WHEELING, NOVEMBER 14, 1892.

They Want to Know.
The people are greatly interested to know what the Democratic party will do when it moves in. Nobody is more concerned than some of those who voted the Democratic ticket.

On one hand we have assurances that they will not do much and what they do will be done gradually. Mr. Outhwaite, who sits up in the amen corner, says of course they will put tin plate and raw materials on the free list, because tin plate cannot be made in this country and it is Democratic policy to admit raw materials free. In the Democratic economy wool, coal, lumber, iron ore, salt, are the rawest of raw materials.

The Louisville Courier Journal, in an article which must be from Mr. Watterson's pen because it speaks of "the painted harlot of protection," says: "It ends forever all disputes among Democrats about tariff policies. It is an announcement to America and the world that the government of the United States has at last stepped out of the depths of the bondage of protectionism and upon the broad, open highway of free trade with all mankind."

And then we have the New York Evening Post, another of them, saying: "The people have pronounced against McKinleyism and in favor of tariff reform with an unmistakable voice. The Democrats are obliged to obey the mandate they have received, to the extent of the means placed in their hands. If injury then comes to the business of the country they must take the consequences."

This is encouraging. We shall have to wait and see.

It is understood that several West Virginia Democrats are ready to serve their country at the call of President Cleveland. The INTELLIGENCER congratulates in advance the successful ones and joins the other thousands in a lodge of sorrow.

Ohio was hit so hard that she doesn't know where she stands.

President Harrison is All Right.

The New York Herald published, and furnished to the newspapers of the country the substance of, what purported to be an interview with President Harrison. The President was represented to be much disgruntled. Among other things he was made to criticize Chairman Carter severely.

The INTELLIGENCER did not believe that President Harrison had done anything of the kind. Now comes the assurance that the President has been misrepresented. He finds no fault with the managers of the campaign and freely admits that the leaders gave him a loyal support.

The trouble was not with the leaders. It was the followers who did not follow. President Harrison continues to be all right.

COLONEL POORMAN's friends deeply regret his defeat for Congress. He made a good fight and would have made a good representative of an important district.

The tiger has fairly ousted the rooster, and should be given the post of honor at the feast.

Liquor Selling in Kansas.
Under a constitutional amendment Kansas is to have legalized saloons in certain places, and business under the new order has already begun. The change of policy recognizes a fact, and this fact is that immense quantities of intoxicants were sold in spite of the law. It is eleven years since there was a legalized saloon in Kansas. It cannot be shown that the sale of liquor in open violation of the law has been a moral gain to the state. Doubtless this is why public sentiment has taken the other tack.

Some very good men are after some very good offices, and they have begun the good work without unnecessary loss of time. It is sad to think that where there is but one worm some of the early birds will be left lamenting.

The Impatience of Victory.
The Register should not find fault with a Republican newspaper for quoting from the Democratic platform and the British newspapers.

Isn't it fair to judge a party by what it says of itself? Isn't it fair to assume that a party, if it is honest, will do what it says it will do? And isn't it fair to quote what its friends, whether foreign or domestic, say of that party and its achievements?

The Democratic party has just achieved a great victory. We feel it in the air. So do the British newspapers, and their joyous comments are part of the post-election news. They will be good powder to burn when we go to battle again.

The Democratic rooster should not crow so lustily over the Republican coon. He should remember how well the coon has treated his roostership in all these years.

No protectionist believes any less in protection than he did before election day. An adverse majority does not change the facts of history.

Our Nominee for Governor.
The INTELLIGENCER is in receipt of a letter from Hon. Thomas E. Davis, saying that he has no personal regret over his defeat; that he prefers the quiet of his home to the cares of public life; but that, being commissioned by the Republican party, he did all he could for success.

The INTELLIGENCER voices the party feeling when it says that nobody could have done better. No other man could have polled more votes. Mr. Davis made a dignified, effective campaign, won the regard of all who met him and laid his party under lasting obligation for the sacrifice he made.

If he had been elected governor the state would have had reason to be proud of his solid ability and rock-ribbed integrity. In the governor's chair he would have justified every hope as he has vindicated to the full the wisdom of his nomination.

Hurrah for Thomas E. Davis, anyhow! He is tried and true and close to the hearts of West Virginia Republicans.

The New York Times nominates Carl Schurz for the United States senate to succeed Senator Hisecock. The Times makes bold to say that Mr. Schurz "has a title to the senatorship." Just the same he won't get it. Hill's legislature will not give him a Mugwump colleague.

