Mrs. Minnie Shriver, whose woes have been treading upon each other's heels, found a climax in the United States circuit court yesterday, when she was fined $30 and costs in the suit for intimidating a witness whom she knew would appear against her. She was found guilty by the jury, and after paying the fine assessed she promised to pay the costs in a certain time.

Webster Republicans Confident. Miss Kate Arthur, postmistress at Webster Court House, is visiting in the city. She is a daughter of Rev. R. A. Arthur, well known to Wheeling people. Miss Arthur is an enthusiastic Republican. She says that in Webster county, heretofore a stronghold of Democracy, Republican sentiment has increased wonderfully and that there is an awakening such as there never has been before. She predicts that the party of protection is well organized and confidently expects to elect a portion of the ticket and poll a largely increased vote for the state and national tickets.

HUNDREDS OF KICKERS

Still Coming in to Protest against Unjust Assessments.

THE COMMITTEE OF EQUALIZATION

Still Busy Every Day with the Property whose Owners think it is Excessively Valued for Taxation—No Further Report from Sub-Committees Received yesterday.

There was not a minute in the day yesterday that there were not a number of people at the city building writing petitions, or having them written, for corrections of erroneous assessments by the revaluers. To print a list would be like reprinting the city directory with dollar signs and figures substituted for the street numbers. The number of appeals and protests seems to increase every day. The city officials are actually kept from attending to their regular official duties by the demands on their time to write petitions for taxpayers who object to their assessments.

Yesterday was Seventh ward day. Monday will be devoted to the Fifth ward. To-day the sub-committees will work, and there will be no meeting of the main committee. Yesterday all petitions received were referred to the sub-committees, and then the separate ward committees separated and went over the Second and Third wards to examine the premises owned by protesting taxpayers. The Baltimore & Ohio company had a petition in, calling attention to the fact that some of its ground used for railroad purposes had been assessed, while the law made it assessable only by the State Board of Public Works, and claiming also that other lots owned by the company and not used for railroad purposes, were assessed too high. Action on this was deferred.

Among the Seventh ward petitioners were the following and perhaps one hundred more:

Jacob Berger's estate, increased $3,000 on the Berger homestead; unreasonable. E. R. Hunter, Zane and North York streets; increase from $5,800 to $6,500 is unjust. Barbara Zilles, put up from $4,125 to $12,000 on eleven acres of land on the north end of the Island. W. H. Anderson, in his petition, sets forth that his property, at 36 North Front street, is raised from $2,900 to $4,100, while he paid only $3,500 for it. Thomas Prince's lot on North Front street is increased from $900 to $3,900. J. A. Lash's property is increased from $2,000 to $3,400.

The Wheeling and Belmont Bridge Company petition for a reduction in the valuation of five lots, assessed in 1891 at $7,000 and in 1892 at $19,500.

E. L. Stone petitions for a reduction on his house, at 77 Virginia street, which was raised from $1,850 to $2,250, and on two lots, which were raised from $2,400 to $4,400.

Mrs. A. C. Carlin, assessed at $2,000 by the city and only $1,200 by the state. Henrietta Baer, North Front street, $4,500 excessive.

Alex. Rogers's estate, increase of $1,000, and no real increase of value. D. W. Baird, Virginia street, increased from $2,400 to $3,300.

Capt. John McLure, increased $4,000 on a pasture lot. D. R. Tappan, assessed at $3,000; paid but $1,100 for his property.

W. M. Richardson; assessment doubled; unreasonable. Mrs. C. Brues, increased from $4,500 to $6,700.

J. G. Tomlinson objects to paying taxes on property assessed at $2,500, while this assessment is $900 in excess of a neighbor whose property is worth $500 more.

W. F. Stifel asked a reduction in valuation on his vacant lots, assessed at $4,500.

H. B. and T. O. Edwards object to a valuation of $3,500 on a house they paid $3,200 for.

Mrs. M. C. Davis objects to an increase from $1,800 to $4,000 at 41 and 43 South York street.

Christiana Forbes objects to an increase from $3,500 to $4,500 in the valuation of her property.

Dr. E. C. Myers petitions for a reduction on his property at South Penn and Virginia streets, which cost $3,500 in March, 1892, and is now assessed at $4,100.

N. A. Noble sets forth that the assessment of $4,300 on property at 22 and 24 Virginia street is $1,000 too much.

J. H. Purcell objects to the assessment on his house at 111 South Penn street, being raised $1,000.

Thomas Haskett asks a reduction in his valuation from $2,600 to $1,800.
