

PLINY OF AMERICAN TIN.

The Democrats over the River Crushed by its Weight.

Tin plate is the absorbing topic in Martin's Ferry just now, and American tin plate made in over a half dozen different American cities is exhibited.

John W. Crooks, the sole manufacturer of the McKinley button, has created quite a sensation by decorating his place of business on Hanover street, the principal thoroughfare, with American tin plates of all sizes and shapes. The largest sheet is 26 by 72 inches, made by P. H. Laufman & Co., at Apollo, Pa. Eight bright sheets made by the United States Iron and Tin Manufacturing Co., at Demmler, Pa., are shown, also sheets made at the Pittsburgh Exposition in 1891, by Morgan & Sons, of Cincinnati; Fleming & Hamilton, of Pittsburgh; John Hall, last fall; tin cup made at the Bellare Stamping works, and a dozen fruit cans made by Conrad Long, a Democratic tinner of Martin's Ferry, who has been in the business since 1850.

Mr. Crooks has letters from nearly all of the above manufacturers, showing that the American tin plate is made of American steel in American factories and coated by American workmen. The Wheeling Register said his so-called American tin plate was only sheet iron, dipped in lead, and that a Republican tin worker offered to bet him so. This is a fallacy. No Republican tin worker, Democratic tin worker, or any other tin worker ever offered to bet Crooks. The sheet, the Register calls "iron dipped in lead" is probably the one measuring 26 by 72 inches, which is American tin plate, made for roofing purposes. The steel blooms from which this plate was made were manufactured at Mingo Junction, and the black plate rolled by Laufman & Co., under the supervision of S. A. Gourley. The tinning was done by men who never saw a tin works until they learned the business at Laufman's, the mixture consisting of tin and lead, not lead alone. This firm has been making tin plate day and night since last spring.

W. C. Cronmeyer, President of the United States Iron and Tin Manufacturing Company, writes to Crooks as follows: "Complying with your request of the 23d inst. we sent you yesterday by express a package containing bright tin plate. The body of these plates is made from American steel, rolled by American workmen. There are tin mines being developed in this country and we have ordered a sample carload of block tin from the California mines. But, of course, the mining industry, as well as the plating industry, is only in the beginning. Nevertheless the sheets we send you are as genuine American as those sheets which come from Wales or Welsh, because the tin mines in Cornwall are now almost entirely exhausted and the Welsh tin plate manufacturers are drawing their supply of block tin from the same source as we do; that is, from the East Indies and Australia."

"There is no doubt, however, that the mines in this country will soon be able to supply all of the block tin necessary for the manufacture of the full supply of coated steel plates required."

And yet many Democrats, Campbell and all, claim that no tin plate is made in this country! Orders sent to any of the mills mentioned will convince one that this is untrue.

The Laufmans have been shipping for months by the carload to Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Wilmington, Reading, Canton, Akron, Wheeling and other cities. Caldwell & Peterson, of Wheeling, recently received a carload from this firm.

The steel sheets of the tin made at the Pittsburgh Exposition were rolled at Demmler, Pa. Mr. Joseph Waters, of Martin's Ferry, has a tea pot made out of the Exposition tin and says it has lasted three times as long as any Welsh tin pot they ever used and it is still good.

Mr. Long says the Demmler tin works up to a much better advantage than the foreign article, and if anything the Demmler is superior. Mr. Long, who is the most experienced tinner in Belmont county, is much pleased with the Demmler tin. The tin made by the Morgans is more heavily coated than the Demmler tin.

It troubles the sinner and troubles the saint. It is a troublesome, trying and nasty complaint. Don't think it incurable I tell you it isn't.

Excuse the grammar; it's the truth. I'm after, whether grammatically or ungrammatically told. The truth is that catarrh can be cured. The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy offer $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh in the Head.

The Symptoms of Catarrh—Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into the throat, sometimes profuse, watery and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid and offensive; eyes weak, ringing in the ears, deafness; offensive breath, smell and taste impaired and general debility. Only a few of these symptoms likely to be present at once. Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. Only 50 cents. Sold by druggists, everywhere.

MOUNDSVILLE.

A Miscellaneous Melange of Minor Matters from Marshall's Metropolis.