The Sugar Duties.
The restoration of the sugar duties is one of the Democratic pledges. The Republican party repealed those duties because they had failed to be protective, and the repeal of duties that had proved to be revenue duties brought down the price of sugar. It requires little figuring to show that the restoration of the sugar duties will put up the price of sugar. This is what the people have voted for and this is what they have reason to expect.

There is a new comet. Maybe that did it.

TAMMANY, headed by Boss Croker, is to have full control over federal offices in New York city when Mr. Cleveland takes hold. This will be pursuant to the deal made between Mr. Cleveland and Tammany by which the Democratic nominee for the presidency was to get the votes and the tiger the plunder.

A terrific cyclone swept the Atlantic last week. Some of it seems to have whirled across the continent.

Home-Made or Foreign-Made.
A lower tariff means more manufactured commodities purchased abroad for consumption in this country. This cannot mean more of the same commodities produced at home. Therefore, it cannot mean more work and more wages. It must mean exactly the opposite. The hope of the country is that the Democratic party will not stand by the platform pledges on which it goes into power.

SENATOR QUAY is quoted as looking forward to the nomination of Benjamin Harrison in 1896. Mr. Quay was not in favor of the nomination of Harrison this year. That great and good man seems to have grown on the Pennsylvania senator's appreciation. It is too early to select a Republican nominee for 1896.

Nor a Republican who voted with his party last week would recall that ballot. There are some others who would like to have a string to their heels.

A Scurvy Trick.
Thomas Settle ran for Congress in the Fifth Congressional district of North Carolina. On the face of the returns he had a majority of 400 over his opponent. Enough ballots polled for Thomas B. Settle were thrown out to defeat Settle by 300 majority. The insertion of the middle initial was a trick of the enemy.

There can be no doubt of the intent of the voters in this case. No Thomas B. Settle was running for Congress in that district. Settle is a Republican. A self-respecting man would refuse to be the beneficiary of so tricky a device.

ESTEEMED REGISTER. Don't you mind about the INTELLIGENCER being on the losing side. Some wounds heal without ointment. You just take in the postoffice and be happy, and the INTELLIGENCER will congratulate you on your good luck.

The Alliance party was fooled in the south and fooled the people in the west. The southern gentlemen are laughing in their shirt-sleeves.

GENTLEMEN, the Wheeling postoffice will not run away. It will continue to do business at the old stand and will be open to admit the new postmaster when President Cleveland names him. It isn't something that has to be bagged to-day or lost forever.

This is a great country. Already the defeated have settled down to business, and the victorious will soon.

The New York Evening Post, flushed with victory, urges an extra session of Congress as soon as President Cleveland goes in, so that the brethren may get to work at once to knock protection into smithereens. Tickets to the grand stand will be in demand.

Mr. WHITNEY is spoken of as the next Democratic nominee. Mr. Whitney is spoken of for so many things, including his connection with the boodie railway grab in New York.

"You can't afford to miss a copy of the INTELLIGENCER for the next four years. It will be right up in the front of the procession every day."

An Interesting Telegram.
On the day after election this remarkable telegram was forwarded to Washington Hesing, at Chicago, by the President-elect. Mr. Hesing is proud of it and gives it out:

NEW YORK, Nov. 9, 1892.
Received of Washington Hesing 25,000 Lutheran votes as per contract of August 15, 1892.
GROVER CLEVELAND.

It will interest the German Lutherans of Illinois that Mr. Hesing undertook to deliver 25,000 of them and did it according to contract. Now what is Mr. Hesing to get in payment?

DAVID BENNETT HILL's county left the Democracy and went Republican. For this Mr. Cleveland will send Senator Hill a Thanksgiving turkey-bone.

DEMOCRATS seemed to get much more fun out of Saturday night's demonstration than Republicans did. Republicans had so much of theirs before the election.

BREAKFAST BUDGET.
They have curious ideas of ownership in Europe. In France there is an unwritten but immutable law that a painting shall not be exhibited without the artist's consent, no matter what the wishes of the owner may be. And now a literary and artistic congress in session at Milan, Italy, has decided that the right of reproduction does not pass to the buyer of a picture.

Electric heaters are found to be excellent for use in conservatories on account of the absence of all unwholesome gases or vapors which might injure the plants, simplicity of construction in the parts conveying the energy, perfect safety as regards heat, which can be regulated at will, cleanliness and convenience and rapidly in starting and extinction.

