

HARRISON THE MAN.

John Russell Young Glances Over the Presidential Field.

WHO BLAINE'S MANTLE FALLS ON.

Benjamin Harrison, It is Said, Hasn't "a Mighty Name Overreaching the Heavens With Glory." But He Has Made a Very Strong President—A Calm Look at the Situation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—John Russell Young, ex-Minister to China, one of the ablest journalists in the United States, and a keen political observer, has been looking over the Republican Presidential field, and this is how it looks to him:

"Mr. Harrison is, by reason of Blaine's action, the strongest candidate; so much so that any other candidate is in the shadow. John Sherman might be expected, for after Blaine—in some respects before Blaine and Harrison like-wise—Mr. Sherman is the foremost Republican. His years are in the way of a nomination. This is unjust. Years were, assuredly, not against Harrison, Buchanan, Cass, Clay, Tilden and Thurman. Mr. Sherman is the one candidate whose canvass might give Harrison pause. He says, however, with Blaine, that he has withdrawn. He says what Blaine omits, that he supports the renomination of Harrison. This is grateful, as Mr. Sherman owes to Harrison his re-election to the senate.

THE OTHER CANDIDATES.

"At the present moment, then it is Harrison against the field! Mr. Dewey would hardly come again from New York. This is a big country, but not big enough to elect the Vanderbilt family to the presidency. Mr. Dewey must sever that relation or bury his ambitions. General Alger is named from Michigan, but the memories of the Alger campaign in 1888 would be hard to overcome. Minister Lincoln is suggested. He bears a sovereign name, was an able secretary and is now an able minister. He is young, however, and the machinery of Illinois is against him. Mr. Reed, of Maine, would mean a turbulent campaign, and we might well question the wisdom of a passionate canvass when we are so prone to peace. Governor Stanford, of California, will have more strength than would be conceded, while Secretary Rusk, so deep in the farmers' confidence, would have an agricultural strength worthy of consideration in the days of Farmers' Alliances and scarecrow political agencies in the west. Harrison in the White House makes Gresham an impossibility. There is a good deal of human nature even in the most exalted atmosphere.

HARRISON TRAITS PICTURED ELOQUENTLY.

"Without going into the stock convention enthusiasms over the Harrison administration, this weighty problem remains: Blaine has vanished, and who remains but the President? Harrison is in the ripeness of genius, experience and fame. He is the embodied citizenship of the republic. His homely, loving virtues, his domesticity, his shrewd, angular, penetrating ways, his waywardness with politicians (few of them really like him), his sturdy, dogmatic, Stephen Decatur Americanism—"The country when she's right—but the country right or wrong," his luminous, harmonious eloquence, his aversion to whatever sounds like an idea or an experiment, his name, which represents the political honors of four generations, beginning with Benjamin Harrison, the friend of Washington, and coming to Benjamin Harrison, the friend of Lincoln, his piety, his courage, discernment and veracity—all combine to give us in Harrison one of the best examples of the ideal average American citizen.

NOT A MIGHTY NAME, BUT—

"We are not in the presence of a mighty name overreaching the heavens and throwing its splendors far into ages that we may not see—of such a name as Lincoln or Grant. We have, however, the manifest man now apparent in the Republican leadership. If the Republican party desires consistent and intrepid administration, how can it refuse to Harrison a recognition of the most consistent and intrepid of Republican executives? In fact our complaint, as far as Harrison goes, is that he has been too Republican—that, unlike Grant and Arthur, he has not held the party with the curb bit, and fought questionable appropriations. Yet this criticism should be, from a mere party point of view, the strongest argument in his favor. His friends may well ask what reason can Republicans adduce against his renomination. Furthermore, Harrison has an unquestioned standing as a leader. For capacity, experience and public service we place him next to Sherman and Blaine. They have withdrawn. The friends of Harrison are within bounds when they advocate him as the ablest remaining leader of Republicanism."

How Chicago Is Made Up.

Chicago Times.

Some weeks ago the Times, estimating the population of Chicago at 1,208,333, made the following approximation of the nativity of this vast number of human souls:

Americans.....	292,463	Rumanians.....	4,520
Germans.....	281,338	Welsh.....	3,566
Irish.....	215,348	Swiss.....	2,735

These figures have attracted a great deal of attention in other cities. Surprise is expressed at the diversified character of the population of a city containing more Irishmen than Cork or Belfast, more Germans than any ancient German capital save Vienna, and more persons of other countries than most of the cities therein contain.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

AN UNHEEDED WARNING

And What Came of It—Explosion of an Oil Tank.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Last night an explosion of crude petroleum gas took place at the factory of the Artificial Ice Company on West Jackson street. The engineer, Peter Clark, wishing to discover how much of the crude oil was issued for fuel there was on hand, picked up a lantern and started toward the tank containing the oil. His lantern near the tank, but the warning was unheeded. Raising the trap door Clark pushed his lantern into the interior and the oil being low the accumulated gas exploded. The windows were rattled and broken, while the ground shook as with an earthquake. Clark will probably die from injuries received. Three other employees, Harry Smith, Henry Heldeman and Patrick Dalton were also seriously injured.

HIGH BINDERS' FEUD

Breaks Out Anew in San Francisco—The Latest Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Feb. 16.—The high binders' feud which was suspended during the Chinese New Year's celebration by mutual consent of all sections, broke out again last night. It is supposed that the men who took a hand in the feud last night belong to the On Yek and Duy Long societies which had a bloody feud to settle. In a stairway of a Stockton street house Long Chun was fatally stabbed by Loui Fook. As the assailant rushed from the hallway he ran against two white men who seized him and turned him over to a policeman. At the station he was found to have a bloodstained bowie knife on his person. He is a genuine high binder but not known to the police. The wounded man, as well as his assailant, refused to make any statement.