Jacob Israel was tried before Justice Criswell Thursday night for assaulting John Steele last Tuesday, when the assault was made upon R. J. McFadden. The justice's office was so crowded that the floor gave way, causing somewhat of a panic. The trial was then adjourned to the Masonic Hall. In a few moments the hall was crowded to its utmost capacity. Fifteen or twenty witnesses were examined, and the case was submitted without argument. The justice imposed a fine of $10 and costs on Mr. Israel. It was after 9 o'clock before this case was concluded, and the case against Mr. Israel and his two sons for felonious assault upon Mr. McFadden was then called. Mr. Parkinson, who appeared for the defendants, desired the case to be postponed until last night, but the prosecuting attorney objected and charged that there was an attempt to delay the hearing, whereupon Mr. Parkinson stated that he could stay just as long as any one else, and the justice at once called the case. A large number of witnesses were summoned on both sides and it was long after midnight before the testimony was concluded. When the evidence was all in Justice Criswell thought the respective lawyers had sufficiently shown their ground, standing qualities and adjourned till last night to hear the arguments of the case. Israel and his two sons were all held in $500 bail for court. They gave it. Several times during the hearing of the case the great crowd applauded the witnesses, and especially so Mr. Darby O'Toole, whose ready Irish wit nettled the lawyers.

Samuel Hagerman, who is in the quartermaster's department at Fort Custer, Montana, sent his brother Ben some interesting Indian curiosities and relics this week. The most interesting among them are three plaits of hair about eight inches long, which were cut from the head of a dead Sioux Indian killed in the Wounded Knee fight. Mr. Hagerman got them from a soldier now stationed at Fort Custer who was in the fight.

The project of a new building association is in a fair way to materialize soon. It is the purpose of the association to build dwelling houses for those who may desire, to be paid for in monthly payments.

J. T. Francis, who purchased Mr. McConkey's store in the First ward, will take possession about the middle of the month. The report that Mr. McConkey had bought the Hagerman property was unfounded.

Vapor Poison and Its Antidote.

The morning and evening mists that pervade the atmosphere of malarious localities cannot be breathed with impunity. A safeguard is needed to render harmless the dangerous miasma with which they are impregnated. The safest defense is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is an antidote to the poison which has already been inhaled and borne fruit, an adequate preventive of its harmful effects. No preparation for breathers of miasma tainted air or drinkers of malarious water like the Bitters. It completely neutralizes the otherwise irresistible onset of the aerial foe. Settles on newly-seared land, excavates of canal routes, notably through the Isthmus of Panama, western pioneers and emigrants—in short, all subjected to malarial influences in air or water find in it a benign remedy, an effective safeguard. Disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, "la grippe," rheumatism and kidney complaints are remedied by the Bitters.

They Are the People.

HOW CAN ANY ONE DOUBT IT.

When Hundreds are Testifying—New Ones Being Added.

There is no longer any doubt in the public mind but that Drs. Copeland & Bell are the most successful specialists in their line to-day. How has this been brought? By the very word of the public themselves. Hundreds of witnesses have testified to it and new ones are adding their evidence each week voluntarily through the medium of the public press. This week one well-known person makes a full statement.

Mr. William Horcher, of Martin's Ferry, a glass-blower says: "My head and nose would stop up. I had very severe headaches and pains through my temples and in the back of my head. I had a buzzing and roaring noise in my ears continually. I could feel the mucus dropping back into my throat, which kept me hawking and raising to clear it. My sleep was restless and broken. I would get up in the morning actually more tired and worn out than the night before. My work was a drag and my life a positive burden. I was in this condition when I first called on Drs. COPELAND & BELL, after reading so much of their noble work. After examination I thought they understood my case, and finding their charges so very reasonable I decided to place myself under their care. I don't believe I ever made a better resolution in my life. I have improved from the start under their treatment and can heartily recommend these gentlemen as competent physicians, and their method of treatment most pleasant and effective. Those suffering from any affection of the eyes, ears, throat or nose will do well to consult them and be relieved."

DOCTORS COPELAND & BELL have located permanent offices at 1121 Main street, Wheeling, W. Va., where they treat with success all curable cases. Office hours—9 to 11 a. m., 2 to 5 p. m., and 7 to 9 p. m. Sundays, 9 a. m. to 12 m., and 1 to 4 p. m. Specialties—Catarrh and diseases of the Eye, Ear, Throat and Lungs. Consultation free. Address all mail to DR. COPELAND & BELL, 1121 Main street, Wheeling, W. Va. Treatment, including medicine, $5 a month.

Catarrh Can't be Cured

with local applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you have to take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is no quack medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years, and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free.
