THE MAHDI'S PRISONERS.

Some Escape and Tell Their Sad Story, Which Confirms

THAT TOLD BY FATHER OHRWALDER

Forty Europeans Still in Captivity. They are Held in Slavery and Treated Cruelly---The Empire Declining. Internal Dissensions Disrupting It.

London, Jan. 3.-Telegrams have been received here from Congo which confirm the statements made by Father Ohrwalder, the priest of the Soudan Austrian Kission, who was taken prisoner by the Mahdists some nine years ago, but who recently escaped from Omdurman and made his way to Kor-

Father Ohrwalder, who was accompa nied in his flight by Sisters Chincarindi and Venturini, said forty Europeans are still in the hands of the Mahdists at Omdurman. He added that they are loaded with manacles and cruelly beaten. They are so closely watched that they had lost all hope of escape, Among the prisoners are 19 Greeks, 8 syrians, 8 Hebrews, 2 Austriau missionaries, Slatin Bey and Herr Neufeld. The last named prisoner was captured in 1886 at Selina. His imprudence was the cause of the capture by Neiman of the convey of arms and an-Nejumni of the convoy of arms and am-munition sent by General Grenfell to Selah, the chief of the friendly Kababish tribe. He is now employed in making saltpeter.

CAPTIVES EARN THEIR OWN LIVING. In telling of his mode of life while in captivity, Father Ohrwalder said the Madhi granted no provision for the sub-Madhi granted no provision for the subsistence of the captives, but allowed them sufficient liberty to earn a living as best they could. Father Ohrwalder lived by talloring and weaving and the sisters by baking and selling bread. The three refugees show the traces of the suffering which they have endured during their nine years' captivity, and they state that the latest news which they received from the civilized world was in 1882 by an Arabic newspaper, relating to the bombardment of Alexandria.

During the last eighteen months the fugitives lived in mud huts, but previously their only shelter was made with their own hands from cames and Indian cornstalks. They say Khartoum is entirely destroyed, except the Austrian church and General Gordon's palace, and vegetation is covering the sites of

During two years famine and small-pox made fearful ravages in the Soudan. Indian corn rose to ten times its normulan corn rose to ten times its normal value, but now food is plentiful and cheap. Darlur is nearly deserted by the Dervishes, who have a steamer at Feshoda, but they do not venture beyond a short distance from the Nile bank. THE MANDI EMPIRE ON THE WANE.

A short time ago the Shiliuks killed 300 Dervishes at that place, and consethere from Omdurman.

The khedive's visit to the Egyptian frontier last winter has produced a favorable impression among the Soudan tribes. The Dervishes still retain a monopoly of the trade in gum, ivery and teathers, which they sell at large profits to morehand, who send the profits to merchants, who send the goods to Suakim.

To-day's advices from the Congo corroborate Father Ohrwalder's report of the waning power of the Dervishes in the southwestern part of the Soudan.

said, would welcome any change bringing them relief from its tyrauny.

Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY

Celebrated at Martin's Forry-Other News

The second anniversary of the Marin's Ferry Y. M. C. A w Opera House yesterday afternoon, with a good attendance, despite the wintry

The address was delivered by Mr. L. L. Doggett, one of the state secretaries. On the stage sat Mr. Doggett, ministers, officers and members of the association, all of whom took part in the singing, and rendered good music. Mr. Will Davis presided at the piano, and Judge J. C. Gray had charge of the music, which was excellent. J. C. Gray had cha which was excellent.

The president of the association, Mr. T. W. Shreve, presided.

The exercises were opened with the singing of No. 100, followed by Nos. 121 and 201. Rev. H. N. Campbell, of the First Presbyterian church, read a section, (the control of the control of portion of the sixteenth chapter of Matthew, and prayer was offered by Rev. L. D. Moore, paster of the Baptist

The treasurer's report, published in Saturday's Intelligences, was read by Mr. Benj. Exley, Jr.