Sensible Advice.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Globe today says that the prospects of foreign cooperation in the Chicago Columbian Exhibition do not appear very bright. In the case of England, the Globe adds the very grave feeling against the McKisley bill has not yet subsided, "but it is to be hoped that manufacturers will not let their feelings overcome their prudent judgment. Furthermore, such an attempt at retaliation is more likely to hurt themselves than any one else. The Americans and Germans are strenuously trying to take over commerce. The absence of British competitors at the fair would therefore be regarded as a benefit than otherwise; it would also be regarded as an admission of defeat."

Mrs. Ballington Booth Entertained.

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Ballington Booth, wife of the commander of the Salvation Army, was given a reception here last night by Mr. and Mrs. William Borden. A large number of prominent society people were present, and to them Mrs. Booth explained in detail the work of the army. Among the guests were ex-Senator and Mrs. Charles B. Farwell and Mr. and Mrs. Potter Palmer.

A Startling Statement.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Michael Davitt, in a speech at Middleton, said it was not generally known that Irish properties were mortgaged to English bankers and others to the extent of £169,000,000. He announced that he would not run for Parliament again before the general election.

The Lottery Officers Arrested.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—A New Orleans dispatch says the lottery officials were placed under arrest to-day under the indictment found by the Boston grand jury, charging violation of the anti-lottery postal law.

ASHLAND, WIS., Feb. 16.—David Gay jumped from the third story of the Rinehardt hospital last evening during a wild delirium. He will not live.

Falling Off a Log.

"As easy as falling off a log" is an old saying. When it was first uttered nobody knows. Nothing is easier, unless it is the taking of a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These act like magic. No gripping or drenching follows, as is the case with the old-fashioned pills. The relief that follows resembles the action of nature in her happiest moods; the impulse given to the dormant liver is of the most salutary kind, and is speedily manifested by the disappearance of all bilious symptoms. Sick headache, wind on the stomach, pain through the right side and shoulder-blade, and yellowness of the skin and eyeballs are speedily remedied by the Pellets.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

Judge Edwin Maxwell Suggested by a Republican—Some Facts of History.

SINCE—After General Goff had been fairly elected governor, few of us can forget the frightful wall that went up from the Democratic organs of the state. "Thousands of fraudulent votes have been cast for Goff," said the Register. "Corruption," shouted another. "Imported negroes," cried a third.

Yes, before 65,000,000 of people our gallant little band of West Virginia Republicans stood accused of having perpetrated upon the purity of the ballot box the greatest outrage in the history of our commonwealth. The honor and manhood of our party had been challenged and every state from Maine to California awaited the result in breathless expectation. The result came. It was disappointing but nevertheless glorious. The crucial test was applied. It was found that no other state in the Union had cast a purer ballot.

All honor to the two gallant Republicans who defended the purity of our party in that memorable contest. In Senator Presley Morris we recognize a gallant and heroic Republican whose name will be a tower of strength in future. In Judge Edwin Maxwell we recognize the statesman and jurist, the argumentative rigor of whose logic caused Democratic audacity to pale with insignificance.

Since that contest there has existed a feeling that General Goff should again be the candidate, that the injustice done him in 1888 might be fully retributed by the sweeping victory proclaimed by the "oracle" to be ours in 1892. The appointment of General Goff to a United States judgeship deprives his party of an opportunity to perform what would be to them a most pleasant duty. What next? Already there is a sentiment gaining wide popularity. It is only natural that the party should turn to the man whose matchless defense not only of General Goff, but of the honor of the Republican party in that nefarious contest, has made him the worthy recipient of our unmeasured love.

Place the name of Maxwell at the head of the ticket, and with the other offices carefully provided for we are sure to win. Let it not be forgotten that it was not until after Judge Maxwell's memorable campaign of '84 that the Republicans began to have confidence in their growing strength. Mr. Sturgis, the Republican candidate in 1880, received 44,835 votes, which indicated a net Republican gain of 1,378 votes in four years. Judge Maxwell's vote four years later (1884) was 66,149, being a net Republican gain of 21,295, or the most phenomenal growth of Republicanism in the history of the state. It may be argued that this was due to the Greenback vote that went to Mr. Maxwell. Let us assume that the Greenback vote was 14,000 (a very extravagant figure); fully half of this number came from the Republican party, and when we subtract the other, or Democratic half, from the 21,295 we still have 14,295 as Maxwell's Republican gain in four years, a larger increase than we have ever had before or since. But isn't it a historical fact that Mr. Maxwell's twenty-one thousand gain remained with the Republican party, and just four years later, General Goff augmented this gain by 12,755, making his total vote in the state 78,904, or 206 more votes than Judge Fleming received? These are facts for the Republicans of West Virginia to carefully consider. They point us to a candidate with unerring accuracy. We have no knowledge of Judge Maxwell's sentiments on this subject, but hope that he will allow the best interests of the party to aid him in a decision should he be called upon to make this canvass. He is yet in the enjoyment of active and useful manhood and is vigorously engaged in looking after a law practice that extends to several parts of the state. He has been identified with the state since its formation—he has in fact been a part of it. He has stood in the storm and the conflict and richly does he merit the honor.
