

MR. ATKINSON TALKS.

Why he will not be a Candidate for Delegate to Minneapolis.

WITHDRAWS IN MR. HART'S FAVOR

A Frank Expression--His Idea of the Presidential Situation--Uncle Jerry Rusk would be a Pretty Good Nominee, but he will not Get It--McKinley next Time.

A reporter of the INTELLIGENCER called upon Mr. G. W. Atkinson in regard to his alleged candidacy for the position of delegate to the national convention from the First Congressional district.

"I had thought of being in the field in a friendly contest for the position you have named; but I have made up my mind to draw out of the contest altogether."

"Will you name some of your reasons for such conclusions?"

"Yes. First of all, and most important, I have a large number of friends who are wanting to go to Minneapolis, and I haven't the heart to antagonize them. I could have been a delegate years ago, but some good friend turned up who seemed to desire it worse than I did, so I gave way to him. I have never been a delegate to a national convention and perhaps never will be. My party has often honored me with positions that carried with them emoluments as well as honors, and almost without exception the men who seek the position of delegates to the national conventions are men who refuse to accept an office with emoluments attached. I have always felt and still feel that such men are entitled to first choice to go as delegates to national conventions; consequently I step down and out this time in order that that class of my party friends may have a clear field so far as I am concerned."

"Another reason I will assign is the friends of Mr. Hart, of the INTELLIGENCER, have suggested him as a suitable man to send as a delegate at large to Minneapolis, and had I continued in the race I fear my candidacy would defeat him and possibly myself as well. Some think two Wheeling men cannot be chosen this time. This may be true, and furthermore I feel that the leading Republican paper of the state, whose publishers do not seek an office with pay attached, should have the right of way from Ohio county. Mr. Hart, like myself, has never been a delegate to a national convention, and I would like to see him go. Fearing therefore that my candidacy might antagonize him, I cheerfully step aside that he may have no antagonism from friends of mine; and now that I am out, I hope my friends will stand by him, and that he may be chosen as a delegate at large without opposition."

"What about the McKinley boom?" "Really, I don't know very much about it. I don't think that Governor McKinley will allow his name to be used as a presidential candidate this year. Keep your eye on him for '96. He will keep on growing with the McKinley bill, and by the year mentioned both will be on a boom that nothing can sidetrack. The great law that bears his name will by that time have proven its advantages to the country at large, and that alone will place Ohio's governor in the front of the procession for '96. That will be his time, and not this year."

"Who do you think will be nominated?" "Harrison, if he desires it. Since the great commoner stepped aside, the drift is strongly towards the President. He is great and clean and deserving, and public sentiment seems to be strongly for him to have a second term. It does not seem possible for any one but Blaine to successfully contest it with him."

"Uncle Jerry Rusk would make a great candidate, and could be elected almost as easily as Mr. Blaine, but he can't be nominated. Don't mention it, though, if you please. I mean for you to leave out what I have said about Uncle Jerry. Have you read what the farmers are saying of him all over the country? He seems to be their ideal for the Presidency."

"Then I may say that you are 'not in it' as a delegate to Minneapolis?" "Yes. Put it plain and strong."

Breakdown at the La Belle.

After six weeks shutdown the puddling department of the La Belle iron works went on again at two o'clock yesterday morning. Shortly after the start the pinions of the muck rolls broke, and the heat was finished and drawn out. The puddlers got nothing for their work, but have to pay their helpers. As one of them said yesterday, "Here I've been idle for six weeks, and never lost a cent. To-day I go to work, and lose 65 cents the first pop."

ALGER'S WAR RECORD.

It is Full of Credit to Him Excepting the Custer Document.

DETROIT, Mich., March 14.—General Alger this morning made public his war record. It includes a great host of official documents from army officers warmly praising Alger and recommending him for promotion, and along with them is the report of General Custer, recommending the dismissal of Alger from the service. The entire record is full of credit to Alger, with the single exception of the Custer document, and the endorsements thereto, and of course if it had not been for this portion of it the record would not at this time have been brought in such prominence.

The report and recommendations of General Custer are given in full, with the endorsements.

General Alger's reply is to this effect: On August 6, 1864, a month and ten days before General Alger's report, Colonel Alger wrote a letter to Secretary Stanton tendering his resignation. In that letter he said:

"First—I have been in the military service of the United States nearly three years, having enlisted in August, 1861, and have been off duty but eight days, except on account of wounds, six of those eight days being on account of sickness. Second—My private business at home has become such and is in such condition that my presence there to attend to it is necessary in order to enable me to save anything from it."

President Lincoln indorsed this letter as follows:

"Let this resignation be accepted."

"August 8, 1864."

