

IT MAY BE DEPEW.

He Has Been Offered the Secretaryship of State.

HE LUNCHEONS WITH THE PRESIDENT

And Without Intimating Whether He Will Accept Leaves for New York. There Will Be No Other Changes in the Cabinet--The Silver-Tongued Orator's Eminent Fitness for the Position.

Special Dispatch to the Intelligence. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.--There have been many rumors of impending cabinet changes, by which Secretary Tracy was to be promoted to the state portfolio and Secretary Elkins given Tracy's place. It can be authoritatively stated that so far as the President's present intentions go there is no foundation for these rumors. Chauncey M. Depew, who is now in the city, has been offered the secretaryship of state, and it now rests with him to accept or decline the offer.

Mr. Chauncey M. Depew left here at 4 p. m. for New York.

DEPEW'S APPOINTMENT

May Be Made Next Year--He Luncheons With the President.

WASHINGTON, June 18.--When Chauncey M. Depew was seen this morning by a correspondent he was perspiring freely and talking to Colonel Elliot F. Shepard. He immediately commenced to complain of the weather and said that the humidity today was greater than he had ever before experienced. "General Humidity" having declared martial law in the city, and that he had never before suffered so much from the heat.

He said his mission was to see Secretary Elkins about a bridge that the New York Central is to build across the Harlem river. He denied that he had been offered the secretaryship of state, and said it wouldn't do to say whether one would or would not accept a position before it was tendered him. He said he was willing to talk of general politics, that the President would be re-elected, Cleveland probably re-nominated, and that then the Tammany men would either have to fish or cut bait.

Notwithstanding his diplomacy in not giving a direct answer to the question as to his acceptance of the Secretaryship of State, Mr. Depew's presence here is considered to be for the purpose of consulting the President on that subject. It is said that the position of Secretary of State will not be offered to Mr. Depew, although it would be offered to him if he would take it, but that a man will not be chosen to fill the vacancy until the 4th of March. Mr. Depew said this evening at 5 o'clock, when questioned again about the Secretaryship of State, and asked whether it would be offered him, said it did not look so. It is to be remembered that this statement was made after Mr. Depew had seen the President, for he lunched with him at half past one this afternoon.

The idea is that Dr. Depew will be able to be of more service to the Republican party and its cause if he remains in New York during the campaign and sends his voice and counsel to the cause than if he were to come to Washington, where he would necessarily be confined by the office work. If the President is re-elected the secretaryship of state will probably be offered to Mr. Depew and accepted by him, and then it is said to be the plan that Depew shall succeed President Harrison. In the meantime he will have left the New York Central and have cleared his skirts of the charge of being a corporator, on mat.

In the course of his conversation Mr. Depew said that if he were President he would rather make the appointment himself than have it made for him by outsiders. The fact is that Depew has been bothered to death in New York by people coming to see him, and he has become tired of it.

Another Story of Depew's Visit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.--A strong belief that Mr. Depew's visit was not in relation to the appointment of secretary of state was expressed to-night by a gentleman well acquainted with the distinguished New Yorker, and having the confidence of the President. The gentleman's emphatic manner in expressing his opinion and the arguments he put forth in support thereof led his hearer to believe that he spoke with authority and with full knowledge of the subject. Mr. Depew's visit, the gentleman thought, was for the purpose of congratulating the President and of talking over with him the Republican situation, and had no significance other than would attach to the visit of any equally distinguished member of the Republican party.

PASSES INTO HISTORY.

The Work of the Present Congress Practically Finished.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.--The history of the first session of the Fifty-second Congress is practically made, and it is probable that from now on to the end of the session the efforts of both branches will be confined principally to the settlement of disputed points in appropriation bills. These measures are really much further advanced than a simple statement of their parliamentary status would indicate to the unpracticed eye. By an extraordinary display of energy, the house has succeeded in passing every one of these bills, except the general deficiency, and in transferring them to the senate with such rapidity as to tax severely the working capacity of the committee on appropriations of that body.

Subsequently it appears from the record that the senate is far behind the house in passing upon these important measures. But the senators are by no means dismayed by the outlook. While it is expected that no progress can be made in the senate itself with the bills during this week owing to the absence of so many Democratic senators, the work in committee is being pushed rapidly, and when there is again a full senate, the remaining bills will be called up and acted upon so promptly that most if not all of them will have been sent to conference before the close of the present fiscal year.

Because of the large number of absentees, the proceedings of the senate during the week will probably be confined to the delivery of a few speeches, Mr. Call leading off to-morrow with one upon the subject of railroad interference with senatorial elections and some unobjectionable business on the calendars and the sessions will, it is expected, be very short.

members in the city, and this quorum can with difficulty be mustered in the south wing of the capitol during the present oppressive weather. Recognizing this fact, there will be no meeting until Wednesday, and it is possible that on Wednesday a further recess will be taken until Saturday. If, however, on Wednesday, the house should be in good temper, the deficiency appropriation bill will be considered, and, if time allows, the tin plate bill will be further debated. But no final action can be looked for.

