

WHERE IS RANSLEY?

The Leading Confectioner of Cincinnati Disappears.

AN INCOME OF $20,000 A YEAR

And a Splendid Home in New York. Was Placed in an Insane Asylum by His Mother and Released by His Sweetheart—Strange Actions Since His Marriage—Last Scene in Washington, D. C., Where He Has Friends.

New York, Oct. 19.—John B. Ransley has lived since June 12, the day of his marriage, at 2056 Seventh avenue. Mr. Ransley was long the leading confectioner of Cincinnati, and was reputed to have an income of $20,000 a year. Mrs. Ransley is a slender, cultivated young woman with an energetic manner.

Mr. Ransley had been visiting an uncle in Newark for a few days, and on Monday Mrs. Ransley went over there to see him. She was told that he had left that day, presumably for New York, and she at once returned to their home, but found no trace of him. The following morning Mrs. Ransley received a telegram from her husband, dated at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad station, Philadelphia, the previous day, saying: "On my way to Washington, will write you an elaborate magazine. Affectionately, JOHN."

That is the last Mrs. Ransley has heard from her husband directly. Suspecting that something was wrong, and not having received the promised letter on Tuesday evening, one day after the reading of the telegram, she immediately started for Washington.

Her husband had a cousin at Washington, said Mrs. Ransley, last evening, and I at once went to his house. But nothing had been seen of him there. Then I started to hunt through every hotel in Washington. After a long and weary search I finally discovered that he had registered at the Hotel Hamilton Tuesday night, but left the following morning. That is the last clue I have to his whereabouts, although I heard indirectly that a man answering his description had been seen at the Pennsylvania depot there Wednesday morning.

"Thinking he had gone back to Philadelphia, I went there and searched through every hotel, hospital and bathhouse in the city, but could find no trace of him."

Mrs. Ransley said that her husband was a perfectly sane, level-headed man, and that he had been in cheerful, hopeful spirits up to the week previous to his disappearance. Then he began to feel gloomy and depressed, and to regard her with suspicion.

"He seemed to think," said she, "that I had become one of his enemies and that I meditated putting him in an asylum. Thus in the last week we were together he had gradually drawn away from me and was in melancholy spirits, which made me all the more suspicious as soon as he disappeared from his uncle's house."

Mr. Ransley, she said, although having but a small sum of money with him at the time of his disappearance, had his check book and could have drawn checks for large amounts. She had, however, made inquiry at the banks yesterday and found that none of her husband's checks had come in for redemption.

When Mr. Ransley was last seen he was dressed in a brown sack suit, wore a derby hat and pepper-and-salt gray mixed overcoat and carried a large valise and umbrella. He is forty-two years old, of medium height, weighing about 120 pounds, slender, with blue eyes and dark hair, and heard streaked with gray.

At the time of his disappearance he had concluded arrangements with J. A. Jones, of this city, to start a large confectionery business on Twenty-third street, near Sixth avenue. Mr. Ransley also said that he had heard from a friend in Cincinnati that he had not been seen there this week.

It was early in the year when the domestic affairs of John B. Ransley began to attract attention in New York and Cincinnati. He had three large retail confectionery stores in Cincinnati besides a manufactory, and was a prosperous merchant with established credit.

It seems that while keeping control of the business he admitted his mother and sister to a share of the profits. They, it is said, were bitterly opposed to his contemplated marriage to Miss Speer, of this city, and it was to prevent this, it was thought, that he had him placed in Longview Lunatic Asylum, near Cincinnati.

As soon as she heard what had happened to her betrothed, Miss Speer hastened to Cincinnati and secured legal assistance. A writ of habeas corpus was secured, and Mr. Ransley was released and placed under the care of a guardian. Then he came to New York and married Miss Speer. He was annoyed by the existence of the guardian and appealed to the Lunacy Reform League, of No. 10 East Fourteenth street. Through their efforts the guardianship was set aside as far as it affected Mr. Ransley's person, but he did not regain control over his Cincinnati property.

SMUGGLERS CAPTURED.

Thirteen of the Gentlemen Entrapped by a Neat Piece of Strategy.

Port Townsend, Oax., Oct. 19.—Thirteen smugglers were captured on San Juan Island yesterday by the revenue cutter Wolcott by a neat piece of strategy. Captain Tozier sent a steam launch to guard the island a week ago. Several men were sent from the launch disguised as shipwrecked sailors. They then went to the cabin of the smugglers and asked for shelter. After being there for two days and having secured sufficient evidence against the smugglers, they sent for the cutter. Friday night the Wolcott went to the island and captured thirteen of the gang and cut off the escape of the rest. Marines are guarding the island and it is expected the entire gang will be captured. The smugglers are said to be well organized.

It Wasn't the Spider Bite.

