MOONSVILLE.

A Miscellaneous Melange of Minor Matters from Marshall's Metropolis.

Arlington Academy, Moonsville's new educational institution, will open its doors January 2, 1892. This will give the city a high grade institution of learning equipped for imparting instruction as but few schools in the state are.

Below are the names of the members of the faculty and also the board of directors: Faculty—Prof. D. T. Williams, mathematics and natural science; Rev. L. E. Kiehl, Latin and Greek; J. J. Richardson, M. D., anatomy, physiology and hygiene; Prof. W. S. Fowell, history, composition and rhetoric; Miss Cora Myers, French language and mathematics; J. F. Burley, jr., C. E., civil engineering, surveying and bookkeeping; J. H. Holt, C. E., stenographer and typewriting; T. J. Parsons, civil government and commercial laws; other classes are to be filled.

The promoters of Moonsville's new bank are actively at work getting matters in shape, and it is now an assured fact that the bank will be opened. A new building will probably be erected at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Third street for its accommodation.

Hon. W. G. Worley, of Preston, was here yesterday. He just returned from Chicago, where he was attending the wedding of a friend and also interviewing some capitalists with a view of inducing them to invest in West Virginia enterprises.

An effort is being made to buy a choice building site on Seventh street, between Lafayette and Tomlinson avenues. If the deal is effected a large building will be erected at the point named. The reporter is not at liberty to give particulars yet.

Chiswell & Sons, who have leased the Chidduck brick yard, will, if the weather permits, begin operations at once. It is understood that a switch will be run into their works, thus giving first class shipping facilities.

A good deal of leasing for oil purposes is going on throughout the county. The movements of the people doing the leasing are very quiet and their coming and going not known to many people.

The widow of Neald, the man who died from the effects of a beating given him by Frank Church in Wheeling last week, is still staying at the Marshall house in this city.

HYGENIC SUGGESTIONS.

(Family Doctor.)

Take an hour of exercise to every pound of food. We are not nourished by what we eat, but by what we digest.

Dyspepsia is a poor pedestrian. Walk at the rate of four miles an hour and you will soon have it behind.

If your stomach is out of order, your digestion weak, or you feel chilly at any time, wear in mind that you need a stimulant.

Do not be deceived in regard to stimulants; there are many, but there is only one known to the world today, which combines pure medicinal qualities with the best efficiency. That is Dugg's Pure Malt Whiskey.

You can well afford to remember this carefully and act upon it constantly, as it may mean to you, as it has meant to so many others, health, happiness, strength and a long lease of life.

Remember always that when any dealer tries to sell you something in the place of what you call for, he has an interested motive and is seeking to impose upon you for his own ends.