Mr. Shreve spoke of the work of the year. He told of the good work accomplished by Messrs. Potter, Horron and Mead, said the association was in had shape garly in the year but the Hele.

plished by Messrs. Potter, Horron and Mend, said the association was in head shape early in the year, but the Holy Spirit has been with the workers and the future outlook is encouraging. The attendance at the Sunday afternoon meetings has reached as high as ninety. No. 163, "Wonderful Words of Light," was sung, after which Mr. Dogget delivered the address, which occupied a little over a half hour, and was intensely interesting. He said the cities are the homes of the modern young men, and they must be looked after. From one-fourth to one-flith of the population of the cities is, composed of young men. The Y. M. C. A. is the way to win these. There are three places where they are found—the colleges, the railroad centers and in the busy streets. The young men are crowding into the cities and there are the temptations. It is as bad in the cities of 4,000 as in S,000 and 10,000. In a city of 4,000 up the river Mr. Doggett recently counted between eighty and ninetymen in a saloon while taking a little walk one evening. This is where they go. The past week he visited Ada, Norwalk and Massillon, and there the associations are growing. In Ohio there are 15,000 Christian young men engaged in the work.

Hymn No. 43, "Jesns, I Come to Thee," was sung, after which the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Campbell.

MARTIN'S PERRY BRIEFS.

Occupying one of the cells in the city lock-up there are two Italians, whose faces look as if they had been in a dynamite explosion. Their names are Charles Moller and Joseph Rosu. They are miners and work at the Gaylord coal works, above Martin's Ferry. They drew their pay last week and celebrated the new year by eating drank. They coal works, above Martin's Ferry. They drew their pay last week and celebrated the new year by cetting drunk. They spent considerable time and money at Caser McAllister's saloon in Clark's addition on Saturday. In the afternoon Rosu went out into the back yard and was followed by Scott Neal, an iron-worker and, as the Italian alleges, robbed him of $50, after beating him in a mainer like the New Orleans mob did the Mallas who assassinated Chief of Police Hennessy. Rosu's companion, Charles Moffer, came to his rescue, and Neal decorated his face in a highly artistic manner. The two dagos were arrested and locked up on Saturday evening and told, practically, the above story. They were very much under the influence of liquor, so much so that they didn't know whether they were Italians or Indians. On Moffer was found a razor and Rosu carried a huge knife. After know whether they were Italians or Indians. On Moffer was found a razor and Rosu carried a huge knife. After sleeping on an iron bed several hours they became fairly sober and wanted out. When they stood up and looked through the bars, side by side and bareheaded, they presented an uncommon sight, and Marshal Westwood regretted that he did not have a kodak to photograph their faces. Moffer's face was bruised all over, and one of his eyes was blacked. After picking himselt up from the iron cot he picked several small pebbles and some sand out of his nose, which ought to cure any bad case of catarrh. His face was more picturesque than the face of any Indian covered with war paint, and the face of the other dago was artistically and irregularly covered with bruises. Both cycs were blackened. One was out o' sight, and his upper lip was swollen clear up to his nose.

Mr. Helfenbein stepped back and pulling out his revolver and pointing it at the follow said "you skip or I'll give you money with this." He skipped. This same foot pad or some other one stopped Capt. John Hutchinson, of the ferry boat "Climax," the same night and sprung that old racket on the captain by asking him what time it was, Hutchinson caught on and after covering the highwayman with his six shooter said "I'll give you the time if youtouch me." Similar experiences are reported in other parts of the city the past few nights. burg railroad near the terminal bridge nights.

After recovering his breath he told Marshal Westwood to accompany him, saying his partner had licked him. Bradden and Fred Richardson have been living on a trading boat near the union bridge. They had some words and Richardson on a trading boat near the union bridge. They had some words and Richardson struck Bradden several times. Richardson was locked up. He is colored, while his partner is white. He says Bradden tried to drive him off the boat, but he wouldn't have it that way. The fair for the benefit of St. Mary's The fair for the benefit of St. Mary's Catholic church closed Saturday night, after three days. The fair was a most successful venture, over $3,000 being taken in. A number of articles were contested for, among which was a fine gold watch, which was awarded to Mr. Utterbauch, he having collected $618; his opponent was Mr. Dobbins, who brought in $202. Mrs. Asbaugh won a bed room set by collecting $382. A number of other prizes were disposed of to a number of the contestants.