New York, Oct. 19.—Mr. Gustav Steink, the musical critic of the New York Staats Zeitung, who was recently bitten by a spider, died this morning. Death is said to have been the result of pneumonia and heart failure, as the doctors say the blood poisoning resulting from the spider's bite had nothing to do with Mr. Stein's death.

THE CLIFTON FORGE AFFAIR.

Troops Arrive, But Their Presence Not Necessary. CLIFTON FORGE, VA., Oct. 19.—A detachment of the Monticello Guards, of Charlottesville, have arrived here under Captain Keller. All is quiet. The action of citizens last night in arming themselves is regarded as a wise precaution, but the ordering of troops is thought to have been unnecessary. It is not believed that there will be any attempted outbreak of the negroes.

MARTIN'S FERRY.

Importance of the Legislature—Drafts Burned—Personal, etc.

From this on the Republicans of Martin's Ferry and Belmont county should keep their eyes on the legislature. This is what the Democrats are hustling for and they are concentrating all of their energies on their candidate for the legislature. No Democrat in Belmont county, or few of them, really believe that Governor Campbell will be re-elected, nor have they any hopes that their county ticket will win, excepting the head, Mr. Myers, their candidate for the legislature, and for him they are making a desperate fight. They think they have a fighting chance for his election and are working like beavers for him, trading or doing anything else they can. Few, if any, Democrats are fighting McKinley; they know there is no show for Campbell and they are working for the legislature teeth and toe nails. In the rural districts they expect to make big inroads. The Republicans should bear in mind these facts and not leave a single stone unturned.

Two drafts sent from the Martin's Ferry Commercial Bank, Oct. 14, to the Fifth National Bank, Cincinnati, were partially burned in the wreck at Hackettsville on the 15th. One was for $137.02 and the other for $29.68. The remains of both were returned yesterday and duplicates sent.

From present indications an immense crowd will go from Martin's Ferry to the McKinley meeting at Bellaire Thursday evening.

BENWOOD.

Industrial Items, Personal Gossip and General News Notes.

Saturday afternoon Mrs. Duggan, living near Jim's run, below town, was badly gored by a cow. The vicious animal was a recent purchase. It was in the orchard and when Mrs. Duggan attempted to drive it out, it turned on her, tearing her abdomen in a very bad manner. It was a considerable time before medical aid could be obtained. She will recover.

Sammy Blake, a small boy, was standing on the top of a cattle-car of a freight train Sunday afternoon. When the train passed under the bridge, the space was not sufficient to allow him to pass, and he was thrown to the track. His side and face struck the rail. He was badly bruised, but no bones were broken. He was taken home in a wagon owned by Mr. Thompson.

Mrs. C. C. Sprout, who keeps a confectionary on Water street, lost $25 yesterday afternoon. The money was laid away under a large stack of paper bags. She attributes the theft to a couple who were in the storeroom awaiting the arrival of the Ohio River train. Police assistance has been employed and every means will be used to discover the thief or thieves.

Bellaire's ahead. Saturday afternoon Roy Ray rattled a bicycle. All the chances but one were held by Benwood men. The other one, No. 17, was held by a Bellaire man. No. 17 was the lucky number.

Miss Mollie Stewart will entertain the members of her Sabbath school class, of the Christian church, at her home on Water street.

The Evidence Direct.

The Bellaire Nail works is strictly in it in the tin plate business. John Zweig, the well known merchant on Belmont street, recently bought a lot of tin plate from the Demmler, Pa., works. The steel plate was rolled at the Bellaire Nail works and it was tinned at Demmler. These facts are verified by correspondence with the Demmler people.

The Great Benefit.

Which people in run down state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength, but Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up in a perfectly natural way all the weakened parts, purifies the blood, and assists to healthy action those important organs, the kidneys and liver.

MR. HORCHER'S TESTIMONY.

WILLIAM HORCHER, MARTIN'S FERRY, PA.

Mr. William Horcher, of Martin's Ferry, a glass-blower says: "My head and nose would stop up. I had very severe headaches and pains through my temples and in the back of my head. I had a buzzing and roaring noise in my ears continually. I could feel the mucus dropping back into my throat, which kept me hawking and raising to clear it. My sleep was restless and broken. I would get up sometimes actually more tired and worn out than the night before. My work was a drag and my life a positive burden. "I was in this condition when I first called on Dr. COPELAND & BELL, after reading so much of their noble work. After examination I thought they understood my case, and finally their changes so very reasonable I decided to place myself under their care. I don't believe I ever made a better resolution in my life. I have improved from the start under their treatment and I can heartily recommend these gentlemen as competent physicians, and their method of treatment most pleasant and effective. These sufferings from any affection of the eyes, ears, throat or nose will do well to consult them and be relieved."