WATERSON'S WRATH

Is Poured Out Against Any Cut and Dried Cleveland Arrangement.

CHICAGO, June 19.--The wrath of Henry Waterson at the interference of the Cleveland people with his plan to have W. C. Owens, of Kentucky, named by the national committee as temporary presiding officer of the Democratic convention is past appeasing. The Cleveland people want Alex. E. Stevenson for the position, a man upon whom they can depend absolutely to take care of the ex-President's interests. The fiery Kentuckian sees in young Owens the ideal presiding officer, "one who can be trusted to preside impartially; who would not represent the hackneyed professional political element which hangs perpetually about national conventions to pick up the honorary crumbs that lie about loose and to lay the foundation of a future claim to office."

He has no objections to Mr. Stevenson personally, but he would save the convention from "the discredit of being run exclusively by the Cleveland office holders." "There is already too much of that thing manifesting itself," said Mr. Waterson, "with five of Cleveland's cabinet on the ground working like beavers to secure a third nomination for the defeated ex-President. There is Mr. Whitney, backed by the whole Standard Oil Combination, and Don M. Dickinson, with an army of ex-postmasters at his back, and Mr. Fairchild, attended by William R. Grace, who is loaded down with Wall street money. Then we have Mr. Bayard to lend grace and dignity to the scene, and Mr. Vilas to touch up the whole with a few lurid civil service tints. All this is abominable, because it is hypocritical, working its spells in the name of reform while using all the agencies and methods of machine politics."

"The Democratic party wants a new deal, and new men fresh from the people with the dew of the morning upon them. Such a man is Mr. Owens, of Kentucky, but if there is objection to him there is Mr. Dubignon, of Georgia, another splendid young southerner, a delegate at large from his state, a Cleveland man and a trained parliamentarian, who would make an admirable temporary chairman. But I am afraid that the Cleveland managers are so uncertain of their footing that they dare not abate one jot or tittle from their clean cut and dried plan of campaign, or allow anything to proceed either from sources of legitimate organization or the natural order of things. I am here as a peacemaker and not as a fire brand; and I regret to say that all the proscription and intolerance, and all the machine methods and appliances I have yet to encounter are upon the side of those who are seeking to force the nomination of a candidate who hundreds of thousands of Democrats believe cannot be elected."

Mr. Waterson is very angry, and it is plain that he will oppose at the meeting on Monday the selection of any man proposed by the Cleveland managers.

HILL WILL NOT GO TO CHICAGO.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.--With reference to the report that Senator Hill is enroute to Chicago, a telephone message from his hotel at 5:40 p. m., to-day, states that he is at the hotel and does not intend to leave the city.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

On the Electric Car Line Between Wellsville and East Liverpool.

CLEVELAND, O., June 19.--A car on the electric railroad line between Wellsville and East Liverpool, Ohio, jumped the track to-day and rolled down the bank of the Ohio river. There were twenty-five passengers on board. The car turned over twice before it stopped and a dozen of the passengers were badly hurt, but none were killed. Miss Mary Brooks had three ribs broken and was internally injured. Fears for her recovery are entertained, as well as for Eddie Applegate, aged twelve, whose legs were broken.

Johnson Choked.

McComb City, Miss., June 19.--John Johnson, one of the negroes implicated in the murder of a merchant, Col. Quobon, on Thursday night, was hanged here last evening by a mob of 2,000 citizens, both white and black. Johnson made a confession implicating two other negroes, "Joe" Quay and John Williams, who are now in the county jail at Magnolia. Immediately after the hanging of Johnson the mob seized an engine and started for Magnolia for the avowed purpose of storming the jail there and securing the negroes. If the intentions of the mob are carried out, the two prisoners will be brought back to the scene of the murder and hanged.

BELLAIR

All Sorts of Local News and Gossip from the Glass City.

Some of the residents of the Tenth ward are up in arms about a house of public resort starting in one of the quietest parts of that ward, and they have made up a list of the visitors, male and female, and have hunted up who they are and what they are, and propose by this route to suppress the evil. Some reflection was cast upon the mayor for not suppressing the annoyance to that respectable portion of the city, but the mayor says that he did not know of the existence of the place in that neighborhood until Saturday afternoon. The mayor is heartily in favor of suppressing such evils whenever it can be done, and will not only lend his official position but his personal influence in that direction. When convictions have been secured in the mayor's court for such offenses he has been quite severe in imposing the penalty.

The Democratic primaries here Saturday evening to select delegates to the county convention to be held at Barnesville on the 28th, were without special interest, and the delegates selected by the committeemen were elected without contest except in the Third ward, where some of the boys concluded to knock out the committeeman and his ticket, and they did it. The delegates and committeemen elected were as follows: Delegates--M. Hoffman, Patrick Brannen, Michael Lynskey, Charles Johnson, George W. Yost, George H. Muth, John McCallrey, James T.