One of the curiosities of the great Milwaukee fire was what was known as the "red anvil." This implement of industry was left "blooming alone" high in the air in the ruins of a three story smithy. Long after the sea of flames had swept by it stood glowing on its lofty perch, an object of curiosity to thousands of spectators.

The best lighted city in Europe is Milan. American machinery only is employed in its two central stations. A curious feature of the system of being carried on poles are suspended from the brackets under the eaves of the houses.

The governor of the electric light works in Sedalia, Mo., broke the other night and the engine jumped from 500 to 2,000 volts. The globes burst in the street cars, and there was great excitement for awhile.

The proposed underground electric railways for London, if sanctioned, will be sixteen feet under the Thames, sixty-eight feet beneath Regent's park, and eighty-five feet below Oxford street.

A sportsman found in the wilds of Lane county, Oregon, the other day, a valise containing a lot of watches, chains and other jewelry, supposed to be the discarded loot of a burglar.

For the ten months of the year the losses by fire have been about $1,000,000 less than for the same time last year, but over $22,000,000 larger than for the same period of 1890.

PERSONAL POINTS.
Of Rev. Mary T. Whitney, who has just accepted a call to the pulpit of the Second Unitarian church, in Somerville, Mass., they tell this story: Her husband was once preaching for a society then without a pastor, and was complimented on his sermon. "Do you call that a good sermon?" he replied. "You should hear my wife." They decided that they would hear his wife, and the result was a unanimous call to the vacant pulpit.

Mr. Graham, of Dingwall, Scotland, a boyish companion of Mr. Gladstone, says the latter's mother used to intrust the future G. O. M. with the household purse when he was but a boy and used to call him her chancellor of the exchequer.

Rev. Edward Everett Hale, D. D., preached yesterday in the Unitarian church in the little town of Berlin, Mass., in commemoration of his first appearance in the pulpit there forty years ago. Berlin is near Worcester.

Baroness Walfolthen, who achieved distinction under the name of Pauline Lucca as an operatic singer, is reported to be hopelessly ill in her native city of Vienna.

Miss Lilly Storer, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is reported to be the only surviving granddaughter of Andrew Johnson, died on Sunday.

A pair of traveling evangelists in Virginia bear the names of Peter Horn and Bill Fife.

Cleveland's Substitute.
To the Editor of the Intelligencer.
Sir—To settle a bill will you state whether or not Grover Cleveland, the Democratic President-elect, had a substitute in the war of the rebellion.

SUBSCRIBER.
ANSWER—Mr. Cleveland did employ a substitute when he was drafted. The substitute served through the war and died in an almshouse in New York state a few years ago, while Mr. Cleveland was President of the United States. Mr. Stevenson, the Vice President-elect, also was represented by a substitute.

MORNING SMILES.
"I had an experience with a hungry man, but I diagnosed his case better than the doctor," said the lawyer. "I was asked for enough to buy a meal and gave the fellow a quarter. I went to the door of my office and pointed out a saloon down the street and said: 'Now, you have enough to get two drinks of whisky and a glass of beer; there is a good place to get it.' The fellow looked at me a second, and then said in tones of admiration: 'Judge, you are a genius.'—Kansas City Journal.

"I wonder how many of you know the meaning of mercy?" said a teacher in a Chinese mission school, and a dozen brown hands were held up. "Very good. Now, you, Chang, may give an illustration of its meaning." And Chang said: "Melican lady give Chinese boy dishes to wash. One plate fall on the floor and break in thousand pieces. Melican lady cry loud, 'Oh, mercy.'—Christian Observer.

Young Milkenworter's tutor gave him the problem: "Decidus was born thirty years before Christ and died thirteen years after. How old was Decidus when he died?" Milkenworter labored awhile with paper and pencil. Finally, after a protracted struggle with his teeming brain, he looked up and said: "If I knew when Christ was born I could work it."—Princeton Tiger.

Bilton—"It is a great misuse of terms to say a man is the architect of his own fortune." Chilton—"How so?" Bilton—"When an architect plans a $5,000 house it costs $10,000; but when a man plans to get a $100,000 fortune he usually lands somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,500."—Puck.

Hicks (in a rage)—The scurrilous sheet denounces me as a modern Ananias. It's an outrage!" Wicks—"So it is. The editor of the Tingle should know better than to speak slightly of the dead."—Boston Transcript.

"Do you fear a depression of business as the result of the election?" "No, sir; I am a hatter."—Washington Star.

"He is an artist by profession." "I know that; but what is he by occupation?"—Washington Star.

If most men voted only as they pray the ballot boxes wouldn't be half full.—Boston Globe.
