (Decoration Day). The Opera House Brass Band and Orchestra will furnish the concert and dancing music.

HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

Mack Tarbet, of Bellaire, Ground to Pieces at Benwood by a D. & O. Train Yesterday.

Mack Tarbet, of Bellaire, was killed in a most horrible manner at Benwood yesterday afternoon. He was a brakeman on train No. 47 on the B. & O., which leaves here for a through run to Chicago at 4:31. At Benwood when the train was transferred from the switch to the main track west, Tarbet attempted to board it while in motion. He was caught by the railing of one of the cars in some way and before he could loose himself or the train could be stopped he was thrown under the wheels and ground into a shapeless mass from the waist down.

The wheel passed over his left leg and up onto the abdomen, crushing out the entrails and inner organs and leaving the internal organism exposed. He was not dead when extricated, and was placed in the baggage car and taken to Bellaire, where he died in about an hour after the accident. He was conscious from the time the accident occurred till death relieved him.

Mack Tarbet was about thirty years old, and was well known both here and in Bellaire. He had been employed on the B. & O. for several years, and was formerly on a passenger run between Bellaire and Pittsburgh on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh road. He leaves a wife and two small children.

WATER PLUGS IN BAD SHAPE.

Serious Trouble May Result Some Time. Should be Taken Care of at Once.

The fire up Caldwell's run yesterday morning led to the discovery that the last water plug up that way was covered by about two feet of dirt. Residents of the locality said that the natural gas company in repairing damage done to its mains by one of the freshets in that stream had thrown the dirt there, and there it had remained every since. The fact that the earth was thrown there was not known by anybody who had the authority to remedy it until the plug was needed for a fire, and then finding its location and digging it out consumed valuable time. It was also stated yesterday morning by residents up Caldwell's run that there were formerly two plugs farther up the run than this one, but they were washed out by a freshet and never replaced. The city limits reach much further east than that, and should a fire occur out in the vicinity of the old flour mill it might do considerable damage, and the fire department would be powerless to prevent.

Chief Healy, of the fire department, was asked yesterday whose business it was to repair the fire plugs and replace those removed. He replied that it was the duty of the Water Board, and that that board always attended to such things when they were brought to its attention, "but," he added, "we are not charged with the duty of keeping the fire plugs in good shape, and except by accident we do not discover when repairs are needed until we need the plug to extinguish a fire, and then we need it bad. We don't have time to go and make a report to the other department while the fire is burning down somebody's house."

"How would you remedy the state of affairs?"
"If the city will give the fire department charge of the fire plugs and appropriate about $500 a year for the purpose of keeping them in repair, properly oiled, etc., I will agree to put them in shape so that you can always rely on them. In all other cities the fire department has charge of the fire plugs, and it ought to be here."

THEY SOLD ON SUNDAY

And They Must Pay the Usual Tax for that Privilege—Capt. Delbrugge Talks.

Two more saloon-keepers who neglected the warning of the police and kept open last Sunday walked up to the captain's office and settled yesterday. They were Bader & Maurer and Gus Miller. Each paid the customary $20 and costs. This makes eight in all who have confessed judgment and paid the fine. It is understood that there are yet a few who will have to come to time shortly.

In conversation with an INTELLIGENCER reporter yesterday Chief of Police Delbrugge said that he had never told one of his officers to notify the saloon-keepers to close up last Sunday. He did tell them all to keep a good lookout on the saloons on their beats, and if they saw anybody selling or keeping open to report them, that they might be prosecuted. It was not his desire or intention that the saloon-keepers should be warned. The Chief also suggested that the officer who said he had been ashamed to see the open violations of the law in the past, simply confessed in that statement that he had not done his duty, as it was his business to see that the law was not violated.

"Does the order to keep shut on Sunday apply to next Sunday?" The Captain was asked.

"It is my intention to enforce the Sunday law strictly hereafter," he replied. "The saloons must remain closed not only next Sunday, but every Sunday hereafter, or take the consequences."

VALUATION OF THE PROPERTY

Condemned by the Terminal Railway Company in East Wheeling is Fixed.

The commissioners appointed by the Circuit Court to condemn the lots on Chapline, Nineteenth and Eighteenth streets, in East Wheeling, needed by the Terminal Company to complete its facilities in the way of passenger station and freight depots, made their report to the court yesterday. To the West Virginia Tobacco Company they award damages in the sum of $5,500, for a piece of ground 66 by 61 feet, on the northeast corner of Chapline and Eighteenth streets; to Jane E. Bodley $1,500, for part of lot 13, lying 120 feet south of Nineteenth street and between Jacob and Woods; to John Bodley $750, for parts of lots 19 and 20, lying 120 feet south of Nineteenth street and between Jacob and Woods; to Belts, Flading & Co. $1,500, for part of lot 14, south of Nineteenth street, between Jacob and Woods.

The report was filed yesterday afternoon, and none of the parties interested have had time to decide whether they will accept the awards or appeal.
