Has Left the Locality.

Representatives of the creditors of Mr. Hedges, who has been conducting a general merchandise business in Wetzel county between New Martinsville and Burton, were in this city and over in Belmont county yesterday to attach property of that gentleman. It was said that he had left the country and his creditors were hunting something to secure their claims.

Regular Trains to Run.

It is now semi-officially announced that on and after February 1 the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad will run regular passenger trains into Wheeling over the Terminal road, using the company's union station. This announcement will be received with the liveliest gratification by everybody in the community. Superintendent Eays, of the Terminal company, has had a number of interviews with the Wheeling & Lake Erie officials, and at length they are understood to have come to an agreement to the effect stated.

Fined on One Charge.

William M. Handlan was arraigned in the police court yesterday on the warrants charging him with selling liquor on Sunday and running a bar in another room than that for which he had a license. On the former he pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs, $12.40 in all. On the latter he was dismissed, the mayor holding that the license covered the whole building. Ex-Chief Delbrugge was summoned as a witness, and swore that he is still chief of police, to which Mayor Seabright responded that he did not care if he was.

In the Circuit Court.

In the circuit court yesterday, Judge J. R. Paul on the bench, the following business was transacted:

Hester McConnell vs. J. B. Chambers, appeal; judgment of justice set aside and verdict rendered for the defendant.

In the matter of the petition of Lewis Clohan, guardian of Dora Clohan Zimmers, for sale of real estate, W. J. W. Cowden was appointed guardian ad litem and the case set for February 6.

The case of the United States Baking Company vs. P. Bachmann & Sons and the Wheeling Bakery Company was heard by the court and taken under advisement.

Seats for "Old Jed Prouty."

"Old Jed Prouty" horse, used in the production of the famous down-east comedy of the same name, is possessed of more than "horse sense." In fact, Richard Golden states he is all but human, and knows his entrance cue as well as any actor would, becoming perfectly frantic when his entrance music is played. Whether Mr. Golden is ready or not, on he goes, and woe to him who stands in his way. When he was bought he weighed absolutely nothing, but was just a frame work of skin and bone. He cost just $8, but Mr. Golden says $800 can't buy him to-day. He will be seen, surrounded by good support, at the Opera House Saturday night. The sale of seats opens at C. A. House's music store this morning.

IMPORTANT MEETINGS

The Council committee on railroads has also been called to meet this evening with a number of citizens who are interested in the matter to be considered, which is the removal of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks from Sixteenth street. The city officers, citizens of Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets and the official members and counsel of the English Lutheran church, on whose petition the matter now comes up, and the representatives of the Baltimore & Ohio company have been invited to be present at the session.

The full joint committee on the city's natural gas supply has been called by Chairman Farrell to meet to-morrow evening.

COLDEST IN SIX YEARS.

The Mercury Hovers Around Zero as She Has not Lately.

WINTER HOLDS UNDISPUTED SWAY.

The Usual Variation is noted in Thermometers, but the Highest Record Reported is Cold Enough for the Most Fastidious.—The Ice Man Happy at Last.

Not since the the fifth day of February, 1886, has the mercury in the thermometer got lower than it did yesterday morning. There was of course the customary variation of different thermometers, the register ranging from twelve below to two above. Even two degrees above was still enough winter for the Ohio Valley. Mr. C. Schnepf's thermometer marked two above. At the toll gate east of town it was down to five below and on the hills beyond it was reported eight by one thermometer and twelve below by another. The difference is not greater than is usually noted in differently situated places.

The weather has not been so cold, as said above, since 1886. Some of the notable cold days in this vicinity were the following dates, as shown by Mr. Schnepf's records.

March 1, 1891	5° above.
March 7, 1890	6° "
February 4, 1889	4° "
January 28, 1888	1° "
January 11, 1887	1° "
February 5, 1886	4° below.
February 11, 1885	6° "
January 26, 1884	7° "
December 19, 1880	8° "
January 3, 1879	10° "

The weather convinced those people who had concluded that there was never to be any more winter in the Ohio Valley that the conclusion was premature. Ice packers wore a pleased smile, something that has not recently been habitual with them, and coal merchants were not displeased. For the first time since so many of the large consumers were cut off the natural gas lines there was somewhat of a complaint of a shortage in the fuel in some parts of town for a part of the day, but it was nothing like so serious as it used to often be.

The sleighing was something great, and there was more sleighs out than anybody would have believed there could be found in all of West Virginia. The livery stable men charge two dollars for the first hour and one dollar an hour after that. At that rate a few hours hire will pay the cost of the best sleigh in Wheeling. The coasting was also first rate last night, and the best tracks were covered with people.

It has been a long time since there has been much trouble with the bursting of water pipes by the cold, but both water and gas pipes now give trouble, the former freezing and the latter getting full of the water which condenses in them. The city gas works force has been kept busy since the cold snap set in attending to these difficulties. Plumbers also reap a rich reward.

FORTUNATE ACCIDENTS.

Horses Run off with Sleighs, but do no Serious Injury—Coasting Casualty.

About half-past two o'clock yesterday afternoon Dr. A. F. Stifel left his horse and sleigh standing unhitched on Market street near Twelfth. The horse has never given him any trouble before, but yesterday he frightened at something and started to run down Market street at a rapid rate. At Mrs. Ziegenfelder's confectionery somebody ran out from the sidewalk in front of the Wheeling Bakery Company's establishment, and ran from there to Fourteenth street at fearful speed on the pavement, which was thronged with people when he started, but was soon deserted by everybody but one lady, who just in front of the new City Bank building became bewildered in the presence of danger and did not know which way to run. She was barely missed by the sleigh as it whizzed past her. The horse left his footprints all the way down the street, but the only thing with which he collided was a dummy in front of the Hub clothing store, which was knocked over, but not broken.

At Fourteenth street the horse slipped on the curb and fell, and he was supposed to be hurt, but in about a minute rose and ran on to his stable. It seems marvelous that he could run so far on a crowded sidewalk and do no harm.

Last evening about half past seven William Koehline, the Bridgeport ice merchant, was driving a two-horse team hitched to a large sleigh down Market street, when he turned sharply into Fourteenth street. The sleigh upset, and its occupants, Mr. Koehline, another man, two ladies and a child, were thrown out in the snow. Fortunately none of them was hurt, but the horses dashed down Fourteenth street and up Main with the sleigh on its side, bounding from side to side. It ran some distance on Main street, but was finally stopped without serious damage.

Last evening a bob sled upset on Thirteenth street, above the Cathedral, with six or eight children of assorted ages on it, and several of them were slightly hurt, one little girl having her ankle badly sprained. The accident might have been more serious, as might several others of the kind which were reported last night, but so far as heard not a person was gravely hurt by all of them.

ALMOST as palatable as cream. It can be taken with pleasure by delicate persons and children, who after using it, are very fond of it. It assimilates with the food, increases the flesh and appetite, builds up the nervous system, restores energy to mind and body, creates new, rich, and pure blood; in fact, rejuvenates the whole system. This preparation is far superior to all other preparations of Cod Liver Oil. It has many imitators, but no equals. The results following its use are its best recommendations.