It will be seen that this acceptance by the President was dated a month and eight days earlier than the date of General Custer's letter regarding Alger. After leaving the President, with his accepted resignation in his possession, Colonel Alger found that there was prospect of an active campaign in the Shenandoah Valley. He did not present his resignation at the war department, but hastily rearranged his business as well as possible, and started for the scene of operations, arriving, on account of misinformation as to the time of the departure of the train, one day late. It will be seen that Colonel Alger did not have to report to the brigade commander at all if he had desired to quit the service at that time. He did not present his resignation, but went to the front. Six weeks later, on September 16, 1864, the date of General Custer's report and seven days before it had received its final endorsement, he tendered his resignation anew. The same day it was accepted by the President. The acceptance was endorsed by the secretary of war on September 17, and by special order of September 20, 1864, signed by Adj. Gen. E. D. Townsend, he was honorably discharged from the service of the United States.

The papers which accompany General Alger's record include a letter from General Custer to the secretary of war, dated October 19, 1863, in which Custer recommends him for a brigadier-generalship, saying: "As an officer and a gentleman, Colonel Alger justly enjoys the highest esteem of both his command and his commanding officers. Ever ready to perform his duty at any and all times, and zeal in the cause for which we are fighting, he has proved himself worthy of highest confidence of all. I therefore earnestly and cordially recommend him to your consideration, fully believing that any trust reposed in him will be skillfully and faithfully performed by him, with honor to himself and credit to our army, and to the noble cause in which we are engaged."

This application was renewed by Custer under date of June 26, 1864; endorsed by Gen. Sheridan, June 29; forwarded without comment by General Meade, July 5; sent by Gen. Sherman to the Adjutant General of the Army of the Potomac, on July 11, and approved by Gen. Meade, July 20, 1864. On the same day Gen. Grant wrote a letter approving all the recommendations in the list in which Alger's name appeared.

A letter from Gen. Sheridan to Hon. F. W. Kellogg, member of Congress from Michigan, under date of July 18, 1864, says: "When I recommended Col. Alger, Fifth Michigan Cavalry, for promotion, it was with the expectation that he would be ordered to report to me. I have a brigade to give him."

Gen. Alger was afterward brevetted a Brigadier General of Volunteers, and on February 27, 1867, by order of Secretary Stanton, was ordered appointed a Brevet Major General of Volunteers. These brevet commissions were signed by President Johnson, to whom Gen. Alger was politically opposed.

Thenceforward is declared by Gen. Alger's friends in this city and state to be eminently satisfactory.

A Triumph for Bill Dave.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., March 14.—Bill Dave Goshorn, who was so ignominiously defeated for member of the city council a year ago was elected to-day to the same position by a majority of 141. The other two members elected are Mason Rusk and H. O. Middleton, all Democrats, but the eyes of the city were centered on Bill Dave and owing to "cute" tricks, midnight work and bogus circulars, supposed to emanate from his opponent, he was elected. Bill Dave says he is not a candidate for auditor, having withdrawn his claims in favor of Col. MacCorkle for governor.

Lively Scene in Martinsburg.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligencer.

MARTINSBURG, W. VA., March 14.—Main street presented a scene of an unusual occurrence this morning, when Mrs. Glatner, a boarding house keeper, vigorously cowhided David Weil, a clothier, and then turned on him with nature's weapon, which she wielded so skillfully that Weil's face was an object of pity when she had finished. The affair came about by reason of Weil having addressed her in words which she construed as derogatory to her character. After having revenge she presented herself to the mayor and paid her fine.

Miss Lettie Huntley.

Is the sister of Mr. W. S. Huntley, of Cortland, N. Y., a well known carpenter and builder. Her frank statement below gives only the absolute truth concerning her illness and marvelous recovery by the aid of Hood's Sarsaparilla. She says:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: "Dear Sir: Twelve years ago I began to have hemorrhages and four years ago became so low that the physicians told me

There Was No Hope and I should soon die. I could not be moved from my bed. Under my face were ripples continually reddened with blood from my mouth, I could eat nothing, and had no action of the bowels for a week. The doctors said the cause was ulcers in the stomach. At this time my mother said she wanted to make one more trial, and asked if I would take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I told her I would do so.

A Waste of Money but finding it would comfort her I began taking it. In a few days the bloating began to subside, I seemed to feel a little stronger, but thought it only fancy. I was so weak I could only take ten drops of Sarsaparilla at first. In two weeks I was able to sit up a few minutes every day. In a month I could walk across the room. One day I asked what they were to have for dinner, and said I wanted something hearty. My mother was so happy she cried. It was then

First Time I had Felt Hungry for Two Years I kept on with Hood's Sarsaparilla and in six months was as well as ever in my life. It is now four years since I recovered, and I have not had a day's sickness since, not any hemorrhage. If ever a human being thanked the good Lord on behalf of his wife, I know that Hood's Sarsaparilla, and that alone, unquestionably saved my life.

Messrs. Sawyer & Jennings, the well known druggists of Cortland, say that Miss Huntley "is a highly respected lady; her statement of what I have done for her is worthy the highest commendation."

Hood's Sarsaparilla Has done for her is worthy the highest commendation. Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills.

What do we mean by that? Simply that the more conspicuous, the more artistic, the more attractive, the more original you make your advertisements, the more people will see and read them, and the more customers you will have to contribute to your cash-drawer.
